COUNTY-WIDE BIBLE SCHOOL ATTENDANCE CONTEST

A great Bible School Attendance Contest in all the Churches of Christ in DeKalb County is to begin next Lord's Day, Sept. 5, and close Nov. 28. Credits will be given on the basis of the average attendance of each school for the first six months of this year. Mr. Vern Clark, of Auburn, has been selected as a central secretary and reports of attendance will be made to him by the schools of the county each week. He will in turn report back to every school each week so that comparisons of attendance will be made constantly by the schools. At the close of the contest the winning school will be honored with a supper supplied by all the other schools entering the contest. Increased interest in Bible School and Church work, a closer fellowship in the Lord's work, and a great spiritual awakening are some of the results expected form this movement.

ENTERTAINED AT BEAUTIFUL LAKE WAWASEE COTTAGE

On Sunday, Aug. 29th, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Mason, of Syracuse, entertained a number of their friends at their beautiful cottage home at Ogden Point, on the East Shore of Lake Wawasee.

At the noon hour a bountiful pot-luck dinner was greatly enjoyed by all. The day was spent in singing, boating and bathing.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Rosenberry and children, of Butler, Roy Koch, Mrs. Anna Koch, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Coburn and Mr. and Mrsc. F. E. Johnson, of St. Joe, Mr. Reuben Koch, of Auburn, Mrs. John Draggoo and children, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tipton and children, of Fort Wayne, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Morr, Mr. and Mrs. Justin Morr and children, of Albion, Mr. James Morr, of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nuttle, of Indianapolis.

To Erect Consolidated School

Plans for a new consolidated grade school building to be erected near the center of Fairfield Township, to cost $40,000, will be prepared by A. M. Strauss, Fort Waye architect. The plans and specifications will be completed for a letting in October. Several one-room schools in the township will be consolidated in the new building. Ora Rowe, trustee, and his advisory board, decided Friday night to accept a $17,770 PWA grant toward the new building.

Congress having packed its grip and departed, a fruitful source of news is no more. Congress may have done some things that it ought not to have done, and left undone some things that it should have done, but while it was in session, the country had something to talk about. There was always a speaking Senator or Representative, Democratic or Republican, to condemn or approve. Now the White House door yard alone remains as a foraging ground for comment, and if the President concludes to rest for a time, and keep silence, the newspaper columnist will be in a bad way.

There is a rumor of a special session to convene in November and said to have Executive support. There remain a number of important matters that should be cleared up by legislative action before a new Congress convenes the first of the year. Farm and wage legislation ought to be off the calendar before the January work begins, and there are other affairs that need early attention; and so it happens that the congressional trunks may be scarcely unpacked and stored in the old garrett at home before they will have to be dragged downstairs again and checked for Washington.

It is not so bad, after all, to have nothing more serious to worry about than what Congress and the President intend to do. A Congressman can be sent back to the mines if he does not please his constituents, and the White House has had a good many tenants. Those who fear the worst may be assured that the worst will be no more than a few radio speeches, going to the polls on a stormy day, and throwing the rascals out in an orderly manner or perpetuating an efficient and capable government, dependig on whether one's views are of a Republican or of a Democratic cast.

It is not thus abroad. The Chinese and Japanese have declared all game laws off, so far as taking pot shots at each other is concerned. Spain does not even have to go away from home in order to get gun practice with living human targets. In Germany, a man has to be careful how he prays, and in Italy the Duce is ready to start the old time Roman conquest stuff at the drop of a hat. We are worried by no fear of being turned into soldiers over night. Traffic cops may be a trifle overbearing at times, the lay of the tax collector is heard in the land, and clothes will wear out; but on the whole, we move forward toward a peaceful autumn, with the thought that it is better to be in the U. S. A. than in the countries mentioned or in some that have not been named.

The Navy has launched a new submarine, which brings to mind the fact that the year 1937 marks the centennial of the building of the first metal vessels in the United States. They were the Chatham and Lamar, constructed from iron imported from England. Nowadays we have to depend on England for not much beside contenders for the yachting cup, and it must be admitted that the material furnished has been of a high character so far as sportsmanship is concerned.

The love of money is the root of all evil, but few get too old to love in that respect and all are willing to get right after the root of the trouble. Though statistics are tiresome, a few money figures may be of interest. On the 21st of August the national debt was practically 37 billion dollars. A million has been donated in Pittsburgh to study and stamp out diabetes, and a naval cadet receives a hundred thousand dollar prize in a contest conducted by a cigarette company. It is to be wondered whether a seafaring man with that much money in his porket will persist in the sailor's traditional demand for "a life on the ocean wave, a home on the rolling deep," or come promptly and permanently to dock on Broadway.

PINEAPPLE MARSHMALLOW ICE CREAM made with canned pineapple: (Serves 6.) Place ½ pound marshmallows and 2 tablespoons milk in saucepan and heat over a low flame folding over and over until marshmallows are about half melted. Remove from flame and continue folding until mixture is smooth and fluffy. Cool. Then gradually add 1⅓ cups of crushed canned pineapple and blend. Whip ½ pint of whipping cream until stiff and fold into the pineapple marshmallow mixture. Pour into freezing container of still ice cream freezer. Cover and surround with a mixture of chipped ice and salt. Place in ice refrigerator. Freeze one hour, stirring once.

To eliminate soggy bottom crusts in custard pies, bake the pastry shell and custard separately, but in the same size tins. Bake the custard in a well-oiled tin. After baking, place the custard in refrigerator, preferably in an air-conditioned ice refrigerator so that the custard will not absorb odors. Then, just before serving, slide the filling out of the pan into the pastry shell and serve at once.

A CHEESE BISCUIT mix that you can make yourself!

Sift together 2 cups of general purpose flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon paprika. Cut in ¼ cup shortening. Then add ½ cup grated cheese. Then store in a modern air - conditioned ice refrigerator until such time as you wish to have "in-a-jiffy" hot biscuits. The moist, clean-washed air of the modern ice refrigerator will protect the mix against rapid drying out and against absorbing the odors of other foods. When ready to bake the biscuits, remove the mix from the refrigerator. Then add ⅔ cup milk and 2 teaspoons prepared mustard. Mix together and blend lightly with a fork. Pat or roll out on a floured board and cut in small biscuits. Place on greased baking sheet and bake in hot oven (450°) for 12 to 15 minutes.

IN SEPTEMBER

September brings the close of the vacation season, and ends the dangers which beset thousands of motorists while they were pleasure hunting in territory whose highways were unfamiliar to them. But with the passing of this hazard, September brings a still more serious one. It brings the opening of thousands of schools throughout the country, and renews the annual demand for extreme carefulness on the part of those who drive in the vicinity of any school house in which children assemble.

While parents can be credited with trying to impress upon their children the dangers that beset them on their jourey to and from school, it still must be remembered that children do not always do as they are told. Their youthful minds are not capable of fully realizing these dangers; they are not capable of thinking in terms of sudden death or permanent injuries. For that reason it is necessary for the motorist to think for the child as well as for himself, and this must be kept constantly in mind while driving in the vicinity of a school house.

All things considered, September is an ideal driving month, with decreased traffic and less dangerous highway conditions than will be the rule later on. But September brings this one great danger—the resumption of school—and with it the necessity for increased care in the operation of a car. Thoughtful motorists will keep that fact constantly in mind.

THE AGE LIMIT

The recent tendency among employers of labor to refuse jobs to persons more than 40 years old has become so serious that even President Roosevelt is urging industry "to give a fair share of the new jobs to men over 40." The practice of establishing an age limit, shutting out all applicants for employment who cannot comply, is certain to deprive industry of valuable human material. There is need for healthy, vigorous young men, it is true. But there is also need for skill, steadiness, experience, keen judgment and mature wisdom. These come with age. The average man does not realize life's responsibilities until he reaches middle age. The average citizen beyond 40, for instance, may have lost some of his strength and agility by this time, but he has gained more than enough in experience to compensate for those losses. And what is true of residents of this community is true of the residents of every section of the U. S. Employers who frown at men over 40 not only work an injustice to such men themselves, but frequently impair their own best interests.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

When you read in your newspapers of the stern control of the press by the governments in many European nations you should feel like singing praises to your own "land of the free." Is it any wonder that America is making such gigantic strides in progress compared with nations of the Old World? In those countries only voices which the government rules correct and safe for those on power may speak to the public through the press. The government holds the people in the hollow of its hand and freedom of speech and press are unknown. Here the voice of the people is heard through the government and the press. There are many varieties of opinions expressed through American newspapers, and you may differ with many of them. But the fact remains that there is always something to suit every taste. The true freedom of this country lies in an unshackled, independent press. America has long enjoyed that blessing, and it should be carefully guarded.

WIFE HAS HUSBAND ARRESTED ON ASSAULT CHARGES

Donald Ayers, of Orangeville, Newville Township, was taken into custody Thursday night by Deputy Sheriff C. M. Minich on a charge of assault and battery.

The arrest was made while Ayers was atending the Hicksville Fair. The affidavit, prepared by Wm. H. Husselman, prosecuting attorney, was signed by Ayers' wife, Lelah Ayers, and the alleged offense was committed July 26.

Capt. W. D. Stump was retained by Ayers as his attorney and a plea of not guilty was entered upon arraignment in the DeKalb circuit court Friday morning. Bond was fixed at $200.

Date of trial was not set.

Ayers served six months and was fined $100 in 1930 on a charge of possession of intoxicating liquor. His wife drew a suspended sentence of six months on a like charge.

Ayers was given his freedom on $200 bond furnished by Clarence Killian and Albert Cole of Newville Township. Ayers entered a plea of not guilty.

THE LOW DOWN from HICKORY GROVE

A new feature writer joins The News Staff with a bit of weekly fun.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA.

There is more people around tryin' to fix things than you can shake a stick at, and most of 'em they don't know anything about what it is that they are gonna fix, but they say it would be great stuff to fix it. And they are smarter than they look, or we think, 'cause they make a livin' at it and somebody else they pay the dues.

And if something they are fixin' don't work, we don't read anything more about it. And some of the persons who was gonna fix it, nobody knows where they are, and the others they just start some new spasm.

And if you will look back a month or two, you can maybe remember when somebody was in a great sweat and gettin' ready to do something big and grand for you—but it didn't work out so hot, anyway not for you.

And all the catchy slogans, they are turnin' out to be just another I. O. U.

WLS Barn Dance to Be Staged at State Fair as Opening Night Feature

Uncle Ezra and Entire Cast to Perform Before Grandstand Saturday, Sept. 4th

JOE KELLY

Following a precedence of opening the Indiana State Fair with an outstanding attraction, Harry G. Templeton, manager, has secured the entire cast of the WLS National Barn Dance program, presented each Saturday night over a National Broadcasting Company hook-up, to present the original program in front of the grandstand, Saturday night, Sept. 4th, from 6 to 11 P. M.

The Fair, which will run from Sept. 4th to 10th, inclusive, will open as usual on Saturday with Club Day. In anticipation of a record breaking opening day crowd, manager Templeton decided to assume the great expense of bringing the National Barn Dance cast here as an unusual attraction for the initial day turnout.

From the minute Joe Kelly, master of ceremonies, opens up with his familiar greeting, "Hello-hello, hello—everybody, everywhere!" until the signing off takes place the program moves along with songs, square dances, and melody in a peppy old hayloft style.

Otto and his tune twisting Novelodians are popular favorites with the listening audience.

Undoubtedly everyone who has listened to the weekly barn dance program holds a desire to see and hear Lulu Belle and Skyland Scotty.

Headlining the show will be Uncle Ezra. Known from coast to coast for his comedy and home town philosophy, Uncle Ezra is a national favorite. He lives presumably in Rosedale, Coles County, where he has a mythical five-watt radio station that broadcasts three times a week over the NBC network.

VOL. LII. (52 YEARS) (In the St. Joe Valley) ST. JOE, DeKALB COUNTY, INDIANA. THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1937 NUMBER 36

ST. JOE PASTOR ACCEPTS CALL TO CITY PASTORATE

Rev. J. E. Catron, Minister of the Christian Church, of St. Joe and Newville, Indiana, tendered his resignation effective October 1st, in order to accept the pastorate of the First Church of Hartford City, Ind.

Rev. Catron, although a young man, has been active in the ministry throughout Kentucky and the middle west for the past fifteen years. He came to St. Joe having ministered in the following churches of prominence: Tulsa, Oklahoma; Erick, Oklahoma; Wellington, Texas, and Macon, Missouri. His ministerial preparation includes under-graduate work in Asbury College, Wilmore, Kentucky, Kentucky University and Transylvania College of Lexington, Ky. Graduate work he has taken in Cincinnati Bible Semiary, he expects now to augment with work in Butler University, Indianapolis, Ind., while pastoring the church at Hartford City, in pursuit of the Doctor of Philosophy Degree.

When Brother Catron resigned the work at Erick, Okla., to accept the pulpit of the church at Wellington, Texas, the Beckham County Democrat carried the following comment: "He was one of the ablest ministers in our opinion who ever stood in our pulpit. To every man his work and Brother Catron was no mean workman when it came to delving deeply into the Scriptures. We do heartily commend Brother Catron and his family to the people of Wellington."

While Rev. Catron has been associated only recently with St. Joe, he has proven himself a man to believe in the fundamentals of christianity and has fearlessly spoken against anything to the contrary. As he leaves St. Joe, The News extends its very best wishes for success in his new field of labor.

KOEPPE—RICKERD

Miss Norma Rickerd, of Newville, Indiana, became the bride of Mr. Earl Koeppe, also of Newville, in an impressive ceremony at the home of Rev. J. E. Catron, pastor of the Christian Church here, at eight o'clock Sunday morning

The bride wore a beautiful dress of navy blue crepe with matching accessories and carried a bouquet of snapdragons and sweetheart roses.

The couple was attended by Miss Violet Brunson and Mr. Ora Patee, of Newville community. They left for a motor trip to Indianapolis and points South. They will be at home with the bride's parents temporarily.

Mr. Koeppe was graduated at Butler High School class of 1934 and Miss Rickerd class of 1936 from St. Joe. The bride has been assisting in the J. R. Goldsmith home for several months and has made many friends while in St. Joe

All friends of this splendid and popular young couple join us in wishing them much happiness in life.

IT'S JUST GRASS

In western Illinois the grass grows as tall as corn. Orvill Fassett's farm near Aledo, produced this eleven foot stand of Sudan grass. Harriet Rathbun, on fence, and her sister Margaret of New Windsor, wonder what a lawn mower for this grass would look like.

MERCHANTS CARNIVAL AT ST. JOE ALL THIS WEEK

The St. Joe Merchants Association is sponsoring a Street Carnival all this week, headed by Christ United Shows, consisting of four shows, four nice rides and lots of concessions.

Each week for the past three months the Merchants have provided weekly entertainment for the community, and the Carnival Week is a diversion from the picture show. While the contract was not made until late in the week, the advertising was made by window cards in the surrounding towns.

The crowds have not been large, due to Labor Day, many being at the State Fair, and then too, school starting this week has made a demand for extra cash on the family purse, in preparing the "kiddies" for school, but we do expect good crowds the balance of the week in St. Joe.

FORMER ST. JOE BOY MARRIES ST. JOE GIRL

Homer Woodcox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woodcox, of this place, and Miss Esther Baumgartner, of Garrett, were united in marriage last Saturday by the Rev. O. B. Fisher, pastor of the Christian Church of Auburn.

The gorom now operates the O'Day Filling Station and Bulk Plant at Auburn, and has been employed for the past four years in Auburn.

After their marriage they made a trip through Southern Indiana, and on their return home stopped off in St. Joe Tuesday evening to spend a short time with his parents.

The young couple on returning to Auburn entered their newly furnished home at 205 West 18th St., where they will be at home to their friends.

The News extends the young couple hearty congratulations.

SCHOOL OPENS

Concord Township Schools reopened on last Friday with five new teachers on the staff due to resignations during the summer. New teachers are Harry Bolinger, Miss Elizabeth Jones, Mrs. Naomi Fox, Mrs. Portia Hough and Mrs. Harriet Oberlin.

The other teachers are J. B. Munn, principal, Leslie Wilbern, Miss Eloise Bowman, Miss Violet May and C. A. Woodcox.

Enrollment as of Tuesday, September 7 was as follows: First grade, 11; Second, 19; Third, 21; Fourth, 16; Fifth, 15; Sixth, 15; Seventh, 26; Eighth, 18; Ninth, 29; Tenth, 36; Eleventh, 16, and Twelfth, 14. A total enrollment of 236. A few pupils have not enrolled due to whooping cough.

Safetygrams
BY FRED W. BRAUN
The Safety Man

A few words to parents.

Schools are again starting all over the country and thousands of children will be required to leave the protection of their homes to make the daily trips back and forth to their places of instruction. In doing so it will be necessary for them to use their own judgments in crossing streets and walking on the highways.

Eddie Cantor once said in one of his broadcasts, "Drive Slowly—We Love Our Children.'

I sometimes wonder whether certain parents really do love their children. If they did, they would show more concern about their safety and conduct at crossings and on the highways.

Teach your children to cross streets only at the regular crossings and to be careful when doing so. If it is necessary for your children to walk on the highways, instruct them to walk on the left hand side and step off the road if necessary. REMIND THEM DAILY!

Farms Continue to Sink

Shown above is a photo taken September 2nd of the sinking canyon near Twin Falls, Idaho. The earth action still continues and more and more land falls and moves outward toward the river channel which threatens to be dammed up to form a lake. While crops on the farm were destroyed by the phenomena geologists predict that a rich vein of gold bearing ore will be uncovered by the time the sinking finally stops.

FINISH LIBERATION OF 5,700 PHEASANTS

Liberation of 5,700 ring-neck pheasants has been completed in Central and Northern Indiana counties with the cooperation of local conservation clubs, Virgil M. Simmons, commissioner of the Department of Conservation, reported today.

These game birds, propagated at the Jasper-Pulaski and Wells County game preserves, represented a surplus over the capacity of the holding pens. Approximately seventeen thousand pheasants are being held in these covered pens, to be released in the spring.

The pheasants liberated during the past few weeks, were placed in areas where conditions have proved favorable to these birds in the past and where food, shelter and protection is satisfactory. Reports showing the exact location in which each liberation was made, have been compiled and will be used in future game surveys.

Release of the pheasants at this time will provide additional sport for Hoosiers when Indiana's second open season on cock pheasants is held in November.

SARBER FAMILY REUNION

The Sarber Family Reunion was held on Labor Day at the home of Frank Kitchen, West of town. Glenn Sarber was elected president and Miss Cecile Clevenger, secretary and treasurer.

Those present were: Mr. C. C. Sarber, Chicago, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Burkhart and son, Leslie, Bowling Green, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs Glenn Sarber and children, Scott and Jackie, Columbus Grove, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. C. B. M. Kitchen and son, Paul.

The next meeting will be held at the W. C. Burkhart home at Bowling Green, Ohio.

Issue 25 Licenses Saturday

Saturday was marriage license day at the office of County Clerk Carl Walter in Auburn. Twenty-five licenses were issued up to 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. DeKalb County people securing licenses were: Earl Koeppe, of Wilmington Township and Norma Rickard, of Stafford Township; Maynard Race, of Auburn and Evelyn Brandt, of Butler; Warren Kinsey, of Ypsilanti, Mich., and Emma L. Leek, of Waterloo; George W. Griffiths, of Kalamazoo and Ida Strobel, of Auburn; Frank F. Richmond and Naomi R. Dove, of Waterloo; James J. Goller of Ney, Ohio, and Arco Sattison, of Butler.

Lutheran Pastor Resigns

Rev C. J. Ferster, pastor of the Lutheran Churches here and at Spencerville, has notified his church councils of his intention of leaving the work by October 1st., and go to Mulberry, Ind., where he has been given the position of superintendent of the Old People's Home of this denomination.

Rev. Ferster has given splendid satisfaction while serving this charge, but being lone handed he feels the work as heavy. At his age, he can do a very creditable job of managing the home.

His many firends here will wish him well in this new undertaking.

Exhibiting at State Fair

Henry Emme, an extensive vegetable farmer residing East of Auburn, A. J. Moore, of Moore, also East of Auburn, breeder of international sheep winners, and Otto Ginther, of Spencerville, also recognized as one of the foremost breeders of swine in Indiana, are exhibiting at the State Fair at Indianapolis. The Fair started Saturday and will be visited by many DeKalb County people.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Carpenter attended the State Fair Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ersel Steward, of Fort Wayne, Mrs. Hasel Steward, of Spencerville and Mrs. Florence Baker and two children, Deloris and Richard, of Concord, called Labor Day on Mrs. Ada Berry and Mrs. Mary Betz. Mr. and Mrs. Steward and Mrs. Hasel Steward spent Saturday and Sunday at Richmond with George Berry.

RELIGIOUS PARADE A FEATURE OF FAIR

The committee for the religious centennial in DeKalb County wishes to remind the religious organizations of the county of the near approach of the County Fair in Auburn when the observance will be presented on Wednesday of fair week.

There will be three parades—Tuesday evening, Wednesday afternoon and Saturday when these church and Sunday School organizations are asked to participate by the fair association. But the day set apart for the religious centennial is Wednesday when there will be an exhibit of religious literature and articles of an historic interest in the rotunda of the court house.

At 1:30 in the afternoon of that day there will be a parade of religious organizations to be led by a horse-back rider dressed to represent the early missionary and saddle-bags preacher of the early days. The parade will have as a closing unit a modern vehicle carrying the representatives of present day religious activity.

The parade in between these representations will have floats descriptive of the manifold activities of the church. Each such organization in the county is asked to prepare and present some one or more floats to depict its varied or outstanding activity.

Along with the floats for the parade it is respectfully asked that each organization have as large a group as possible of marchers in the line of the parade. Each organization is asked to appoint a special committee to organize its part in the parade and to attend to any of its things in the exhibit.

It is also asked that the oldest church member of the county be discovered and reported for announcement on this occasion.

Following the afternoon parade the religious history of the county will be given. A hundred or more voices will also sing at this gathering.

To close the day there will be an evening program at which a gathering of the representatives of all the church choirs of the county, under the direction of Mrs. Harold Nugen, of Auburn, will sing. At this evening gathering also the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Smith, of Fort Wayne, will deliver the centennial address in which the basic and effectual forces and influences of organized religion will be set forth.

It is believed that this event of the religious centennial of the county, in connection with the Fall Fair, offers an exceptional opportunity to show the place of organized religion in this part of our state. Cooperation of the various organizations and groups in the county will make this event an outstanding event of the Fair and a memorable success.

Any matters affecting the music of the centennial should be reported to Albert Yoder of Jackson Township or to Fred B. Leighty of St. Joe or to Mrs. Harold Nugen, who will arrange for the rehearsal of the singing and for the final presentation of the music. More details on the parade will be announced later

COAL FOUND UNDER CITY STREET IN ST. LOUIS

A vein of coal of undetermined extent was discovered under a street in St. Louis, Mo., last week by workman digging a sewer. Thomas Iovaldi is holding several lumps of coal. The coal seems to be of fair quality and similar to that of the soft coal mined in the Illinois Coal Fields. It is probable that the workmen will have their supply of coal taken care of.

The United States News has compiled the record of the last three congresses in enacting major laws. It shows that the legislators are nowhere near as eager as they used to be to put new laws on the books.

The 73rd Congress (1933-34) passed 27 new major laws, including the NRA, AAA, TVA, SEC, and 4 important monetary acts. The 74th Congress (1935-36) passed 19 major laws, including the social security act, a revision of banking legislation, the National Labor Relations Act, and 4 farm aid acts.

The last session passed but 6 major laws. And some of these—such as the law to plug loopholes in the income tax—were practically universally supported.

SNITCHING ON ANDY

We have had the "Ever Normal Granary." Now it appears that we are to have an "Ever Normal Cash Box," according to the latest reports from Washington. This last smacks suspicion of an Amos and Andy program.

The idea now is for the government to store "extra" cash during good times to use for unemployment purposes during depressions.

The idea is fine, except "extra" cash around Washington is about as scarce as polar bears in Africa.

of Helpful Household Hints and Recipes

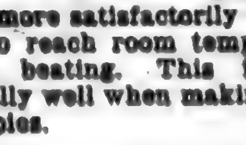
In order to put candles into your candlestick holders so they will stand securely, put a small quantity of melted paraffin into the candlestick with a teaspoon and set the candle in the paraffin; it is then held taut and straight.

• • •

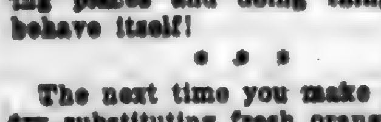


When making a cake, remember to remove the eggs from the refrigerator about one-half hour before using. They will whip more easily and more satisfactorily when allowed to reach room temperature before beating. This idea works equally well when making meringue for pies.

• • •

Here's a recipe for CHILLED GRAHAM CRACKER PASTRY which can be prepared ahead of time and stored in the refrigerator until needed. If kept in a modern ice refrigerator, the mixture will not dry out or absorb odors from other foods. Combine one cup graham cracker crumbs, ¼ cup of sugar and ¼ cup melted butter. Work together lightly until well blended. Press into pie plate, shaping firmly all around. Chill in ice refrigerator until ready to use; then add favorite filling and serve.

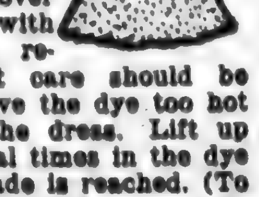
• • •



When a cooked icing will not harden, add powdered sugar. The icing will immediately stop going places and doing things and behave itself!

• • •

The next time you make pastry, try substituting fresh orange juice for the water usually used. Keep in modern ice refrigerator until needed. Bread, cake and pastry mixes, stored in an ice refrigerator, stay fresh indefinitely.



Here is a method for dyeing children's faded clothes and at the same time for preventing lace trimmings on the garments from being dyed also: With an old toothbrush cover the trimming with melted paraffin, remembering that care should be taken not to have the dye too hot when dipping the dress. Lift up and down several times in the dye until correct shade is reached. (To assure even, uniform tint, use melted ice — manufactured ice water.) When the garment is dry, remove the paraffin and the trimming will be as bright and new as ever.

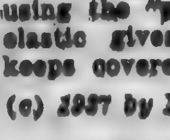
• • •

Here's a grand recipe for CHERRY CHIFFON PIE. Heat 1 cup of cherry juice to boiling point. Add ½ package of cherry-flavored gelatin and stir until dissolved. Remove from fire and chill in modern ice refrigerator. When gelatin is partially congealed add ½ cup of chopped cherries, mix as quickly as possible, and return to the refrigerator. Beat 2 egg whites until frothy. Add ¼ cup of sugar gradually and continue beating until a stiff meringue is formed. Fold meringue into cherry mixture and pour into a baked pastry shell. Chill four hours in ice refrigerator. (Makes one 9 inch pie.)

• • •

If crocheting a spread, as so many women are doing nowadays, remember to purchase an extra ball of yarn for repair work; thus avoiding the possibility that the yarn cannot be matched later.

• • •



In order to keep a child covered in cold weather sew elastic to the two upper corners of the blanket and fasten these to a strap fastened to the head of the bed instead of using the "pinning" method. The elastic gives, but the youngster keeps covered.

AN ILL WIND

More proof that it's an ill wind that blows nobody good comes in a recent news dispatch from Denver. It is to the effect that men who make a business of furnishing bait to fishermen in Northern and Eastern states during vacation season have been paying as high as $400 a ton for Colorado grasshoppers. Most St. Joe fishermen who know the merit of the grasshopper as a lure for game fish will say that's cheap. Most farmers who are plagued with the hoppers will say it it worth that much to get rid of them. At any rate, it seems that a promising new industry is about to be opened up, with canned grasshoppers selling in all parts of the country where game fish abide. All of which goes to show that money is still to be found in strange places, and that there are plenty of new things under the sun if one has the eye to see them.

ONE WAY TO SAVE

With more leaves turning yellow with each passing day, citizens around St. Joe are reminded not only of the rapid flight of time but that winter will also be here before many of them are ready for it. September and October are generally recognized as ideal months for making needed improvements about the premises, the bulk of the harvest season being over and with more time at hand in which to do this type of work. Not only that, but this year there is an added reason for making such improvements, and that is the fast-mounting cost of hardware and building materials. The same improvements made now that could have been made last spring will cost more than if they had been done then, and if postponed until next year the cost will be still greater. From an economical standpoint, therefore, the man who postpones necessary building, or needed improvements, is actually robbing himself. This is offered merely as a timely suggestion—do the work now and when spring comes figure up the saving.

FORGETFULNESS

It is difficult for the average citizen to believe, as hard as money has been to get during the past few years, that anyone who had $50,000 in a bank would forget he had it there. Yet the Federal Reserve Bank reports that the vast sum of $189,039,000 in unclaimed money reposes in the banks of this country. Sixty-five of these accounts are for $50,000 or more, while 1211 of them are for sums ranging from $10,000 to $50,000. The death of depositors, with no known relatives or friends, accounts for some of this money being unclaimed, but forgetfulness is said to be responsible for much of it being uncalled for. Now if some smart chap could devise a way whereby this money can be diverted into a source that would benefit the general public, and maybe ease off their taxes for a brief period, he would earn the praise of all his fellowmen. Then, too, maybe somebody else could step in to complete the job by inventing a way whereby a fellow couldn't lose sight of the fact that he had, say, a trifling little sum like $50,000 left in the bank.

MANANA, MANANA, MANANA! !

Congress has left behind it another new "high" in the national debt of more than $36,000,000,000. During the entire session no concrete move was made in the direction of economy. Instead, another mortgage was laid on the future, heavier shackles placed on the opportunities and welfare of coming generations.

The pity is that our contemporary log-rolling, pork-barreling politicians will not be in office when the day of reckoning arrives, to be scorned and hated for the spineless profligates that they are for squandering today the as-yet-unearned savings of the citizens of tomorrow. No, luckily for them, they will not be around—and they know it. That is why they are living in luxurious dissipation now, and doing their level best to educate the entire American public to the idea that extravagance is a virtue.

For seven years now the country has been rolling in a drunken welter of spending. For seven years staggering public deficits have been incurred annually. No one seems to know, and few seem to care, where this mad orgy is leading the nation. Nothing is more insidiously deadly than a national spendthrift policy. Before it, the heritage of high character, freedom and protection for the individual citizen, can ultimately be swept away.

ONE WAY TO WITNESS

There are a good many people who suppose they are not witnessing for Jesus unless they go to the foreign field, or address groups at home on the subject of their salvation, or approach individuals and talk to them about Jesus and their relation to Him.

To some of us it will always seem reasonable that for hosts of people the most they will ever do for the kingdom is to let their light quietly shine. They are not strong on arguments in favor of one kind of life or another, but they can distinguish between right and wrong and be true to the best that they know.

Take the simple matter of church going. There is no one, unless he be an invalid, who cannot let others see the nature and strength of his faith by going to church. We are not able to tell how many Christians there are who endeavor by testimony of speech to lead others to Jesus; but we can tell how many there are who think it worth while to go to church and worship God in His sanctuary.

We are sorely in need today of faithfulness in the simple and unheralded acts of the Christian life. Unless there is this foundation testimony to our faithfulness to our Lord public demonstrations mean little. It is the total influence we exert that tells for the kingdom of God.

It is a great testimony to Jesus, the simple going to church in our own town or city or village.

To Rebuild Telephone Lines

Work of rebuilding the local telephone lines has started with a company crew on the rural line West of the Wabash. In all 51 miles of new wire will be strung, new poles to replace those beyond repair, and in St. Joe possibly new cables will be strung to eliminate much of the trouble now interrupting the service.

This will of course be good news to the patrons and to the operators at central office.

TEN REASONS FOR JOINING THE AMERICAN LEGION

There are ten outstanding reasons why every veteran of the World War should join the American Legion, apart from the fact that one of life's greatest compensations for service to Country lies in the pleasant association with those who shared that service with him.

The ten reasons are:

1. PEACE TIME SERVICE—The blue and gold button of the American Legion testifies honorable service for God and Country in War, and service to community, state and nation in time of peace.

2. REHABILITATION—Every membership helps toward the attainment of the objective of adequate care and protection by the government of every disabled ex-service man and his dependents.

3. CHILD WELFARE—Every enrollment helps to carry out the great child welfare program which the Legion is sponsoring, and in which the Legion stands in the place of father and husband to scores of thousands of needy orphas and widows.

4. AMERICANISM—By belonging to the Legion, the veteran backs the greatest principles of Americanism, combats un-American influences, supports patriotic education among the children and the citizens at large, and helps to make all communities better places in which to live.

5. JUNIOR EDUCATION—Through the Legion the veteran will help to teach sportsmanship and higher ideals to the youth of America by means of the Junior Baseball program, Sons of the American Legion, Boy Scout oratorical contests and School Medal Award programs.

6. NATIONAL DEFENSE—Every membershp will help the Legion in attaining its goal for an adequate national defense to insure this country against attack, and thus against another war.

7. LEGISLATION—Practically every piece of legislation beneficial to ex-service men has found the American Legion right behind it. The success of the etire legislative program of the Legion depends upon early and complete enrollment.

8. NON-PARTISAN — By joining the American Legion the veteran becomes a member of the most Democratic organization in the world. No rank in the Legion, no race, no creed. Honorable discharge and service during the World War the only requirements.

9. COMRADESHIP—The veteran enrolling in the Legion joins up with a real outfit of he-men who served side by side with him, through thick and thin, whether he was a millionaire or not. Friendships made on the battle field and in the service endure. Friendships made in the Legion likewise endure.

10. ORGANIZATION — Individually, the ex-service man can do little; collectively, in the 11,284 posts with more than a million members, the veterans can accomplish the things that are worthy.

WAS TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Mrs. Stanley Baker, of Concord, was removed Saturday morning in Dilgard Bros. ambulance to the Dr. Bonnell Souder Hospital for medical treatment.

NEWS FROM COUNTY AGENT

STOMACH WORMS IN SHEEP

By T. E. Myers, County Agr'l. Agent

Several complaints have been made by DeKalb County farmers of losing their spring lambs. In several cases the veterinarians have diagnosed the cause of the loss as due to stomach worms.

During the summer months the stomach and tape worms of sheep multiply rapidly and do their most serious damage. Particularly is this true in seasons in which the spring and summer has been quite rainy.

Stomach worms in sheep may be avoided by using temporary pastures and moving the sheep from one field to another each three weeks. On farms where it is necessary to use permanent pastures for sheep, stomach worms may be controlled by drenching the sheep each month with a solution of 1 1-3 ounces of copper sulphate and 20 cubic centimeters of nicotine sulphate dissolved in a gallon of soft water. The coarse crystals of copper sulphate should be wrapped in a cloth while being dissolved. The solution may be made more quickly by dissolving the copper sulphate in a pint of hot water, later adding enough water to make the correct solution. A glass or earthenware jar should be used, as the copper sulphate will react with metal. When hard water is used from 15 to 22 drops of hydrochloric acid should be added to each gallon of solution. The dose for a mature sheep is 4 ounces, while 2 ounces is the correct amount to give to a 60-pound lamb. In drenching, back the sheep into a corner, making sure that the sheep is standing squarely on all four feet. Then the operator straddles the sheep's neck, raising the sheep's nostrils to a level with its eyes, but no higher. The drench may be given with a long-necked bottle, or a 2 to 4-ounce syringe, being careful to give it slowly so that the sheep does not strangle.

Usually one treatment per month during June, July, August, September and October is sufficient. In most cases it is not necessary to treat early lambs which fatten rapidly and are sold in May and June.

PICKED UP ABOUT TOWN

"There is a lot of money in this world," says Paul Martin, "but everybody seems to owe it to everybody else."

Harry Hursh says that half the unhappiness in the world is caused by failure of plans which were unreasonable in the first place.

"Some people have charming personalities," declares Mrs. Strouse, "but most of us have to work our way thru this dreary world."

We Americans claim to be the wisest people in the world. Maybe that is the reason we dig gold out of the earth, declare it unconstitutional and then bury it again.

Ed. Storer points out that many a woman in this neighborhood suffers continuously from her husband's indigestion.

"A man has little vision after 50, asserts Paul Perry. "By that time he has worn his rut so deep he can't see over the sides."

A Wisconsin man, dead at 102, never uttered a profane word in his life. Probably another one who never heard of taxes.

According to J. P. Buckingham the man who steals public funds goes to jail but the one who uses public funds to bribe voters is usually re-elected.

Why hate the slicker? He is only trying to get something for nothing and that's what you do when you go up against him.

SEED NURSERIES TO COLLECT SIXTY-EIGHT TONS OF SEED

More than sixty-eight tons of tree seed will be collected in Indiana this fall for planting in the state forest nurseries, it was reported today by Virgil M. Simmons, commissioner of the Department of Conservation. Seed is to be collected from eighteen species of trees and shrubs.

This is an increase of approximately thirty per cent in the amount of seed collected for planting in the state nurseries and will provide millions of trees for future forestry and game plantings on state and private land throughout Indiana. An increase in the nursery acreage has been necessary to provide sufficient trees for reforestation plantings. In the past state nurseries have been unable to supply enough trees to meet the need for planting stock on state and private land.

The major species of seed to be collected by members of the Civilian Conservation Corps include: Virginia Pine, Sugar Maple, Tulip, Poplar, White Oak, Red Oak, Chinquapin Oak, Black Oak, Osage Orange, Red Haw, Persimmon, Sassafras, Bittersweet, Red Bud, Dogwood, Sorbus Mt. Ash, Beach and Butternut.

Several of the species are being included in the collection this fall for their importance as food and shelter for birds and wildlife. Through extensive plantings of these fruit and nut bearing trees and shrubs on state and private land, the Department of Conservation expects to increase the natural food supply and provide additional shelter. Eventually it is hoped that this program will make unnecessary the winter feeding of birds and wildlife except in periods of emergency.

Lee Miles, Ace Race Pilot Killed In Crash

Cleveland, Ohio, September 2.—Shedding the wings of his swift racing plane as he banked sharply around a pylon at a 200-mile-an-hour clip at the Cleveland, (O.) airport, Lee Miles, 37, of Fort Worth, Texas was instantly killed in the resulting crash. The fuselage hurtled on through the air, spinning like a top, for 500 yards to smash through a woods before buckling to a stop against three trees. Miles, who was making a qualifying flight in preparation for the National Air Races, flew without a parachute and would not have had a chance to use one had he worn it, witnesses said. Miles was one of the outstanding racing pilots of the country. He once had the title of No. 1 racing pilot and in 1934 set a world's record of 209 miles an hour for a 100-kilometer distance.

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. LII. (52 YEARS) (In the St. Joe Valley) ST. JOE, DeKALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1937 NUMBER 37

GARRETT GIRL CHOSEN TO BE HARVEST QUEEN

Miss Margaret McKinley, of Garrett, will reign as queen of the DeKalb County Free Fall Fair in 1937. She and her entourage of five other DeKalb County young women left Garrett Sunday evening over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad for Washington, D. C., for a 6-day sight seeing trip and were received by the President of the United States at the White House.

Accompanying Miss McKinley were the two maids-of-honor, Miss Dorothy McClintock, of Union Township and Miss Eliner Hawver, of Jackson Township. The three attendants are Miss Doris Furnish, of Spencer Township, Miss Maxine David, of Wilmington Township, and Miss Catherine Johnson, of Garrett. Mrs. Brandon Lash, of Auburn, was chosen to chaperon the girls on the trip.

The county eliminations were held last Wednesday night on the stage of the Court Theatre in Auburn. A committee of out-of-town judges selected the queen and her attendants from a group of twelve township and town queens in the final elimination. Originally there were sixty two contestants from the twelve county units. Township and town eliminations had been held previously in Butler, Garrett and Auburn for the purpose of selecting a queen in each community.

Those in the finals were Miss Margaret McKinley, of Garrett, Miss Lucille Dick, of Garrett, Miss Catherine Johnson, of Garrett, employed at the Messenger Corp., who was Miss Auburn, Miss Evelyn Foster, of Fairfield Township, Miss Olivia Metzger, of Richland Township, Miss Maxine David, of Wilmington Township, Miss Gladys Dannenberg, of Keyser Township, Miss Dorothy McClintock, of Union Township, Miss Eliner Hawver, of Jackson Township, Miss Annabelle Stewart, of Concord Township, Miss Doris Furnish, of Spencer Township and Miss Conchetti Luciana, of Butler Township.

The points upon which the Harvest Queen was chosen were poise, beauty, grace and personality. T. E Myers, county agent and Charles Miser, county assessor attached arm bands on each girl, numbered from one to twelve, inclusive. The judges, executives from the Paramount, Fox, United Artists and RKO film companies and a representative of the Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette were in the audience and scored the qualifying points which were later tabulated and which determined the girl to be selected as queen and her attendants. Each girl walked across the stage in the glare of a spot light, while the judges set down the points on their score cards.

At the conclusion of the elimination, the queen was presented with a large bouquet of roses. She also will receive a $150 four-piece bedroom suite donated by the Gerig Furniture Company.

Howard W. Mountz, a Garrett attorney, was introduced and informed the audience that Don Lash of Auburn, Indiana University graduate and long distance track champion will crown the queen during the Fall Fair and that Don's mother, Mrs. Brandon Lash, will accompany the queen and her ladies-in-waiting to Washington.

Miss McKinley is 18 years of age and entered the Garrett high school this year as a member of the senior class. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. McKinley and her father is a Baltimore & Ohio railroad conductor.

She is a member of the high school dramatic club, mixed chorus and is yell leader.

Prior to the judging at the Court Theatre a banquet was served at the Hotel Auburn for the girls in the queen contest and the officers and township directors.

The party arrived at Washington at 8:30 o'clock Monday morning. Underwood & Underwood, official White House photographers and reporters and photographers from the Washington Herald met the party, took pictures and interviewed the group. The Lee Home will be headquarters for the queen and her party while in Washington.

The queen and entourage will be received by President Franklin D. Roosevelt and immediately afterwards a visit to the White House, capitol and other public buildings will be made. A tour of historic points of interest at the national capital will follow Arlington, Mt. Vernon, Annapolis, Alexandria, Newport News, Williamsburg, Yorktown, Hampton, Old Point Comfort and other places will be visited. A cruise by steamer for 600 miles on Chesapeake bay will be an outstanding feature of the trip.

SCHOOL NOTES

On last Friday afternoon the upper six grades held organization meetings and selected officers for the school year as follows:

Seniors — Garnet Washler, president; Harold Baker, vice president; Eva Young, secretary-treasurer; Walter Erwin and Virginia Poper members of the Athletic Association Council. Mr. Munn will be the Senior Class sponsor.

Juniors — James Maxwell, president; Catherine Curle, vice president; Gwenevere Jenkins, secretary-treasurer; Annabelle Stewart and James Draggoo members of the A. A. Council. Mrs. Fox is class sponsor.

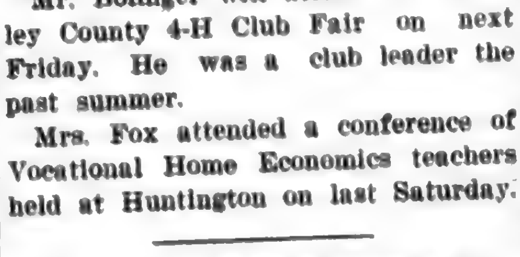
Mrs. Fox attended a conference of Vocational Home Economics teachers held at Huntington on last Saturday.



Safetygrams BY FRED W. BRAUN © The Safety Man

School is again in session. This requires additional care in driving our automobiles and trucks.

Special attention should be paid all rules and regulations that the town, city, village, or Board of Education has built or inaugurated around these school buildings. Let's pay attention to these signs

You will expect this courtesy, care, and consideration shown your children while on their way to school and consequently you are obligated to show the same consideration to other children.

Safety education is given the children in the schools regularly now and with everybody co-operating these accidents should be eliminated.

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Sailer are spending the week at Hamilton Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Frost, of Connersville, Ind., were recent guests in the Elmer Inlow home.

Harvey Hull took Sunday dinner in the Simon Nicholls home. Harry Stamates, of Cincinnati, Ohio, was also a guest.

Have your glasses fitted by Benj. F. Griest, Eyesight Specialist, Office in American Bldg., Hicksville, Ohio. 28tf.

Mr. and Mrs. Will James and sister, Miss James, of Harlan, called on Mr. and Mrs. Morris Currie Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Andress and son, Max, of Elkhart, were Saturday and Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Andress.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Baker were Mrs. Art Colye and son, of Auburn, and Mr. and Mrs. Ern Johnson, of Concord.

Mr. and Mrs. John Draggoo and children, of Fort Wayne, were here Saturday night attending the carnival and meeting old friends.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Wadsworth, of Peebles, Ohio, were for the past week guests in the Curtis Hursey, Elmer Inlow and Jay Hart homes.

Miss Naomi White and friend, Mr. Merl Ridenour, of Hicksville, motored to Inkster, Mich., Sunday and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Kreeger. Monday they went to Detroit and visited Henry Ford's places of interest.

Jumping out of bed the moment you awaken is a very bad habit. Even a dog, when aroused from sleep, will stretch a few times before calling it a night. Sleepers are advised to wait a few minutes, possibly 20, to allow certain physiological adjustments to take place.

By proceedings in the DeKalb circuit court, Mr. and Mrs. Farnk Baltz of Auburn, have adopted Erma Smith, 19, who has made her home with them for the last twelve years. Her name was changed to Erma Jean Baltz. Atkinson & Husselman represent the petitioners.

Horace Meek was appointed in the DeKalb circuit court Saturday as guardian of the late Sherman T. Meek, a former trustee of Newville Township. The ward owns $2,000 in real estate and the guardian filed $1,100 bond with Claude D. Laub and Ralph R. Hook as sureties.

Mr. and Mrs. Coral Platter entertained at a dinner party on Thursday evening the following people from the WPA administrative office, of Fort Wayne: Mr. N. R. Holthouse, of Decatur, Miss Helen Guemplein, of Peru, Misses Leora Bowers, Ruth Loucks and Mr. and Mrs. Blayne Osborne, of Fort Wayne.

Having testified that her husband was cruel, Kathryn Steward was advised in the DeKalb circuit court Saturday that a decree of divorce would be entered for her from Victor C. L. Steward, of Garrett, when the court costs are paid. The couple married June 4, 1930, and parted last May 22. The plaintiff was given the custody of the children, Donald 6, and Leanore, 2, and an agreement was made for the defendant to pay $20 a month for the children's maintenance.

If its news, give it to us.

Mrs. J. E. Foltz visited relatives in Toledo, Ohio, last week.

All clocks will be moved back to Standard Time on Saturday night, September 25th.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wineland spent Sunday in the home of his sister, Mrs. A. R. Cole at Garrett.

Just like a letter from home—a News subscription is an ideal gift for any loved one away from home. $1.00 for a whole year.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Cole entertained at 6 o'clock dinner Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Simmons and daughter, Mrs. Stella Simmons, of Peebles, O., and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Storer.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Shull were Mr. and Mrs. Clem Shull and daughter, Lucy, of Hicksville, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Copp and two children, of Fort Wayne and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Haller and son.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Buckingham were all day guests Monday of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Patterson in Fort Wayne. A very pleasant day was spent by these friends together. The Pattersons send greetings to all their St. Joe friends.

The Home Bureau will be held at the home of Mrs. Russel Wade, Friday, September 17, with the following committee: Tena Engle, Bird Nicholls and Harriett Draggoo. There will be election of officers and all interested in the welfare of the club please be present.

Harry Randall, of Chicago, arrived here Saturday evening and visited his mother until Wednesday. Sunday they drove to Wawasee to attend the Pincheon Family Reunion. Monday evening Chas. Bassett was a supper guest in the Randall home and they enjoyed this evening of reminiscing.

Property Changes Hands Twice

The Donahue property was sold Tuesday to J. R. Shilling and the same day he in turn sold it to Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Akins. Possession was given Wednesday and they will begin moving this week from the Grant Baltz property.

In Society

A marriage license was issued Thursday to Ted Strouse, 25, wholesaler; and Helen Tustison, 18, of St. Joe.

The young couple was married last Thursday by the Rev. H. F. Craven, of the Presbyterian Church, Auburn. After the ceremony they left, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Baker, for Indianapolis, and then on to interesting points in Kentucky.

Helen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tustison, of east of St. Joe, a graduate from the St. Joe high school. The groom is employed by Wm. Strouse, a brother, in the wholesale business.

The young couple has the best wishes of their many friends.

NEARLY 400 ATTEND SCHOOL REUNION HELD AT CORUNNA

One of the largest reunions in DeKalb County this year was that of teachers, former teachers, pupils and former pupils in the schools of Richland and Fairfield Townships, held in the Christian Church at Corunna on Sunday.

The attendance was nearly four hundred, with two hundred eighty-eight registering. Thirty who formerly taught in the schools of the two townships were present.

The oldest teacher in the schools represented was Dr. James Squires of Fort Wayne, 83 years of age and the next was Thomas P. French, of Angola, past 80 years old. William Franks, of Garrett, was presented with a banner for having taught the most years consecutively. Mr. Franks was a teacher for almost 60 years.

There was a fine program of music and recitations and talks by the old timers. The ladies of the Corunna Christian Church served the dinner.

It was decided to hold another reunion on the second Sunday in September, 1938, and perpetuate the organization. Forrest Harding was elected president and Mrs. Nora McDonald, secretary. Members were present from New York, Illinois, Nebraska, Michigan, Ohio, and Indiana.

The reunion idea started early this year. Dr. B. O. Shook of Spencerville, DeKalb county coroner, while visiting in the vicinity of his boyhood home near Corunna, conceived the idea of a gathering of teachers and scholars in the two townships. He saw a number of friends who became interested and plans were perfected for the successful reunion held on Sunday.

ADJUSTMENT BOARD STUDYING 1938 BUDGETS

The DeKalb County Tax Adjustment Board met at the court house Monday in annual session and began the study of the budgets and levies of the various taxing units.

The first action of the board was the election of S. O. Devit, of Wilmington Township, as chairman and John Zimmerman, of Auburn, as vice chairman. The other members are H. D. Weaver and R. Wayne Smith, of Auburn; J. W. Camp, of Smithfield Township and H. M. VanLear, of Garrett. Mr. VanLear, Mr. Devitt, Mr. Zimmerman and Mr. Case were appointed by Judge Endicott. Mr. Weaver represents the county council, Mr. Smith the mayor of Auburn and Mr. Camp the county board of education.

WHEN JOHN BARLEYCORN DOES THE DRIVING

John Barleycorn causes a high percentage of our 38,000 annual traffic deaths.

A report from the California Department of Motor Vehicles shows a condition that exists in many states. California experienced 2,838 traffic deaths last year. Of these, about 21 per cent involved drivers and pedestrians who were known to have been drinking. It is reasonable to assume that liquor was a factor in a much greater proportion, as it is often impossible to legally prove mild intoxication.

No lethal weapon ever invented by man is more potentially deadly than a mixture of alcohol and gasoline. Medicine tests have proven that as little as two or three ounces of liquor will seriously impair a driver's reflexes—even though he may appear to be sober in all respects—and at the same time give him an influx of Dutch courage that results in inexcusable recklessness. By the same token, drinking pedestrians, their senses of caution dimmed, unknowingly take the chances that breed death and injury.

There is no excuse for a driver taking the wheel of his car after drinking. Here is a case where the law must be adamant, and must be exerted ruthlessly, impartially and immediately. It is a notorious fact that in many communities, prosecuting and police officials are lax about the drinker at the wheel, and are only too willing to reduce a charge of drunken driving to the less important charge of recklessness, if a little "pull" is exerted. The sole consequence of such a policy is to make these drivers believe they can get away with it—and they repeat the offense at the first opportunity.

Drunken driving can be handled by adequate laws, which impose fines, jail terms and license revocation on offenders, coupled with aggressive police and prosecution work. When a fifth of the traffic fatalities in a representative state are known to be the result of liquor, it's time to "crack" down.

Even in St. Joe this same thing is true. Only a few days ago we saw two men enter an auto and drive away who were almost under. They were unable to talk straight let alone see straight, and when they left town they started out at a 50 or 60 mile rate of speed. They had more than they could handle and were still willing to take on more.

FOUR-DAY PHEASANT SEASON SCHEDULED: NOV. 10-11-12-13

A four-day open season on cock pheasants for Hoosier sportsmen this year—beginning Wednesday, Nov. 10 and ending on Saturday, Nov. 13—was annouced by Virgil M. Simmons, commissioner of the Department of Conservation. The official proclamation establisihng the open season also provides for a daily bag limit of 2 birds and a possession limit of four birds.

Establishment of a four rather than a three-day open season such as was enjoyed by Hoosiers last fall, was based on reports of a substantial increase in the number of pheasants throughout most parts of the state. The three-day season in 1936 was the first that Indiana sportsmen had enjoyed as pheasants had been protected game birds in preceding years.

Decision to extend the open season this year by one day was reached after a study of reports from game wardens and conservationists on the number of pheasants in the various areas and a desire to give every sportsman a chance at these birds. The pheasant season opens on the same day that the quail and rabbit seasons begin. With Armistice Day (Nov. 11) a holiday and the extension of the season including Saturday, Nov. 13, most hunters will have at least two opportunities to try their luck.

Last year a request was made that pheasant hunters report on the number of birds which they took during the three-day open season. From these reports it was indicated that the sportsmen averaged one and a fourth birds apiece while they saw an average of six pheasants.

A nobody is a person who is despised if he tells lies and breaks promises, unless he is a politician.

Since the part of an argument most enjoyed by the average man is his own talk, then he ought to confine his arguments to himself.

The adjournment of Congress did not bring an end to political thinking and argumet. To the contrary, in a few months remaining between now and the second session, politics will be as much in the headlines as ever, and behind-the-scenes political activity will be rampant. As Business Week says, "There's no getting away from Washington." Perhaps never in our history were the interests of industry and individuals so inextricably related to the political situation.

As this column has pointed out before, the first session of the 75th Congress was as important for what it did not do as for what it did. Left over for consideration are a large number of major bills, some of which passed one branch but were deferred in the other, and some of which are still in House and Senate committees. And it is a fact known to everyone in touch with the situation that the Administration is laying plans for forcing through its "must" program, a large part of which was beaten last session.

Prime example of this is the Supreme Court Bill. The President has said, almost in so many words, that he still regards it as essential to his program. It will be introduced in the next session, probably in about the same form as before. And in the meantime, administration leaders will do everything they can think of to bring recalcitrant senators into line. In spite of the "no reprisals" talk, practically every Washington newshawk still thinks that the speech of Senator Guffey in which he demanded the defeat of such Democratic senators as Wheeler and Burke, was delivered at the request of the President, and that "pro-New Deal" Democrats will be found opposing "anti-New Deal" Democrats in future elections. Biggest battle will take place in Montana where, it is thought, 28-year old representative Jerry O'Connell, who is 100 per cent for the New Deal and the CIO, will take to the hustings against Senator Wheeler.

The question of relief will loom larger next session than it did in the last, where it was obscured by other matters. In spite of vastly increased industrial activity, relief rolls are almost as great as in the depths of depression. Relief bureau officials, such as Harry Hopkins, think that relief will be a permanent part of government no matter how much business booms; that millions will be unable to find jobs. Critics say that the relief rolls are kept large for political use. No one knows how many unemployed there are—Congress has refused all suggestions that a census be taken. It did pass a bill last session whereby, in effect, unemployed are "invited" to join in a census, but this will obviously give no real check on the situation.

Law regulating business will be another big factor. For example, a bill passed the Senate limiting the length of freight trains, is now pending in a House committee. The railroads say the cost of this bill would drive them into bankruptcy, unless provision is made for higher rail rates. Also still pending is the bill to create seven Federal hydro-electric authorities of the TVA order, which never came to a vote last session and was deferred for future consideration.

Neutrality will be up again. Under the present law, the responsibility of deciding whether an actual state of war exists between foreign powers, falls upon the President—and inasmuch as countries now fight without declaring war this is a tough assignment. Peace organizations want a neutrality bill with teeth in it, that will keep us as remote as possible from foreign entanglements.

There will be more discussion about taxes and the national debt, which is now at an all-time high of about $38,000,000,000. One congressional group, which has the support of industry, will advocate broadcasting the tax base. Even larger taxes on upper-bracket incomes are also a possibility. There is strong backing in both political and business ranks for a bill to repeal the capital gains and losses levy.

So it goes. Next year will be a big political year.

Another political item: The possibility that labor will put a ticket in the field in 1940 grows greater.

Major occurrence was John L. Lewis' September 3rd radio speech in which he strongly rebuked the President for his attitude in the steel strike. Key sentence of the address: "It ill behooves one who has supped at labor's table, and who has been sheltered in labor's house to curse with equal fervor and fine impartiality both labor and its adversaries when they become locked in deadly battle." The obvious reference is to the President's "A Plague on both your houses" remark.

Feeling is that Mr. Lewis believes the cause of militant labor will get nowhere with the established parties, must create a party of its own. Labor leaders want to get the farmers in with them.

BLACK TOP ROAD

The County has just finished the first piece of road to connect up State Road No. 1 at the west end of Main Street, St. Joe, with State Road No. 8, three miles north.

The road just finished is as fine a job of road building as can be found any where and the whole community is proud of it. When it is completed through to No. 8 it will give all the traffic from the South an outlet to the North and West a good all weather road without loss of distance by going out of route as is now the case.

The traffic is heavy on this road and it is to be hoped that we wont have to wait too long for the completed job.

HOW TO MAKE FRIENDS

If you would have friends you must show yourself friendly. Very few people are able to resist the steady shine of friendliness. By and by they will unbend and like you. If they do not, you have not lost anything, and the effort you have put forth has done you good. If anyone you have to do business with is grumpy, fault-finding, jealous, suspicious, or sarcastic, do not let that person induce you to imitate him. Don't fret. Don't antagonize. Don't hit back. Life is too short. Most of such nasty tempers disappear after a while in the sunlight of friendliness. You don't have to be familiar. You don't have to be officious. You don't have to grin all the time. Just keep friendly and good-natured. It will create an atmosphere around yourself in which it will be pleasant to live, and in which you will be much happier at your work.

GOOD-BYE CABOOSE

With the railroads going crazy over "streamlining," it will not come as surprising news to the average St. Joe citizen to learn that "the little red caboose behind the train" has also come in for a share of it. Several of the big railroad systems are removing the little old tower from the top of the caboose and installing "bay windows" on each side. Here the brakemen and conductors can sit in comfortable, upholstered chairs and watch for the tell-tale smoke of a hot-box or the stream of sparks indicating a binding brake beam. Safety stoves will enable them to cook warm meals as they ride, while electric refrigerators and leather couches easily convertible into beds will supplant the old-time wooden benches that served as seats. And so, in this modern age of science and invention, another old tradition passes. The "little red caboose behind the train" is to join the long list of other old-time memories, while time marches on.

WHEN POLITICS TAKES THE THROTTLE

A strike of 350,000 men in train-service unions is threatened because the railroads have refused to increase pay 20 per cent as demanded.

Northwest wheat growers and shippers are fighting before the Interstate Commerce Commission to obtain reduced freight rates.

The Interstate Commerce Commission recently abolished "emergency" freight charges. It is now estimated this will deprive the railroads of about $150,000,000 for the year.

The United States Senate passed a bill limiting length of freight trains to 70 cars and the measure is before the house. If it passes, the railroads, will be forced to waste $150,000,000 annually running unnecessarily short trains "to make work."

August 1, the railroads granted non-train service men, the lower paid employes, a wage increase of five cents an hour, at a cost of about $100,000,000 annually.

Now the train service unions, the highest paid railroad men in the world, threaten to strike if they don't get a 20 per cent increase which would add another $100,000,000 annual operating cost to the railroads.

The railroads current net income is not sufficient to meet these proposed higher operating expenses—even if every nickel of it were applied to them. Where can the lines get the money to meet such increased expenditures? From just one place—higher rates to the consuming public.

The facts speak for themselves and show the seriousness of the situation. It has been repeatedly stated that the stage is being deliberately set to force the railroads into bankruptcy in order that they may be taken over by the government under a gigantic ownership program. In other words, by regulating and legislating this private industry out of business, the advocates of socialism in the United States would establish the greatest industrial socialization program outside of Russia.

And will the people pay when politics takes the throttle—remember the $1,600,000,000 deficit for less than two years of government operation of the railroads during the war!

SECURITY AND FREEDOM

If you look out on the world today, you will find that we really have a large measure of freedom. There is a place or two on this earth where economic security is more general and is government-guaranteed—but in those countries, there is no freedom.

We want both. We want both security and freedom. But we want them both as the product of our own achieving.

We want security as a product of our work. We want freedom as the result of our own vigilance. We want neither as a gift.

Care of House Plants

When a potted plant starts decaying there may be worms in the soil, so water the soil with strong soap suds or use water containing ammonia—one teaspoonful to a quart of water. The worms that are not killed by the solution will come to the surface for air and can be destroyed. Use the suds several times but it is better to pour it through a funnel to prevent its getting on the plant.

Mark Development

Incunabula are the beginnings or earliest monuments of an art, race or other product of historical change or development. A more specific use of the word is "specimens of printing and block-engraving that apppeared before or soon after 1500 A. D."

"We the People" And Our Constitution

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

"WE THE PEOPLE of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."

That, as every one knows, is the Preamble of our famous Constitution, whose 150th anniversary America now celebrates.

To a world accustomed to rule by kings or favored cliques, the American Constitution must have seemed both startling and impractical when signed at Philadelphia's historic Independence Hall, on September 17, 1787.

But today we know its worth. History, and the unprecedented development of the United States in area, in prestige, and in the progress of all its people, has demonstrated how effective a form of government was established on that firm foundation.

Today it stands an object of reverence by all Americans; a model of freedom to the oppressed of all nations.

At this time of nation-wide celebration, America pays tribute not to the Constitution alone, but also to the men who out of their experience and their aspirations for a free and happy nation wrote that famous Charter of Liberty.

But such tribute, however sincere, is not enough. The strength and power of the Constitution depend on the support of every successive generation to which it guarantees liberty and opportunity.

Only by that support have we remained in the past, and can we remain in the future, a government of the people, by the people and for the people.

Only by that support can We the People continue to rule.

That is the message and the spirit of the Constitution Day Celebration.

Well, I Found It Anyway! See, Mom, It Was Under the Radiator!

THE LOW DOWN
from
HICKORY GROVE

A new feature writer joins The News Staff with a bit of weekly fun.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA.

Some kind of a battle seems to be goin' on just about everywhere, and right here in the U. S. the paper it says, that war has been declared on the Senators. And the Senators the war is called on, they call 'em rebels. And they are rebels because they didn't say, yes sir, to the boss. So they are going to eliminate this type of person.

And the side tryin' to eliminate the Senators, they have plenty of guns, but lots of them are pop-guns and squirt-guns. But the really big guns, they just keep on shootin' up in the air, and people are not payin' so much attention to them, any more. And it is something like when you watch roman candles and rockets go up with a hiss and a loud pop—and then go out, and after while you get tired of the noise.

And in this Senate war, I would not want to be on the other side, and tackle some of these senate rebels, barehanded, for they have backbone and are smart ducks. And when it comes to votin', they are the kind of hombres the people like.

LEGION, A VAST SERVICE GROUP, GAVE A GREAT DEAL

A record total of $3,242,756.53 has been spent by the American Legion this year to aid 381,274 needy children of the nation, Roland B. Howell, of Thibodaux, La., chairman of the National Child Welfare Committee, said at national Legion headquarters. Howell compiled the figures for a report to be read at the Legion's nineteenth annual convention at New York, September 20 to 23.

The report lists sources of funds as follows: $1,600,145.70 from the Legion's own resources, including $64,396.24 from the Legion's endowment fund, $429,027.72 from posts and departments, $569,316.58 from Auxiliary units and departments, $132,073.57 from the Forty and Eight, and $17,132.76 from the Eight and Forty, and $1,642,610.83 from local, state and federal sources.

While the aid is intended primarily for needy children of World War veterans, Howell said, 39,609 were not children of veterans.

River Highway

The Colorado river is 2,000 miles long. It is navigable for steamers as far as Callcilly, 612 miles from its mouth. It is thought that it can be made navigable to the foot of the Grand canyon, 57 miles higher. The first attempt to navigate the upper part was made in 1891. In 1893 the stream was proved navigable for 180 miles between Green river and Cataract canyon.

Author Unknown

No one knows who wrote the "Arabian Nights." It is thought that the stories were derived by the Arabians from India, through Persia. They were first introduced into Europe at the beginning of the Eighteenth century, through the medium of the French translator, Antoine Galland. Lane was the first Englishman to translate them worthily. The present form dates from 1500.

When it Comes to Details

"My storm and stress," pens a Philadelphian to the Record, "claims that women are keener observers than men. This, I dispute. What would you say?" "We'd say," chides the editor, "never dispute your wife—much. At any rate, here's our experience: My wife can look at another woman's hat for two split-seconds and then describe it for two solid hours without repeating herself."

MORTUARY

CHUBB

Mrs. Ida Ellen Chubb, daughter of John and Malinda Best, was born July 8, 1868, at Waterloo, Indiana, and departed this life at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Troas Carpenter, at Coburn's Corners, following a heart attack, on Wednesady, September 9, 1937, at the age of 69 years, 2 months and 1 day.

On June 21, 1891 Miss Ida Ellen Best was married to Mr. Simon Chubb. To this union was born four children, one died in infancy, Irvin, who preceded her in death about one year ago and two daughters still living. Mrs. Lena Stytle, of New Haven, Indiana, and Mrs. Troas Carpenter, with whom the mother has been making her home for six years. The husband preceded her in death fifteen years ago. With the exception of about ten years that the family lived in Edon, Ohio, Mrs. Chubb has lived her life in this community.

When but a girl she gave her heart to God at the Newville U. B. Church under the ministry of Rev. Lowmen and has been a member of this church all these years, except the ten years she lived at Edon, Ohio, at which place she put her membership in the M. E. Church, then bringing it back here where she was still a member when she passed on to the Church Triumphant.

She leaves to mourn her departure the children, five grandchildren and one great grandchild, three sisters, Mrs. Anna Bechtol and Mrs. Laura Reinhart, of Butler, and Mrs. Hattie Craun, of Lakeland, Florida. One brother and one sister having preceded her in death. Other relatives and friends.

The funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at the Newville U. B. Church, with burial in Newville Cemetery. Rev. P. A Hubbartt, officiating.

FAMILY SPEND PLEASANT DAY IN MOTHER'S HOME

Mrs. Alice Hart entertained her children, grandchildren and a few friends at a pot luck dinner in her pleasant country home on Sunday, September 19th.

Mrs. Hart has passed her 80th birthday and is still living in her own home during the summer months, but spends the winters with her children.

As the days are now growing cool she felt that the time will soon come when she will close her house again, and was anxious that her children might spend a day at home once more.

It was a very pleasant day and keenly enjoyed by all present.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hart and son, and Miss Berniece Sauers, of Hicksville, O., Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hart and Mrs. Slaine and Eldeen Slaine, of Ossian, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Hart and daughter, Alice, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Hart and son, Lavon, Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Lehr Wilder and children, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Hart, Miss Boneta Shaffer and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wilder.

Those not able to be present and greatly missed were Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hart and son, of Goshen and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Jones, of Ravenna, Ohio.

The day will long be remembered by those present as a very pleasant and unusual gathering.

THE ST. JOE VALLEY SECTION OF PARADE AT FAIR

Practically every reader of The News has fully realized the importance of the St. Joe Valley section of the parade at the County Fair, bringing to the attention of fair visitors that the Valley is up and doing, and its citizens are proud that they live there. Besides this, a real value in an advertising way is to be received by the entire Valley district.

Not much has been said concerning the part to be taken in the parade this year, because everyone realizes this opportunity as a valuable asset to the Valley, and that each one will be eager to do their bit to continue this precedent that has been established by our business men and citizens.

Of course, we expect to continue this part of the County Fair, and everyone is asked to participate in this annual event, even though you have not been asked by anyone to enter. Community pride demands your entrance in this parade this year. Begin now to plan for Saturday forenoon, October 2, same place, same time as heretofore.

Don't fail to show up.

START REHEARSALS FOR MUSIC OF CENTENNIAL IN AUBURN

The rehearsals for the music of the religious centennial to be, held in connection with the forthcoming Fair in Auburn have started, with the first one held in the court house assembly room Saturday evening.

The next rehearsal will be held Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The one after that will be held Saturday evening of this week at the same hour. Mrs. Harold Nugen, of Auburn, is director.

It is urged upon many singers of the county to attend these rehearsals and be prepared to assist in this fine way in the centennial. It is urged that one should not wait for a personal invitation to join this chorus, for there is not time to see every singer in the county. Singers from the various choirs of the churches of the county are invited Thursday evening.

It is also desired that a large number of boys and girls should also be present for rehearsal at the times named.

WITH OUR CLUB LADIES

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

The Ladies Literary Club held their first meeting of the year at the home of the president, Mrs. Edith Cole, in charge of the executive committee.

The meeting was to have been a lawn fete, but on account of the coolness of the weather was held inside.

The house was beautifully decorated with flowers and with the colorful hostess gowns which the committee wore, it very much resembled a flower garden.

In a few well chosen words the president gave the welcome after which Miss Violet May presented her with a lovely corsage. Mrs. Mary Wilbern then took charge of the program with Mrs. Thelma Baker presiding at the piano. All sang "Club Days are Here Again."

One of the impressive numbers of the program was the promoting of Mrs. Lillian Buckingham to a place on the Emeritus list of members. With an appropriate reading and a few remarks Mrs Wilbern presented her with a diploma.

Miss Violet May then took charge of the games.

The hostess, assisted by her committee, served chicken salad, saltines, pickles and coffee.

The officers for the coming year are: President, Mrs. Edith Cole; vice president, Mrs. Katherine Haller; recording secretary, Mrs. Thelma Baker; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Mary Wilbern; treasurer, Mrs. Inez Hadsell; critic, Mrs. Lora Leighty; parliamentarian, Miss Violet May.

Study Book: Reader's Digest.

A list of the active membership of the Club follows: Thelma Baker, Alberta Catron, Mary Carpenter, Edith Cole, Cora Curie, Grace Dilley, Florence Goldsmith, Inez Hadsell, Katherine Haller, Portia Hough, Harriett Johnson, Elizabeth Jones, Agnes Leighty, Lora Leighty, Violet May, Agnes Monroe, Millie Shull, Avis Staman, Katie Storer, Mary Wilbern, Belle Woodcox, Daisy Woodcox.

Emeritus members: DeLora Curie, Loretta Hull, Jennie Sechler, Lillian Buckingham.

Safetygrams BY FRED W. BRAUN The Safety Man

What would you do in case you happened upon a serious automobile accident and found one or several occupants bleeding profusely from cuts? Most people would rush to call an ambulance or a doctor, or hurry the injured to a hospital.

But how about those precious moments when you are waiting for the doctor or are enroute to the hospital? Are you capable of administering first aid to stop the bleeding? Many, many precious lives could have been saved if someone at the time of the accident had been familiar with the simple method of stopping bleeding by applying pressure with the fingers at certain points on the body, depending upon the location of the injury. You can get pamphlets or bulletins on this subject from your local drug store, library, boy scout leader, or from your insurance company.

CHICKEN DINNER

Will be served at the Frank Akins home Sunday, price 40c. Please make reservations.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Fusselman were recent guests of Mrs. Inez Chapman.

A 10,000 bushel apple storage is now being built at the Widney Orchards, St. Joe. A fine crop of apples will be harvested this year. This much needed equipment will greatly alleviate their crowded condition. They try to store sufficient apples to carry their trade through the winter. The storage will be modern in every detail.

C. M. Ten Eyck, 79, Auburn florist for forty years, died Saturday morning, following an illness of only three weeks being bedfast, although being unable to work since October, 1936.

ED BISHOP DIES IN AN AUBURN HOSPITAL

Edward Morton Bishop, a well known Auburn resident, died at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Dr. J. A. Sanders Hospital.

The cause of Mr. Bishop's death was paralysis. He was stricken six months ago at the home of his sister, Mrs. Minnie Kagey, of 905 South Jackson St., and his condition had been considered hopeless since that time.

Mr. Bishop was 73 years of age on February 29th last. He was born near Spencerville and with the exception of several years residence at Van Wert and Convoy, Ohio, had spent most of his time in DeKalb County.

The wife of the deceased, Lizzie Shaffer, whom he married two miles west of Spencerville, died seven years ago. He was one of a family of nine children, only one of whom, Mrs. Kagey, is living.

Mr. and Mrs. Bishop had tow sons, John M. Bishop, Auburn, and Ronald, deceased, and a daughter, Mrs. O. C. Harris, of Washington, D. C. There are six grandchildren.

Mr. Bishop was variously employed by a number of Auburn merchants, having clerked for the Bishop & Lackey Co., Ollie Clay and M. Jones & Son, all of whom went out of business a number of years ago. He served for fifteen years as secretary-treasurer of the Auburn Manufacturing Co., known as the Body Works, until that concern went out of business. Some time afterwards he started a home grocery at the corner of Indiana Avenue and Ninth Street, but sold that several years ago. He had also been employed in the offices of the Auburn Rubber Corp.

Mr. Bishop was a constant attendant of the Church of the Nazarene until he was stricken. He was a member of the church board.

The funeral was held Friday afternoon from the Church of the Nazarene with the Rev. J. O. McKinley, officiating.

NEWS SUBSCRIBER SAYS: "I CAN'T GIVE IT UP NOW"

Breedsville, Mich.
September 14, 1937.

Editor St. Joe News,
Dear Sir:

I am enclosing a dollar bill to renew my subscription. I think I have taken The News all the time since August, 1896, and have receipts back to 1903 at least. But this would mean nothing to you, to me, it means I can hardly give it up now. My niece, Zoa Pettan Atwood, is with me for a visit, hadn't seen her since 1917, so we are having some visit.

We are having fine fall weather (today) yesterday was very cold and several days before that, and previous to that a long spell of such exceedingly hot weather, it seemed impossible to stand it.

Sincerely,
(Mrs.) L. V. Dunn.

MRS. NORA BROWN CONTINUES AS COUNTY WELFARE DIRECTOR

Miss Nora Brown, of Butler, was reappointed Wednesday night as director of the DeKalb County Welfare Board.

Miss Brown served as county probation officer for some years and was made director of the welfare board when it was organized last year. She recently passed an examination prescribed by the state and thereby became eligible for reappointment. The law provides that the director serve at the pleasure of the board, no term being fixed. The salary is $1,800 a year. The other members of the staff had previously been reappointed.

The board Wednesday night gave consideration to a total of forty-eight assistance cases. Three new awards were made for old age assistance and three applications were rejected. In one of the latter cases, the board found the resources of the applicant to be adequate and in the other two cases it was decided that the children of the applicants are able to provide for them.

Of old age cases reinvestigated, eleven were continued at the same rates; five increases were granted; payments to two on the rolls were ordered stopped as it was found the recipients had sufficient resources and two decisions were deferred. One death during the last month among old age cases was reported.

One application for blind assistance was reported as withdrawn. One new award was made for children's assistance. Of children's cases reinvestigated, fifteen were continued with no change, two were increased, one was reduced and there was one withdrawal.

COMPLAINS OF HER HUSBAND'S CRUELTY

Mrs. Robert Ulm, of Wilmington Township, Asking Court for Separation from Bed and Board

Because of her husband's cruelty, she had to leave their home for safety, Nellie Ulm, of Wilmington Township, alleges in filing a complaint in the DeKalb circuit court against Robert Ulm for separation from bed and board.

The plaintiff declares that the defendant struck, beat and kicked her. They were married May 9, 1908, and separated last Friday. They are the parents of eight children. Four of these are no longer at home. The others are Francis, 18, Keith, 16, Dwight, 13, and Lela, 9.

The complaint states that the defendant has an income of $160 a month and that the parties own jointly a home and forty acres of land, located a half mile southeast of Butler. The plaintiff asks for the right to occupy the family home and for a support order. She is represented by Attorney H. C. Springer.

IS IN HOSPITAL

After a few days illness, Mrs. A. M. Baker was taken to Souder's Hospital in Auburn last Thursday. She was seriously ill with food poisoning, but today is much improved.

Our Bill of Rights

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN

National Chairman, Sentinels of the Republic

Recently America observed with nation-wide ceremonies the 150th anniversary of the signing of our Constitution on September 17, 1787.

During the same month occurs a similarly significant, though less widely observed anniversary, commemorating the adoption by Congress, on September 25, 1789, of our American Bill of Rights.

Ratified by the States, and proclaimed in force by December of 1791, this group of ten amendments constitutes one of the greatest bulwarks of personal liberty in all history.

Why?

Because it is the Bill of Rights that assures to all Americans their treasured freedom of religion, of speech and of the press.

It is the Bill of Rights which guarantees them the right to trial by jury, the right to own property, and protection against such forms of oppression as imprisonment without legal process, cruel and unusual punishment, or unreasonable search and seizure.

It is the Bill of Rights which retains to the people all other rights not delegated to government.

Check these rights and privileges against the few permitted those peoples now oppressed by the new tyrannies over-seas.

There, news dispatches report a growing record of deprivation of the right to worship, to speak, to assemble, to labor or to live as the conscience and the spirit of the individual citizen impels him.

There, unjust imprisonment, trials that are mere mockery, blood purges and the like, continue to make a travesty of freedom.

Such things don't happen in the United States. And they will not happen here so long as the Constitution and the Bill of Rights prevail, with an independent judiciary to sustain them.

That is what makes the anniversaries of our Constitution and our Bill of Rights such significant celebrations, not only to Americans but to all who believe in the liberty of man.

On May 7, 1915, the Steamship Lusitania was sunk by a German submarine, with a loss of about 1200 lives. In substance, the incident brot the United States into the World War, juts as the sinking of the Maine precipitated the Spanish-American War. It was claimed that the Lusitania was carrying munitions of war for the allies. Giving the proponents the benefit of the doubt, the mistake made by the United States was a failure to lay prompt and definite embargo against the carrying of war materials in American ships.

It is gratifying to note that in the present Japanese-Chinese crisis, the President has lost no time in announcing that American vessels trade in arms and ammunition with the contending powers at their own risk. Thus one ground for American interference in the affairs of battling Asia is removed. If good business men see fit to drive a bargain with the Japs or Chinese, and a ship goes up in pieces, it will have to be charged to profit and loss, and American citizens will not be called up to quit their jobs and enter the trenches in the interest of money making from which they derived no profit.

In New York City, a young woman dies as a result of the popular process which is known as "reducing." Fortunately styles change. Hoop skirts no longer a r e in vogue and queues are not necessary for high social standing in China. The skinny figure may give way to well rounded curves, and there may be a return to the old rule about three square meals a day. With the change may come a huskier race, better able to bear the heat and burden of the day. In addition, there will be an improved outlook for the few cannibals which the earth still supports.

Spain is going to pay the United States 30 million dollars due on Civil War claims arising in that country. Going back to the days of 1918, it seems better, so far as debts are concerned, to be an indifferent bystander than a helping friend.

It is hard to write about current events without giving to the subject of war what otherwise would be an unreasonable amount of space. France and England have joined hands in putting down what is called piracy, a word that has practically passed out of use. At this the small boy will rejoice. A group of forgotten heroes may be called from their neglected graves, even if ill advisedly. Captain Kidd now has a chance of appearing again in the backyard. As a hero, he is less destructive of good morals than the modern gangster, at that.

Speaking of crime and the juvenile mind, it is questionable whether a benign result is accomplished by cartoons and strips that recount the doings of G-men or some fictitious and successful detective. To be sure, the criminal always lands behind the bars in the end, and the clearly expressed moral is that crime is wrong and does not pay, yet in telling the story, details of criminal practice come out that had better be kept in a closed and sealed book, at lease so far as youthful readers are concerned.

The League of Nations has approved the splitting up of Palestine into to Arabic and Jewish portions, an item of little interest save that it brings to mind the circumstance that the League is still alive. Shakespeare said that there is a tide in the affairs of men which taken at its flood leads on to fortune. The flood tide for the League of Nations arrived at the time of the Ethiopian invasion, but for some reason no advantage was taken of it. The League may d o things that will bring it back into general favor, but at persent the public is inclined to regard it as a good institution of little practical use and capable of delivering the goods in a pinch.

TWO FOR ONE

It's no disgrace to copy the other fellow if by doing so you can better yourself and the other fellow too. No better illustration of it can be provided than in a regulation now being strictly enforced in Ireland which requires every citizen cutting a tree to replant two in its place. Older St. Joe citizens who have in their lifetime seen the slow but certain destruction of this country's timber supply, with no systematized plan of replanting for the future, will be quick to endorse Ireland's law as the most sensible reforestation plan ever devised. Had it been in force in this country over the past quarter of a century America would not now be facing a treeless era, costly annual floods and an ever-increasing price on lumber and all wood products. Plant two trees every time you remove one. It works in Ireland—and by the law of common sense it will work over here.

KEEP ON CANNING

Housewives around St. Joe who have taken advantage of the midsummer months to can a supply of fruit for winter consumption are reminded that this year it will be almost impossible to overdo the job. All sorts of canned fruits and vegetables are higher now than they were in early spring, and they will go still higher by the time winter sets in. The only way to escape this increase will be to can an ample supply while fruits and vegetables are still available. Fall will bring a brief season of pickling and preserving and that, too, should be taken advantage of. The present price of raw products for canning may seem unusually high to the average housewife, but wait until a little later on and then make a few comparisons. Those who keep right on canning, regardless of fruit and vegatable prices will, it is safe to assert, have cause for rejoicing next winter when they see all canned products at the highest price they have been for a half-dozen years.

OUT OF GAS

There are 325,000 retail gas stations in the United States, or enough if uniformly placed to spot a station at an interval of every mile of main-traveled highway. And yet, according to a survey made by the American Automobile Association, more than 1,500,000 motorists tried to squeeze one too many miles out of the last gallon in 1936 and had to send back or walk back to the nearest station for gas. It is so easy to avoid "running out of gas," declares the A. A. A. that you wouldn't think so many drivers could get caught in a single year's time. So in hope of reducing the number that may be caught in the same fix in the future, we are going to tell you how the A. A. A. says such a condition can be avoided. It is a simple suggestion. It is easy to comply with, and it never fails to work. It is this: Always carry a quart bottle of gasoline under the driver's seat or in the trunk of the car.

A BUILDING TIP

Here's a tip for those around St. Joe who postponed their building or improvement plans in early spring because of a slight advance in the price of hardware and building material. Prominent contractors in the larger cities are said to be rushing through orders for the fall delivery of building material in the belief that the real tilt in prices is going to come i n 1938. If the big fellows are of the opinion that it will cost far more to build, or make improvements, next spring than it will this fall, then the little fellow should profit by the hint. There's going to be a lot of good building weather between now and the first of the year. If it is a small job, it can be done as quickly between now and winter as it would require at the opening of spring. Or, in the event it is not convenient to do the work this fall, then there is still a chance to avoid next year's predicted rise in prices. Buy whatever building materials you are going to need now and be on the safe side.

CRIME'S DIVIDENDS

The gates of the New Jersey state prison opened a few days ago to two men and a woman; the woman to spend the rest of her natural days within the prison walls, the two men to forfeit their lives in the electric chair. All three were convicted of first-degree murder committed in a robbery in which they beat an aged church sexton to death. And all they got from the robbery was 70c in cash, a gold watch of little value and several religious medals. Parents of St. Joe boys might read that to them with profit, for it is a striking illustration of the fact that crime's profits are usually terribly small when they are weighed against the loss suffered by those who engage in it. If your boy has not learned that "Crime doesn't pay," then tell him about these three criminals who committed murder for seventy cents—and lost their own lives, and liberty. It may make an impression on a youthful mind that will be both lasting and beneficial.

FARM TREES

Any farm can have trees and shrubs if adapted varieties are used and the trees are given proper care. The most important thing, tree experts declare, is clean cultivation. Weeds should never be permitted to sap soil moisture needed to promote tree growth. The soil should be kept in position to absorb all moisture that falls, even durin torrential rains. Varieties that have shown best results are Black Hills spruce, American elm and green ash. However, Chinese elm, box elder and cottonwood have done well in practically every section of the country. But it is time and money wasted to plant trees and then leave them to fight the weeds and insects. Success is almost always assured, the experts declare, where trees are carefully planted, kept free of weeds within a radius of several feet, and sprayed occasionally as a protection against insect pests.

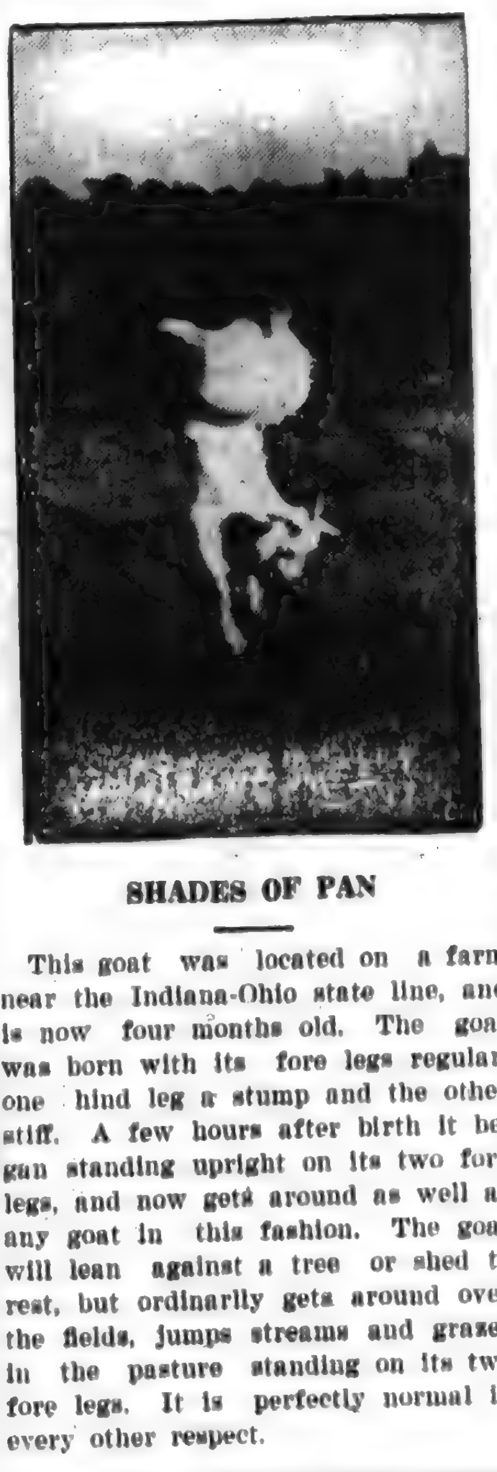
PLEADS GUILTY TO ACCIDENT CHARGE

Albert N. Ginther, of Fort Wayne, was not tried by jury in the DeKalb circuit court Tuesday as scheduled, but instead changed his plea of not guilty to one of guilty.

Judge Endicott fixed the penalty at a fine of $25 and the costs.

Motor cars operated by Ginther and Walter O. Parks, of Fort Wayne, sideswiped north of Garrett on road 327 one night last July. Parks claimed that Ginther kept on going, but Parks turned around and followed him, catching up with him within a short distance.

The charge made by Parks in an affidavit prepared by Wm. H. Husselman, prosecuting attorney, was that the defendant left the scene of an accident without rendering assistance or reporting his name and address.



SHADES OF PAN

This goat was located on a farm near the Indiana-Ohio state line, and is now four months old. The goat was born with its fore legs regular, one hind leg a stump and the other stiff. A few hours after birth it began standing upright on its two fore legs, and now gets around as well as any goat in this fashion. The goat will lean against a tree or shed to rest, but ordinarily gets around over the fields, jumps streams and grazes in the pasture standing on its two fore legs. It is perfectly normal in every other respect.

THE LOW DOWN
HICKORY GROVE

A new feature writer joins The News Staff with a bit of weekly fun.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA.

Big figures kinda stall me, and anyway I have always thought they was for somebody else besides me. And also, the ones you see, they are mostly Uncle Sambo's, and I always imagined that his figures was O. K., and I didn't need to check up on 'em, even if I could.

But a neighbor feller he says to me, Jo, he says, did you see where Uncle Sam is givin' away millions to the rich, that don't need it, and I says, help no, I never saw that.

And this neighbor, he is an accountant, and he knows figures, and they don't scare him. So he says, yes, the Govt. is sure liberal. And the latest, he says, is in Chattanooga, which is a rich and fine town, and the Govt. it has donated 2 million there, to build a power house. So I says, gee whiz, I thought Chattanooga was already lit up in fine style.

And this accountant, he took a long breath and he says, well, it is easy to see that you don't know an awful lot about figures—or politics.

The State Board of Tax Commissioners will begin its review hearings on local tax levies probably October 1. Anderson Ketchum, secretary, announced at Indianapolis, Monday. County tax adjustment boards have until that date to fix the levies and, if they do not come within the limit fixed by law, the levies are automatically appealed to the state board. The limit, fixed by the 1937 legislature, is an overall rate of $1.25 in townships and $2 in towns and cities. The limit is exclusive of bond issues, poor relief, public welfare and emergencies caused by disasters. The state board will continue its hearings on local property tax rates through to December 11. Requests for additional appropriations to finance local government until the end of the year are being considered now by the board.

SCHOOL NEWS

Friday afternoon the pupils of grades seven to twelve who wished to promote an Athletic Association met in the Assembly of the North Building for the purpose of reorganization. Nearly all of the pupils indicated their willingness to become members and pay the dues of twenty five cents a year.

The meeting was called to order by the principal. Catherine Curie was elected temporary secretary. She read the constitution of the association to those present and then they proceeded to elect the officers and athletit council for the year. James Draggoo was chosen president; Walter Erwin, vice president; Garnet Washler, secretary; Richard Freeburn, treasurer. The senior class nominated Virginia Poper and Junior Zonker for their representatives on the council. Junior nominations were Annabelle Stewart and Herman Collins. Sophomores nominated Helen Goodwin and Burl Rude. The Freshmen nominated Jack Goodwin and Evelyn George. The association approved these nominations. The new president made his initial speech and adjournment took place.

The athletic association is planning to add some additional equipment for playground and gymnaisum use. Join the association!

Leitha Hook of the junior calss returned to school last week after enjoying a trip to Indianapolis as a reward for 4-H Club Work leadership in her township.

Eva Young also of Newville Township recently won a cash prise of $25 for the composition of a business or sales letter submitted in a commercial contest.

Pupils and teachers are now preparing their displays for the Auburn Fair. Mr. Wilbern was named chairman of the committee to arrange the display for the school's booth.

Several of the teachers will take Extension Classes from Indiana University and Ball State Teachers College. The I. U. Extension classes meet in Fort Wayne on Wednesday evenings and Saturdays. Ball State classes meet in Auburn one evening a week.

Miss Jones spent the week end at her home in Indianapolis.

Schools in DeKalb County will not be in session on Friday, October 1. Pupils are given that day to attend the Fair at Auburn. The school parade will be at 9:30, CST, on that day. Pupils who march in the parade will receive an admission to the Court Theatre to see the picture "Pepper" starring Jane Withers.

AVEAGE ACCIDENT DAMAGE IS $104 IN INDIANA

The average property damage of each accident occurring in Indiana is $104, a survey compiled by the State Safety Division revealed today.

The Safety Division found that the total property damage of accidents occurring during July totalled $316,730.98 and ranged from $5,843.00 on July 8 to $17,473.10 on July 25.

Gasoline consumption increased 11.1 per cent for the first seven months of 1937, as compared to a similar period last year, and fatal traffic accidents increased 14.0 per cent.

Of the 130 deaths during July, 90 were rural and 40 were city accidents. A comparison with the 100 fatalities in July, 1936, shows 58 rural deaths and 42 city deaths.

Nineteen out-of-state residents and 111 Hoosiers were killed in Indiana during July. Railroad fatalities totalled 18, truck drivers 4, pedestrians 28 and bicycle riders 7. The only fatalities caused by blow-outs during the first seven months occurred in July, when there were 7.

The gasoline consumption for July, 1937, totalled 59,037,645 gallons, as compared with 53,154,994 gallons for the same month last year. The total for the first seven months of 1937 was 350,449,172 gallons, and for the same period in 1936 was 309,444,419 gallons.

SEPTEMBER

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. LII. (52 YEARS) (In the St. Joe Valley) ST. JOE, DeKALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1937 [illegible] NUMBER 39

COOK BOOK PUBLISHED BY HOME BUREAU CLUBS; MAJOR PROJECT REACHES COMPLETION; 225 PAGES

The cooperative working powers of the DeKalb County Home Buerau Club members have been very vividly displayed the summer months of this year.

In order to reimburse their local treasuries and the County Treasury, the fifteen clubs, which comprise the County unit, worked together under the careful direction of local township presidents and committees toward one goal—the publication of a Cook Book. This book was to be so compiled that it would meet the practical needs of each and every rural woman as well as urban. The Home Bureau members wish in this method to say that it has met that specification.

Each and every club member of the County (of which there are approximately 800) contributed several of her very special recipes to their respective committees. After days of careful correction and arranging the recipes were compiled and taken to the press. The following departments are represented in the 225 page book: Beverages, Bread, Quick Bread, Pastry and Pies, Doughnuts, Cookies, Cakes, Icings, Candy, Meat Dishes, Meat Substitutes, Vegetable Cookery, Salads, Dumplings, Puddings, Sandwiches, Invalid Cookery, Food and Its Value, Miscellaneous and Household Hints. Besides the above mentioned departments there are many things which will be of interest to the housewife, such as: General directions for baking bread, The Perfect Cake and What It Is, Instructions for Angel Food and Sponge Cake Baking, Importance of Vegetables In Our Diet, Canning Time Tables, Balanced Menus, etc.

In case that the interested public wishes to know why our Home Bureau Clubs need money, here are a few reasons: Contributions are made annually to Red Cross, Tuberculosis Association, Sponsorship of Girls' 4-H Clubs, Extension Work, Flood Relief, Charity, etc. Being an organization composed of so many members it stands to reason that the money demands would be quite high.

Back of this book stands the financial aid of our advertisers. The Cook Book's initial backing came through their kindness and contributions. May they feel that this book has been worthy of their efforts and that it will serve to bring our rural people and their business organizations together in a more cooperative way.

OLD SETTLERS DAY POGRAM HAS BEEN ARRANGED

The program for Old Settlers' Day, which will be held on Saturday, the last day of the DeKalb County Free Fall Fair in Auburn, has been arranged as follows:

Song, "America," audience.

Invocation, Dr. Manfred C. Wright.

Song, DeKalb County Home Bureau chorus.

Minutes of the last meeting.

Accordion duet, Miss Lorene Stroh and Mrs. June Davis.

Old Settlers' Day address, Miss Julia Hodge.

Song, DeKalb County Home Bureau chorus.

Nomination and election of officers for 1938.

Report of registration committee.

Awards to the three oldest men and three oldest women who have registered.

Song, "God Be With You 'Till We Meet Again."

Registrations will commence at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning in the court house lobby. Any person who has resided continuously in DeKalb County forty years or longer is entitled to register and receive a membership ribbon.

MADE A BIG CATCH

Herbert Curle made the second big catch in the St. Joe River, Sunday morning, when he landed a 9¼ pound wall eye pike. In less than 15 minutes he was making a heroic struggle to land this large fish.

Forrest Dermott caught its mate at Newville last week.

Kitchen Kinks

To remove grease stains from a stove sprinkle salt on a stiff brush which has been dipped in hot water and thoroughly scrub the stove. When cutting meat loaf use a sharp knife that is frequently dipped in warm water to insure even-edged pieces. To brown biscuit tops, brush the biscuit with a pastry brush dipped in milk. Rich brown crusts will result.

AGED READER OF NEWS CHECKS UP ON EACH ISSUE

Breedsville, Mich.
May 20, 1937.

My dear Editor:

I am just reading my St. Joe News of Thursday, May 20, 1937, on page two, column 4. I notice "A Bad Summer." In paragraph two I notice it says, "Years ago it wasn't necessary to spray fruit trees. Today they must be sprayed four or five times each season, if a crop is to be harvested. Why this change has come about no one knows," etc., etc., etc. I would like to ask the writer of that article if he has ever read Deuteronomy, there is a lot about fruit and how it will be eaten by worms, etc., and I would ask him to read especially chapter 28, verses 24, 45, 47, 48, and I think he will get some idea why our beloved country has come to such a "time of trouble." Our government gone into the liquor business as well as licensed every Tom, Dick, and Harry to sell it to old and young to debauch and ruin them and their families. "Woe unto a nation that putteth the cup to their lips," etc.

Mrs. L. V. Dunn.

P. S.—This card was mislaid, but better late than never.

SCHOOL NEWS

High School Party

The Senior Class invited Juniors, Sophomores, Freshmen and teachers to attend a high school party held in the school gymnasium on last Friday evening. Nearly all of the pupils and all of the teachers were in attendance. A program of special interest for the Freshmen were given. Afterwards the Seniors served refreshments. We believe the Seniors rendered the community a good service in sponsoring this event rather than resorting to the old type of "initiation."

Local teachers attended the institute at Auburn on last Saturday.

See the school exhibit in the Assembly Room of the Court House when you attend the Auburn Fair this week.

DeKalb County Schools will dismiss for the fair on Friday of this week. The school parade will be at 9:30 on Friday forenoon.

Rose Ayers has been absent from school for several days due to illness.

Home Economics classes have been canning peaches and tomatoes during the past week. These foods will be served a little later when the warm lunch service begins.

The Junior Class is in charge of candy sales at the noon hour and at all evening events at the school buildings. Their supply of candy is purchased through a local merchant.

Record State Park Attendance

With almost three months yet to go before the closing of the state park year, attendance records for 1936 have already been surpassed. Last year's record attendance—907,734 paid admissions up to and including Dec. 27—was broken last week when thousands of visitors enjoyed the autumn scenery. By the end of the fall season the state parks will have established a new record of approximaely a million visitors.

NO DECISION MADE IN SCHOOL LAWSUIT

Following a hearing in the DeKalb circuit court Monday, Special Judge David E. Smith, of Fort Wayne, took under advisement demurrers filed by the defendants to the complaint of Elmer and Wilma Tindall against the trustee of Jackson Township, Lewis Freeman, and others.

The Tindalls are trying to force the trustee to allow their sons, Frederick and Paul, to attend the Jackson Center school. The trustee assigned the boys to the Hopewell school and refuses to make any change.

The Tindalls say they live closer to the Hopewell school and that a bus does not pass near their home. The boys had trouble last year with the Hopewell teacher, Walter Lung. The teacher at Jackson Center is Margaret Kelly. The boys have been denied admittance to the latter school.

C. E. McClintock, counsel for the trustee, and County Attorney Edgar W. Atkinson, appearing for Carl F. Stallman, county superintendent, submitted demurrers to the complaint, contending the trustee has full authority and that the plaintiffs have no cause for action. Arguments were made by Mr. McClintock, Mr. Atkinson and by Ralph W. Probst, representing the plaintiffs.

THE COUNTY FAIR

The county fair has staged a comeback. Reports covering every section of the country are to the effect that not only have hundreds of defunct institutions of this kind been revived but those that have continued to operate have actually shown nice profits this year.

If you would know the American people as they really are, visit a county fair. No fancy clothes will you see, but rather the servicable, comfortable styles to which America clings. You will learn that it is still possible in this modern age for folks to enjoy themselves by inspecting the harvests of the fields, the products of the homes and the inventive genius of the nation as displayed in labor-saving devices and agricultural machinery. You will find as much interest shown in horses, hogs, cattle and chickens as you will in streamlined trains, dirigibles or many-cylindered autos. You will over hear men and women chattin about weather conditions and coming crop prospects and about the coming and going of their neighbors, instead of about fan-dancers, fingernail polish or movie star divorces.

Other American institutions may come and go but the county fair remains. It does so because it fills a need and meets a want in American life as it exists outside the large cities. The county fair is not only an educational set-up, it is a social oasis for those in whose lives the green spots are infrequent. The county fair has established itself as a fixed part of our American life. It will remain such just as long as it affords a cheerful holiday to those who anticipate its pleasures for months in advance, as many millions of people now do, a majority of St. Joe citizens among them.

CHURCHES ENJOY FELLOWSHIP MEETING

Sunday, September 26th was a day of Christian fellowship at the Lutheran Church, when a hundred people of the Spencerville and St. Joe congregations gathered together to honor their pastor, Rev. C. J. Ferster.

At noon a delicious dinner was served and of course, enjoyed by all. A social hour followed.

Music was furnished by the orchestra directed by Mr. Leslie Wilbern.

The afternoon program, with Ralph Sechler presiding, consisted of hymn singing, devotions, an inspirational talk by Rev. H. A. Kunkle, of Albion. Remarks were made by George Beams, Mrs. Flossie Rhoades and Derwood Ridgway. All paid tribute to the fine work Rev. Ferster has done as he ministered in our parish, the esteem in which he is held, and wished for him success and God's blessing as he takes up his new work as Superintendent of the Old People's Home at Mulberry, Indiana.

Rev. Ferster answered with words of appreciation and thanks for all the kindness and favors shown him and expressed himself as enjoying his work among his friends.

"Tis a precious thing to know
Our efforts have an afterglow."

Rev. and Mrs. H. A. Kunkle, of Albion, were the special guests, also Miss Janalyce Rouls, of Angola and Miss Elizabeth Jones, of, Indianapolis.

ADMINISTRATOR OF ESTATE IS REMOVED

By an order entered in the DeKalb circuit court, Elgin Curie has been removed as administrator of the estate of his father, the late Wm. Curie, a well known St. Joe merchant.

Action was taken upon a motion filed by a brother, Paul Curie, and because of the failure of Elgin Curie to file a new bond as required.

The estate was opened upon the death of Wm. Curie in 1932, Elgin being appointed administrator. He qualified by filing $15,000 bond, with his mother, Delora Curie, and H. S. Platner, of east of Auburn, as sureties. Elgin Curie has been managing the hardware store at St. Joe that was owned by his father for many years.

Elgin Curie has been in trouble with the court in recent months. He was in jail for six weeks during the summer on a charge of public intoxication and he was put back in two weeks ago for assault and battery on his mother. No hearing has yet been held on the latter charge. In his motion to have his brother removed as administrator, Paul Curie claimed the estate was being neglected.

Mr. Platner having applied for release from his bond, Judge Endicott ordered Elgin Curie to file a new one in the sum of $5,000. However, the order was not complied with and now Curie has been directed to file his final report. Mr. Platner was named administrator, with bond at $2,000.

JUVENILE PARADE AT FAIR TO BE BIG ATTRACTION

The boys and girls of DeKalb County will have the opportunity to compete for many prizes, cash and merchandise, in the juvenile and pet parade which will take place in Auburn at 10:00 A. M. Saturday morning of fair week, October 2, preceding the big parade. The parade will start at the corner of Cedar and Tenth Streets and entrants are expected to be in their places by 9:30 at the latest. Free rides will be given all who enter the parade.

Entrants from this section of DeKalb County who make up their mind at the last minute, can enter the parade and get their number when forming in line.

Parets are urged to see that some of our children enter this feature parade.

The numbers are simply for identification by the judges. Entry blanks should be mailed to Mrs. Ruby Dawson, 202 North VanBuren Street, Auburn. The judges will be Lloyd W. Miller, principal of the Auburn high school, A. J. Smith, a member of the high school faculty of the Waterloo schools, and a member of the Garrett high school faculty.

TRI-TOWNSHIP MEETING

The Tri-Township Farm Bureau will meet October 5th at the St. Joe Gym. The program will start at 7:30 with community singing. After a short business session which will be in charge of the chairman, Fred Hart. Earl Stimman will give a talk on "Organization and Membership."

You'll enjoy hearing Jimmie Kees sing "You Can't Take It With You," which is one of Eddie Cantor's favorite broadcast songs.

A play entitled "It Can't Be Done" will be given by Viriginia Poper, Iris Wilmot, Dean Kees and Charles Hart. This group of young people and Jimmie Kees, will start on Monday night, October 4, at Jackson Center and make the rounds of all the Farm Bureau meetings in the county giving their program.

Mrs. Fred Hart, S. & E. Director from Spencer Twp., Mrs. John Washler, S. & E. Director from Newville Twp., and Mrs. Howard Borthwick, S. & E. Director from Concord Twp., will accompany the group during the ten nights giving the program. Mrs. Borthwick is directing the play. Tri-Township Farm Bureau members and friends are invited to attend any or all of these meetings over the county.

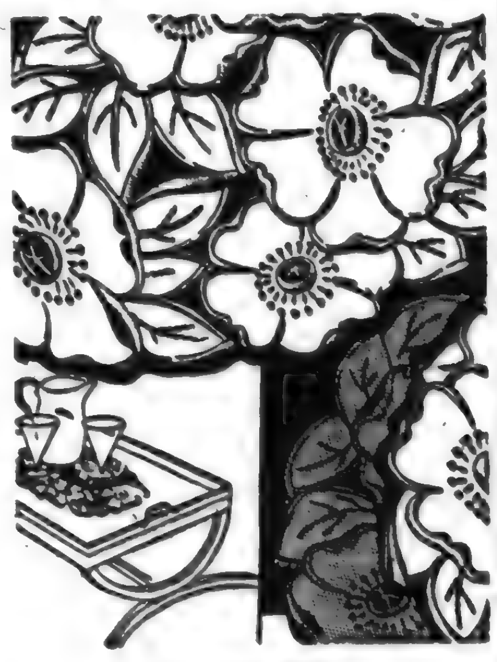
Cutwork That Is Anything but Work

"Cutwork without bars?" Exactly—and that's the very reason this lovely Wild Rose design for doilies or buffet set is so easy to do. So encouraging, too, for the beginner who'd like to try her hand at it. Aren't they life-like—these roses? Delicate shades of pink would be most realistic, of course, but the pattern is no less lovely if worked in thread to match your linen. A refreshment table set with these would be most tempting! In pattern 5503 you will find a transfer pattern of a doilie 11 by 17½ inches and one and one reverse doilie 6 by 9 inches; material requirements; illustrations of all stitches used; color suggestions.



Pattern 5503.

To obtain this pattern, send 15 cents in stamps or coins (coins preferred) to The Sewing Circle Household Arts Dept., 259 W. Fourteenth St., New York, N. Y.

Please write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

HITS NAZIISM IN AMERICA

Strong Words by Legion Commander . . . President Refuses to Abandon Fight for Court Rejuvenation

American Legion Members From West Reach New York City by Airplane for Their National Convention.

Edward W. Pickard
SUMMARIZES THE WORLD'S WEEK

© Western Newspaper Union.

Legion Head Hits Naziism

FOUR hundred thousand members of the American Legion and their families and friends gathered in New York for the annual convention of the organization which opened with a memorial service for dead veterans. Parades, sham battles and plenty of fun-making marked the proceedings, but the former soldiers also gave much time to serious business. Harry W. Colmer, retiring national commander, delivered a notable report on his stewardship, warning against dangers confronting the nation from within and without.

Harry W. Colmer

Colmer declared attempts to subjugate judiciary would destroy the "checks and balances" in government; and he proposed that the American Legion undertake an educational program on the principles set forth in the Constitution. He asked each post to hold at least one meeting this fall on the basic law.

The commander's warning against perils from without led him to condemn severely German propaganda in the United States and the alleged action of the German government in fostering the organization of Nazi groups and camps in this country. This he called "a gratuitous insult to our free institutions."

President on Constitution

ALL orators on the one hundred fiftieth anniversary of the signing of the Constitution were loud in praise of that great document. President Roosevelt, speaking from the foot of the Washington monument, was emphatic in his expression of admiration for and loyalty to the basic law which his opponents have accused him of trying to undermine. But he called it a "layman's constitution" and a "lawyer's contract." He reiterated his assertions that the Constitution was intended by its makers to be a statement of objectives and not a rigid document, and declared democratic government in this country can do all things which "commonsense people, seeing the picture as a whole, have the right to expect."

"I believe that these things can be done under the Constitution without the surrender of a single one of the civil and religious liberties it was intended to safeguard," Mr. Roosevelt continued, "and I am determined that under the Constitution those things shall be done."

Sharply condemning dictatorships abroad, Mr. Roosevelt said there is a crisis in American affairs that threatens our democracy and that if that democracy is to survive, it must meet the demands of the people for economic and social security and improved standards of living. Plutocratic and proletarian dictatorships, said he, are equally dangerous.

That the President has not abandoned his fight for "rejuvenation" of the Supreme court was made clear by the tenor of his address, and it was expected that he would continue that campaign on his trip to the Pacific Coast, which he began in a private car equipped with a loud speaker. On his way to visit his daughter in Seattle and on the return trip he was to enter the home states of several senators who were active in opposition to the Supreme court enlargement scheme.

Vandenberg's Battle Cry

"WE HAVE just begun to fight" was the battle cry adopted by Senator Vandenberg of Michigan in a speech at Bay City that was taken as the opening of his campaign for the Republican Presidential nomination in 1940. He made it evident that he hopes to be the standard bearer for a coalition party, asserting that a realignment of political parties is inevitable. Indeed, he declared, this probably was the one thing that could save our national institutions. He was not so sure that the opposition to the Roosevelt policies would unite under a new party name. Said he:

"There may be a realistic realignment which will bring like-thinking patriots into common battle front, whether they live north or south of the Mason and Dixon line, whether they live east or west of the Mississippi."

What Will Hughes Do?

OBJECTIONS to the seating of Hugo Black as a justice of the Supreme court on the constitutional ground that the emoluments of the office were raised while Black was a senator brought Chief Justice Hughes back to Washington before his vacation was ended. Associate Justice Brandeis also returned to the capital and he and Hughes were expected to confer on the matter and to examine the objections. Just what Mr. Hughes or any other member of the court could do was uncertain. Constitutional lawyers agree that Black could not be denied his seat because he was a member of the Ku Klux Klan, but many of them thought the court, if it decides to take jurisdiction, could bar him on constitutional grounds. There was reason to believe this solution of the exceedingly unpleasant matter would suit President Roosevelt. Should the President ask Black to resign, the latter might refuse, and that would be most embarrassing for Mr. Roosevelt.

Eden Still Hopeful

ANTHONY EDEN, British foreign minister, hurried from Geneva to attend a special cabinet meeting to which he reported on developments in the Mediterranean situation that is so threatening to European peace. He told of Italy's reiteration of its demand for parity in the "anti-piracy" patrol, and it was believed both he and Prime Minister Chamberlain were hopeful that a rupture could be averted by a partial yielding to Mussolini in this matter. British public opinion was said to be strongly against a complete concession.

Anthony Eden

Meanwhile events in the Mediterranean were not such as to bolster Eden's peaceful designs. The British aircraft carrier Glorious reported it had been attacked by a submarine near Malta just as it arrived to take part in the patrol of the sea. Also the admiralty announced an unidentified airplane dropped six bombs close to the destroyer Fearless. The British and French fleets began their search for "pirate" submarines.

Spain's premier, Juan Negrin, stood up before the League of Nations and fearlessly presented the evidence of Italian and German intervention in the Spanish civil war, demanding that the league take steps to stop it. He called Mussolini and Hitler "international highwaymen." French Foreign Minister Delbos backed up Negrin's demands in words which were taken to mean that if Italy sends substantial reinforcements to Franco, Spanish rebel leader, or perhaps if she even refuses to withdraw her forces already there, France would consider her security menaced.

The assembly of the League of Nations voted down the Spanish government's request for re-election as a member of the league council.

CORN IN SILO IS A GOOD WINTER FEED

Crop Makes More Succulent Roughage Per Acre.

By F. R. Farnham, Dairy Specialist, North Carolina State College.—WNU Service.

Comparatively few farmers take full advantage of their corn crop in producing feed for winter consumption. Corn made into silage produces more succulent roughage per acre than any other known crop.

The trench silo is the very thing for small farms where large upright silos would be impractical. Trench silos, inexpensive and convenient, are also being used more and more on farms where large herds are kept.

There is a growing tendency toward silage in preference to dry hays. Unfavorable weather at harvesting time is less serious for silage than when hay is being cut and cured.

Silage is succulent and keeps cattle in good condition through the winter. Silage production requires less acreage and, therefore, permits the use of soil-building crops on land that would otherwise be needed for growing hay.

The construction of a trench silo is fairly simple. A narrow trench should be dug on farms where only a few animals are to be fed. A cheap roof placed over the silo will help protect the feed from bad weather and keeps the walls from caving in.

Liberal Fall Feeding of Cows Increases Profits

Liberal feeding of early fall freshening cows and of all cows during the dry period will materially increase the dairyman's income, according to E. A. Hanson, extension dairyman, University farm, St. Paul.

Too often the early fall freshening cow is underfed because pastures are low, and to many dairymen it seems too early to start barn feeding only a few cows. All CTA records, however, show that fall freshened cows, well fed from the beginning, lead in year-round butterfat production.

During late summer and early fall months, alfalfa hay will serve as a pasture supplement if pastures are sufficiently heavy. If pastures are poor, fresh cows should receive a full feed of hay and grain twice daily in order to maintain high production. Silage may be fed to advantage immediately after the silo has been filled.

At this season of the year, fall freshening cows are being turned dry, and others are rapidly going that way because of poor pastures. Good dairymen aim to give their cows a dry period of about 6 weeks. Cows thin in flesh when turned dry should be fed a fattening ration during the dry period. Cows in good condition at freshening time will always start the lactation period giving more milk daily and continue at a higher level for a longer period than cows that have a short dry period and freshen in poor condition.

Orphan Chicks Best

Raise your day-old chicks away from home, if you want them to grow up to be healthy layers, is the advice of Ohio research poultrymen. Isolation of young chicks from older birds, but allowing them use of range on the experiment station farm, resulted in a mortality rate of 56 per cent. In an adjoining pen, other pullets, hatched from station eggs but which had been grown to laying age away from the station, had a mortality rate of only 24 per cent. This experiment caused the Ohio scientists to point out "the need for a new phase of specialization in poultry raising, the production of livable ready-to-lay pullets. The brooding of chicks and the growth of pullets in the future may largely become a commercial enterprise in the hands of specialists."—Country Home Magazine.

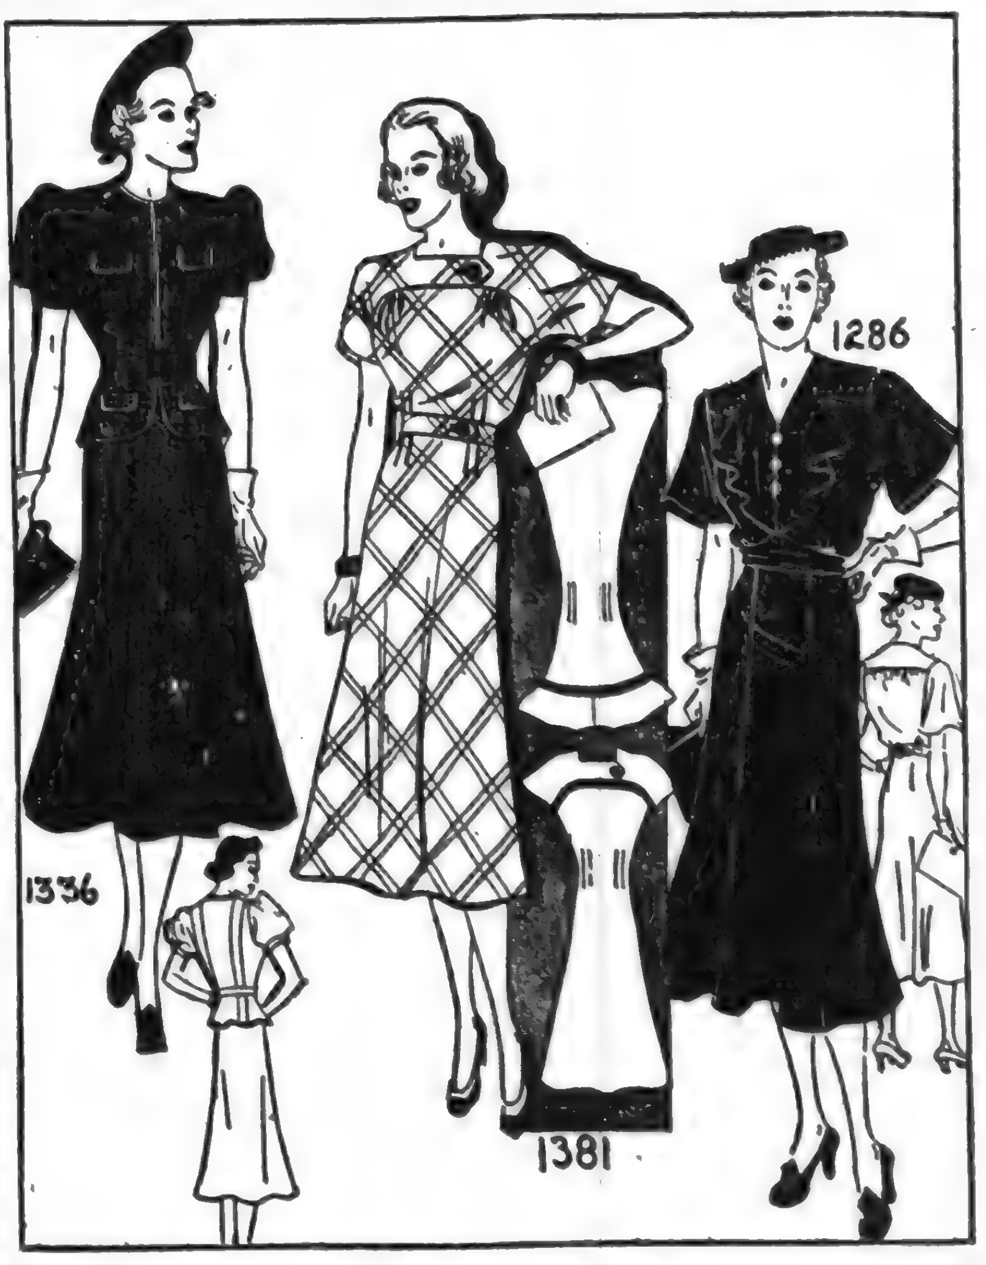
The Happiness Trio



PRIDE goeth with Fall and glamor, too, Milady, when you wear distinguished fashions by Sew-Your-Own! Today's trio gives youth a chance to express itself in an individual manner; gives the adult figure an opportunity to display a new high in chic, and last—but we wouldn't say least—a utility model that's as right for daughter as for mother, as attractive on cousin Emma as it is on Aunt Grace.

Swank 'n' Sweet.

Young and inspired is the little two piecer that just stepped into the picture at the left. The topper is one that will set a vogue in this woman's town and make you the swankiest of the whole lot of Laf-a-Lots. If you're asked to picnic in the colorful Autumn woods, wear this number in henna-colored wool for real satisfaction and that perfect harmony that makes picnicking a picnic.

For Kitchen Capers.

And before you go, there'll be sandwiches to make, potatoes to peel, and lemons to squeeze—that's where and when the gingham gown in the center comes in. Of course, its novel yoke-and-sleeve-in-one construction makes it a most attractive model to sew as well as to wear. The skirt has flare enough for cutting those kitchen capers one has to when minutes are few and work plentiful. Make this simple five-piece frock in two versions and be sure of everyday chic at minimum cost.

Style Success.

While we go picnicking and places, don't think Mommy isn't going to swing out in style, too. She's certain of success when she goes to her Club; she's sure of well-groomed elegance for Sunday best in the slenderizing frock at the right. It does wonders for the figure that needs it, and it is equally becoming to sizes 18 and 20. So, Mommy, no matter what your size or the color of your hair, you'll be young enough and slim enough in this frock to feel like the very essence of fashion.

The Patterns.

Pattern 1336 is designed for sizes 12 to 20 (30 to 38 bust). Size 14 requires 5½ yards of 35 inch material plus 4⅝ yards of 1¾ inch bias strip for fold for trimming.

Pattern 1381 is designed for sizes 14 to 44. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material.

Pattern 1286 is designed for sizes 36 to 48. Size 38 requires 4⅝ yards of 39 inch material.

HOW LONG CAN A THREE-QUARTER WIFE HOLD HER HUSBAND?

YOU have to work at marriage to make a success of it. Men may be selfish, unsympathetic, but that's the way they're made and you might as well realize it.

When your back aches and your nerves scream, don't take it out on your husband. He can't possibly know how you feel.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife; take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

Plaids Outstanding in Fall Modes

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

PLAIDS on autumn style program? We hope to tell you! Fact is, the college-faring and the school-going (from kindergarten to high school age) girl that fails to make a right smart showing of plaid in her fall wardrobe simply is not "in it" when it comes to swank in dress. There's no doubt about it, colorful, youthful practical plaids fit into the campus, the office and the great outdoor scheme of things simply perfect.

All sorts of plaids are on the autumn fabric list from high-tone dressy plaids of silk velvet and handsome wool weaves down to the most utilitarian, practical, washable types—the kind that go bicycling along dusty roads and then come out "fresh as a daisy" after each tubbing.

Bicycling is a fad so important nowadays designers recognize they must create fashions tuned to the sport. The new sturdy washable plaids are proving most likable for outfits of this sort. The girl on the "bike" as shown in the group illustrated is fashionably and sensibly frocked in a dependable completely shrunk washable plaid that gives this rider the look of being keenly style-minded.

The schoolgirl centered in the picture is likewise alertly fashion-conscious in that she also selects plaid for her voguish blouse, and it's safe to say she will be getting a lot of wear out of it besides enjoying that feeling of confidence it brings to be appropriately clad for the occasion.

Another way to subscribe to the plaid rage that is now featuring in every phase of fashion is to wear a true clan plaid skirt and neckerchief with your new fall sweater as shown to the right in the group. This most commendable outfit is sure to prove an inspiration to the schoolgirl. It was shown at a recent fall style clinic held in the Merchandise Mart in Chicago.

Viewing the new fall fabrics one becomes fully convinced that plaids as a fashion "must" are definitely here. It is interesting to note that the more classic plaids are labeled each with its clan name. Also the many smart ways to wear plaids makes them all the more intriguing.

In enrolling as a plaid enthusiast we suggest that you line your jacket to match your plaid blouse, or wear a plaid dress matched to the lining of your coat, or top a pleated plaid skirt with a bright velveteen jacket, or enliven your fur coat or your fleece coat with a stunning plaid lining. They are showing in the stores daring coats in forest green; radiant autumn browns, and the very new deep sapphire blue with bold plaid linings in giddy contrast.

Plaid velvet dresses to wear under fur coats is another outcome of the present craze for plaids. You can also find cunning jackets of plaid velveteen. Some are bolero versions with plaid belts to match.

If it is just a touch of plaid you favor, buy a dozen or so of the new plaid composition buttons and let them go marching down the front of your dark velveteen dress or coat. You can get all sorts of plaid accessories. There are ensembles of beret, bag and belt. There are belt and triangle-scarf sets to be had in plaid.

FASHION STRESSES FABRIC ELEGANCE

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Fabrics play a most important part this year, and by their richness explain the apparent simplicity of the styles which are the greatest challenge to the dressmaker. Velvets, lames, brocades, laces, tulles are all in the picture.

Lace becomes a happy medium for day dresses, almost severe in their simplicity. These may be relieved by rich belts, patent trimmings, etc. Lighter laces in silk or rayon are combined with a colored fabric lining for day dresses or two tones used in combination as Worth has done. Lelong takes a heavy white wool lace for a hip-length top of a dress which ends in a simple black velvet skirt, with four rows of the velvet used at the side front from the high waistline to the hip. Patou offers rosepoint collars, cuff or bodice trim with severe dresses—but real rose point. Schiaparelli makes lace of gold cord for three huge medallions on the topper of a two-piece effect black marocain. While dresses are simple in effect, fantasy goes into the headgear.

Style Sobriety Stressed for Chic Daytime Costume

At the height of the vogue for romantic fashions, mutinous murmurs are echoing from the ranks of style leaders who favor simple garments for wear before the sun goes down.

"Sobriety of the best quality" is the formula advanced by a leading French couturiere as the prime requisite of daytime chic.

"Wear tailored suits and little sweaters," she advises, "but have them fitted by a good tailor and made of the finest wool. See that each accessory is equally first grade, for one inappropriate gadget can spoil the entire costume."

BE PENCIL-SLIM

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

This afternoon frock of purple silk jacquard was worn in a fashion preview for the silk parade held in New York which presented outstanding advance fashions created by the foremost designers of the world. To be right up to the mark your new frock must feature the pencil-slim silhouette that fashion demands this season, such as this gown so correctly defines. The handsome firm silks of quality kind that are so characteristically a product of this season's looms have been found ideal for achieving the new pencil-slim styling.

6. Does it cost more to educate a child in a city school than in a rural school?
7. When gold is hammered into the thinnest gold leaf possible, what color is it?
8. What is the definition of a split infinitive?

Answers

1. A giant California Sequoia tree yielded 3,000 posts, 650,000 shingles and 100 cords of firewood. The upper one-third and the branches of the huge tree were not used.
2. It is estimated about thirty in a million will live to this advanced age.
3. Theodore Roosevelt, for his efforts in bringing about the treaty of peace between Japan and Russia in 1905. It was awarded him in 1906.
4. The expert counters of the Department of the Treasury have counted approximately as many as 40,000 new notes a day, and 25,000 old ones.
5. The oldest painting of the Virgin and Child in existence, done about 150 A. D., is on a wall in the famous Priscilla catacombs in Rome.
6. The average cost to educate a child in a rural school in the United States is $53.31 a year, and the average in a city school is about $96.18.
7. In this condition it appears green by transmitted light.
8. A split infinitive is one in which an adverb is introduced between the word "to," and the verb form, such as "to largely decrease." The word "to" as used with the infinitive is not to be classed as a preposition; it is an integral part of the infinitive and hence should not be separated from the verb form.

Achievement of Peace

YOU may either win your peace or buy it; win it, by resistance to evil; buy it, by compromise with evil. You may buy your peace with silenced consciences; you may buy it with broken vows—buy it with lying words—buy it with base connivances—buy it with the blood of the slain, and the cry of the captives over hemispheres of the earth, while you sit smiling at your serene hearths, muttering continually to yourselves, "Peace, peace," when there is no peace; but only captivity and death for you.

Trans-Siberian R. R.

The Trans-Siberian railroad covers a distance of 5,550 miles across both European and Asiatic Russia. The work of building it was begun at Moscow and was rapidly extended. Orenburg was reached in 1877. In 1880 the bridge over the Volga was built and the section connecting the Volga and Obi river basins was begun. In May, 1891, the first work on the real Trans-Siberian railroad was begun. As a single-track line it was completed in 1902. The cost was $175,000,000.

COLLECTING LIQUID RUBBER ON FIRESTONE PLANTATIONS IN LIBERIA
From these plantations comes an ever-increasing supply of the world's finest rubber. Money saved here and in manufacturing and distribution enable Firestone to sell first-quality tires at lower prices.

PRICES AS LOW AS $6.40

THAT'S WHY YOU GET MORE FOR YOUR MONEY IN FIRESTONE STANDARD TIRES

FIRESTONE builds a first-quality tire made of top grade materials and sells it for less money because Firestone passes savings along to you in the form of extra values. Firestone controls rubber and cotton supplies at their sources, manufactures with greater efficiency and distributes at lower cost. Because of these economies —

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST BLOWOUTS—eight extra pounds of rubber are added to every 100 pounds of cord by the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process. By this process every fiber of every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber. This counteracts dangerous internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST PUNCTURES—because under the tread are two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST SKIDDING — because the tread is scientifically designed.

YOU GET LONGER NON-SKID MILEAGE—because of the extra tough, long-wearing tread.

Make your car tire-safe now for fall and winter driving. Join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign today by letting your nearby Firestone Dealer or Firestone Auto Supply and Service Store equip your car with a set of new Firestone Standard Tires — today's top tire value.

DON'T RISK YOUR LIFE ON SMOOTH WORN TIRES!

DO YOU KNOW

THAT last year highway accidents cost the lives of more than 38,000 men, women and children?

That a million more were injured?

THAT more than 40,000 of these deaths and injuries were caused directly by punctures, blowouts and skidding due to smooth, worn, unsafe tires?

At right is a section cut from a smooth, worn tire, with non-skid protection worn off. Tires in this condition are liable to punctures, blowouts and skidding.

At left is section cut from a new Firestone Tire. Note the thick non-skid protection against skidding, blowouts and punctures. Come in and see a demonstration.

THE LOW DOWN
HICKORY GROVE

About once in a full moon I get studious and kinda think about stuff, like, why such and such is so and so, or vice versa. And it got to runnin' through my head the other day, why do some people do some things like shoot their better-half, when it is not so long ago that they was breakin' their necks to get each other.

And what I am scribblin' about, I cannot answer to either, but they all say they did it on the spur of the moment and did not have time to think. So maybe it means that we need more time to sit down and ponder beforehand, like in a church maybe, and not do the ponderin' afterwards in a jail.

And some jokesters, they will say it is O. K. to shoot your husband if he snores, but in real life and when you are in the morgue afterwards, it is something different.

And there are lots of theories that are just theories and don't work out so hot in practice, like Uncle Sam goin' into all kinds of business, but it looks like this church idea, it might save some geezer's hide, now and then.

A scientist discovers traces of a lost race in Alaska. So far as being "lost" is concerned there are many advantages. There are no rows about who is responsible for the bent fender, and nothing has to be done if the current fails right inthe middle of the perusal of the evening newspaper. However, Tennyson was right when he said that a century of Europe was better than a cycle of Cathay, and until human nature changes, or things get a great deal worse than they now are, the majority of mankind will be content to be alive, and will not begrudge lost races the fun that comes from being "lost."

The veterans of the World War, two hundred thousand strong, parade in New York City. It was not long ago that the survivors of the Civil War presented a similar front. Now they are reduced to a few old gentlemen riding in carriages. There was a day when the Grand Army of the Republic and its corresponding organization in the South could get about anything they wanted, for the asking, but now all that the survivors of the War between the States can hope for is a quiet seat in the shade, granted as a matter of courtesy and not as a matter of right. If the American Legion has plans for the future, it had better get busy at once. It was able to survive German cannon but no power can save its ranks from being thinned in the march of Time. The child is born who will look upon the last tottering survivor of the World War. The Legion will do well to make its influence felt for good before all that is left to remind one of the World War are the stones that mark the places where its soldiers fought.

CARRYING ON FOR WORTHY PRINCIPLES

There is no organization with higher ideals or stronger purposes than the American Legion. Composed as it is of the patriotic-minded men and women who bore arms in the defense of their flag and country, the Legion is today pledged to a program of usefulness and service which commands the deepest respect and the wholehearted admiration of the American public. The men who marched away to war returned to civilian life with a rekindled love for their native land, appreciating the fact that solemn obligations and responsibilities rested upon them as individual citizens. In furtherance of the objective for which they fought, these men organized The American Legion as the vehicle to put their program into practical operation.

The pirnciples of the Legion, its ideals and purposes are beautifully expressed in the preamble to the Legion Constitution which is herewith quoted:

"To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a 100 per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to community, state and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity, the principles of Justice, Freedom and Democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness."

These are the ideals and principles which the Legion is organized to uphold, and when given defuite interpretation through constructive activities for the betterment of the nation, they provide a challenge of the first order to all veterans of the World War. In each and every one of these principles there is a theme for extensive discussion but some of them are worthy of especial mention. As water seeks its common level, so do the thoughts of service first, turn towards the preservation of our beloved Constitution. It is the sacred document wihch guarantees to every American his inalienable rights to freedom. It is the solid foundation upon which our Republic has grown and prospered and the future society of the nation demands that its covenants remain undespoiled and kept inviolate.

The ways and means adopted by the Legion to give these principles a practical application in the every day life of the nation have been many and varied Realizing that law and order is essential to the maintenance of a government "of the people, by the people, and for the people," the Legion has sought on every hand to instill a greater love for flag and country. The Legion's Americanism program embraces a multiciplicity of worth-while activities. Sponsoring Boy Scout troops, conducting a nation-wide Junior Base Ball program for boys, operating citizenship schools for the newly naturalized citizens, urging all citizens to take an active interest in affairs of government, are some of the specific channels through which Americanism has been taught. The Legion has given its support and thought to movements designed to bring a better understanding between nations and foster world peace. For every principle enunciated in the preamble of the Constitution, the Legion is carrying on one or more activities to give that principle practical usefulness and expression.

Dedicated to endeavors of such a worthy character, The American Legion extends to every World War veteran the opportunity to become associated with his comardes in an unselfish program of service to the nation and its people. It was an honor to march behind the flag in 1917 and 1918 and it should likewise be an honor for veterans to continue to serve in time of peace. Every one of the ten principles set forth in the preamble of the Legion Constitution provides a splendid reason why ex-service men should support the Legion through their individual memberships.

Working through the organized medium afforded by the American Legion, the collective efforts of veterans will be rewarded with noble results.

COUPLE UNITED IN CHURCH CEREMONY

Lois Mae Sellers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Sellers, residing south of Auburn, and John David Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Smith, living on highway No. 8, east of Auburn, were married Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at St. Mark's Lutheran Church. A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.

At the hour of three, Mrs. Jacob Saltsman, at the organ played "Liebestraum," by Franz List and for the processional, Lohengrin's Wedding March. Miss Katherine Mefford sang "O Promise Me," by Reginald De Koven and "At Dawning" by Charles Wakefield Cadman.

The briday party approached the chancel along the north aisle. The ushers, Robert Raub and Robert Weaver, the bridesmaid, Miss Zeltha Cottrell, of Battle Creek, Mich., a cousin of Miss Sellers, and the bride were met in the chancel by the groom, his best man, Curtis Rastenburg, and Rev. O. B. Noren, pastor of St. Mark's. Rev. Noren used the single ring ritual of the church.

Miss Sellers was beautifully attired in a gown of white transparent velvet, toe length. It had a cowl neck and full length sleeves. The tulle veil, fingertip length, fell back from a beaded coronet. Her sandals were white; her round bouquet was of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

The gown worn by Miss Cottrell was royal blue transparent velvet and her head dress, silver metallic. Her bouquet was pink roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

The men in the party wore black.

The chancel was a bower of green and autumn tinted foliage, with baskets and large vases filled with gladioli, ferns and fall blooms. On each side of a leaf-covered arbor and gate were candelabras each containing seven burning candles.

At the reception at the home of Mr and Mrs. Sellers, the bride's mother was assisted in the serving by Miss Mary Lu Kiplinger, Mrs. Robert Raub, Miss Thelma Grosh and Mrs. Loretta McClintock.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith left for a wedding trip around Lake Michigan, going by way of Northern Michigan, through Wisconsin and will return by way of Chicago. On their return they will reside for the present with the groom's parents.

Mrs. Smith for nearly six years has been secretary to C. E. McClintock, an attorney with offices in the Chamber of Commerce building. She has been prominent in all departments of young people's work in St. Mark's Church and is president of the Von Bora Society. She graduated from the Auburn high School in 1928.

Mr. Smith is a farmer. He graduated with the class of 1930 of the Auburn high school. He possesses a wonderful voice and is prominent in musical circles.

MOTOR FROM WEST COAST IN 47 HOURS

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Andress of California, were guests in the M. H. Andress home Sunday, the first for several years. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Wyatt and daughter of Fort Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Will Hamilton and son, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Hursh and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Andress and son, Max, of Elkhart.

The account of their trip from California, taken from Kalamazoo paper, is as follows:

"What can be done in the way of speedy trans-continental travel by motor car has been established by Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Andress, former local residents, who are now visiting friends and relatives here. They came from Long Beach, Calif., in 47 hours of actual driving time.

" 'Cap' Andress lived in Kalamazoo from 1904 until 1921, when he left here to make his home on the West coast. His first employment here was with the Michigan Central Railroad. Later he worked for the interurban lines and then the Kalamazoo Vegetable Parchment Company. In 1916 he opened his own grocery at Burdick and Vine Streets, which he continued until he moved west.

"At Long Beach he again engaged in the grocery business, retiring on July 19 of this year. Accompanied by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Miller, Andress covered the distance from Long Beach to South Bend in four jumps. The first day took them to Cedar City, Utah, 523 miels; the second day to Rawlings, Wyo., 554 miles; the third day to Blair, Neb., 662 miles and on the fourth day they covered the remaining 611 miles to South Bend.

"The visitors are guests here of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Prince, the latter a sister of Mrs. Andress, and Mr. and Mrs. George O'Keefe of Oakwood. Mrs, O'Keefe is a niece of Mrs. Andress. It is their first visit here since 1923.

"Mr. and Mrs. Andress will leave Oct. 3 for St. Joe, Ind., where they will visit his brotehr and three nieces. There they will meet Mr. and Mrs. Miller for the return trip to the West on Tuesday."

RHOADS—GENTH NUPTIALS

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Rhoads, Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock, when their daughter, Miss Doris, was united in marriage to Mr. Rollie Genth, of Yoder.

The single ring ceremony was read by Rev. C. J. Ferster.

The home was beautifully decorated with ferns and cut flowers.

The bride was attired in a tailored suit of rust color, and egg shell blouse, she carried a bridal bouquet of Autumn shades.

After the ceremony all repaired to the dining room where a bountiful three course dinner was served.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Rhoads, Mr. and Mrs. William Genth, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Genth and their daughters, Phyllis and Marjorie, Mrs. Venus Mason and Miss Arminta Steward.

The bride is a graduate of the Spencerville High School and has ben employed for the past nine years at the General Electric. She has been one of the faithful attendants of the Lutheran Church and Sunday School where she has officiated at the piano.

The groom is a graduate of Lafayette Central High School and is employed at the International Harvester Co. He is a member of the U. B. Church at Nine Mile.

These are most estimable young people and are held in highest esteem by all. They are taking a wedding trip through the South and after October 10th will be at home in their own newly furnished home at 2414 Oak Ridge Road, Fort Wayne.

The News extends congratulation.

GROSS INCOME FUNDS INCREASE PAY TEACHERS AND OLD AGE

Gross income tax paid on income received during the second quarter of 1937 showed an increase of 19 per cent over collections for the same period last year, Clarence A. Jackson, director of the Indiana Gross Income Tax Division, said today.

Books were closed on second quarter collections, totalling $5,151,582.92, as the division began the receipt of payments on income for the third quarter. The current taxpaying period extends to October 15.

Taxes now being received, Mr. Jackson said, will be used in large part for distribution to local schools early next year for payment of teachers' salaries. The gross income tax also is depended upon to pay a major part of the state's expenses for old age assistance and other welfare activities, he said.

Forms have been mailed to partnerships on the division's records and to retail merchants in a few localities, under an experimental program which may later result in extension of the plan of mailing forms.

Failure to receive a mailed form, however, does not relieve any taxpayer of the responsibility for obtaining a form and filing the return, it was explained.

Returns are due by October 15 from tapayers whose tax for the quarter amounts to more than $10. However, many other persons file quarterly in order to lessen the amount of tax due with the annual return at the close of the year.

TAX BOARD TO KEEP LEVIES WITHIN LAW

Governor M. Clifford Townsend said today he had instructed the State Board of Tax Commissioners to keep property tax levies within the limits set by law wherever possible.

The Board announced that the first appeal hearing on tax levies would be heard October 11 on Scott County levies.

The 1937 Legislature fixed the tax limit at $1.25 in townships and $2 in in cities and towns, exclusive of social security costs, money to pay interest on bonds and funds necessitated by extraordinary emergency such as the winter flood.

The Governor said the State Welfare Board would insist only on the minimum salary, as fixed by law, for employees of the various county welfare departments. A representative of the State Welfare Department will sit with the Tax Board during the consideration of welfare budgets at the State House.

The county bill for welfare personnel will be cut $275,000 in the new budgets, the Governor explained, because the state will pay half the cost.

At least two members of the State Tax Board, and the entire Board if possible, will hear the budgets of cities of the first and second class, Governor Townsend said.

Some 45 counties have filed a report of their approved levies with the State Board and are subject to review. The schedule of local hearings is being prepared by the Board now and it is hoped will be completed by November 10. The final order of the State Board is to be made by December 1.

ENTERTAINED AT BIRTHDAY DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Ora Wilmot, of Union Township, Whitley County, entertained at their home on Sunday, October 3rd, in honor of the former's father, Mr. Arthur Wilmot's 83rd birthday.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wilmot and sons, Duward and Roy, Mr. and Mrs. John Yard and children, Doris Dale and Nancy Lee, of Garrett, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Gee, of Kendallville, Mr. and Mrs. Fay Wilmot, Mr. and Mrs. Deloy Mills and sons, Tommy and Larry, Mrs. Julia Miller, of Fort Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Avid Miller, of Belting, Michigan. A fine dinner and good time was enjoyed by all.

JOSEPH BAKER DIES IN PORTLAND, OREGON

Last week, a letter was received from Clifton E. Baker, of Lake Grove, Oregon, in which he enclosed a clipping from the morning Oregonian, Portland, of September 6th, giving an account of the death of his father, Joseph Baker, 78, as follows:

Elderly Victim of River Suicide Identified Here

"The elderly man who leaped into the Willamette River near the foot of Lincoln Street Sunday and was drowned was identified yesterday by Deputy Coroner E. A. Shea as Joseph Baker, apartment 22, 29 Southwest Mill St.

"A key found on the man's body proved to be the key to the apartment in which pants and vest identical to the coat which the man discarded on the dock before leaping into the river were discovered.

"William Griffeth, landlord at the apartment, took keys to the coroner's office, making it possible to trace the only clue in the possession of local authorities.

"Besides his son, Clifton, he leaves five grandchildren and four great grandchildren. The funeral was held September 9, with interment in Greenwood Cemetery."

Upon receipt of this letter, we began to make inquiry concerning Mr. Baker, and found him to be the brother of John Baker, now of Auburn, the last of the original Baker family, very prominently connected with Concord Township in the early days.

Joseph Baker was married to Jane Boyle, of west of St. Joe, and they moved here and later occupied a home on the lot now owned by Mrs. Adam Shilling. Mr. Baker was engaged in the barber business in St. Joe in the early days, and worked with Archie Nelson in rooms above The News office.

Later he built a building for his business in St. Joe, what is now the front portion of the Mary Betz Restaurant building.

OFFICERS SELECTED BY OLD SETTLERS

The DeKalb County Old Settlers' Association, meeting in annual reunion in Auburn on Saturday, re-elected James Husselman, of Grant Township, president for 1938. Other officers named were Fred B. Leighty, of St. Joe, vice president; Mrs. Monte L. Green, of Auburn, secretary. The nominating committee for next year is composed of F. J. Nebelung, W. C. McBride, and Mrs. C. B. Weaver, all of Auburn.

The oldest person to register was 93 years of age and there were quite a number ranging from 87 to 90 years. The oldest men registering who received boxes of candy were T. C. Kiser, of Butler, J. W. Grogg, of Garrett, R. F. D., No. 1, and John Geisinger, of Garrett. The oldest women were Mrs. Harriett Putt, of Corunna, Mrs. Mary Treman, of Butler, and Mrs. Mary Feagler, of Auburn. They also received boxes of candy.

At 3:00 o'clock more than 900 had registered and more were signing the registration books. The number will probably reach nearly 1,000.

The registration committee was composed of Mrs. Flora Green, Mrs. L. L. Daniels, Mrs. Hattie Keen, Mrs. J. Frank Shugers, Mrs. Fred W. Knott, Mrs. W. P. Endicott and Miss Nellie Buckley.

Miss Julia Hodge, of Auburn, made the address, telling of the hardships of pioneer days.

Doctors say breathing through the mouth is harmful. Quite a few people have also found out that talking thru it also results seriously at times.

Smart young men should seek government jobs since it is becoming the most popular method of escaping income taxes.

Anyhow, the country seemed to get along pretty well back in the days when men ate their peas with a knife and their pie with a spoon.

The St. Joe man who boasts down town that he is a he-man is usually a "Yes, Ma'am" when he's at home.

As a rule, the drink a man takes that makes him feel rotten is the one hee takes to make him feel a little better when he already feels good.

The average American is easy to recognize. He is the one whose conscience is bothering him.

The income tax forms have been simplified and now the only thing to worry about is getting the income.

When a St. Joe man is longing for the good old days he is merely wishing he could again get excited about everything.

Scientists say bees have a sign language. Yes, when you sit on one he always comes back with a pointed remark.

A PROUD RECORD

It is a proud record that American railroads have set in the past few years. Although the number of accidents have increased slightly this year over last, only two passengers were killed during the six months ending June 1. When it is considered that passengers on railroad trains in the U. S. now travel nearly 19,000,000,000 miles each year, that is a remarkable record. Most of our citizens can recall when it was almost impossible to pick up a daily paper that did not tell of some terrible railroad accident. Now it is unusual to read of one, so few have they become. The railroads have achieved this new record by the use of protective equipment—and by insisting upon carefulness and sobriety in their employees. There is no drunk or reckless driving of freight or passenger trains. As a result only 18 people were killed in railroad accidents during the entire year of 1935, and this year will find even fewer fatalities. It is a great record, and one the American railroads are justified in taking pride in.

WORTH TEACHING

The fact that there is no regular course in the public schools of our community and surrounding territory covering the conservation of wild life and natural resources does not mean that it is not worth teaching. No better instruction can be given by any teacher than the simple methods of protecting the trees, birds and small animals of the neighborhood in which his or her school is located. A few moments now and then devoted to the value of planting trees, and protecting those now growing, will serve to impress the youthful mind with the value and importance of conservation. The same is true regarding our outdoor life. Children may be destructive by nature, but leading them into new paths is an easy matter. Tell them, so their childish minds can understand why this country must conserve its natural resources, such as timber and fish and game, and they will grasp the meaning and carry it with them on through to maturity. The teacher who realizes the value of such instruction is worth more to the community he serves than the one who never mentions the subject simply because it doesn't happen to be a part of the regular school course.

IT WON'T BE LONG

Old King Winter is headed this way, and it won't be long now until he'll be camping on your front doorstep. With him he will bring the long nights when time is apt to drag along and hang heavily on the hands of those who have not learned the value of the radio and the home-town paper. Nothing has been invented that helps the ordinary family to put in its winter evenings more pleasantly. The radio you already have, but if the home-town paper has been overlooked, right now is a good time to see that its regular visits are started. There is no need to lose touch with the outside world so long as you have a radio, and no need of being in ignorance of what is going on here in your own neighborhood if you have your home-town paper. There is a combination unbeatable, and the best investment you can make if you want to make this a short winter, and an agreeable one.

A RADIO PROBE

While the country has managed to get along fairly well for the past few years without a spectacular congressional probe it does not appear at this time that it is to escape one very much longer. The demand of certain members of congress that the affairs of the big radio broadcasting corporations be investigated, and the spotlight turned upon them, will probably bear fruit at the next session.

The claim that there is a monopoly of the air, with the radio business in control of two broadcasting companies, isn't news to anyone. Everyone who owns a radio or who listens in knows that. Even if these corporations are waxing rich, they are not interested, since the money is coming out of the pockets of those who furnish the programs, and not out of the pockets of those who listen to them. The average radio owner around St. Joe feels that he is getting mighty fine entertainment over the air waves free of cost—and that it is about the only thing he is getting for nothing. In almost every other country there is a tax on radio sets. Americans have so far escaped that, though the time probably isn't far off when revenue-seeking politicians will see that it, too, is included in the long list of taxable articles.

Since almost every American home now boasts a radio the probe expected to be launched in a short time will be watched with nation-wide interest. Just what good it can accomplish, however, remains a mystery. But as the average radio-owner views it, the probe is unnecessary. He feels that he is getting something for nothing now, but that if congress takes a hand there is certain to be a tax slapped on somewhere and he will, as usual, be the one who will have to pay it.

IT WON'T WORK

Motorist around St. Joe will learn with more than the usual interest that after a trial in several states of "no speed limit" on the high ways, the experiment has proved a failure. Michigan, one of the first of the few states that let down the bars and permitted drivers to use their own judgment on the open road, raises her hands in horror at a 15 per cent increase in fatalities over last year, and is planning to return to former speed limits. The motorist, it seems, cannot be relied upon to stick to a safe and sane speed; it requires law, strictly enforced, to make him do so.

With the death toll in America so far this year the highest in history, it is obvious that something must be done, and done quickly, to hake highways safer. With almost 1,000 killed on Labor Day alone the necessity for laws fixing a lower rate of speed is apparent. However, at the same time that new speed laws, and laws with teeth in them, aer being enacted, some attention should also be given those drivers who idle along a main highway at a rate of 15 or 20 miles an hour. Hundreds of accidents occur when drivers turn out to pass these slow-moving machines, for as a rule they are not hugging their side of the road. The need for regulatng the slow-poke is as great as the need for regulating the speeder.

This year's death toll is going to be a ghastly one when the figures are made public. Maybe it will speed the enactment of some sort of legislation that will make human life a little bit safer in America.

This week is fire prevention week. Every home, office, factory, and farm should take immediate steps to formulate a permanent fire prevention program.

15,000 people are burned to death in this country every year.

65% of these victims are women and children.

It costs this nation nearly $300,000,000 each year for the up-keep of fire departments and waterworks for fire extinguishment.

Smoking and the careless use of matches is a common cause of fires.

Make arrangements to clean and repair chimneys.

Make an inspection of your establishment today—80% of all the fires that occur in the United States are due to carelessness.

MORDKIN BALLET SHOWS BENEFITS OF UNIFIED ARTISTIC CONTROL

The Mordkin Ballet which comes to the Shrine Theatre, Fort Wayne, on Monday night, October 11, shows in a striking way the benefits of absolute, unified artistic control by a super-artistic intelligence, that of Mikhail Mordkin, founder of the Mordkin Ballet, former ballet master of the Moscow Imperial Ballet, and one of the outstanding dancers of the world.

Mordkin's artistic control is absolute. With most of the hundred artists in his company, it began when he trained them for a period of years in a school which he established to develop artists for the Mordkin Ballet.

The selection of the ballets, the selection of the music and the development of story and arrangement of music are Mordkin's tasks. The general conceiving of movements, settings, costumes are also in his care.

Then when he has decided upon every detail, authorities in all departments of the Mordkin Ballet are called upon to carry out Mordkin's plans.

The results are harmonious, complete ballets, unified with the highest art.

The ballets which Mordkin has selected and arranged and choreographed for the repertoire of the Mordkin Ballet are "The Goldfish," "Gizelle," "La Fille Mal Gardee,' and "Dionysus."

"The Gildfish" is based upon a fairy tale by Alexander Pushkin, the great Russian poet, and has a score by the famous Russian composer, Nicholas Tcherepnine.

"Giselle" was written by Theophile Gautier, the French poet and novelist, almost a hundred years ago, for the use of his beloved Carlotta Grisi. It made her a famous dancer. The music was written by Adolple Adam.

Ford Opens 'Roads of World'

GRAND TRUNK ROAD
CALCUTTA-AFGHANISTAN
INDIA

CONSULS of foreign countries and good roads association representatives took part recently in dedication of the "Roads of the World," a half-mile roadway comprising reproductions of 18 world famous highways, newest feature at the Ford Rotunda, gateway to the Ford Rouge plant at Dearborn, Mich. Photo shows A. O. Bray, acting British consul at Detroit, scattering on the road actual road material brought from the Grand Trunk Road of India, the ancient highway which traverses fabled Khyber Pass and once the route of Alexander's legions. In the party are Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company; Wallace R. Campbell, president of Ford Motor Company of Canada Limited; Edward N. Hines, "father" of the good roads movement, and representatives of countries represented in the roads.

FOUND GUILTY OF ATTACK ON MOTHER

A verdict of guilty was returned by a jury in the DeKalb circuit court Monday in the case of Elgin Curie, of St. Joe, charged with assault and battery on his mother, Mrs. Delora Curie.

The penalty was fixed at a fine of $1 and the costs and six months at the state farm. However, the jury recommended that the sentence be suspended. Judge Endicott took the recommendation under advisement.

The alleged offense was the climax of considerable trouble with the defendant because, it is said, of his use of liquor. His mother testified that on Sept. 5 after he had been drinking he cursed her while they were upstairs and they "scuffled." She fled downstairs and tried to get out of the house. She said he followed her and seized her and shoved his fist against her to force her into a chair.

Similar testimony was given by a brother of the defendant, Paul Curie, who was on the porch at the time. This completed the evidence presented by Wm. H. Husselman, prosecuting attorney. The only witness called by Attorney Edgar W. Atkinson for the defense was the defendant himself and the only questions asked him were with reference to his relations with his brother, Paul. He said he and his brother were enemies. Paul Curie had also admitted this.

Curie recently was in jail six weeks for public intoxication and he has been removed as administrator of the estate of his father, the late Wm. Curie, for many years a St. Joe merchant.

Roy E. Maxwell was foreman of the jury.

The jury was composed of Roy Maxwell, Keneuth M. Lung, John Getts, Russel J. Strow, Loyd H. Haynes, Ora D. Moughler, Fred E. Hart, Paul C. Fetters, Raymond F. Creager, Albert Habig and Fred Ulm.

LUTHERAN PASTOR MOVES

Rev. C. J. Ferster moved Monday to Mulberry, Ind., where he has charge of the Old People's Home for the Lutheran Church. On Sunday morning he conducted his closing service at St. Joe, taking in some new members in the persons of Mrs. Dora Sailer, Leslie Wilbern and family, by letter; Mrs. Madonna Wade by confession and he also baptized the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Baker.

In his remarks during the service he stated that in his two years pastorate on the circuit, an addition of 58 members had been received.

With the moving of Rev. Ferster, St. Joe is now without any church services whatsoever.

IN DANVILLE HOSPITAL

Mrs. Ben Soule has received a card from Earl Smith's at Danville, stating that Mrs. Smith had been taken seriously ill, and was operated on for obstruction of the bowels. She is at Lake View Hospital, room 331, Danville, Ill. She would be pleased to hear from friends.

BOY BAFFLES MEDICAL SKILL

Hutchinson, Minn. Earle Hemple, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hemple has proven an enigma to medical scientists because of a strange affliction described as "word-blindness." Although apparently normal in every other respect, Earl is unable to read printing or to write. However, he can both read and write figures. He ranks high in scholastic circles because of a marked ability to memorize a lesson which is read to him. His case has attracted considerable attention at the University of Minnesota, where he has been under observation for several weeks. A course of treatment has been outlined which is hoped will correct the condition.

CONSTITUTION

PREAMBLE

We, the undersigned, feeling that home and society demand of the women today the broadest and fullest culture, and being well assured that our usefulness and enjoyment will be increased by such culture; believing also that the interchange of thought and unity of purpose will stimulate our mental growth, do hereby unite ourselves as a woman's club, for the sole purpose of study and mental improvement and for the attainment of our purpose, do hereby adopt the following constitution:

Article I—Name

Section I. The name of this organization shall be "The Ladies Literary Club of St. Joe."

Article II—Officers

Section I. The officers of this Club shall be a President, a Vice President, a Secretary, a Treasurer, and a Critic.

Section II. The officers shall be elected annually by ballot at the last regular meeting of the year.

Article III—Duties

Section I. The President shall preside at all meetings of the Club.

Section II. The Vice President shall preside in the absence of the President.

Section III. The Secretary shall keep a correct report of all proceedings, including those of the executive committee. She shall apprize all candidates of their election to membership. She shall also attend to the correspondence of the Club and order the necessary stationery and printing, and notify members who have been absent for two consecutive meetings without an excuse.

Section IV. The Treasurer shall be the custodian of the funds of the Club which she shall pay out only upon the order of the Club, and shall report at the close of her term of office, all receipts and expenditures and the amount of money remaining in the treasury.

Section V. The Critic shall call attention to errors impartially and kindly, commend where commendation is especially deserved and make such suggestions as will, in her judgment, benefit the Club.

Section VI. The Executive Committee shall consist of all the officers. It shall be the duty of this committee to plan the literary work of the Club.

Section VII. Each member of the Club shall consider herself in duty bound to attend every meeting and to prepare herself on the topics under consideration, and to take part in the discussion of the same.

Article IV—Membership

Section I. The membership of this Club shall be limited to twenty-five members.

Section II. When a vacancy shall occur from any cause whatever, any member shall have the privilege of proposing a name to fill such vacancy.

Section III. Only those shall be eligible who desire to study, and who, without unkind criticism upon the efforts of others, will endeavor to further the aims for which this Club was organized, and will not discuss any business of the Club outside its membership.

Section IV. The name or names proposed at one meeting shall be voted upon at the next regular meeting. Three negative votes shall exclude a candidate from membership.

Section V. When a candidate shall have been elected to membership, she must, within after two weeks notification of her election, sign her name to the Constitution and pay to the Treasurer the annual dues.

Section VI. The President shall declare the membership forfeited whenever a member shall have failed twice within six months to perform any work assigned her and shall have failed to furnish a substitute, or shall have absented herself from three consecutive meetings of the Club except for valid excuses presented to the President in writing, and accepted by the Club.

Article V—Dues

Section I. The yearly dues of this Club shall be seventy-five cents, payable at each annual election of officers.

Section II. The membership of any person neglecting or refusing to pay the annual dues, for a period of one year, shall be forfeited.

Article VI—Amendments

Section I. No addition, alteration or amendment shall be made to this Constitution unless the same shall have been proposed in writing at a regular meeting of the Club, and shall have received an affirmative vote of three-fourths of the members present at a regular meeting.

BY LAWS

Section I. The meetings shall be held at the home of some member at seven o'clock, Standard Time, on Wednesday evening of each week, or as otherwise determined by a two-thirds vote of the Club, during the Club year, which shall be from the first of September to the last of April inclusive.

Section II. The President may call a special meeting of the Club at the request of three members.

Section III. The exercises shall not exceed two hours.

Section IV. No member shall absent herself from a meeting of the Club during its session, and previous to its adjournemnt, unless, excused by the President.

Section V. In the absence of the duly elected presiding officer, a President, pro tem, shall be chosen by the Club, and all other vacancies shall be filled by appointment of the President.

Section VI. The deliberation of all meetings of the Club shall be governed by Roberts "Rules of Order."

The following Amendments were added October 11, 1933:

Article VI—Amendments

Section II. The officers of the Club shall include a Corresponding Secretary and Parliamentarian.

Section III. Section I of the By Laws of this Constitution shall be changed in part to read, from the third Wednesday evening in September to the second Wednesday evening in April.

The following amendment was added June 31, 1935:

Article VI—Amendments

Section IV. Only those shall become eligible to become members emeritus who have reached the age of sixty-five, have been members for fifteen years, are physically unable to perform the active duties of the Club, and who shall have paid the annual dues of the Club.

Business Good Will

Crowell's "Dictionary of Business and Finance" defines "good will" as the evaluation placed upon the reputation, patronage, drawing power and other intangible advantages possessed by a business concern in operation, including name and good disposition of its customers. The purchase value of good will is based on the average annual net profit for a period of years.

Musical Phenomenon

An account of Ole Bull says: "Ole Bull was a Norwegian violin virtuoso. He showed remarkable musical precocity. Bull was a rare phenomenon in the history of music. In the matter of mere technique he rivaled even Paganini. And yet a critic could discern the self-taught musician behind this prodigious technique."

First "Red Cross"

Although not identified in name, the history of the Red Cross may be traced back to 1813, when some ladies of Frankfurt, Germany, formed themselves into a society, called the Frauenverein, to alleviate suffering caused by the great continental war commenced in that year.

French Easter Custom

In olden times the noblemen of Paris paid a complimentary visit to the palace to felicitate the king on his great luck in not being a perplexed man of science in a godless world. And in return, as an acknowledgement, each nobleman received the royal Easter egg.

France in America

St. Pierre and Miquelon are two small groups of rocky, barren islands close to the southwest coast of Newfoundland belonging to France. The area of St. Pierre is ten square miles and the population about 3,500. The area of Miquelon is 83 square miles and the population about 500. The capital is the small town of St. Pierre.

Edison's Smartness

A school teacher asked pupils to tell who the world's smartest man is, and give the reasons. One urchin suggested Thomas Edison "because he invented the phonograph and the radio so people could stay up all night and use his electric light bulbs."

MORTUARY

GOLDSMITH

Emma Belle Goldsmith, daughter of George and Mary Houk, born June 24, 1849, departed this life on October, 2, 1937, having reached the unusual age of 88 years, 3 months and 8 days. She is the last of a family of seven children.

Mrs. Goldsmith was born in Stark County, Ohio. At the age of three her family moved to DeKalb County in a covered wagon.

She united with the Lutheran Church of Spencerville at the age of sixteen.

In 1875 she was united in marriage to Nicholas Goldsmith, a resident of Allen County. Five children blessed this union, John D., Alda Pervines, Pearl, Isa Ada who died at the age of nine months, and Lloyd G., all of whom reside in this vicinity.

Her husband preceded her in death twenty-five years ago this month.

Mrs. Goldsmith and daughter, Pearl, have lived together since the death of the father and husband.

She lived a very active life. She attended the Houk Family Reunion at Fort Wayne on August 21. From that time until her death she was more or less confined to her bed. She was however really bed fast less than four weeks.

She leaves to mourn her departure, four children and one grandchild, Merle Duane, son of John D. Goldsmith.

Funeral services were held in the home on Monday at 2 P. M., Rev. A. K. Mumma of Harlan, Ind., officiating. Burial in White City Cemetery, Spencerville, Ind.

SPENCERVILLE

It quite often happens that flaming youth often cooks its own goose.

The Young Ladies Social Club will meet Friday evening with Mrs. LaVern Angel.

Imogene Allen, Dorothy and Bob Burns spent several days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Dan Grogg at Auburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Allen were over Saturday night and Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dilgard at Auburn.

Have your glasses fitted by Benj. F. Griest, Eyesight Specialist, Office in American Bldg., Hicksville, Ohio. 28tf.

Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Markle were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Markle and family and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Smith.

Mrs. Zetta Wertman spent several days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Markle and attended the fair at Auburn. Sunday they were all guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Billman and Mrs. Joel Betz.

Mr. Greeley Wearley, an aged gentleman of this community, died at his home of infirmities of old age. Mr. Wearley had been ill for several years. He leaves the widow and two children, Mrs. LeAnna Steward of this place, and Ort Wearley of Toledo, and four grandchildren. The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon from the home with Rev. C. J. Ferster officiating.

A STILL FROZEN DESSERT THAT'S DIFFERENT

MARY is one of those clever homemakers who is always the first one in her community to introduce new ideas and new recipes. This time she is serving Still Frozen Cinnamon Apple Sauce. Wouldn't you like her recipe?

To 1½ cups hot sweetened apple sauce add 2 tablespoons red cinnamon candies and ⅛ teaspoon salt; stir until candies are dissolved. Chill. Fold in 1 cup whipping cream (whipped) and 1 stiffly beaten egg white. Pour into freezing container of still ice cream freezer. Cover and pack with mixture of 3 parts chipped ice and 1 part salt, by volume. Cover freezer and place in ice refrigerator. Freeze approximately 1 hour, stirring occasionally. The quick-freezing (made possible by the ice and salt mixture) is the secret of making this velvety smooth-textured dessert.

NEWVILLE

(Intended for Last Week)

V. J. Thomas, of Garrett, spent Tuesday at this place.

C. L. Langstaff, of Lima, Ohio, called on friends here Saturday.

Wellington Shull and family spent Sunday in the P. H. Wilson home.

C. E. Tarney and wife, of Fort Wayne, were Thursday callers in the H. A. Benner home.

Forest Dermott caught several large fish last week in the St. Joe River, one weighing 9½ pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Traxler spent Friday and Saturday in Fort Wayne with their daughter and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith spent Sunday afternoon at the Airport at Fort Wayne, and took a ride in an airplane.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Benner spent Sunday at Indianapolis where they entered their children, Neil and Florence, in school.

Mr. Poling, of Convoy, Ohio, was here last week. He is in the trucking business and although weighing 365 pounds, is quite active.

Clyde Pattee and wife, of Detroit, were Sunday guests of Bert Pattee and family. Other callers were Mrs. Violet Brunson and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stroh.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Traxler were Mr. and Mrs. George Weidner, of Kunkle, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Thomas and Wm. Hoy, of Garrett.

Smith's Store in Newville was broken into Monday evening, Sept. 20, and several articles taken and again late Saturday night, Sept. 25. Besides taking money from the cash register and helping themselves to candy, ice cream, cake, etc., they built two fires with papers, one back of a counter and one near the center of the store, and also destroyed considerable property. Sheriff Grim was called and he and Smith Brothers soon apprehended the thieves, two brothers 8 and 11 years of age. The money from the till was recovered and the father of the boys agreed to pay all damages done, also to keep the boys off the street and in the home of evenings. This is not their first offense, but had better be their last.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Benner entertained company from Fort Wayne, Sunday.

Jack Frost has painted the trees in gorgeous colors, making this a delightful time of year for travel.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Moughler, of Butler, spent Sunday evening here with Mr. and Mrs. Terry Traxler.

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, who have been visiting relatives here, left last week for their home at Sparta, Mich.

Members of the U. B. Sunday School will give Mr. and Mrs. Ira Moore a miscellaneous shower, Friday evening, October eighth.

Mr. and Mrs. George Koeppe and daughter, Pauline, visited from Friday until Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lott at Quincy, Mich.

E. M. Hetzler, of Angola, called on friends here Sunday afternoon. He was enroute home from Mercer, Ohio, where he attended a Home Coming.

The average man isn't worrying so much about where the robins are going to when summer is over as he is about where his first ton of coal is coming from when winter arrives.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Traxler were Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Ross and three children from Detroit, Mrs. Iola Loedig, of Dearborn, Mich., Mrs. Emma Morningstar, of Inkster, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gaff and son from Fort Wayne, and Mrs. Elizabeth Benner.

NEWS FROM COUNTY AGENT

COUNTY AGENT'S NARRATIVE REPORT FOR SEPTEMBER, 1937

A large part of the month was spent on State Fair activities and completing the necessary arrangements for the annual DeKalb County Free Fall Fair.

State Fair: Three hundred half fare tickets were sold to residents of DeKalb County by the County Farm Bureau and through the County Agent's office. There were several calls for tickets after the sell-out. Henry Emme, of Butler, exhibited vegetables at the State Fair; A. J. Moore, of Butler, won several blue ribbons with his sheep. Otto Ginther had a splendid exhibit of Hampshire hogs.

4-H Livestock Judging Team: Delbert Dannenburg, of Garrett, received first prize for horse judging at the Indiana State Fair this year, receiving a ribbon for his craftsmanship and a medal from the Horse and Mule Association of America. In the livestock judging, Dannenburg also received distinction by winning third in District 1, North. He will receive a trip to the International Livestock Exposition in December with all expenses paid.

The DeKalb County team that made the trip to Indianapolis was composed of Dannenburg of Garrett; Paul Whittington, Auburn; DeLoss Crooks, Waterloo; Wayne Hamman, Ashley, and Keith Wilson, Butler.

At the State Fair in all classes, with 68 teams judging, DeKalb County ranked twenty-second with a score of 1737, the high score being 1879; in the dairy cattle class they ranked forty-seventh, with a score of 311, 390 being the winning score; in the horse class the county ranked ninth; in all classes except dairy cattle the teams placed fifteenth, scoring 1426 against a high score of 1560; and in the individual ranking of 20 high boys in all Classes Delbert Dannenburg scored 627 points, ranking him thirteenth with the winner scoring 655.

Free Fall Fair: "A larger and better fair than any ever held in DeKalb County" were the comments of everyone concerning the 1937 DeKalb County Free Fall Fair. Every department had more and better exhibits than ever before. The weather was ideal and the attendance on Saturday was estimated at 35,000 people. The fair was a financial success.

Guarding Our Guarantee of Liberty

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN

National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

Since our inception as a nation, the proudest boast of our American Republic has been its guarantee of civil and religious liberty.

That guarantee is written into our Constitution. It is the first article in our Bill of Rights. It is the lodestone that has attracted to our shores, through successive decades, men of faith and character.

It is inextricably woven into the whole American tradition.

Above all things, it is that guarantee which differentiates life in America from life under the new European dictatorships, whether of individual men or of favored groups. It remains a keystone of the structure which protects free democracy from the assaults of intolerance and oppression.

The citizens of our young Republic recognized all this when they wrote into the Federal Constitution a dictum that:

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances."

Modern Americans must recognize it too, and continue—as did their fathers—the defence of this national tradition from threats in any form, or from any source.

Eternal vigilance remains today, as in the era of the Founders, the inexorable price of liberty.

And to that high ideal of liberty—both of action and of spirit—America still is dedicated.

A woman can't tell when she begins to seem old to others because people are too polite to tell her.

If it is Printing we can do it and do it right

LETTER FROM SPOKANE FAMILY OF INTEREST TO READERS

Most of the readers of the The News will remember the B. F. Walter family. This week we received a letter from the daughter, Edna, and we reproduce it for the benefit of our readers who knew them.

"It has been over two years since Father passed away so I am sure his subscription has run out before now, so I am enclosing two dollars for it. It has been so long since I left there, things have changed so and there are so many new unfamiliar names, yet the coming of The News each week seems like a greeting from the old home town where I was born and raised. We are getting along very nicely, I am much better than I was a year ago but still have to be careful as the blood pressure is considerable above normal yet. Andrew is fine, he is with the Washington Water Power Co., and his work takes him away from home a good share of the time.

Merritt is in Southern Montana, we haven't heard from him for some time so presume he is alright. Dale and his family are well, his two daughters are in High School. Clarence's are not so well. He has been bedfast with his arm in splints for a couple of months suffering from arthritis but is much better now. Mildred (his wife) is pretty much an invalid from her long serious illness (sleeping sickness) two years ago. Richard their son is quite a lad almost as big as his Dad.

We are having beautiful Autumn days now, hope they will continue for quite some time. We have had a very mild summer only two or three days that were very hot.

Will close with Best Regards to All."

ANOTHER LAWSUIT FILED IN LAND BOUNDARY DISPUTE

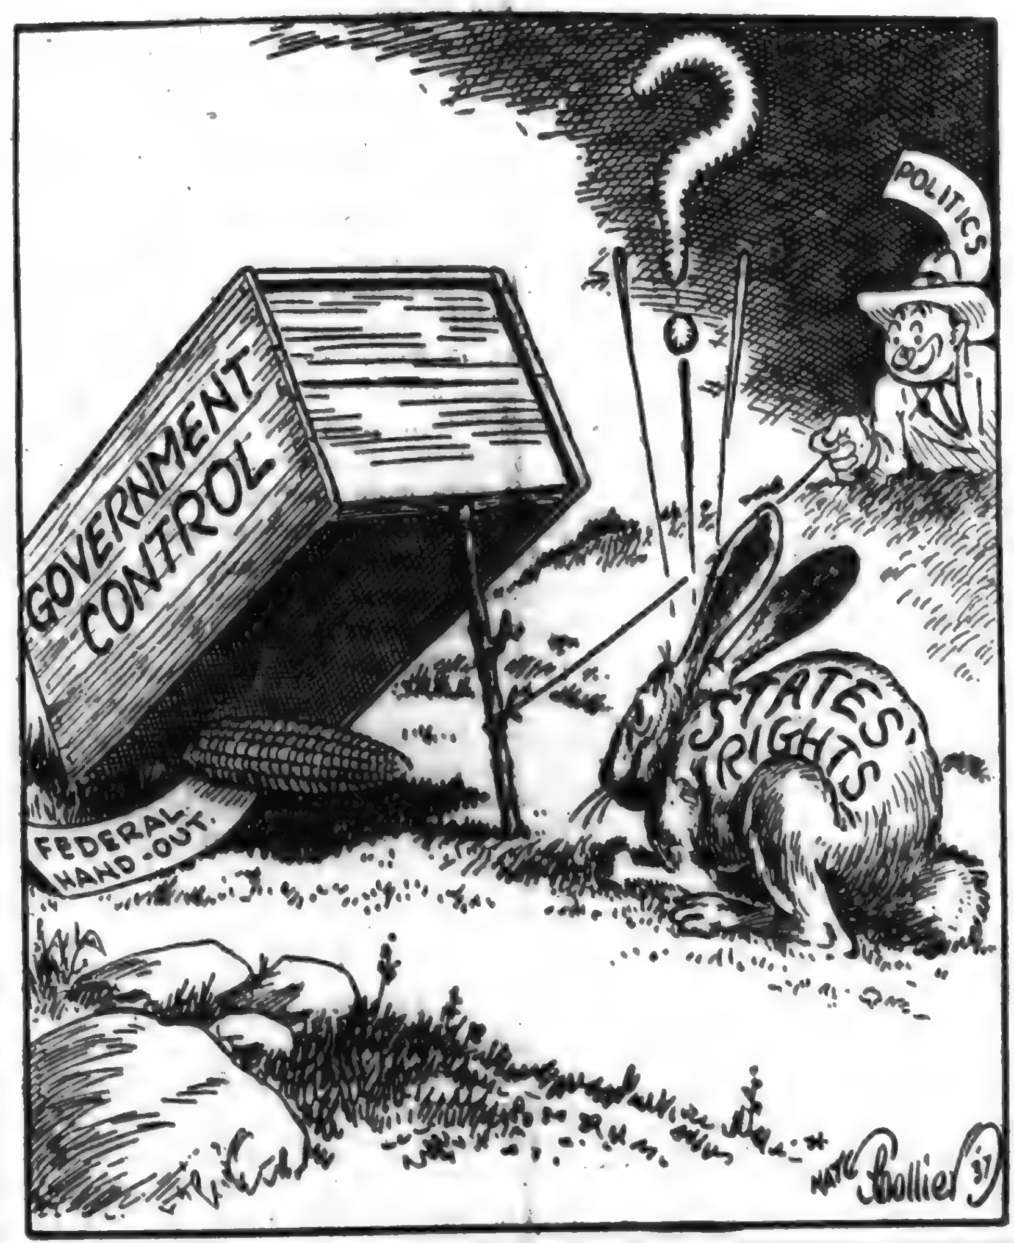
A complaint for a declaratory judgment was filed in the DeKalb circuit court Thursday by Zo T. Brown, Ilif F. Crane, W. Jay Snyder and Alma I. Snyder against Howard W. Krise.

The plaintiffs are the owners of 111 acres of land in Concord Township and the defendant owns a tract of 49 acres adjoining. A partition fence between the farms is 160 rods in length.

The complaint states that Snyder and Krise had a verbal agreement by which Snyder was to maintain the west half of the fence and Krise the east half, but a dispute arose between them. Now the court is asked by the plaintiffs to declare where the partition fence should be located with reference to a wash-out of the Hursey drain which runs through the land; to declare which end of the fence should be built and maintained by each party; to apportion the costs of construction and maintenance of the flood gates and to determine the rights of the parties with reference to the east 40 rods of the fence.

L. H. Dunten is the plaintiff's attorney. The Snyders recently sued the same defendant and the trustee of the township asking an injunction with reference to the fence and payment for it, but after a hearing was started the case was dismissed.

THE TRAP



GEORGE SHUGERS DIES SUDDENLY SUNDAY MORNING

George Shugers of California, who had spent the past two weeks with his brother, Frank Shugers, at Auburn, died Sunday forenoon, only a few hours before he had planned to return home at 1:30 on the B. & O.

Mr. Shugers was born in Jackson Township, DeKalb County, on the old Shugers farm 68 years ago on August 20th, one of five children of John and Mary Shugers, deceased. He came to Auburn and started a restaurant in the building of the Auburn State bank in the room now occupied by the Postal Telegraph & Cable company. After being in the restaurant six months he sold out to his brother, Cora Shugers and with his brother, Frank, started in the buggy business at Coldwater, Mich. They were in business ten years.

Returning to Auburn Mr. Shugers entered the employment of the Auburn Automobile company, which was just starting in business. After a short time he left for California, locating in Los Angeles, then a city of 150,000. He had resided there about thirty-three years.

At first Mr. Shugers went into the rooming house business. It being in the early age of the automobile industry, Mr. Shugers later started a shop for the repair of bodies and tops. This business became his hobby and today he owns a fine shop with all of the most modern appliances for this particular work. About twelve years ago Mr. Shugers entered the oil industry and at the time of his death he was president of the Rex Oil company pumping twenty-seven wells with an output of 60,000 barrels a month.

Mr. Shugers married the former Miss Anna Eckhart, daughter of Chas. and Barbara Eckhart, deceased.

Surviving are the widow and one brother, Frank. The body was sent on the return trip Tuesday, accompanied by his brother.

AUBURN LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

Furnished by
Ward Jackman, Sec.-Treas.

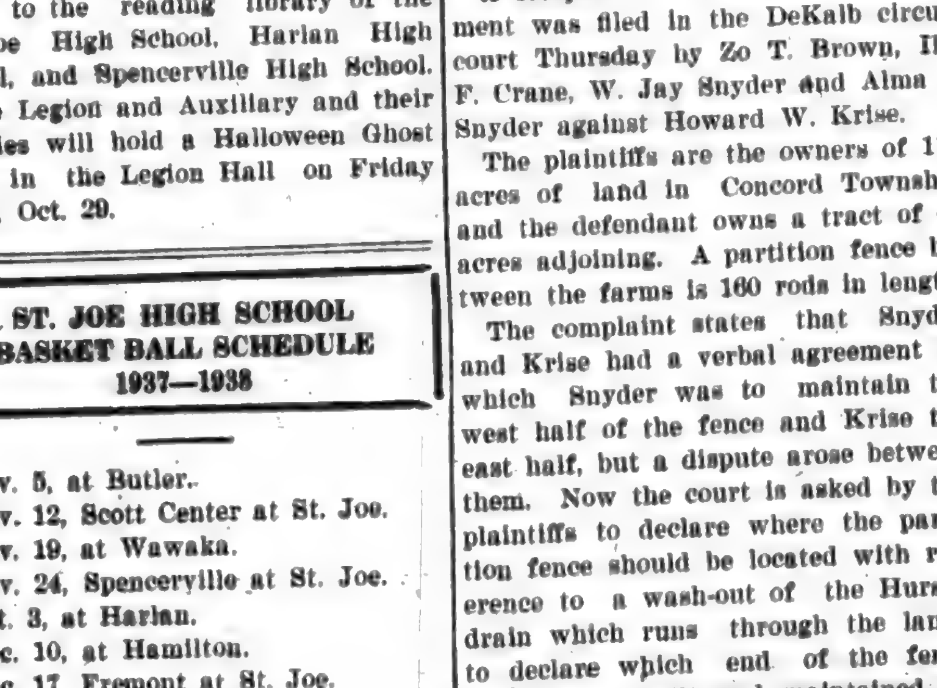
Well above 400 head of livestock changed hands thru this week's auction. It was one of this market's largest sales and in spite of unsettled terminal markets prices were pleasing to sellers.

Hog receipts were light and no top weights were on sale however light Yorks averaging 160 pounds sold at $10.25 and feeder shoats averaging 100 at $11.50 to $12.00. Roughs $10.00. Boars, $6.25.

Calves topped at $12.50. There were few calves showing much quality but the bulk at a very liberal sort changed hands at $11.00 up to $12.00.

Cattle receipts were larger than last week with prices as follows: Grass steers, $9.90 down, heifers of like quality from $8.50 down. Fat cows reached a top of $6.00 with the bulk of the common kinds at $4.00. Bulls had to be good to reach $6.00.

Mrs. Lucille Rothgeb and son of near Milan Center, spent Tuesday here with Mrs. Malinda Shilling.



Errand of Mercy at Sea

Passengers watch with interest the transfer in mid-ocean of Bernard Edwards, who was severely injured while at sea on the American freighter Silver Sword, from a small boat to the United States liner Manhattan. Ropes were lowered and made fast to the head and foot of the stretcher on which Edwards lay. Then he was safely housted up onto the big ship to be treated by her doctors and returned to New York City.

AUTO LICENSE SALE PAST MILLION MARK

More than a million auto license plates have been sold to date. This is the first time in history the total has exceeded that mark.

The total number of passenger car plates sold to date is 803,362, and of truck plates is 134,351. Total for all classifications of plates, including trailer, semi-trailer, etc., is 1,010,200 an increase of 62,294 over the same period last year.

The Division will sell approximately 25,000 more plates of all kinds before the 1938 plates go on sale, which will bring the total to approximately 1,035,000.

Another record broken is indicated in the sale of 1,229,376 operators' and chauffers' licenses, an increase of 90,264 over the same period last year. The total new car titles issued is 155,545, an increase of 15,043 over the same period last year. Used car titles issued total 306,910, an increase of 18,334 over the 1937 figure for the same time.

The total in all classifications for the entire year of 1936 was 968,669, a figure somewhat lower than the present million.

SQUIRREL SEASON IS DRAWING TO A CLOSE

Squirrel hunters throughout Indiana are nearing the end of one of their best seasons. The Southern Zone open season ended last Friday, Oct. 8, while the open season for counties in the Northern Zone ends on Saturday, Oct. 30.

Included in the Northern Zone where squirrels may be taken throughout October are: Lake, Porter, La-Porte, St. Joseph, Elkhart, LaGrange, Steuben, Newton, Jasper, Pulaski, Starke, Marshall, Fulton, Noble, Kosciusko, Whitley, DeKalb, Allen, Cass, Miami, Grant, Wabash and Huntington counties.

In the Southern Zone, comprising the remainder of the state, hunters generally experienced the best sport of recent years with squirrels more plentiful. Since the open season began in the Northern Zone on September 1, reports inidcate that hunters are finding plenty of sport.

SCHOOL NEWS

On Thursday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Cron of the Cron Studio, Fort Wayne, called and submitted terms for senior class photography. The class voted unanimously to give this work to the Cron Studio. Plans are being made to have all of the work done on Wednesday of this week.

Mr. Smith of Findlay, Ohio, will take group pictures of the other classes at the school building on Friday of this week if the weather permits.

Rose Ayers and Robert Washler have been out of school for several days due to illness.

Report cards for the upper six grades were issued on Wednesday evening of this week. Parents should observe these cards carefully and find cause for any low marks if such marks appear on the card they inspect.

School will not be in session in DeKalb County on Thursday and Friday of next week. Those are the days for the Northeastern Indiana Teachers Association which convenes annually in Fort Wayne.

Please note a change in the basketball schedule. The first home game will be with Scott Center on Friday evening, November 12th. Our teams will play in Wawaka High Shool's new gumnasium on November 19th.

The Sophomores are planning a class party to be held at the home of Iris Jackson on Friday evening of this week. All teachers have been invited to attend.

There seems to be very little reason for any St. Joe man worrying about growing old. Isn't the same thing happening to everybody else around here?

What this country seems to need just now is a finish fight between armed bandits and reckless drivers.

In some respects women are all alike. They air their views when they see another woman putting on airs.

It's easy to tell when a man is married. He invariably keeps both hands on the steering wheel.

Maybe that governor who appointed his wife to a $100,000 a year senatorship only wanted to make sure that his family budget would balance.

At that, it's better to have loved and lost than to get tangled up in a breach-of-promise suit.

Many families would be in far better financial shape if it weren't for the extravagant tastes of their neighbors.

That two-yea-old New Jersey child who can already count to 100 may be able in years to come to tally up our national debt.

It very seldom occurs to a boy of 17 that some day he will know as little as his father.

A Chicago doctor says there are twice as many men stammerers as women. Maybe it comes from trying to get in a word in now and then.

Would you say that at a nudist convention all resolutions are passed by a "bare" majority?

The man who distrusts everyone he sees must have gotten that way by standing too long in front of a mirror.

A real old-timer is the St. Joe man who can remember when women were too bashful even to look into a barber shop as they passed by.

Another peculiar thing about this old world is that just enough happens every day to fill a newspaper.

While President Roosevelt speaks in Chicago against current wars and international lawlessness, a son of Premier Mussolini is said to be serving as air pilot for the insurgent forces in Spain. Politics are not involved in the remark that the comparison is odious. Democratic or Republican, the reader of Mr. Roosevelt's statements on the subject under discussion, will admit that wars of conquest deserve condemnation, and that there is sound morality in the policy which forbids one country from going after the scalp of another, with nothing but national advancement in mind.

Although Congress is not in session, isolated groups or individuals here and there express an opinion on matters that concern Congress as a body, and so it happens that the problem of balancing the budget is being discussed in places where Congressmen congregate most frequently. Notwithstanding cuts, which may not meet with the approval of Congress as a whole, a balanced budget for 1939 seems to be something that cannot be promised definitely. As the Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee remarks, there are too many things on which one cannot figure in advance. "Where there's a will, there is a way" may be a good maxim generally considered, but even the proprietor of a peanut stand knows that his well considered system for making ends meet is likely to vanish in thin air in the face of circumstances which he can neither foresee nor control.

The world series ball games open in New York, with an estimated attendance of 70 thousand. Those who filled the stands were better occupied than they would have been if in training to make holes in Japs or Chinese. If the United States has contributed nothing else to civilization, it has at least supplied base ball. Incidentally, there is some advantage in living in a country where one can take a day off and root at a base ball game, instead of putting in the time perfecting himself in a calling the prospective of which is to have his head knocked off by a foreigner.

A year or so ago, there was a radio program in which the hearers were admonished to use certain dentifrice every day, and to see their dentist twice a year. A Washington woman puts a hold-up man to rout by sinking her teeth into his wrist, from which it appears that good teeth have unexhausted resources. At that, she was not quite up to standard. A Stone Age man in first class dental condition probably could have bitten the intruder's arm completely off and rendered him incapable of similar depredations for the rest of his natural life.

Out in California, Edward Kuttner dies at the age of eighty. He must have done many things in those four score years, but the papers recorded only the fact that he was carriage driver for Tom Thumb, a stage celebrity whom none but those past middle age recall in the flesh. If a person wants to get into widely spread print at the finish, the surest way to accomplish that end seems to be to walk in the shadow of someone whom the public knows. The burden of the old song: "The hand that shook the hand of Sullivan" contained a practical philosophy.

It is reported that a questionnaire will be distributed in trailer camps, with a view to getting at the cause of unemployment. One of the adavantages of being a trailer-dweller heretofore has been the circumstance that those who live on wheels were beyond the reach of the questionnaire. The world moves on, and as it moves the occupant of the trailer bids fair to have no more peace of mind than the citizen having an income tax blank before him on his desk.

THE WRONG SPIRIT

There probably isn't a town in America wholly free of that type of citizen who, when asked to cooperate in some sort of public movement, first asks himself what some other fellow down the street is going to get out of it. He may not ask the question openly, but always there is a suspicion in his mind that promoting any movement for the good of the community is first going to work to the financial gain of someone else. And if he refuses to put his shoulder to the wheel, nine times out of ten it is because he has the idea that someone is going to profit more from such a movement than he will.

That sort of spirit has done more than any other one thing to handicap a town in its efforts to advance. Call it pure selfishness, or envy of someone else in the community, or what you will, the fact remains that one or more citizens of this type are to be found in every town. And we are not positive that St. Joe is an exception to the rule. It is easy to look back and point out campaigns for improvements that were badly needed that failed because of this type of citizen.

When a man realises that any progressive movement for the good of the community as a whole benefits him also as an individual, then he is the sort of citizen to have around. When he waives aside the fact that maybe such a movement will bring a dollar or two more to a neighbor, but goes right on boosting and cooperating, he makes himself worth something to his town and is eventually rewarded in turn, although that reward may come to him in an indirect way. No man ever lost anything trying to make his home town a better place in which to live, and no man ever gained anything by refusing to cooperate in a civic movement for fear the other fellow would "get something out of it."

FIGHT AGAINST PESTS

Rural residents around St. Joe will be glad to learn that the past summer witnessed the greatest war on insect pests ever waged and that as a result of it a vast financial saving is promised by Uncle Sam during the growing season of the coming year.

Setting a pest to catch a pest proved successful in many experiments, tried for the first time. Imported Amazon flies proved deadly to sugar cane borers. Again, a small parasite was found which lays its eggs only in the egg sac of the black widow spider, where the parasite's larvae proceeds to destroy the young spiders. These parasites are to be cultivated to increase their numbers, and eventually the dreaded black widow spider will be no more. Experiments with insects believed to be capable of destroying grasshoppers were also tried in several Western states and, it is said, with success. If this latter experiment works out and a method of exterminating the destructive "hopper" is found it will be worth all the money ever expended by this country in fighting insect pests.

There is a little risk, of course, that man will plunge ahead too far in his private wars againts pests, ending one evil by setting up a new one. But this is being guarded against. It is reassuring, anyway, to find that many pests hitherto unconquered now face extermination, and also to find that other insects, considered useless, are in reality the friends of man.

OUR UNDESIRABLES

Spanish War Veterans at their last annual convention passed resolutions demanding that the Secretary of Labor enforce the law and promptly deport all aliens who have been convicted of crime, declaring there are 8,000,000 such undesirable citizens in this country. That number will strike the average News reader as being far too high, but even if there are but one-half, or one-third, of the number claimed it still means too many of this type of people in America, a country which has long been supposed to primarily intended for Americans. We have had enough trouble caring for our own criminal population during the last few years without having to harbor these floaters, most of whom were run out of their own countries, few of whom can show wherein they entered this country legally, an dthousands of whom are on relief rolls. It is high time that pleas like the Spanish War Veterans are making be given attention. America has always been for Americans—why not keep it that way?

YOUR SCHOOLS

When your children start off to school in the morning that seems to end interest in them until they return home with a vast number of mothers around St. Joe. Somehow it has never occurred to them to take a few minutes off from household duties some afternoon and drop in at the school house just for a little visit. They do not realise that it bolsters the morale of the children to see their parents interested in school work, and that it also reflects a genuine interest in the welfare and progress of this all-important institution. Teachers and pupils alike will take more interest in their work when they find, through the personal visits of parents, that interest is being taken in them. It will also serve the good purpose of revealing how well and capably the children of school age are being taken care of by those in whose charge they now spend a goodly portion of their time. You may be sure of a welcome, and you will return home with a deeper pride in your school.

"SUCKER STOCK"

If you are accustomed to receiving tempting offers of oil well or gold mine stock through the mails then you may be sure that in some mysterious way your name has found its way onto some of the "sucker lists" used by those who are after easy money. There is no occasion for showing resentment at receiving such mail; they don't know how they got there but some of the most prominent men in the country are enrolled on one or more "sucker list." Instead of losing your temper the thing to do is to toss the literature into the fire unread. Even that will not prevent other such offers reaching you, for these mail-order promoters not only "swap" mailing list names but buy and sell names to each other. So save your temper and also your money by destroying the bait with which they attempt to catch you, and "make a sucker of you." Throw away their invitation to become a "sucker" and let them go on wasting their time and their postage so far as you are concerned.

ENTERTAIN DIRECTORS

Mrs. Grace Dilley, County Social and Educational Director of the Farm Bureau, delightfully entertained the Township S. and E. Directors at her country home last Friday near St. Joe.

A bountiful two course dinner was served at twelve o'clock by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Bernice Sechler. After dinner a song feast was had directed by Mrs. Rosemary Farmer, county director of music for the Farm Bureau. Talks were then given by Albert Yoder, District Chairman and Lester Austraw, manager of the Farm Bureau Co-Op's. Mrs. Larry Brandon brought greetings from Mr. Brandon to the group, and gave a short report of the recent National Canvention.

It proved a pleasant and profitable day for all and a hearty vote of thanks was given Mrs. Dilley for her hospitality. Social and Educational Directors present were; Spencer Twp, Winifred Hart; Newville Twp, Sadie Washler; Concord Twp., Gertrude Borthwick; Union Twp., Mrs. Lester Boger; Richland, Maude Stahe; Stafford, Letha Rickerd; Grant, Bertha Korff; Keyser, Mildred Wise; Jackson, Elsie Bartles; Fairfield Twp., Alice Schweitzer; Wilmington Twp., Ethel McCleery; Franklin and Troy, Audra Brown; Butler Twp., Marian Miller. Other guests present were Rosemary Farmer, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Austraw and daughter, Florence, Stella Goldsimth, Etta Provines, Albert Yoder, Mildred Brandon and Bernice Sechler.

Guests at Lake Cottage

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hamilton at the Bowman cottage were Mrs. Cecil Wisler and son, James Hamilton. Over night guests were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Goldsmith of Spencerville.

CULTURE CLUB

After a brief vacation the ladies of the Citure Club resumed their yearly work at the home of the president, Mrs. Wm. Hamilton. The executive committee having charge of the evening.

The president opened the yearly work by a welcome to the new, the old and the associate members of the Club. The subject of the welcome being "You Do It."

The girls taking part during the evening were Frances Reidenbach, Leila and Jean Hurni playing a piano trio; little Gloria Jane Zonker gave a reading entitled "My Mother." Numerous contests and readings were given by the executive committee.

After a short business sassion, the Club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Sible on Wednesday evening, Oct. 13th.

The hostess served ice cream, wafers and coffee, to sixteen members and four guests.

Escape Serious Injure

Waukon, Iowa—Harlan Webster, licensed pilot and Miss Vera Steiber of Waukon, miraculously escaped death when the Tailor Cub plane, (photo above) cracked up when they were making a forced landing at a farm home east of Waukon. Flying at too low altitude, the plane in circling struck a tree then crashed to the ground. Both occupants were rendered unconscious, but suffered no serious injuries.

Moffet, Mrs. Raymond Rhoderfer and Mrs. Nancy Rhoderfer of Auburn. Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Carey and Mrs. Hattie Beams of Fort Wayne.

Safetygrams

BY FRED W. BRAUN

The Safety Man

I fell that it is important to issue a warning about carbon monoxide gas at this time. It might be a little early to talk about opening the windows and doors while running the motor in your garage, but nevertheless it should be a timely warning.

As soon as cold weather sets in people frequently run the motor in the garage to warm it up before driving away. This is done to prevent frequent "stalls" on the highways.

Whenever you must do this be sure that the windows and doors (all of them) are wide open so that you will get proper ventilation. By running the motor in the average garage with doors and windows closed for a period of three minutes, sufficient gas is formed to kill you.

The gas is very poisonous. You cannot see it, smell it, taste it, or feel it.

Ventilate!

AT HOME OF HIS SON

A card today from Geo. Milliman, who had been a patient in the St. Joseph Hospital in Fort Wayne, stated that he was moved Saturday to the home of his son, Lysle Milliman, at 3711 Weisser Park, Fort Wayne. His recovery now depends much on his diet and he states that his daughter-in-law is doing a good job looking after this.

APPOINTED GUARDIAN

A. Meade Baker of St. Joe has been appointed in the DeKalb circuit court as guardian of Richard David Meek, minor heir of Samuel K. Meek and Sherman Meek. The ward owns $1,700 in real estate and the guardian filed $2,100 bond, with Lola Meek and John R. Baker as sureties.

Altogether I Need Lamps

We'll Help You, Madam, to Brighten Up!

Believe it or not, our business is—partly—to spread sunshine and light. We do it by brightening up countless homes with genuine Edison MAZDA Lamps—known everywhere as "The Sun's Only Rival." These fine electric lamps have never been surpassed in giving the most light for the current used.

Look about your home. Count the empty sockets—count the blackened, wasteful lamps. Jot down your figures right on this advertisement; then clip the ad and slip it into your purse.

15c Let it remind you, on your next shopping trip, that you can afford to burn Edison MAZDA Lamps freely. Let it remind you to come to us, without delay, for a good supply. Singly or in handy cartons of six.

The Misses Mary Ehrmann, Ruth Shiek and Margaret Haan, office employees of the J. W. Butler Paper Co., Ft, Wayne, accompanied by the Misses Ruth and Helen Haan, also of Fort Wayne, were Tuesday evening dinner guests of F. B. Leighty and wife.

Ray Upson is assisting Rev. P. A. Hubbartt in conducting a revival meeting at Union Chapel Church on State Road No. 8. Mr. Upson was at St. Joe some years ago, when the Newlin evangelistic party came to the Methodist Church for a Monday evening service.

Evidence a plenty is being produced now, that it has paid well to stock the St. Joe River with fish. The last few days Roy Koch and Chris Sailor have been catching fish from 2 to 5 pounds and plenty of them. Perhaps others are also having good luck but of whom we have not heard.

Mrs. Bertha Jones, mother of Miss Elizabeth Jones, and grandmother, Mrs. Bohs, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ott of Indianapolis, were Sunday afternoon and supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Cole and Miss Jones. Evening guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curie and son, Frank Jr.

A birthday celebration was held Sunday at the Elmer Inlow home in honor of Delta and Alta Inlow. The guests present were Charles Inlow, wife and children, including Dorothy, Howard, Harry, Mary, Allen and Nellie Jewel of Peebles, Ohio; Jay Hart, wife and children, Leora, Jessie, James Andrew, Lucille and Margaret Donna of near Coburntown; Curtis Hursey and wife and Mrs. V. A. Martin and sons Paul and Gordon of St. Joe.

Max Henderson of Newaygo, Mich., came Sunday afternoon for a visit with the Curie families. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Henderson, formerly of this place.

Sunday dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Woodcox were D. J. Burley and wife of Princeville, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Harold Miller of Defiance, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. John Scrivo and Malcolm Woodcox and friend, Isobel Simons of Detroit, Mich., Mr. Dennis Burley, I. M. Woodcox, wife and son, Maurice of this place. Mrs. Millie Wilson of Fort Wayne, was an afternoon guest. A beautiful table bouquet was presented by Mrs. Clayton Chorpenning.

A birthday party was given in honor of Reuben Reichelderfer last Sunday at the farm home, east of Harlan. Relatives that attended were Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Dilley, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sechler, Mrs. Mary Sechler, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Staman, Mr. and Mrs. Vernie Monroe and family of this place, Wm. Foote of near Harlan, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bowen, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bowen and two daughters of Ft. Wayne, and Mr, and Mrs. Reuben Klopfenstein and children of Grabill.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Helen Wade.

Mrs. Kathleen Scholes entertained the executive committee of the American Legion Auxiliary, Post No. 283, Friday from 1:30 to 4, at her home. After a short business session and program for the year was outlined, a dainty lunch was served by the hostess.

Alcoholic beverages are the greatest detriment to human progress and the modern tavern is nothing but the old-time saloon with women added, L. E. York, Indianapolis, secretary of the Indiana Anti-Saloon League, said at Rochester, Ind., Sunday before a temperance meeting in the First Baptist Church in that city. Drinking is on the increase, York asserted, and is robbing business men because money spent for liquor will not buy food and merchandise. York claimed men who drink are not wanted by employers, that the tax rate must go up because such men and families become public charges, that crime is increasing, and that 75 per cent of the social diseases in America are directly attributable to liquor.

LET'S HAVE A PARTY!

Do you remember how, when we were little, we resolved to have lots of parties for our children when we grew up? But now we're so often exhausted after our first attempt at entertaining a roomful of active youngsters that we say to ourselves "never again!" But perhaps we made the mistake of taking the party too seriously. Take it easy! Make it short! And the refreshments simple!

Heaping plates of wholesome cookies and chocolate egg-nogs will make everybody glad they came. Another thing—let your small sons or daughters help. Put them to making ice cubes, for instance. With the handy little ice cuber they can quickly make all the pure, tastefree ice cubes you need from the ice in your modern air-conditioned ice refrigerator. Then, too, it is good for these small hosts or hostesses to feel that they have a real part to play in making a successful party.

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE PROGRAM SHARED BY FEDERAL, STATE AND COUNTY

Indiana's public assistance program has full approval and complete allocation of federal funds through the last quarter of 1937, to December 31, T. A. Gootschalk, state administrator of public welfare, has been informed by Washington.

The federal share of Indiana's public assistance program, serving more than 65,000 needy persons at present, is $1,296,053.78 for the last three months of 1937. Of this sum, $808,208.57 will be the federal government's share to approximately 40,500 old age recipients of aid; $349,708.94 will be the federal share to approximately 22,500 dependent children; and $78,141.27 will be the federal share to blind persons in need.

Percentages of funds paid out: Aged—50 per cent federal, 30 per cent state and 20 per cent county; Blind—50 per cent state and 50 per cent federal; Aid to Dependent Children—40 per cent state, 33 per cent federal and 27 per cent county.

Indiana's program for extension of Services to Crippled Children through the State Department of Public Welfare has been approved by the Children's Bureau, United States Department of Labor for the next nine months.

SAFETY DEPARTMENT MAKES STARTLING ACCIDENT REPORT

Thousands of reports revealing the enormous financial and human losses involved in daily auto crashes have been pouring into the state accident prevention bureau since the new compulsory accident reporting system went into effect July 1. However, failure of many citizens to make the report required by law indicates that losses are even greater than statistics show them.

Property damage of more than $316,000 was reported for 3311 accidents in July and over $369,000 for 3595 accidents in August in Indiana. These figures were compiled from 3103 driver's reports and 1585 police reports in July and 3495 driver's reports and 1312 police reports in August. Comparisons readily disclose that not as many drivers reports are being submitted as there have been accidents, when there should be at least half again as many.

Failure to cooperate in reporting accidents is punishable by the revocation of the driver's or chauffeur's license and by a fine not in excess of $100. The state director of public safety, Don F. Stiver, warns drivers to respond to this responsibility or it may become necessary to direct state police to make arrests, he said.

Report forms are available in every municipal police station, sheriff's office and state police barracks. Reports need be filed only for accidents involving injury or death or property damage in excess of $25. They must be mailed to the bureau in Indianapolis within twenty-four hours of the accident. If the driver is physically incapable of making a report, any occupant is required to do so. Reports are without prejudice to the individual and can not be used as evidence in any trial, civil or criminal, arising out the accident.

With 136 deaths on the highways in July, approximately one death has occurred for every 24 reported accidents, with an average property loss of about $95 per accident. In August, 108 persons were killed, with one death to every 33 accidents reported, and an average cost of $103 per crash.

The autumnal months of October, November and December, with their earlier hours of darkness, dense night fogs, wet leaves on pavements, and ice, sleet and snow will dangerously augment the hazards of automobile travel. Mr. Stiver predicted that unless extraordinary precautions are taken to safeguard lives, bad seasonal weather conditions will send accidents and traffic deaths skyrocketing. He also added that through increased assistance of the public in filing reports the bureau could eventually arrive at an accurate determination of the causes, extent and possible remedies for the appalling wreck of life and property on Indiana highways.

What 128,000,000 Consumers Want

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN

National Chairman Sentinels of the Republic

Recent estimates by the Bureau of the Census place our population at approximately 128,000,000.

That includes everyone within the territorial boundaries of the United States. That is the group for which our government is conducted, and by which it is supported. That is the American nation.

How is this huge group faring?

In the one thing that concerns it most—the cost of living—not so well!

From housewives and wage-earners throughout the nation are heard protests against the increasing strains imposed on the family budget; against the deepening dips into the weekly pay envelope required for the necessities of life.

In cases where the family income has remained stationary, the burden entailed is serious. In those rarer instances where income has risen, the benefits of such increase have been offset by the higher costs of food, rent, clothing and equipment essential to life and work.

This is not what our 128,000,000 consumers expect when the politicians promise them better conditions. What they anticipate is not less for their labors, but more.

Neither politicians nor the government—as experience has proved—can fix successfully or directly the cost of commodities. But they can reduce the high cost of living, by cutting the high cost of government—for again, as experience has proved, the two are twins.

A steady climb in the public debt, and a corresponding rise in political payrolls is not the way to lighten either of those burdens. If the government wants to help its people, let it lower its own costs then watch the cost of living fall in unison.

And 128,000,000 consumers will cheer such a program.

ADVERTISE your merchandise and it will sell!

STATE MUNICIPAL LEADERS TO MEET IN BLOOMINGTON

Indianapolis, Oct. 16.—Municipal home rule versus centralized state government will be the theme of discussion at the 38th annual convention of the Indiana Municipal League in Bloomington Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 21, 22 and 23.

Announcement of the convention plans was made by W. Vincent Youkey, Mayor of Crown Point, who is the League's Executive Secretary. Mayor Cleil E. Firestone, of Goshen, is president of the organization and will preside at this three-day session. Mayor A. H. Berndt, of Bloomington will be host-mayor.

The Indiana Municipal League, and the municipal officials of the state who comprise this organization, believe that local self-government should be returned to the cities and towns of Indiana. They believe in Home Rule and the right of every community, large or small to run its own affairs, free from outside dictation and interference.

SHERMAN ROGERS

Sherman Rogers, nationally known writer, speaker, publisher, and authority on industrial and political-economics, will provide the convention highlight in an address on "Municipal Independence" at the annual banquet session at 7 P. M., Friday, October 22, at the Union Building, Indiana University.

DUCK HUNTERS NEED STATE, U. S. LICENSES

Hoosier sportsmen expecting to hunt migratory waterfowl during the open season starting November 1, were warned today by Virgil M. Simmons, commissioner of the Department of Conservation, that they must have a federal as well as the regular state hunting license.

The federal license, generally known as a "Duck Stamp' can be obtained only at postoffices and is required of all persons over sixteen (16) years of age when hunting ducks, geese and brant. All hunters, regardless of age, must have a 1937 Indiana hunting license in their possession.

Funds realized by the federal government from the issuance of the "Duck Stamps" are used to establish refuges for migratory waterfowl as a part of the program to protect and increase these species, some of which are almost extinct due to the overshooting and reduction of marshes and other feeding areas.

WILLIS WILCOX WEDS

The marriage of Willis Wilcox of Battle Creek, Mich., and Miss Ruth Scaggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Scaggs of Huntington, W. Va., took place Saturday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock at the Auburn First M. E. Church. Dr. Manfred C. Wright, the pastor, officiated. Pres Wilcox, instructor of the band and orchestra in the Auburn public schools, father of the groom, witnessed the ceremony. Dr. Wright read the single ring ritual of the church.

The groom is director and manager of "Howdy" Wilcox and His Orchestra. The bride was a music student in Marshall college, Huntington. Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox left Sunday afternoon for Battle Creek where they will remain for a short time. Mr. Wilcox and his orchestra will leave in the near future for California to fill engagements during the winter.—Evening Star.

VALLEY FARMER MAKES FIRST ENTRY FOR CHICAGO SHOW

Chicago, Oct. 18—DeKalb County's first entries for the 1937 International Live Stock Exposition, to be held in the International Ampitheatre at the Chicago Stock Yards November 27 to December 4, were received today from Carl D. Carpenter, of near St. Joe, a St. Joe Valley farmer.

He will exhibit purebred Spotted Poland China barrows in the contests for this breed at the Chicago Show, which will this year celebrate its 38th anniversary.

A record exhibition of both live stock and crops is predicted by Manager B. H. Heide. He says that the advance listing of exhibits is the heaviest it has ever been. According to the management, stockmen have until November 1st to make entries for the livestock classes.

The International Grain and Hay Show, world's largest annual farm crops contest, will be held in its 19th year in connection with the live stock show. It is reported that entries have already been listed by growers from many states, Canada, and from such distant parts of the world as Australia, South Africa, and South America. Entries for this department of the Exposition will be accepted until November 10.

Indiana farmers have won the corn championships in the International Grain and Hay Show 14 times during the 18 shows that have thus far been held.

HEAVY LOSS BY FIRE LAST SATURDAY MORNING

An approximate $2,500 loss by fire will be sustained by Ralph Sechler, as the result of an early morning blaze that destroyed his entire pickle processing plant, Saturday morning at about 5 o'clock.

Mrs. Glen Cole, residing a half mile north, saw the blaze and was calling for help by telephone. Ralph heard the phone and arose to see what was wrong, when he saw the fire in the north part of the building. He hurriedly dressed and with his son, Franklyn, they were able to get the two trucks and car from the building, and by then close neighbors were there.

The entire stock in storage was destroyed. The truck contained a load of sauer kraut and that is all that was saved.

The equipment, spices, caps, jugs, catsup, and pickles in a good quantity were all destroyed. The loss was partly covered by insurance.

The plant was working nine people steady.

Temporary quarters are in the making now so as not to delay the shipment of goods more than this week. Equipment is being gathered from different sources to start the production as early as possible.

The fire department responded to the call but was unable to save the plant.

REHOBOTH RALLY DAY SUNDAY, OCTOBER 24

The annual Rally and Home Coming Day will be held at the Rehoboth M. P. Church in Jackson Township on Sunday, October 24. A full day's program is in progress, with some former pastors being present, including a basket dinner at the noon hour in which we shall be partakers of.

A most cordial welcome awaits all of the old timers and the new ones too.

Better come, we shall be looking for you ALL. A former pastor of twenty-six years ago is our present pastor, he shall be glad to renew old acquaintances.

NOT A FISH STORY BUT—

it's a whopper just the same. You better make sure that this is not another of those "big ones" that always gets away. We are referring to our specially priced combination offer of PATHFINDER and ST. JOE NEWS both a whole year for only $1.30. And we warn you—it's apt to "get away" if you delay in sending in your order to The News office.

ST. JOE JOURNALISM

The Ladies Literary Club Visit Office of the St. Joe News and Witness the Production of Paper in its Entirety.

A very interesting and instructive lesson was given the ladies of the L. L. C. at their regualr meeting last Wednesday night. Mrs. Lora Leighty had for her lesson subject St. Joe Jouranlism.

The ladies were asked to meet at The News office and Mrs. Leighty, with the assistance of her husband, demonstrated the steps of printing the St. Joe News from setting the type to folding and addressing the papers of which each lady received a copy.

Very few of the ladies had any conception of the work or steps taken to print our local paper and especially the operating of the linotype operated by Mrs. Leighty.

The rest of the program for the evening was conducted at the home of Mrs. Belle Woodcox. Mrs. Nettie Baker of Fort Wayne, and Miss Virginia Wilbern were guests.

SHERIFF GRIMM SEEKS OWNER OF LAMBS BELIEVED STOLEN

After several days investigation, Sheriff Herbert N. Grimm is still trying to find the owner of 21 lambs that were sold last week by Ray Hart of Hicksville, O., to Brady Bros. at Butler.

When Hart made the sale he gave the name of Ray Harrison and collected $64 for the lambs. The buyers were suspicious and notified the sheriff. The latter found Hart at Hicksville and took him into custody. However, Hart refused to tell where he obtained the sheep. No sheep of such description had recently been reported as having been stolen in De Kalb County. Inquiries developed that such thefts had taken place in Noble County and in Michigan, but so far the sheep have not been identified as stolen property. The sheep have black and white faces and weigh about 55 pounds each.

Hart was allowed to return to Hicksville Monday afternoon. He has served time for stealing, his last sentence being imposed in the DeKalb circuit court last December for six months. He formerly resided in Newville Township, DeKalb County.

MORTUARY

PATTERSON

C. A. Patterson, 73, South Harrison St., Fort Wayne, passed away Monday evening at 9:45 of uremic poisoning, following a three weeks illness. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 from the funeral parlors of C. M. Sloan & Son, conducted by Adolf Welker, reader of First Church of Christ Scientist. Burial was made in Forest Park Cemetery, Hicksville.

Besides the wife, Addie, he leaves one daughter, Mrs. Helen Hull of Colorado Springs, who came about ten days ago, to be at the bedside, two granddaughters, and one sister, Mrs. Arvilla Derk of Fort Wayne.

For many years "Bert" was engaged in the mercantile business in St. Joe, conducting the Big Four Store, located where the Joe Goldsmith Store is now operating. After disposing of the store, they made their home in Fort Wayne.

The family has the sympathy of the entire St. Joe community.

ABEL

The death of Wallace Abel, former trustee of Newville Township and a member of the board of commissioners of DeKalb County for three terms, occurred at 2:00 o'clock Monday afternoon at his late home southeast of Newville. He had been ill for a year. Death came at the age of 85 years, 10 months and 14 days. He was born in Indiana November 4, 1851 and was the son of George and Sarah Ann Abel.

The deceased had been a resident of DeKalb County all his life and was a farmer by occupation. Mr. Abel served his first term as county commissioner in 1915 and with the exception of Arthur Grube, a member of the present board, he was the only commissioner to serve three terms.

Surviving are the widow, formerly Miss Nettie Coburn and four children, Mrs. Gladys McNabb of Garrett, Mrs. Blanche Tomlinson and Roy Abel, at home, and Mrs. Besise Lake of Fort Wayne.

The deceased was a member of the Masonic fraternity.

The funeral services will be held from the late home on Thursday afternoon at 1:30 P. M. with Rev. J. N. Scholes of St. Joe, officiating. Burial will be made in the Alton Cemetery two miles east of St. Joe by Mayola Kinsey & Son.

AUBURN LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

Furnished by
Ward Jackman, Sec.-Treas.

This week's sale was one of the largest in the history of the local yards; a total of 623 head.

Sheep and Lambs: Top $9.65. Light lambs from $7.50 to $8.50. Fat ewes $3.50 down. Bucks selling by the head from $5.00 to $15.00. Buck lambs $1.00 lower than others of like quality.

Calves: There are lots of calves on the markets but all are low in quality, almost no select calves and a low per cent of what is usually graded as top calves. The highest price was paid by a Toledo buyer, $13.00 for a select 200 pound calf, the bulk of the best calves in the offering changed hands at $12.00 down. "Bob" or "Deacon" calves are from fifty cents to one dollar higher than in the past few sales.

Hogs were active with tops at $10.55; roughs at $10.00, boars at $6 and feeder shoats steady to slightly higher than last week.

Cattle in most classes were 25 to 50 cents lower than last week, most of the decline was on butcher cows, bulls selling fully steady to slightly above last week's auction. Thin pasture cattle of all classes are suffering their usual seasonal slump.

Good fat butcher cows brought from $5.65 down with cutters at $4.00 and below and thin shells mostly under $3.00. Grass steers and heifers from $8.50 down.

CLASS ELECTS OFFICERS

L. W. Yeiser was chosen as the teacher of the Busy Bee Class of the U. B. Sunday School Friday evening at their party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Jennings, north of St. Joe. Officers chosen for the year were: Marion Jennings, president; Mrs. Hazel Nicholls, secretary; Mrs. Nera Jennings, pianist, and Mrs. Harry Rees, chorister. Thirty-four members were present and a fine social time was enjoyed. This was the first monthly meeting of the class after a long vacation. They will be held regularly hereafter.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT SPENCERVILLE M. E. CHURCH

Rally Day Program Sunday Morning; Unveiling of Famous Painting in Evening

As a climax to the summer program of beautifying and redecorating the Spencerville Methodist Church, Rally Day will be observed in the Sunday School at 9:30 o'clock and during the worship service at 10:30 o'clock next Sunday, October 24. The pastor, Rev. L. E. Clayton, will preach upon "The Church's Business" after which new members will be received into the church.

The evening service at 7:30 o'clock is unique in that a reproduction of the famous painting "The Lost Sheep" will be unveiled. This picture has been painted by Mrs. C. C. Wischmeier of Butler. She has painted several outstanding pictures for churches, one of which is "The Good Shepherd" in the Methodist Church of Ligonier where Rev. Wischmeier preached previous to his appointment as pastor of the Butler M. E. Church. Mrs. Wischmeier will give an interpretation and explanation of the painting after it is unveiled. Special lighting equipment is being used to bring out the beauty of the painting. In addition a mixed chorus under the leadership of Mrs. Mary Ratliff, music instructof of the local high school, will sing "The Lord Is My Shepherd" and "The Ninety and Nine.' The public is invited to attend these services.

It's a great kindness to trust some women with a secret; they feel so important while telling it.

There isn't much danger of a revolution in a country where every man can feel like a dictator merely by getting under a steering wheel.

As we understand this unemployment census, it means counting those who really want to work and letting the rest loaf on WPA.

When a woman says: "I look like a wreck today," it's bad manners to agree with her.

You have also probably noticed by this time that the high price of pork has started the consumers to squealing.

An optimist is a fellow who hopes to make enough money next month to pay last month's bills.

Ever notice how a lot of people waste a lot of their time worrying over things that never happen?

If insects can't think, then how do all the ants in a square mile figure out where the picnic is?

More than one vacationist has returned home to find that the fish he caught were not the only things that got hooked.

Let's not worry too much about what the world is coming to. It may run into a detour any minute.

Six Russian officials were shot for wasting the taxpayers' money. Consider the slaghter there will be if that idea ever becomes popular in this country.

It is a sad reflection on civilized man when so many laws have to be passed to keep him honest.

The old-fashioned St. Joe man who never thought anything of walking 10 or 12 miles in an afternoon has a grandson who never thought of it either.

Dumb animals are the ones that grow old without overtaxing their hearts in an effort to be young again.

The steam engine is much like a man. The more it blows its whistle the less power it has to turn the wheels.

It is now settled definitely that the country soon will have that apparently necessary thing known as a working Congress. Indeed, Washington without a Congress seems as dismal as an old time fair ground without a fair. The President's latest fireside chat makes it evident that by the 15th of next month, the legislative body of the land will be back in its chairs. There is a feeling that Congress ought to be on the job and doing something, even though what is done may not always meet with the approval of the on-lookers, whether or not they are vitally concerned. In any event, before long we shall have Congress again with us, either as a target for condemnation or an object of applause. The constituents, too, will feel better when they know that their Federal representatives are earning their pay.

Congress has plenty of work cut out for it, if it disposes of all the important measures to which the President has invited its attenion, and especially so since details will have to be worked out in the legislative halls. The list of matters requiring attention is appalling, even if the major headlines alone are consideerd. Crop surplus is to be made the subject matter of law enactment and the wise men must decide how land best can be used. Trusts and monopolies must be put in their place. More must be done about wages and hours and the employment of children. Irrigation and flood control must be looked after. The Federal Government, in general, is said to need an overhauling. Add to these the routine work and the emergency action that is an incident of a congressional session, and it will be seen that the extra convocation is not due to be carried to the skies of adjournment on what the hymn writer calls flowery beds of ease.

A review of the doings of 1838 mentions only the facts that there was a bad fire in Charleston, S. C., and that people were interested in the performance of the Great Western, one of the largest ships then afloat, from which it appears that the year 1838 was made up of peaceful and uneventful days. No such quiet can be hoped for in 1938, and one is inclined to sing about the happy days that are to come again, or to wish for the "good old times" when all that there was to break the serenity was a fire or a new boat. As a matter of fact, the folks who lived a hundred years ago had quite as much trouble then as we have now. Their troubles simply were not so bad as they thought them to be, and have been forgotten, just as a man forgets the half hour that he sat out in the dentist's waiting room, his hand clapped on the cheek that covered an ulcerated tooth. A century hence, the coming year of 1938 probably will be covered by a few lines. The optimists and the pessimists are left to battle the situation out, the one insisting that there are no good days but those of the present, the others maintaining that there are no good days at all, and that the past was neither worse or better than, or materially different from, the present.

HELPING THE MOUNTAIN CLIMBER

AMERICAN STANDARD OF LIVING.
THIS WAY UP
POLITICS
FEDERAL REGULATION OF WAGES AND HOURS
Nate Collier

It seems impossible to touch on current events without referring repeatedly to Japan and China, and to the war in Spain. In the Orient, the Japs blow up a train of English motor trucks, which if it does nothing else, brings into print the new and useful word "motorcade." France threatens to call out her reserves if tension along the Spanish border does not lessen. It will be recalled that a mine exploded under the battleship Maine brought on the trouble of 1898. It seems as though a "motorcade" or any other equally simple object might be the cause of setting on foot a conflict that would involve both Asia and Europe. Those who have not forgotten the Thirty Years War will recall that, in substance, it was started by throwing some envoys out of the window upon a manure pile. Only a similar "incident" seems necessary to start the cannons booming throughout a world alleged to be civilized and abhorrent of war.

BE A GOOD SPORT

All this talk about what will happen unless trees are protected from slaughter and soil from erosion is worthy of study. But there is still another phase of conservation that is treated too lightly by quite a few people around St. Joe during each fall and winter season, and that is the matter of conserving wild life.

Protecting game does not mean refusing to hunt when it is legal to do so, nor does it mean abstaining from the killing of such game in season as the laws of the state permit. Game conservation means nothing more and nothing less than being a good sport and killing in lawful season only a sufficient amount for your needs. It does not mean killing by wholesale simply because the game is to be had and your markmanship is good, nor does it mean killing your quota if a lesser amount will meet your food demands.

That this community, like most all others, has its share of "game hogs" is common knowledge to a great many real sportsmen—the kind who are satisfied to kill during the closed season. But the "game hog," like the man who poisons dogs or dynamites fish, is almost always too wily to be caught in the act. A little closer cooperation with the state game conservation department, and a more careful watch for game law violations will, however, go a long way toward discouraging such activity in this community. If the honest sportsmen will make it plain that they are the enemies of all "game hogs" then hunting will be more of a joy for those who indulge in it, and human needs will be more easily satisfied because there will be more game to kill.

TOO MUCH GOVERNMENT

Start out tomorrow and canvass the county, asking every man you meet how many different divisions of government there are in the U. S., and it is safe to say not one will be anywhere near correct in his estimate.

For two years the job of counting the actual number has been under way, and the result should make every taxpayer in St. Joe open his eyes in wonderment. The total shows that there are in this country 127,000 school districts, 20,000 townships, 16,000 incorporated cities, towns, boroughs and villages, 3,000 counties, and 8,600 miscellaneous sewer districts, park districts, levee districts, etc. It must be remembered that each of these 175,418 districts has its payroll, and also that each district has the power to tax.

JUST A HINT

Some years ago a tourist complained to a man who ran a restaurant in a small Southern town that he couldn't get service while the waitress danced with local patrons. "Those people come here all the time; I may never see you again," the proprietor replied. And he never did. While there are some who argue that the restaurant man was right a majority will doubtless agree that there is much more to be said in favor of treating all customers alike whether they live in one's town or are merely passing through it. The tourist trade has now come to be of great importance to practically every section of this country. And those business places which are profiting most from their trade are those whose purveyors to tourists have learned that impartial courtesy and attention to townspeople and visitors alike pays the largest dividends in the end.

YOU CAN'T DO IT

No matter what you have to say in praise of the radio as compared with the newspaper, there are a lot of things you can't do. For instance, you can't put a radio broadcast in your pocket and read it at your leisure. You can't save a clipping from a radio broadcast. You can't stop listening to answer a knock at the front door without missing something. You can't get a line on market prices when you have but a few minutes to spare but the program that is being broadcast has another half-hour to run. You can't find out what your own neighbors are doing, for you can listen to the radio forever and you will never hear about the deaths and accidents, the marriages and the births, the fires and the festivals in your own community. You can't mark something of interest and send it to a distant relative by mail. And no housewife in all the world can use a radio broadcast for nice, clean pantry shelf covering. It's a wonderful thing, this thing we know as radio. But it hasn't taken the place of the home-town paper. And it never will.

COST OF CARELESSNESS

When it is understood that last year's forest fires burned over an area of 43,000,000 acres and caused a financial loss of $50,000,000, the average St. Joe citizen can understand the necessity for extreme care when in the woods for their living, while more than 70,000,000 enjoy those woods during each vacation season. What the ultimate result will be unless there is a decrease in forest fires is a matter for serious consideration, especially when government reports show that nine out of every ten forest fires are caused by human carelessness. That is a terrible indictment of our wastefulness. The dry autumnal season is at hand, with its increase in fire hazards. Everyone should keep that in mind and use the utmost care in keeping intact the stately green mansions that are our forests.

African "Hair Dye"

Hair dyes are very popular in the north of Africa. The Nile natives dye their hair light brown with a paste prepared from ash. The hair undergoes a genuine change of color after a short time, when the paste is removed with water.

"A-ha! I'VE FOUND A PLACE TO PLUG IT!"

THIS couldn't happen in your home, of course! It's just an artist's way of saying: "A lot of families are cramped in their use of electric servants."

Electricity does so many things nowadays that plenty of wall or baseboard outlets are important. Give each appliance and lamp its own electric connection. . . . Call your local electrician and find out how cheaply and quickly more outlets can be installed.

If you are building or modernizing, see that the wiring inside the walls is adequate.

Altogether I Need Lamps

We'll Help You, Madam, to Brighten Up!

Believe it or not, our business is—partly—to spread sunshine and light. We do it by brightening up countless homes with genuine Edison MAZDA Lamps—known everywhere as "The Sun's Only Rival." These fine electric lamps have never been surpassed in giving the most light for the current used.

Look about your home. Count the empty sockets—count the blackened, wasteful lamps. Jot down your figures right on this advertisement; then clip the ad and slip it into your purse.

15c

Let it remind you, on your next shopping trip, that you can afford to burn Edison MAZDA Lamps freely. Let it remind you to come to us, without delay, for a good supply. Singly or in handy cartons of six.

Miss Evelyn Shook spent Sunday with Donna Mae Washler.

Mrs. Alice Hart visited several days last week with Mrs. Jennie Abel at St. Joe.

Mr. and Mrs. Abner Trotsel called Sunday afternoon on Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wilder.

LaVon Murphy and family of Hicksville spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Claude Mason.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Hart and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Poper and daughter, Virginia, spent the week end at Jackson, Michigan.

Miss Pauline Buss spent the week end with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvy Perry. Their son, Paul Perry was a Sunday dinner guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Laub of Ft. Wayne, and Miss Virginia Shull of St. Joe were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Laub and family.

Mr. Frank Smith of Garrett and son, James of Los Angeles, Calif., called on their cousin, Mrs. Mattie Hart, and family Saturday afternoon. Six o'clock dinner guests were Bess Klopfenstein, and Mr. and Mrs. Potkotter and children, June Ann and Richard of Fort Wayne.

Mrs. Simons and Mrs. Miller of Ft. Wayne, spent Wednesday with Mrs. Mary Guthrie and mother, the latter being very ill the past week. Mrs. Miller is a daugther of the latter.

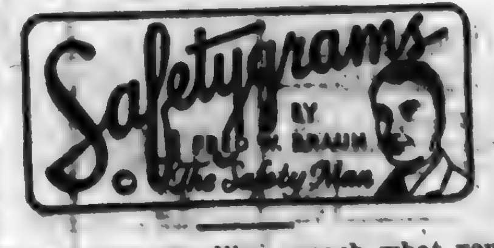
Rev. J. N. Scholes filled the pulpit Sunday due to the absence of Rev. Coburn who was filling another appointment.

The Spencer Township Home Economic Club held its annual party with the husbands and families as guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hart, Wednesday evening. A weiner roast was followed by a short business session. Committee in charge of the entertainment was Berniece Wilder and Thelma Hart. The club will meet November 10th with Berniece Wilder as hostess. There will be an Armistice program with roll call response, What the Armistice means to Me.

R. H. C.

The Rural Housewife Club was very pleasantly entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Laney Gee, and on Sept. 28 they met with Mrs. Claude Laub, with eleven members and several guests at each meeting.

Roll call response, What We Enjoyed Most at the Fair. Small attendance was due to illness among club members and others were assisting at our County Fair. At conclusion of business meeting at each home, Berniece Wilder gave several readings. Each hostess served dainty refreshments. Club adjourned to meet in two weeks with Mrs. W. W. Wilder.



Say what you like, preach what you like, teach what you like—nevertheless, children are bound to play in streets. Youth is reckless, youth is care-free, and accordingly does not take time to reason out possible dangers.

A ball suddenly rolls out into the street and the youthful player starts after it regardless of what might happen. His one ambition is to get that ball and get it back into the playing field before the runner can advance too far. The man driving an automobile should take into consideration these possibilities, and wherever children are playing in lots, school yards, or elsewhere, care should be taken while passing these premises.

I'll bet dollars to doughnuts you will never regret doing so.

LOW DOWN from HICKORY GROVE

I don't very often read enough to strain my eyes an awful lot, but I do try to kinda half-way keep up on politics. And the reason I like to read something now and then, on politics, is because it is most always good comedy.

And if you like jokes, you will go a long ways to find places where they are better than in our Capital.

And you will read where one cabinet member is tellin' us to lay-off plantin' so much—and solve the over-production farm problems. And another cabinet member he is goin' pell-mell here and there, promotin' dams for more water to give us new acres and bigger crops.

And so it is hard to savvy, how any farmer can plant less and also plant more, at the same time, and it looks as if the fellers sponsorin' these great plants, they maybe never meant for anybody to take 'em too serious, in the first place. And anybody doin' so, it is quite a good joke on them—like lookin' under the shell and findin' no pea— and the other feller has our two-bits, or is maybe re-elected.

Yaurs with the low down,
JO SERA

VOL. LII. (52 YEARS) (In the St. Joe Valley) ST. JOE, DeKALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1937 NUMBER 43

REV. WALTER HOLLOPETER DIES IN ALLEN COUNTY

The Rev. Walter M. Hollopeter, aged 69, retired Methodist Episcopal minister, died at 2 A. M. Friday at his home on the Locust Lodge Farm on the Hollopeter Road, just off State Road No. 427 in Allen County between Auburn and Fort Wayne. The pastor, who was retired in 1933 after entering the ministry in 1901, had been in failing health nearly two years.

Funeral services were held Monday at 2 P. M. in the First M. E. Church in Auburn. Dr. Fremont E. Fribley, of Fort Wayne, superintendent of the Fort Wayne M. E. District, officiated, assisted by Dr. M. C. Wright, pastor of the Auburn Church.

Was Supplying Auburn Circuit

The Rev. Mr. Hollopeter was serving as supply pastor of the Auburn circuit, comprising the Meese and Norris Chapels at the time of his death. He was born March 6, 1868, on the farm where he died. His father was the late Capt. William Hollopeter.

The minister served M. E. Charges in the order listed: Topeka, Wakarusa, Avilla, Wolcottville, Bourbon, Pennville, Cambridge City, Noble Street Church at Anderson, Kingsland, Woodburn, Scipio, St. Joe, Taylor, Ray, Ashley and the Auburn Circuit.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Alice Raymer Hollopeter; four sisters, Mrs. Otie Carnahan, of Huntertown; Mrs. Belle Fitch, of near Garrett; Mrs. Gertrude Carnahan, of near Auburn, and Mrs. Grace Rudles, of Hudson, and a brother, the Rev. Charles C. Hollopeter, a retired minister of Warsaw.

LEGION NOTES

The American Legion Post No. 283 met at the home of Comrade Paul Perry Tuesday evening, nineteen members being present. After an informal business meeting, a lunch of doughnuts, and individual pumpkin pies with coffee or cider was served by Comrades Perry and Bassett.

At present the Post membership is 33 which is 132% of the quota for 1938.

The Post and Auxiliary will not hold their Halloween party as stated in an earlier issue.

A joint meeting with the Auxiliary on the evening of Nov. 11th. Pot luck lunch will be served.

The Post will meet at the Legion Home on Nov. 10th at 6:30 P. M. and go to Fort Wayne in a body to participate in the Fourth District Legion Parade which will be formed south of the Wabash Railroad facing Clinton Street. The parade will form at 8:15 P. M. and start at 8:30.

All colors will be paraded unfurled. The route is short and all participants will march as no cars will be permitted in the parade.

Post 47 will dedicate their new Home in the 200 block on West Wayne Street and will hold open house for all visiting Legionnaires and Auxiliaries.

All Legionnaires of Post 283 are urged to be present and participate in this parade, the date is Nov. 10th and the time is 8:15 P. M.

MONDAY FIRST DAY FOR DUCK HUNTERS

Indiana's thirty-day open season for duck hunting begins Monday morning (Nov. 1) at seven o'clock, Central Standard Time, Virgil M. Simmons, commissioner of the Department of Conservation, reminded Hoosier sportsmen today. Ducks of the species on which there is an open season, geese, brant and coot may be taken only between the hours of seven o'clock in the morning and four o'clock in the afternoon.

During the past ten days the flight of migratory waterfowl has increased steadily and thousands of ducks and geese are reported on lakes and streams throughout the state, chiefly in the lake region of Northern Indiana. Durng the past week ducks were reported from varous sections of Southern Indiana and a number have been seen on the artificial lakes created in state parks, forests and game preserves.

There is no open season in Indana on Ross' goose, wood duck, canvasback duck, redhead duck, ruddy duck, bufflehead duck, swans and mourning doves. All hunters eighteen years of age and over taking ducks, geese and brant must carry a Federal Duck Stamp while all hunters, regardless of age, must have an Indiana hunting license.

Indiana game wardens will again cooperate with the Federal Game Protectors in checking licenses of migratory waterfowl hunters and seeing that both state and federal regulations are observed.

At a recent meeting of the Conservation Club, the members discussed the necessity of reporting all known violations and all agreed that it should be done.

Given Real Serenading

Four young couples were given their marriage serenade Monday evening by a group from the community. Several cars were in the group and the young folks were taken to all the nearby towns. Those in whose honor the event was being staged included: Clayton Baker and wife, Robert Sechler and wife, Ted Strouse and wife, and Ora Pattee and wife, the latter couple having been married Sunday at the home of Rev. H. K. Schondelmayer at Macy, Ind. The young folks had a good time and they all have the best wishes of The News.

ENTERTAIN NEWLYWEDS IN FORT WAYNE HOME

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Draggoo of Fort Wayne, entertained Sunday in honor of their daughter, Grace, who was married to James P. Youpa, of Los Angeles, Calif., September twenty-fifth. They were united in marriage in a lovely church ceremony at Alpha, New Jersey, the home of the bridegroom's parents.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, W. E. Draggoo, of Morristown, N. J., and was attended by the bridegroom's sister, Miss Mary Youpa as maid of honor. The bride wore a gown of white brocaded velvet with a court train veil, and carried white roses and lilies of the valley. Her maid of honor wore an aquamarine moire princess style gown and carried Talisman roses. The bridesmaids wore peach moire princess style gowns with silver accessories and carried pink roses.

The guests in the Draggoo home Sunday, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Youpa, enjoyed a bountiful pot luck dinner. Those present were: Mrs. Mary Bartlett, Mrs. Gilbert Keller and two children of Fort Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Grant Keller of Butler; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Jornson, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Draggoo, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Draggoo and daughter, Sally, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Draggoo and son, James, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Koch, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson of Concord; Mr. and Mrs. Kent Provines and family of Auburn, including their son, Hubert, who had recently returned from Burns, Oregon; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Baker and son, Billy, Mr. Ivan Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. William Miller of Spencerville; Mrs. John Geisinger of Garrett; Miss Alice Baker of the St. Joseph's Hosiptal and Miss Josephine Fisher of the Methodist Hospital in Ft. Wayne.

Mr. and Mrs. Youpa received many lovely gifts and best wishes and congratulations from their many friends and relatives. After two weeks of visiting with relatives the couple will go to Los Angeles where Mr. Youpa is engaged in the automobile business.

The former Miss Draggoo was an honor graduate from Reading High School, Reading, Mich., and later graduated from the Cleary Business College at Ypsilanti, Mich. Mr. Youpa is a graduate from the Frank Wiggins Trade School of Los Angeles, California.

ANOTHER DEKALB COUNTY FARMER TO EXHIBIT

A. J. Moore, a well known DeKalb County purebred sheep breeder, will exhibit a show flock of 16 head at the 1937 International Live Stock Exposition, to be held at the Chicago Stock Yards November 27 to December 4.

Mr. Moore sends word that he is fitting an exhibition flock of purebred Shropshires on his farm near Butler for the contests of this breed. The exposition will mark its 38th anniversary this year.

The management announces that farm youths will attend this show from nearly every state in the Union. They will be here taking part in the contests of the annual National 4-H Club Congress, which will be held for thee 16th time in connection with the live stock show.

The 19th International Grain and Hay Show will be another feature of the exposition. Entires have already been received for this event from growers in numerous states, several provinces of Canada, and from countries in nearly every part of the world where crop production is of major importance.

TO SERVE 60 DAYS AT STATE PENAL FARM

Elgin Curie of St. Joe, will be required to serve sixty days at the state farm as a result of an order entered in the DeKalb circuit court Monday.

Curie was tried Oct. 4 on a charge of assault and battery on his mother, who testified that he was rough with her while he was intoxicated. The jury returned a verdict of guilty, with a six months' sentence, but recommended that the sentence be suspended.

Judge Endicott concluded that Curie should serve some time at the state farm, but that six months was too severe a sentence. By agreement a motion for a new trial was sustained. Then the defendant entered a plea of guilty and the sentence of sixty days was imposed. Curie was also fined $1 and the costs.

Wm. H. Husselman, prosecuting attorney, represented the state, with Atkinson & Sanders acting as counsel for the defendant.

PLANNED A COMPLETE SURPRISE FOR MOTHER

Harry Randall and wife of Chicago, arrived Saturday evening to be guests of his mother, Mrs. Wm. Randall over Sunday. Before they arrived they had made plans for a real surprise for his mother on Sunday. Contacting all the relatives possible, they began to arrive in due time as per schedule. Before the two Mrs. Randalls had left Sunday morning for a country drive a car of relatives arrived and they made excuse that they only stopped to say hello, as they were on their way to Hicksville for the day, and would be back at 4 o'clock. When the ladies returned from the country the yard was full of cars, as far away as New York.

Mrs. Randall became concerned about the dinner when she saw the cars, but when she entered the house, the table was fairly groaning with a pot luck dinner then, of course, her worries were at an end.

The surprise was so complete that she has been living on the pleasant memories of the day ever since.

The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Roy Collar Walton of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Connie Feist and three children of Fort Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Pinchon and granddaughter of Fremont, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Parker, Pleasant Lake, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pinchon, Mr. A. B. Pinchon, Mrs. Chas. Emeheiser of Albion; Mr. and Mrs. James Pendry and three children, Mr. and Mrs. Biglow Ramp of Columbia City, Ind., and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Randall of Chicago, Ill.

AUBURN LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

Furnished by
Ward Jackman, Sec.-Treas.

Total receipts at the local yards were about 100 head short of last week most of the falling off was in the sheep department. There seemed to be a little slowness in bidding, however, on the whole prices were fully steady to strong compared to last week's sale.

Hogs: 200 to 225 pounds, $9.80; 160 to 180, $9.95. Roughs $8.40 with a very liberal sort. Boars $46.20 down the top going to the heavy weights. Feeder pigs remain high in spite of the drop in finished hog prices.

Veals: The top in the veal department this week was $12.30 for select calves averaging 200 pounds.

Sheep: Top lambs changed hands at $9.40 with buck lambs $1.00 lower than tops. Fat ewes $3.00 to $3.65. Bucks are mostly selling by the head with a raise of about $1.00 per week.

Cattle: There was a noticable up trend of prices and bidding in the cattle department this week. Butcher cows sold 25c higher plenty of the better kinds bringing well above $5.00 per cwt. The top cow sold for $5.65 with thin shells as low as $3.00. Grass steers $8.00 with heifers of like quality at from $6.00 to $7.80. Bulls $5.60 to $6.20.

MERCHANTS PLAN FOR BIG DAY SATURDAY

Because of the Auction Sale next Saturday of the entire stock of the Curie Hardware, St. Joe merchants are offering special inducements for people to come to St. Joe and trade.

Read the ads in this issue of The News and be convinced that you should trade here. The stocks are all clean merchandise and customers will find it a real pleasure to patronize St. Joe merchants.

The Commentator for November, edited by Lowell Thomas, is now on sale at The News Stand. 41tf.

OCTOBER

PROTECT those Bright eyes

WITH LIGHT CONDITIONING

THOSE baby eyes have a lot of trouble ahead of them if someone doesn't help protect them from eye-strain. Light conditioning is the modern, scientific way to provide sight-saving light in your home. Buy an I. E. S. Better Sight lamp and put it where there is the greatest need for good lighting, as a test. Think of your family's future — avoid the dangers and discomforts of eye-strain. Good light costs less today than ever before.

Possibly the nations of the world would get better results if they would hold a conference for the limitation of dictators.

Everything may not come to the man who waits, but it does to the man who hustles out and meets it half way.

There are always two sides to every question that you are not particularly interested in.

You may not know it, but fewer accidents are caused by traffic jams than by pickled drivers.

KEEP THIS IN MIND

Every newspaper in the country feels it would be remiss in its duty to its readers if it neglected along about this time each year to sound a warning against that deadly enemy of the motoring world—carbon monoxide gas. The warning is now timely, even though it may be sounded in words with which our local motorists are familiar.

To those ignorant of the deadly menace, it may be said that carbon monoxide is nothing more than the exhaust from an auto engine. In summer, when temperatures are high, the gas passes into the air unnoticed and with no damaging effect. During fall and winter months, however, when temperatures are low, the gas hangs in the air and its fumes, breathed into the lungs, has a deadly effect. If your engine is running out in the open air, then there is no material danger. But if you start your motor in a closed garage, or permit it to run in a garage whose windows and doors are closed, then your chance of escaping death is reduced to a mighty narrow margin.

Carbon monoxide is the most deadly of all known gases and the annual toll of death directly due to it in this country runs into the thousands every year. But one positive and absolute protection from it exists. Never start your motor during the fall or winter in a closed garage. Be sure the doors or windows are open before you step on the starter, and then do not permit the motor to continue running indoors any longer than necessary. Back the car into the open. You are taking your life in your hands when you follow any other course.

WILD OR MILD?

The returns now seem to be in, and it looks like a tie. About half of the country's amateur weather prophets are forecasting another long, hard winter like the nation shivered thru two years ago, while the other half contends that time-tried and long-tested signs all indicate it is going to be both short and balmy.

One half says the squirrels are storing more nuts than usual, and that means a hard winter; the other half contends wild duck and geese did not start South as early this fall, and that means a mild, open season. Some of them contend husks on the nation's bumper corn crop are thicker than they normally are, which indicates plenty of snow and ice ahead; others assert that moss is almost absent from the North sides of forest trees, and that mild winters invariably follow this condition.

And so they go, these amateur prophets of joy and gloom, about evenly divided in their forecasts of what kind of winter lies ahead. As long as they are evenly divided there is always the chance, of course, that half of them are bound to be right. But the average citizen around St. Joe isn't being fooled by their predictions. He is putting his house in order for whatever comes. If it is a mild season, he will be thankful. If it is a severe one, he is prepared to make the best of it. The only thing ahead that he looks forward to with dread is the coming of spring, when at least one-half of these amateur weather prophets will be chirping: "I told you so."

A BLOW AT WAR

When officials of over 300 big insurance companies gathered in London recently and resolved that henceforth no losses will be paid on property damaged through war, uprisings or revolutions, it was the hardest blow ever struck at war. They assert that if big business realizes it is not going to have its properties and munitions stocks and war supplies protected, then there isn't going to be enough profit in war to warrant the gamble. And that is the way of a lot of citizens around these diggings have long felt about it. Take the profits out of war and the chance of starting one will be greatly lessened. When war begins to flatten instead of fatten pocketbooks, there will be a more general demand for peace. The insurance men have hit the old God of War an awful rap, and humanity owes them a debt of gratitude for doing so.

MORE MACHINES

A news report out of Chicago is to the effect that every corn-picking machine that was on the market was sold this year and that the manufacturers say they could have sold ten times as many if they had produced them. Of course, there was a bumper corn crop to be handled. Then, too, there was a scarcity of farm labor—let it be said to the shame of a country with such a vast army of unemployed. The new device that gathers the ears, husks them and then loads them onto a truck may be the means of solving the farm labor shortage in the future. Many DeKalb County citizens, however, probably will take a more pessimistic view of it. They will wonder if this newest labor-saving device will not, on the other hand, create a still greater army of unemployed for the taxpayers of the country to take care of. If so, then the corn-picker will turn out to be a burden instead of a blessing. But if the farmer cannot get sufficient help to take care of his crops he must resort to the machine way of farming.

WHY JUNK IT?

This day in time when it's stylish to be thrifty and the practice of economy is among our greatest virtues it's hard to understand why so many are wasting when there is no occasion for it. For instance, take the housewife who hauls out perfectly good furniture, a stove or other pieces of household goods that are still serviceable and stacks the same away in cellar, attic, garage or barn when someone in the community would be glad to have it at a reasonable price. Or the farmer who does the same thing when he replaces old imimplements with new. Is that economy? There are folks right around here who would be glad to get such things if you would tell them about it. And it would cost but a few cents to tell them—and sell them—through the columns of this paper. You would not only be doing a real service to someone who could not afford to buy the articles new that you are practically throwing away, but it would net you a few dollars at the same time. It certainly will beat junking the things that are still serviceable to someone.

JOHN BROWN'S PAY CHECK

According to an article by Frank R. Kent, current slackening of government borrowing is a deceiving phenomenon. Instead of borrowing directly from the banks or the people through the issuance of bonds, the government has now adopted a policy of spending the funds supposedly placed in trust with the government, by the people, under the Social Security act. In other words, the money which is taken out of John Brown's weekly pay check, and which the government has promised to set aside to care for him in old age or when he is unemployed, is prompty being dumped into the public treasury for general expenses!

The public treasury has simply become a vast and seemingly bottomless grab-bag. Politicians seeking to perpetuate themselves in office gleefully ply the treasury for money, and more money—money that is spent on everything from out-houses to cash registers. For the first 44 days of the current fiscal year the government spent $954,805,183.94; its receipts were $675,375,562.55; deficit, $279,429,621.39.

What will become of John Brown's hard earned savings if such a policy is continued for long? What do you think?

HOME BUREAU

Mrs. Laura Washler entertained the Concord Township Home Bureau at her home last Friday. There were fifteen members present who responded to roll call with their favorite song. A round table was conducted by Mrs. Iva Yeiser each member describing their wedding dress. A playlet entitled, "To Market, To Market" was given under direction of Mrs. Pugsley, those in the playlet being Mrs. Pugsley, Mrs. Borthwick and Mrs. Foltz.

The project lesson was given by Mrs. Millie Shull and Mrs. Clara Foltz, the subject being vegetable cookery. Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Washler, assisted by her committee composed of Mrs. Mary Washler, Mrs. Vada Wyatt and Mrs. Linnie Thorpe. Guests present were Mrs. Neva Jennings, Mrs. Helen Schondelmayer and Miss Garnet Washler.

In September the home Bureau was entertained at the home of Mrs. Helen U. Wade, assisting her that day were Mrs. Tena Engle, Mrs. Harriett Draggoo and Mrs. Bird Nichols.

The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Dessie Hurni, Mrs. Anna Hursey being hostess and chairman. The program in charge of Mrs. Dorothea Kessler will be a Thanksgiving program combined with a memorial program in honor of Virginia Meredith, founder of the Home Bureau Clubs.

The young people who gave the play, "It Can't Be Done,' in June at the local Farm Bureau meeting, and those who made the rounds of the Township Farm Bureau meetings over the County in October, were entertained to dinner Sunday at the home of Mrs. H. C. Borthwick, Concord Township Social and Educational Director, who also directed the play. Those present were Louise Sechler, Gwenevere Jenkins, Iris Wilmot, Dean Kees and Charles Hart. Virginia Poper being unable to be present.

Safetygrams

Safety education is a very important item in our schools today. It should be taught to all classes. Teaching or preaching safety, however, is not enough. If the only thing a child gets out of safety educaton is a bundle of facts that he can recite to the teacher or visitors, I don' believe we have taught him a thing. He must "do" what he is being taught—he must do what people preach to him. A famous author once said "I have quit trying to be good, but I have not quit trying to do good."

That is the thought. Cultivate safe habits in the children through safety education. Safety education must, of course, be based on intelligence, facts, and ideals, but it must have coupled with that desirable and safe habits.

Safety education is a conception of life or a state of mind. It must, however, at the same time create a machine or a thought for building efficient and safe conduct.

JO SERRA SEES OREGON

We been takin' a little trip, and this time we got out there into Oregon and saw some of that burned rock and lava down there around Bend. And then we headed for the Pacific, and on the way over stretched our stomachs on McMinnville melons, before amblin' down into sunny California. And the redwood trees you see there, they are the oldest living thing in the world—that is what Mrs. Jo read about 'em.

And it was a fine trip, and it didn't cost one-half as much as if you was to put in your time around some night club, and feel like a sucker the next day.

And anybody who has not been out there, they better start savin' up on one of these plans where you put so much a month in the bank for a travel or Christmas fund. And we have seen politicians, here and there, pointin' a finger and growlin' at the bankers, but if we was to just depend on the big talkers for our trips—and had no savings plans or banks—we would not get far off our front porch.

LOW DOWN from HICKORY GROVE

Little towns tryin' to get to be big towns, and big towns tryin to be even bigger places, they are everywhere. And Philadelphia, she is breakin' her neck to catch up with Chicago. And N. Y., she is lookin at London. But if San Francisco was to get to be bigger than Cleveland or vice versa, I cannot see what good it could do—except the Secy. of the Commercial Club could keep his job, or maybe more people have nervous prostration.

And I was readin' where a little town in California, it says it is determined to keep on bein' little. And this place, if this news gets out, it may have its hands full doin' so, so I will not tell its name.

But this little place, boy, I saw it, and it will intrigue you with the ocean on one side and stylish little stores—it is pretty as a picture. And it has no lunch clubs—and if a person has a tuxedo and feels that ht has gotta intuxedo and feels that he has gotta inwhere.

A town that is proud of bein' quiet and little, that is news—bigger even, than bitin' a dog.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA.

ST. JOE NEWS.

ST. JOE, DeKALB COUNTY, INDIANA. THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1937 NUMBER 41

VOL. LII. (52 YEARS) (In the St. Joe Valley)

LEGION AUXILIARY NOTES

Walter Whitehurst American Legion Auxiliary Unit Number 283 meets on every second and fourth night of each month at 7:30 o'clock in the Legion rooms of the K. of P. Hall in St. Joe.

Regular meeting next Tuesday nite, November 9 at 7:30 in our Legion rooms in K. of P. Hall. Every member is urged to attend.

On Nov. 10th several Auxiliary members will take part in the Armistice parade to be held in Ft. Wayne. For further information about this ask some member of the Post or an Auxiliary member.

On Nov. 11 the Auxiliary and Post will hold their annual pot luck supper together to celebrate Armistice Day. This is for every Post man and his family and for every Auxiliary member and her family. Come and help make this a pleasant evening for those boys that made an Armistice Day.

On the morning of Nov. 11 the American Legion are planning to hold services in connection with all school children. A more definite program will be announced in next week's paper. Every person will be invited to attend these services.

We still lack a few members to reach our membership goal. Have you paid your 1938 dues?

A box of funny papers, jigsaw puzzles, magazines, and Sunday School papers was sent last week to the Soldiers and Sailors Orphanage a t Knightstown, Ind.

A box of old silk and carpet rags and magazines was sent to the Veterans Hospital at Marion, Ind.

We appreciate so many people in the community making these boxes possible for us to send.

Congratulations to our American Legion Post on their fine showing in membership for 1938. More power to you.

One day next week members of the Auxiliary will clean their Legion rooms.

Remember your dues are due.

HIGHWAY SUPERINTENDENT MAKES HIS REPORT

In the completion of its highway program for 1937, the county is grading the road east of Coburntown, starting at State Road 1 and extending five and a half miles to the Ohio line, County Supervisor Clark F. Scholes reports.

The work of putting gravel on the Auburn-Ashley Road north of State Road 6 is being finished and it is expected that blacktop will be applied next year.

The north end of the Shumaker Road in Smithfield Township for a distance of four and a quarter miles will be graveled this fall and winter.

The road west from Altona to the Noble County Line is being scarified and the roadbed will be rebuilt. The County Line Road east of Ashley has been graveled.

Mr. Scholes states that the County repaired eight bridges this year.

The state recently took over the road beginning at the intersection of Nos. 1 and 8 and running through this county six miles to the Allen County Line, making it part of Route No. 101.

HOME BUREAU PRESIDENTS ENTERTAINED IN AUBURN

The Township Home Bureau Club presidents for the past two years were entertained at a luncheon Thursday noon, Oct. 28, at the home of the county president, Mrs. Fanny Boger. Twenty-five ladies from every corner of the county were present at 12 noon when all wended their way to the basement which was decorated to fit the Halloween season. During the luncheon hour Mrs. June Davis, county chorus leader, entertained with several accordion selections.

The primary purpose of the luncheon was to get all the local township presidents together in order to hold the annual election of county officers. An entirely new set-up will be initiated for 1938 inasmuch as the constitution reads that no county officer shall serve more than two consecutive years. All present officers have served their allotted time and appeared very happy to hand their controlling powers over to the new officers. The election resulted as follows:

Mrs. Alma Diehl, Butler, president.

Mrs. Eldith Davis, Garrett, vice president.

Mrs. Gladys DePew, Auburn, secretary-treasurer.

Those attending the luncheon were: Mrs. Harry Shull, Mrs. Clarence McClintock, Mrs. Walter DePew, Mrs. Minnie Linton, Mrs. Doris Cline, Mrs. Roy Robbins, Mrs. Zantha Snyder, Mrs. Laura Husselman, Mrs. Nellie Kimmell, Mrs. Marie Shoemaker, Mrs. Eva Miller, Mrs. Ada Farrington, Mrs. Sarah Dannenburg, Mrs. Edith Davis, Mrs. Alma Diehl, Mrs. Martha Deets, Mrs. Gertrude Borthwick, Mrs. Gladys Murphy, Mrs. Olive Tustison, Mrs. Zona Abel, Mrs. Mattie Kepler, Mrs. June Davis, Mrs. T. E. Myers, Mrs. J. S. Varner and Mrs. Boger. Mrs. Harry Foster attended the afternoon meeting.

Those assisting Mrs. Boger with the luncheon were Mrs. Myers and Mrs. Varner.

SCHOOL NEWS

The hot lunch service started at the school on Monday of this week. An opportunity is offered to pupils to supplement the home lunch with one warm dish or to buy the entire lunch.

Because of ill health Rose Ayers and Ruth Donley have found it necessary to withdraw from the high school.

Manchester Tests

Teachers in grades four to eight have been administering the Manchester unit tests as provided by the County Board of Education. Reports of scores in arithmetic and reading are reported to the county superintendent's office, tabulated there, and reports are sent back to the schools so that it can be seen how classes rank as compared with other schools in the county.

The athletic council is making plans for the opening of the basketball season. Watch for their announcement next week just before the first home game which will be played on Friday evening, Nov. 12 with Scott Center.

Coach Harry Bollinger and his basketball squad are planning to attend a basketball clinic in Ft. Wayne. This clinic is sponsored by Northeastern Indiana Athletic Officials and will be conducted by Coach Bob Nulf, of North Side High School and a college coach, who will be in attendance. Interpretations of new basketball rules will be discussed and illustrated at this meeting.

DeVere Woodcox and Carl Goodwin visited high school classes one afternoon last week.

Virginia Poper and Donna Hindman were not in school on Monday afternoon.

Parents Meeting

A "Parents Meeting" for parents of pupils of grades seven to twelve will be held in the school gymnasium on Thursday afternoon of this week. Come at three o'colck. Mrs. Grover Curie will be in charge. This is an activity of the P. T A. "Parents Meetings" will be held for other rooms a little later.

FORMER ST. JOE RESIDENT IN AUTO CRASH

Oscar J. Burnier, residing at 219 West Nineteenth Street, Auburn, was injured Saturday afternoon in an automobile collision at the intersection of Indiana Avenue and Twentieth St., and was removed to the Dr. J. A. Sanders Hospital. Frank Ramsey, of Auburn Junction, received cuts and scratches on the face. He was given first aid at the hospital and was able to return home.

Mr. Burnier is suffering principally from shock. His lower left jaw is injured and he may have a concussion.

Mr. Burnier was driving east on Twentieth Street and Mr. Ramsey was going south on Indiana Avenue when the two cars came together at the intersection. The left front end of Mr. Burnier's car was damaged.

PHEASANT, QUAIL AND RABBIT HUNTING WILL BEGIN NOUEMBER 10th- :-: :-:

Hunting Season Information

QUAIL—Open season starts Wednesday, November 10, 1937, and ends, Monday, December 20, bag limit, 10 quails per day; possession limit, thirty quail.

PHEASANTS—Open season starts Nov. 10, ends Nov. 13, bag limit, two cock pheasants per day; possession limit, 4 cock birds. No open season on hen pheasants.

RABBITS—Open season starts Nov. 10, ends Jan. 10; bag limit 10 rabbits per day; possession limit 20 rabbits.

LICENSES—All persons must have a license to hunt in Indiana; except—owners of farm land, the spouse and children living with them who are residents of Indiana and tenants of farmland and the spouse and children living with them, when hunting on such land only.

PROTECTED—There is no open season on Prarie Chicken, Hen Pheasants, Wild Turkey, Ruffed Grouse, Chukar Partridge and Doves.

Thousands of Hoosier sportsmen will take to the field next Wednesday, (Nov. 10) in celebrating the opening of the hunting season on Pheasants, quail and rabbits, Virgil M. Simmons, commissioner of the Department of Conservation, predicted today. Reports indicate that game is more plentiful this year in practically every section of the state, while advance sales of hunting licenses have been unusually heavy.

This year Indiana has a four-day open season on cock pheasants—the season starting Nov. 10 and ending Nov. 13, with a daily bag limit of two birds and a possession limit of four. The quail season, beginning Nov. 10, extends to Dec. 20, with a bag limit of ten birds a day and a possession limit of thirty birds. The rabbit season, also starting Nov. 10, continues until Jan. 10, 1938, with a daily bag limit of ten and a possession limit of twenty at one time.

The open season on cock pheasants is the second that Hoosier sportsmen have enjoyed. In 1936 a three-day open season was held, the first since the Department of Conservation undertook the introduction of this game bird into the state. While many hunters failed to bag a pheasant during the three-day season, there were hundreds who did. Since the close of the 1936 hunting season, the Division of Fish and Game has liberated several thousand pheasants in suitable areas as a part of its general re-stocking program.

Quail hunting, has increased in popularity with Hoosier sportsmen in recent years due to the increased number of birds and more favorable hunting conditions. This year, on the basis of reports, should be one of the best bird hunting years that Indiana has enjoyed. A mild winter and good weather during the breeding season have combined with the stocking operations of the Division of Fish and Game to provide more birds.

Rabbits continue to provide the field sport for a great majority of Indiana hunters, due in part to their wide distribution over the state and their food value. According to information from wardens and local conservationists, there has been a substantial increase in the number of rabbits during the past year. Comparatively few areas are said to have a shortage of the cottontails.

All hunters should familiarize themselves with the Indiana laws regulating hunting and should prepare for the hunting season by securing a hunting license in advance of the opening day. Licenses can be secured from county clerks or at St. Joe News office, which is the local office and must be carried on the hunter's person. The only persons not required to have a hunting license are owners of farmland, living in this state, their wives and children living with such owner, when hunting on land belonging to such owner; and tenants of farmland, their wives and children living with such tenants, on the farm upon which he resides.

Other general hunting regulations provide:

It is unlawful to buy or sell any quail, pheasants, Hungarian partridge, wild turkey, ruffed grouse, prairie chicken, or chukar partridge, or for a restaurant or hotel keeper to serve the same as a part of a meal.

It is unlawful for any person to hunt, kill or shoot at any game bird, game animal or fur-bearing animal along, upon or across any public highway in this state.

It is unlawful to hunt, shoot or kill any wild rabbit with or by means of any spotlight, searchlight or other artificial light.

It is unlawful to use or possess a silencer or device used as a silencer for firearms while in the act of hunting.

It is unlawful to hunt, fish or trap on lands of another without permission.

Provision is also made by the law for the confiscation, upon conviction for violation of the hunting or other fish and game laws, of guns and other hunting, trapping or fishing appliances or devices.

A revised copy of the laws can be had while they last by calling at The News office.

Wardens To Enforce Regulations

Assignment of additional wardens to field duty during the pheasant, quail and rabbit hunting seasons was announced today.

These special wardens, transferred from their regular activities at state game preserves and fish hatcheries, will supplement the regular game warden force in all parts of the state and particularly in counties bordering on other states. Their instructions provide for a constant patrol of the territory to which they are assigned, the checking of all hunters to see that they have a valid hunting license and to enforce the laws on game and fish.

Special attention will be paid to nonresident hunters who flock into the border counties during the Indiana hunting season as a result of the better sport which this state affords. This is particularly true of quail hunting. All wardens wil be on the lookout for "meat" hunters, who attempt to turn the open season into a slaughterhouse and disregard bag and possession limits.

Assignment of additional wardens to field duty during the hunting season is a continuation of the policy of having extra wardens on the lakes and streams during the opening of the fishing season. Besides checking hunters for licenses and for any violation of the fish and game laws, the wardens will be available to provide information on hunting and fishing conditions in their territory.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

A birthday party was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Martin, in honor of Mrs. Martin's birthday.

The rooms were decorated with black and orange crepe paper which were very attractive.

A pot luck supper was served to the guests who were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. George Sommers, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Hook and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Fox and family, Mr. and Mrs. Argel Sechler and family, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Dickerhoff and family, Bert Gee, all of Hicksville, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fee, of Edgerton, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fee and daughter, Hamilton, Ind.; Mrs. William Gloy, Butler, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Martin, of Auburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Weicht, Mrs. Elizabeth Milliman, Mrs. Ernest Jenkins and grandson, Mrs. Harry Loucks and daughter, Mrs. Vessie Martin and son, Gordon, Joe Hull, Harvey Hull, Paul Perry, all of St. Joe; Mr. Edg Sommers, of Vincennes.

NUPTIALS

At high noon on Saturday, October 30th, at Hicksville, Ohio, Florence Worden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Worden, of Spencerville, Indiana, became the bride of Dale Trostel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abner Trostel, of St. Joe, Indiana.

The single ring ceremony was performed by Rev. H. B. Monroe, of Hicksville, Ohio.

The bride was lovely in midnight blue crepe dress with matching accessories.

The couple were attended by the bride's sister and brother, Rose and Charles Worden, and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Maxwell, of Toledo, Ohio.

Miss Rose Worden wore navy blue taffeta with brown accessories and Mrs. Maxwell wore wine toupe-shear with matching accessories.

The wedding dinner was served at 2 P. M. to friends and relatives of the bride and groom, at the home of the bride's parents.

The couple will be at home to their friends on the Powers farm east of St. Joe. The News extends congratulations.

GREATEST FARM SHOW SOON ON IN CHICAGO

America's renowned annual farm and live stock review, the International Live Stock Exposition, will be held at the Chicago Stock Yards November 27 to December 4. It will be the 38th anniversary of this premier agricultural event.

Entries for the live stock classes, which will include 80 different breeds, closed today. Although a final tabulation of entries has not yet been made, officials report that the total number of exhibits will equal if not surpass last year's showing which has an all-time record.

Scores of entries for the exposition's carlot livestock contests have been listed by stockmen from the central states and by ranchmen from the western range. These exhibits, totaling several thousand animals, will be quartered in open pens in the nearby stock yards.

Overhead walks will be constructed to enable visitors to view this huge showing of America's finest meat animals, the largest exhibition of its kind to be seen at any show in the world.

The left over stock of canned goods at the canning factory was completely disposed of Monday morning by 8:30 o'clock, according to Arthur Guilford. In this sale there were 700 cans of string beans, 1,000 cans of sweet corn, and 500 cans of tomatoes. Heretofore the selling of this stock took a longer time. Mr. Guilford stated the ad in The News sure brought the customers. People began to call before he was out of bed Monday morning.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

The members of the Ladies Literary Club, with their husbands, were royally entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Dilley last Wednesday evening.

It was a typical Halloween party with ghosts, pumpkin faces and all that goes with it.

The guests were told to follow their leaders and after going through dark places and walking on a walnut side walk they were greeted by a ghost and told to enter the place of meeting, which was the Dilley garage made into a Halloween bower.

They were asked to shake hands with the ghost queen and upon doing so received a slight shock which was very amusing. There was also a pumpkin face behind which was a blinker light which flashed on and off during the evening. There were many games and contests with which the crowd was constantly entertained. One of especial interest was the telling of a story by one of the ghosts, who told in a very ghostly manner of a bunch of friends dissecting her body and scattering the pieces in various places. The group was then divided and taken to the yard where they were to gather these parts and see which group found the most. The objects found were very interesting.

The whole party was in the nature of a hard times party. The guests were asked to come dressed in old clothes.

After the entertainment was over the committee served a delicious lunch consisting of chicken sandwiches, potato salad, pumpkin pie, doughnuts, coffee and cider. The lunch was served on pie pans and the napkins were scalloped squares of newspaper.

Guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bollinger and Allen Haller Jr.

The committee responsible for this joyous party was: Thelma Baker, Katherine Haller, Agnes Monroe, Mary Carpenter, Elizabeth Jones, Violet May and Mary Wilbern with James Monroe acting as the electrician.

HALLOWEEN SURPRISE

The Ladies of the Culture Club were entertained last Wednesday evening in a Halloween Surprise at the home of Mrs. Fred E. Hart, a former member of the Club.

At seven P. M. the ladies started on a pleasant moonlight ride through country roads, none but the committee knowing their destination. After many side trips they arrived at Coburn Corners, where all were certain the meeting was to be with Mrs. Carpenter, (who was in the party,) but when the drivers turned south all were delighted to know they would have one more meeting with Mrs. Hart. The committee had planned a Hard-time Party, the ladies to be clad in worn out garments of every description. Needless to say the order was carried out by each and every one.

The rooms were decorated with bitter sweet, pumpkins, witches and black cats in keeping with the occasion.

Many games and Halloween stunts were enjoyed throughout the evening. Finally at the ringing of a bell and a call to "come and get it" the guests marched to the dining room, where they found the table beautifully decorated with orange crepe paper, a black bowl of golden bitter sweet and black candles in yellow candle sticks. On the seventeen plates were served home baked beans, corn bread, made from meal ground by the old water mill in Spring Mill State Park, and a salad. Coffee was poured by the hostess.

The ladies left at a late hour thanking Mrs. Hart and the committee for a grand time. The commitee in charge of entertainment was Mesdames Geo. Hart, Paul Carpenter and Glen Wineland. For refreshments Mesdames Will Hamilton, Roy Reidenbach and the hostess.

One of the Group.

You can safely bet on the success of a girl's wedding if she starts her married life with more kitchen aprons than lounging robes.

Ever notice how much quicker a job is done when everybody connected with it minds his own business?

After all, gold is a useless metal. About all it is good for is to plug teeth and torment fools.

Beloved of all citizens is the man who can admit he is wrong without sulking or prove the other fellow is wrong without gloating over it.

Another trouble with the world is too many people make their joys mere incidents and their sorrows great events.

Why is it people will use money they haven't earned to buy things they don't need just to impress people they don't know?

You may not know it, but many a St. Joe man wishes he knew as much as his wife thinks he does.

Ever notice that about the time a fellow gets old enough to realize the necessity for making hay it starts in to rain?

What you get for what you pay is a lot more important than what you pay for what you get.

In the old days someone used the jawbone of an ass to end a war but nowadays it's the jawbone of an ass that usually starts one.

There are plenty of ways to make a living without working, but most of them won't work.

Wonder how many people around St. Joe ever pause to consider that they belong to the generation that their parents worried about.

Most girls want to marry an economical man but few of them like to be courted by that kind.

THE RURAL CHURCH

Writing in a national farm publication an Iowa church official issues a note of warning to the congregations of rural churches thorughout the U. S. It is a warning that fits right in with conditions in quite a few rural church congregations in DeKalb County in many respects, and one that the members of those congregations will do well to ponder over.

He says many things have appeared in recent years to weaken the militancy of the average rural church and that, instead of seeking ways and means to combat conditions, they are sitting idly by, doing nothing and thereby hastening the day when it may be necessary to disband the congregation through lack of interest. He mentions the auto, the Sunday picture show and numerous other attractions. Insofar as the older members are concerned, he points out, these have little tendency to cause non-attendance. It is among the younger generation—the generation to which the church must look for its future membership and strength—that the new interests are proving most dangerous. He cites figures to show that young people in the rural districts are losing interest in church affairs more and more each year and he also offers statistics to show that the annual increase in membership of the rural church is not in proportion to what it was 20 years ago.

But, and this is also interesting, he says there is a remedy. "Rural churches must cater more to the young folks," he declares. He suggests the organization of more boy and girl clubs within the church, and an increased interest on the part of older members in youthful activities; more social affairs in which the young can participate; more life and "pep" in the church organizations already functioning. That, he contends, will save the rural church when nothing else will, and it would be a good idea if the officials of every rural church in the country to give this argument a little study.

BACK-SEAT DRIVING

If you are among those St. Joe citizens who contend that men drive autos better than women and that the back-seat driver is a nuisance that ought to be eradicated, here is food for thought.

"Next time the Missus leans over the back seat and says: 'John, don't go so fast,' or 'Charlie you almost hit that truck,' don't let it get you," says Dr. Harry DeSilva of the Harvard University Traffic School. "Back-seat driving is really a help and not a hindrance," asserts this safety expert. He cites as proof the fact that there are more accident among cars which do not have back-seat drivers than in cars that do, his figures being based on tests made among 150,000 cars in 15 different parts of the United States. He alos asserts that while the survey reveals that women may not be as good drivers as men, they have fewer accidents because while women drivers have some bad characteristics they are, on the whole, more careful than men when operating a car.

The expert's decision may not be generally accepted by the male drivers of this community, but it will certainly give the female drivers cause for doing a little crowing. The question as to whether or not women drive as well as men in all probability will never be settled. But the Harvard safety expert has settled it so far as the women are concerned, whether he was trying to do so or not.

THIS MAY SPREAD

Commissioners of St. Joseph County, Indiana, have recently tried a novel stunt and one that could be used around DeKalb County, to good advantage. They have given every road in the county a name, with signs at each intersection bearing the names of the highway intersected. Then they have numbered each farm house along each road, painting the number on the farmers front gate, above his front door or on his mail box. Now when one sets out to find a farm house in that county all he needs to know is what road it is on and the house number. No more asking for directions and getting information about like this: "Go down the road about three miles, turn right at the second road, not counting the dirt lane just beyond the foundation of the old school house, then go about half a mile, turn left, pass a farm with a windmill," etc. The new system promises to do away with all that, and since it can be worked out in one county just as well as in another there is hope that, eventually, it may become general all over the United States.

LITTLE LIVES

More than twenty million children are now at their school desks in this country, and upon that part of our adult population driving motor vehicles there has been placed the responsibility of guarding the lives of these boys and girls as they travel to and from school. The wise motorist, as every citizen of St. Joe who operates a car should already know, is one who exercises the utmost care not only in the vicinity of school buildings, but along the route taken in school attendance. Immature minds cannot realise the extent of the danger existing on our highways today. The motorist must do the thinking both for himself and the children. The safety of those little lives should be our first consideration. Always drive as if it were your own child on the road somewhere in front of you.

NOT A MIND-READER

Whatever he may be, the editor of your home-town newspaper is not a mind-reader. If you have visitors, if you are going visiting or if you have recently returned from one, he has no means of knowing it unless you tell him so. And the same is true of other happenings in which you and members of your family are directly interested. If there is sickness, or a marriage or a birth, a family reunion or a family celebration of any kind around your home it is of interest to your neighbors, but the editor of the paper cannot tell them about it unless you first tell him. He can't hire high-priced reporters to contact you, as do the big city papers. But he does meet you on the street occasionally, he does open his mail as fast as it arrives and he is always willing and anxious to answer his telephone calls. So bear these things in mind. Always remember that a lot of things that happen at your house are of interest to your neighbors but that, since the editor is not a mind-reader, the neighbors must go without such information unless you are thoughtful enough to see that the editor is informed.

MEANS LIVES

Through spreading knowledge of tuberculosis, its early symptoms, its prevention and its cure, the National Tuberculosis Association and subsidiaries have waged a relentless war.

Christmas Seals have paid for this war; they must continue to do so. Francis Bacon is credited with saying, "Knowledge is power." But knowledge is power only as it becomes widespread. That knowledge which is confined to a few closeted men or within books that are not read is inoperative.

Prevention work against tuberculosis was founded on the belief and dedicated to the conviction that knowledge is power indeed, and that it increases as it is spread. To the national and local groups, which have carried preventive knowledge forward, is to be credited much of the progress we have made in the war on the "great white plague."

There are many interesting facts on what has been accomplished and what remains to be done in tuberculosis. In the last thirty years 3,500,000 men, women and children have died of it in the United States. An additional 2,500,000 would have died during that time if the mortality rate of thirty years ago had continued to prevail.

In 1906 tuberculosis was the leading cause of death. Today it ranks seventh in order. But we cannot lose sight of the heavy toll which the disease continues to exact. It is first in importance because 60% of its deaths occur between the ages of 15 and 45, the age of greatest economic value. We must remember the vast amount of preventive work to be done, and when the Christmas Seals are placed on sale after Thanksgiving Day, buy liberally to finance this activity. It means lives.

THE PRICE OF SPEED

As everyone knows, speed is the great highway killer. The motorist who drives at an excessive rate endangers not only his own life, but those of everyone else on the public streets and roads. He can offer but one "excuse" for his conduct—that super-fast driving gets him to his destination sooner.

The truth is, the minutes we save by excessive speed are pitifully few in the the light of the risk involved. A short time ago a test was made in Chicago. A radio announcer was told to drive his car on an eight-mile trip through heavy traffic, observing not only every traffic regulation, but every rule of courtesy. At the same time, a police officer followed the same route under instructions to take every risk and reach the destination in the shortest possible time. Twenty-three minutes later the reckless driver pulled in at the stopping point. The safe, supposedly slow driver, who had taken no risks at all, got there exactly two minutes later.

We have all met the motorist who makes a trip in a length of time that required him to risk a hundred lives, and then spends twice the amount he saved over a normal, safe passage, boasting about it. None of us are so busy, none of us have so great a need for saving a few minutes or a few hours, that we can afford the "price of speed."

"Save ten minutes—take a life." That should be the motto of the driver who "opens her up" on every possible occasion. Speed and speed alone is the dominating factor in the great bulk of the nation's serious traffic accidents. Look at it from your own point of view and from a purely selfish standpoint—is it worth it?

CHECK UP THE OLD CAR

Time for the Autumn check-up of the family automobile in readiness for cold weather has arrived, according to R. A. Hayes, Ford Indianapolis Branch Mgr.

"The modern motor car does not need very elaborate preparation for cold weather," Mr. Hayes said, "but if the few things necessary are done it will probably save a good deal of bother later on."

"It is advisable now or within the next week or two to have the crankcase drained and lighter oil for winter use put in. This will relieve the battery of some of the strain of starting on cold mornings, and also will insure good lubrication of the motor right from the time it is started."

"A thorough job of chassis lubrication should be done, and the lubricant in the transmission and rear end changed to the proper lighter grade for winter use.

"The battery will be called on to bear a much heavier load in cold weather, because of greater effort required in starting and the use of lights during the long hours of winter darkness. It will be well to have the battery checked and replaced if there is any suspicion of its ability to do the job."

"Before putting in anti-freeze the radiator should be drained and well flushed out. When the anti-freeze is put in it may be advisable to use a rst inhibitor, which is inexpensive and will save radiator trouble later on. It may be necessary to replace radiator hose to prevent leakage of anti-freeze.

"Of course, if the car is sluggish and seems at all out of tune, it will be a good investment to take it to a competent firm and have it tuned. This will have an important effect on easy starting and on gasoline consumption when the weather is cold. It may be necessary to have the valves ground and carbon removed. Tires should be examined and if any are worn smooth they should be replaced to reduce skid hazard. Beyond these simple and inexpensive steps, the modern motor car needs no further attention for the winter season, if it is in reasonably good condition. If it is not in good condition, it would probably be wiser to trade it in for a really good used car or a new automobile, rather than attempt to get through the winter with a car that cannot be depended on."

The Way Towards Sound Recovery

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN

National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

In recent weeks America has heard and read frequent expressions of disappointment over the failure of many of its optimistic expectations to be fulfilled.

Despite numerous promises, unemployment remains an unsolved problem; the costs of living continue to rise; and productive enterprise has not measured up to anticipations.

In various fields confidence seems to lag.

Naturally America wonders why. Naturally it wonders just what Government can do to remedy these conditions and to renew that surge of energetic confidence on which our people once rode to heights of achievement and well-being.

The problem is a difficult one—but these facts seem apparent.

Government, by direct edict, cannot reduce the price of all necessities—but it can reduce such wastes as create high taxes, and with them high cost of living.

Government, by direct edict, cannot effectively increase production—but it can adopt an attitude of encouragement rather than discouragement of the productive enterprises on which recovery depends.

Government, by direct edict, cannot end unemployment—but it can stimulate, rather than burden, those job-creating activities which increase employment opportunities.

These things, as recent European history has proved, are not achieved by loading down a nation with confusing laws and multitudes of politically appointed job-holders.

They are, as American history has proved, achieved by encouraging that spirit of enterprise which enabled our people to conquer forest and desert, and to build the United States into the greatest, freest and most progressive nation on earth.

They are achieved by the American method of clearing the road to recovery—not by obstructing it.

Safetygrams
BY
FRED W. BRAUN
The Safety Man

"The accident was caused by the glaring lights of a passing automobile." So reads an accident report.

Every motorist in the country knows well what that statement means. It is Erving Venderley and Mrs. Walter Badark and a motorist driving carefully approaching car. From that instant, it is as if he were without eyes. He cannot see the road ahead, judge the speed, or decide definitely the position is suddenly blinded by the glare of an down or come to a stop, but in that of the approaching car. He may slow down or come to a stop, but in that time in his blindness he may drive off the road into a ditch or into a railing.

Courtesy is the answer to the elimination of these accidents. If all drivers would dim their lights, this glaring condition would be eliminated. It can be done if we all cooperate, and it is certainly our duty as citizens to protect the other fellow and be protected. Dim your lighs!

Thank you Mr. Moudy for this splendid testimonial as to the selling power of The News advertising column.

The farm bueràu meeting Tuesday night was quite well attended. The program as published featured music by a number of young folks over the Tri-Township. The buisness session was the election of officers which resulted in the election of Fred Hart as chairman for two years and M. E. Storer, as secretary and treasurer for two years. The "Chicken Lifters Convention" was put on by the Bureau employes out of the county office at Auburn, which provided amusement for the audience. All colored folks, they showed their knowledge of who in the Tri-Township were successful poultry raisers. Their program was made up of songs, dialogue and skits.

A very profitable missionary meeting was held Tuesday in the Lutheran Church, when the local society entertained a group from Butler, Albion and Kendallville, in their annual get together session. Interesting reviews of the study book, The Rural Church, were given by the St. Joe ladies. At the noon hour all enjoyed the wonderful pot luck luncheon provided by the local group and served in the church dining room. At this time Mrs. Kuhkle gave her report of the State Convention which was held in Indianapolis last month. A ladies trio furnished special music. Next Tuesday the St. Joe ladies will go to Butler to be entertained. These meetings are looked forward to with much pleasure by all the ladies.

GREAT REVIVAL IS ON AT NEWVILLE U. B. CHURCH

"If my people which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; THEN will I forgive their sin, and will heal their land." 2 Chronicles 7: 14.

This message given to Solomon over two centuries ago was the basis of Rev. P. A. Hubbartt's sermon at the United Brethren Church, Newville, where a Community Wide Bible Revival is on.

Ministers and laymen from every denomination are welcome for Mr. Hubbartt as pastor-evangelist, advances no creed but Christ, no law but love.

In last night's message he emphasized the fact that God's promises have a condition and in this meeting the condition is "IF MY PEOPLE SHALL HUMBLE THEMSELVES."

In brief: "If God doesn't mean what He says, why doesn't He say what He means?"

"If we do not love God above father, mother, sister or brother, we can not be His disciples."

"Man's 'buts' are sending souls to hell, 'But God' is giving life to all who accept the Lord Jesus and God's Word without these doubts and questions."

"Surface Gold is cheaper than ground gold, that which is dug from the earth."

Since coming to Newville, said Mr. Hubbartt, one day I went all alone with God asking Him to fill my soul, and He did, I could scarcely contain the blessing. One evangelist said I could only take His blessing by the spoonful, if He had given me a tablespoonful I could not have received it.

HERSCHEL CRECRAFT
Director of Music

"Optimists are having a hard time trying to explain increased crime, sex crime, church worldliness."

"If my people will humble themselves" is the answer, and kindly note "humility is not in the attitude, but in the heart."

Like Daniel we need to pray, "We have sinned," including ourselves. Martin Luther said, "I'll go to Rome if there are as many devils as tiles on the roof."

With this determination and the message of God's Word, let us go forward. The pastor closed the service with an appeal for united action in prayed and humility resulting in the majority coming forward for prayer.

Mrs. Hays sang a splendid number and will sing again during the series.

Dr. Homer R. Gettle, well known Christian business man of the Central West, will be a guest speaker, sharing the time with Mr. Hubbartt, time to be announced later.

Mrs. Elanore Johnson, will be present to give testimony of her being saved while in the Catholic Church as a girl. Her testimony does not savor of antagonism for the Catholic Church to-day, but rather brings out the good that she believes is in every denomination where the work of God and the blood of the Lord Jesus is preached.

Special sessions at 7:00 o'clock with the Juniors, Seniors and Adults will introduce each service in special songs, choruses and Bible quotations.

E. Herschel Crecraft, heard over WOWO is song leader, with Mrs. May Young at the piano.

Don't miss a night, there will be valued features you will enjoy.

Mr. Hubbartt and Crecraft, with Helen Schondelmayer at the piano, conducted a service in the gym auditorium of the High School at St. Joe Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Draggoo and son, James, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. Morr at South Bend.

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

Miss Janalyce Rouls, of Angola, was a guest over the week end of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Cole. Mr. Lewis Rosemand, of Indianapolis, also visited in the Cole home a guest of Miss Elizabeth Jones.

Mrs. Delora Curie has sold her small cottage home on Spencerville Street recently vacated by John Coburn to Henry Fluke of Spencerville. Some remodeling will start soon before moving in.

Word received by relatives concerning the illness of Mrs. Earl Smith, is that she is home now and improving nicely, and that her sister, Rosella Mendelsohn, is better, having suffered an attack of streptococcic infection.

Mrs. Jennie Sechler and son, Merritt, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curie and son spent Sunday afternoon with Earl Smith, of Defiance. Mr. Smith's son, Jack, has come from Paris and will stay with his father and attend school in Defiance.

Mr. Dennis Gerig, of Spencerville, bookkeeper and manager of the Walter Grain Co., and the St. Joe Flour Mill, is preparing to move this week into the John Koch property. Mr. Gerig has Auburn, Spencerville and St. Joe mills to look after.

Mrs. Harry Kees entertained her Sunday School Class last Tuesday evening to a "Dutc hOven Supper." Fifteen girls, with the superintendent of School, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Storer, were guests. The occasion being in Halloween festivities. A good time was in session.

Mrs. Frank Akins reports that she fed 29 people Sunday and turned away 9, who failed to make reservations. Her Sunday chicken dinners are proving quite popular. Customers from Auburn and Ft. Wayne are taxing her capacity. Many week-night reservations are being made for special dinners.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Haller and son, Junior, of near Newville, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wisler and son, Neal, of Garrett, were Sunday dinner guests in the Wm. Hamilton home. Afternoon guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lee O. Tustison, of Defiance and Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Shull of west of town. Mr. Hamilton is feeling some better.

Mr. and Mrs. James Youpa, of Los Angeles, Calif., were Thursday guests in the F. E. Johnson home. Mrs. John Geisinger, who has been visiting for the past few weeks in the Johnson home, returned to Garrett, Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Koch took Sunday dinner with her in the Johnson home before she left for home. She visited many of her old friends while here.

Free Movie Saturday night, St. Joe.

J. L. Rhodenbaugh, of Flat Rock, Mich., was here Saturday and assisted in selling at the Curie Auction. Jim came to visit his daughter, Mrs. Rolla Wiers, not knowing of the sale. He certainly was a welcome visitor, and he saw friends for many miles around. Other guests were Darrell Dickerson and Robert Wiers, of Detroit, Clar Wiers, of Fort Wayne, and Richard Wiers, of Wakarusa.

St. Joe was an extremely busy place last Saturday, because of the Auction Sale of the Curie Hardware stock. The News mailed out 1,000 papers last week containing ads from the merchants offering special inducements, and people took advantage of the special advertised goods. All were well pleased with their business for the entire day. Many new and, we hope lasting friends were made in a business way.

Red Cross Replaces Farm Family Losses

The Red Cross gave agricultural rehabilitation to 10,116 farm families following the severe eastern floods of last winter. Types of aid included feed, seed, livestock, farm tools and machinery and other items essential to agricultural productivity. More than $599,000 was expended by the organization to meet these requirements.

In addition to occupational assistance, rural families hard hit by the flood waters were rescued, clothed, fed and sheltered by the Red Cross. Where it was necessary the Red Cross repaired and rebuilt out-buildings, barns and other structures. Medical and nursing care were provided and homes refurnished.

Red Cross agricultural rehabilitation benefited nearly three times as many families as received all other types of Red Cross occupational rehabilitation combined.

Labor's advocacy of the Red Cross program is attested by recent statements from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor and John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America.

"Red Cross aims and purposes are highly commendable and deserving of the support of all classes of people," said Mr. Green.

"The activities and service of the American Red Cross satisfy a great need of the people, and I strongly urge that it receive the unqualified support of all during its annual Roll Call for members," Mr. Lewis said.

PAINTS PICTURE WHICH CONGRESS SHOULD CORRECT

(By James C. Polster)

I quote from the President's Inaugural address:

"I see millions of families trying to live on income so meager that the pall of family disaster hangs over them days by days.

"I see millions who's daily lives in city and on farms continue under conditions labeled indecent by a so-called society half a century ago.

"I see millions denied education, recreation and the opportunity to better their lot and the lot of their children.

"I see millions lacking the means to buy the products of farm and factory and by their poverty denying work and productiveness to many other millions.

"I see millions of a nation ill housed, ill clad, ill nourished.

"It is not in despair that I paint you that picture. I paint it for you in hope—because the nation seeing and understanding the injustice of it, proposes to paint it out."

The Townsend Plan is the paint that will paint out that picture!

The Townsend petitioners expect every member of Congress to take a brush and do his duty. Failure to do this will result in a painting job back home next election, for we have our bristles up.—From Townsend National Weekly. Feb. 15, 1937.

This is another one of F. D. R's, foolers. What is he doing to prove his words.

Geo. B. Wilson.

DEKALB COUNTY FAIR A FINANCIAL SUCCESS

The DeKalb County Fair Association reports receipts of $7,862.96 from the fair held this year and expenditures of $6,459.03, leaving a profit of $1,403.93. There are some bills yet to be paid but they will not amount to more than $100 to $200. The fair association, with the $1,821.75 profit from the 1936 fair, now has a balance of $3,225.66 in its treasury. In addition to the cash profit from the fair this year $600 was expended for equipment which may be used in years to come and this expenditure will not be necessary next year.

This report was made at a joint supper and meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and the Fair Association on last Thursday night.

At the conclusion of the meeting the stockholders of the fair association met for the purpose of naming eight members to the board of directors. The term of the new members will be three years and they will take their offices on January 1st.

The eight directors elected were Earl Stimman, of Jackson Township; R. E. Richards, of Newville Township; Clyde Husselman, of Grant Township; Gerald Seagley, of Ashley; Van Brecbill, of Smithfield Township; Thomas Myers, of Franklin Township; Walter Mutzfeld, of Wilmington Township, and John Leighty, of Concord Township.

The old directors were Albert Yoder, of Jackson; Burl Ensor, of Newville; Clyde Husselman, of Grant; Clyde Deets, of Ashley; Vern Sparks, of Smithfield; Art Loutzenheiser, of Franklin; A. J. Moore, of Wilmington, and John Leighty, of Concord Township.

The hold-over directors are Harold Wise, of Auburn, director-at-large; Homer Casebere, of Troy; Ralph Snyder, of Stafford; Frank Bard, of Corunna; Walter Baker, of Spencer; A. D. Foust, of Auburn; A. G. Houser, of Garrett; Frank George, of Waterloo; R. L. Holben, of Auburn; Floyd Dixon, of Fairfield; Fred Leighty, of St. Joe; Fred Hart, of Spencerville; M. E. Leighty, of Union; Forrest Harding, of Richland; Arthur Grube, of Keyser; Walter Thrush, of Butler Township, and C. J. Maxton, of Butler town.

The directors named H. E. Hart president of the association for 1938; Earl Stimman, first vice president; Ward Jackman, second vice persident; Buster Hetrick, secretary and H. M. Casebeer, treasurer.

Mr. Hart resigned and the matter of the selection of his successor if he refuses to serve, will be deferred until the first of next year.

TAX LEVIES SLASHED IN DEKALB COUNTY

Concord Township Poor Relief Ordered Cut from 53c to 49c

Unexpected orders reducing tax levies in DeKalb County for 1938 were received Saturday by County Auditor Frank E. Lyon from the state board of tax commissioners.

Poor relief reductions were ordered as follows: Keyser Township, from 20c on the $100 valuation to 18 cents; Concord Township, 52 to 49 cents; Fairfield Township, 15 to 13 cents; Grant Township, 22 to 20 cents; and Smithfield Township, 13 to 11 cents.

Other decreases ordered in rates follow:

Fairfield Township, special school fund, from 54 to 52 cents.

Ashley, general fund, $1.24 to $1.10.

Auburn city, general fund, 33 to 30 cents.

Garrett library fund, 12 cents to 10 cents.

Waterloo library fund, 14 cents to 10 cents.

The state commission also apparently decided it has jurisdiction over the welfare appropriations, as it ordered restorations made in the old age assistance fund from $59,885 to $77,684 and in the fund for dependent children in the custody of relatives from $18,275 to $25,025. The budget was set up by the state and county tax adjustment board, however, ordered a reduction in the levy from 13 to 11 cents and also cuts in the appropriations.

Welfare Levy Unchanged

The state welfare board filed an appeal with the state tax commission. Local officials contended the state commission had no authority to act on the appeal.

While the appropriations were restored, the state tax board made no change in the welfare levy and it remains at 11 cents. It is considered doubtful by local officials that the rate will produce the amount set out in the appropriations, but the state welfare board did no ask for the restoration of the higher levy.

The state commission also ordered a reduction in the county highway maintenance budget from $120,185 to $114,868 and directed that the county commissioners and highway supervisor prepare a new budget. The county council is to be called into special session before Jan. 1 to make appropriations in accordance with the new budget.

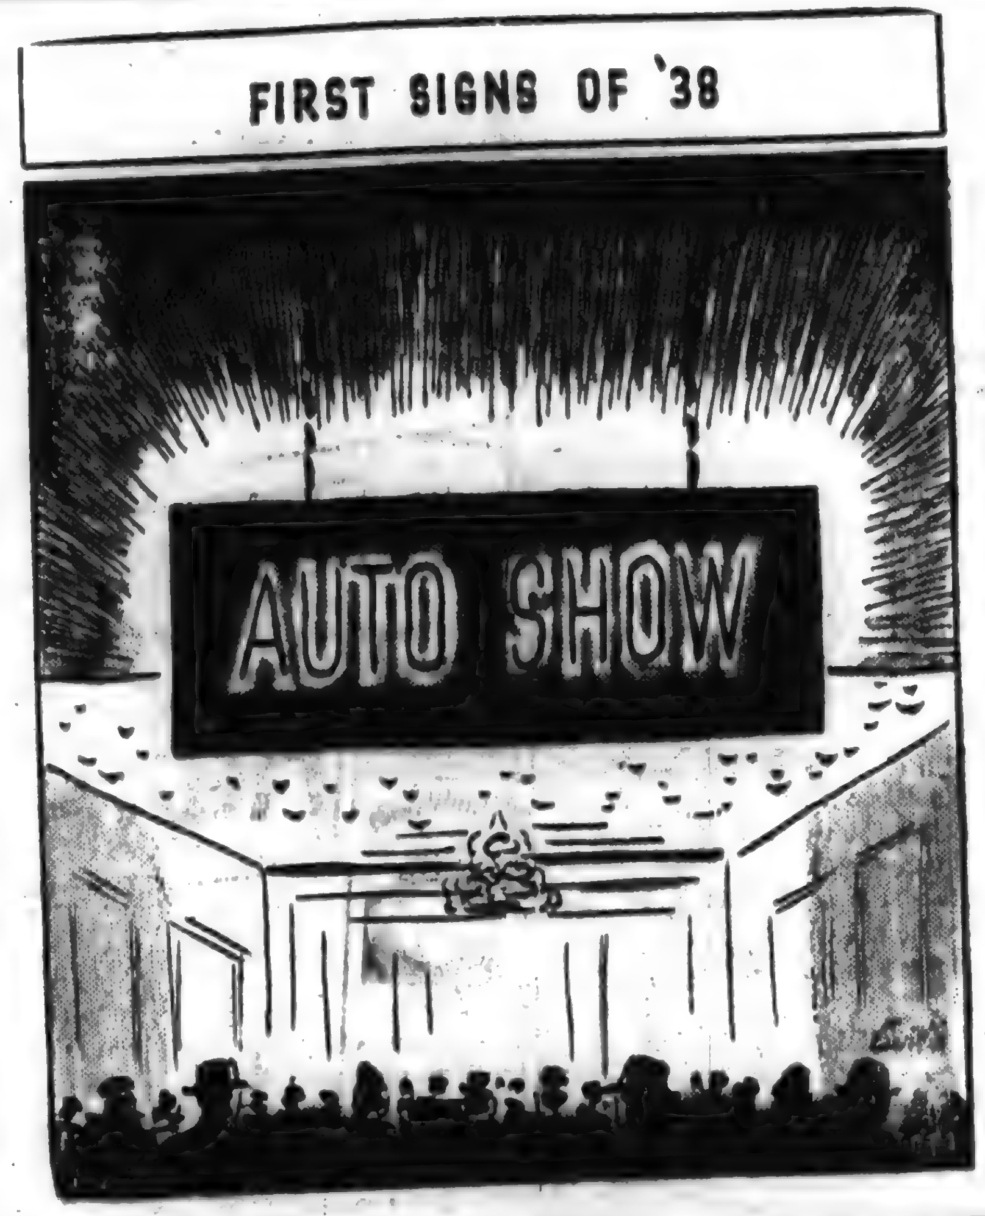
County officials held the opinion that under the new law the state tax board had authority to make changes only in levies that exceeded the legal limit, but in the orders received the board assumed jurisdiction also over other rates, as the levies in Keyser, Grant and Smithfield Townships were already within the limit.

Road Fund in Question

The state commission held hearings on the levies for the county, Butler city and schools, Auburn schools, Garrett city and schools and Waterloo town, but ordered no changes made in these rates.

When the county officials prepared the highway budget, an estimate was made of the receipts from gasoline tax next year and appropriations were made for the entire amount. The state board did not explain its action in ordering a change made.

The county auditor fixed the poor relief levies in accordance with the new law giving him such authority, as he interpreted it. The law provides for setting up a poor relief balance for each taxing unit and the county may make expenditures only from each unit's balance. The state commission evidently interprets the law as giving it authority to override the action of the county auditor in fixing the levies.



UNIFICATION OF METHODIST CHURCHES APPEARS PROBABLE

Unification of the three Methodist denominations — Methodist Episcopal, south; Methodist Episcopal, north, and the Methodist Protestant Church—appeared probable Friday as voting progressed in the south.

The three churches formerly were united, as the Methodist Episcopal Church. The southern and northern churches split over issues at the start of the Civil War and the Protestant Church was formed from a small group dissenting from policies of the mother church.

The northern church and the Methodist Protestants already have approved unification and 25 of the 38 conferences of the southern church have voted overwhelmingly for uniting with the other two groups.

A three-fourths vote of delegates attending the 38 conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, south, and final approval by the church's general conference at Birmingham, Ala., next April are necessary before unification is assured.

The 25 conferences on record voted 4,401 to 662 for unification. Only 75 per cent of total vote of delegates to the various conferences is necessary, and church leaders felt the remaining conferences would vote more or less in line with those which already have ballotted.

Red Fox..	Open until Jan. 15, '38
Grey Fox..	No closed season
Beaver..	No Open Season

Indiana's fur trapping season with a potential income of three-quarters of a million dollars to the men and boys who engage in this activity, will begin next Monday, November 15 and continue until Jan. 15, 1938. Advance reports indicate an increased number of fur bearing animals in most sections of the state.

Trappers and fur buyers were reminded today by Virgil M. Simmons, commissioner of the Department of Conservation, that fur taken before the open season was illegal and its possession was grounds for arrest. Several such arrests have already been made and the illegal hides confiscated by game wardens.

Other regulations which should be observed by trappers require possession of a license except for owners of farmland and their families and tenants of farmlands and their families, when trapping on land which they own or tenant; make it illegal to trap on lands of another without permission; to set a trap closer than five feet to the opening of any tile drain; to dislodge or attempt to dislodge any raccoon from its nest or den; to injure or destroy a muskrat house; to use any ferret or similar animal or mechanical device to hunt or catch game or frighten game from its hole; to take, kill, possess or molest any beaver, to destroy a beaver den, dam or burrow or to sell or buy a beaver or its tanned hide; and to smoke, chop or dig fur bearing animals from dens.

All buyers of fur must be licensed by the Division of Fish and Game and are required to report, after the close of the trapping season all purchases.

Favorable weather conditions during the past winter are said to have resulted in a large natural increase in fur bearing animals. Scores of raccoon, propagated at the state game farms and by conservation clubs have been liberated in suitable areas during the year as a part of the game restocking program. Emergency feeding during the winter and planting of food-bearing trees and plants have also contributed to an increase in fur bearing animals.

TOWNSEND CLUBS TO HOLD MEETING

The Townsendites of the Fourth Indiana District will hold a Rally in Ft. Wayne on Sunday afternoon, November 14th. The meeting place will be in the spacious hall of the community building.

The Hon. J. B. Brown, who is connected with the national office, will be the speaker. Any and all questions relative to the Townsend Plan will be answered at this meeting and all the citizenry of the District are urged to come and learn of the feasibility of the plan by asking all the questions that are necessary to an intelligent understanding of the plan.

Any suggestion coming from the public will be cheerfully considered and acted upon in a thoughtful capacity, and if found to be in harmony with the good intentions of the Townsend Plan they will be accepted.

The object of the meeting is to establish the plan and its work-ability in the national life of this country.

All are invited.

TWO BIG SALES TO BE HELD NEXT WEEK

Two large public sales will be held the first of next week in this community.

On Tuesday, Mark Morr and B. E. Widney will sell their personal property, as Mr. Morr will leave for California. On Wednesday, Clayton Baker and Everett Pressler, will sell their personal property. These two young men are entering the long distance trucking business. Mr. Pressler will move to Albion, his old home, and Clayton will move to St. Joe. Their headquarters will be established at Fort Wayne.

The sale notices appear in this issue.

REGISTRATION OF UNEMPLOYED

At the direction of Congress, the President has approved a plan for a census of all unemployed and partly unemployed workers.

The object of this registration is to provide information to aid in the formulation of a program for reemployment, social security and unemployment relief. This registration is being made through the Post Office Department.

Each worker will be supplied with registration cards Nov. 16. The cards must be filled out and returned to post office not later than Nov. 20th.

For further information sonsult your local postmaster.

TO TAKE WEEKS VACATION

On account of taking my vacation, there will be no more Sunday dinners served until the 28th. Reservations can then be made by calling 18.

Mrs. Frank Akins.

BAND TO HAVE FAIR

The school band will hold a fair and carnival in the gymnasium on Saturday evening, Nov. 27, for the purpose of raising funds for uniforms. Full details later. 45t1

This program is intended for all in the community. You are welcome, so please come.

To all American Legion men and families, all World War veterans and families and to all Auxiliary members and families, don't forget the annual pot luck supper to be held in our Legion rooms in the K. of P. Hall on Armistice Nite, Nov. 11. Supper to be served at 6:30 with a program following. Please bring your table service for your family.

Fourth District meeting will be at Wolcottville on Wednesday, Nov. 17. Please let Unit President know of those wanting to go to this meeting.

LEGION NOTES

The American Legion School award committee has secured permission to offer its School Award to each of the schools in this vicinity.

This includes Harlan, Spencerville and St. Joe Seniors; also Newville, St. Joe, Newville Center, Spencerville and Harlan Grammar Grades.

Since this is Education Week, the Legion is making an effort to present the proposition to the boys and girls of each school during the week

THANK YOU

I wish to take this method to thank my friends and neighbors who so kindly helped husk our corn. It is hard to make myself believe I am worthy. Hope that some day I can repay all. Thank you.

Will L. Hamilton.

Hoosier Historical Study

Almost a thing of the past, covered bridges are taking the interest of various Indiana societies for studying and preserving the history of the state. This picturesque spot near Montezuma is one of the most interesting examples in Indiana. The bridge was built in 1876. DeKalb County has two such bridges in use, both in Spencer Township.

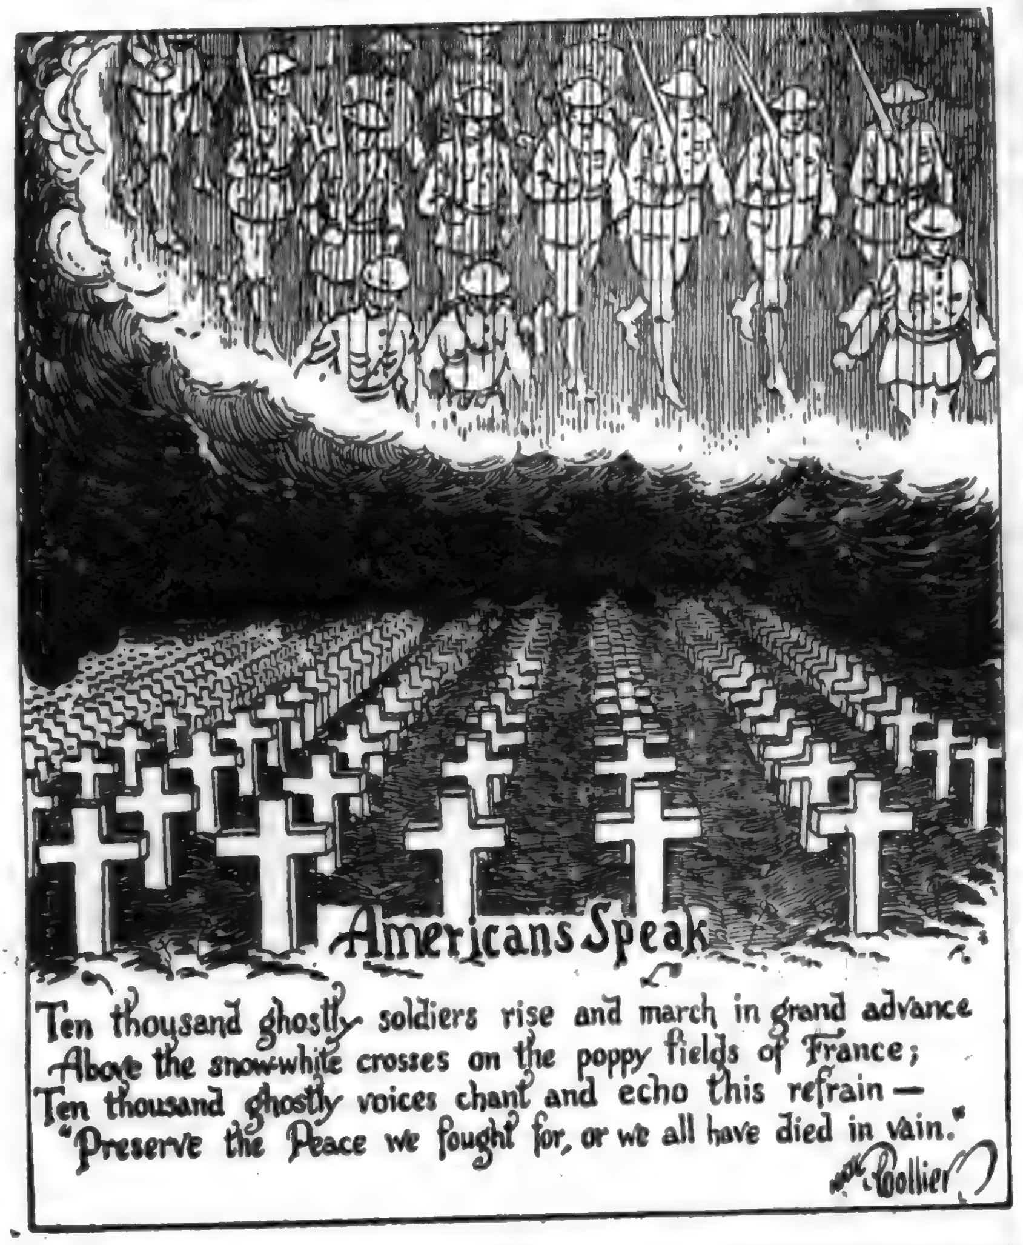
ARMISTICE DAY, 1937



Americans Speak
Ten thousand ghostly soldiers rise and march in grand advance
Above the snow-white crosses on the poppy fields of France;
Ten thousand ghostly voices chant and echo this refrain—
"Preserve the Peace we fought for, or we all have died in vain."

A lot of people around are poor today because their credit was too good yesterday.

A bee's stinger is only three-tenths of an inch long. The other foot and a half is only your imagination.

It's wrong to judge a citizen by what he stands for nowadays. It's what he falls for that really counts.

It's too bad that future generations can't be with us today to see some of the many fine improvements we are making with their money.

Give some girls a new lipstick and a fresh powder rag and it's amazing how long they can amuse themselves.

One objection to "keeping up with the Joneses" is you keep behind with the butcher and grocer.

There are 30,000,000 autos in America. About the only thing that will scare a horse nowadays is to see another horse in town.

It's getting so that about the only things farmers around can keep without spraying are the grindstone and the mortgage.

It may strike you as peculiar, but the traffic lights on the road to ruin are all green.

The country will henceforth get along without the PWA but it probably will be a long time before the IOU is abolished.

Pictures made of an eclipse of the sun show hot air shooting out in all directions, so they must have a congress on that planet too.

The man who bows his head and says "I can't" usually proves that he was right about it.

What has become of those old-fashioned citizens who, if they couldn't earn enough to get along on, got along on what they earned.

You've also probably noticed that the bigger the bankroll the tighter the rubber band.

TOWNS ARE BEST

During his recent trip to the Pacific coast Pres. Roosevelt made a prediction that should be of interest to every citizen of St. Joe when he said:

"It is because I am thinking of the nation 50 years from now that I venture the prophecy that, as time passes, we will do everything in our power to encourage the building up of the smaller communities of the United States. Today many people are beginning to realize that there is inherent weakness in cities which become too large, and inherent strength in a wider distribution of population geographically."

It is a recognized fact that our large cities have grown too big. They make for higher living costs, poorer social conditions and concentration of foreign elements of our population into districts where the making of good and loyal citizens of them becomes constantly more difficult. The style no longer runs to mammoth factories in big cities. The growing practice is to split these huge industries into units, with smaller factories located in the smaller centers of population and over a wider area. Every year sees more and more factories springing up in the smaller towns.

The small city, the town, the village and the hamlet continue to form the backbone of America. Realization of this fact may have come slow, but the prophecy of the President indicates that it is certain. Wise are the young people of the nation who resist the lure of the big cities and are content to cast their lot with the America of tomorrow.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE

On the occasion of Premier Mussolini's recent visit to Herr Hitler in Germany the Italian dictator traveled in an armored car along tracks that had been cleared for 24 hours between Rome and the Austrian border, and guarded by soldiers stationed every 100 yards along the entire route. During that same week the President of the U. S. toured Yellowstone Park in an open car, unattended by any guard except his usual secret service followers, and watched with others while his little granddaughter fed sugar to bears begging on the roadside. Is it necessary to point out to citizens of St. Joe the lesson contained in these two extremes? We dwell in peace and good-will in our democracy, in strange contrast to the perils continually surrounding the autocratic demagogs of the Old World. There's nothing to prevent any dissatisfied citizen from moving to Europe if he wants to. But it would be a good idea for him to first read this—and then take his choice.

A RIGHTEOUS WAR

Today, November 11, is enshrined in the hearts of people as Armistice Day. Gratitude rises from millions of hearts in memory of the cessation of the most terrible war in history. Without doubt these millions believe that war is wrong; they hope there will never be another war of real importance.

But this situation does not mean that fighting is done. There is a terrible struggle going forward which should enlist the fighting strength of every citizen of Indiana, America, and other nations. That is the world wide struggle to eliminate tuberculosis and kindred diseases from the list of potent enemies of mankind. Perhaps on this peaceful Armistice Day, a dedication of humanity's strength to war upon such plagues as tuberculosis would be the most fitting memorial that might be undertaken.

As in that other terrible war, there are allies standing staunchly at the shoulder of us here in America ready to go forward with us against the common enemy. These allies already organized and functioning successfully, are the tuberculosis associations—1,400 of them in the United States, one in each county in Indiana. They are fighting our fight against the white plague.

But they call us once each year to help them hold their trenches. They ask us to finance this war by the simple and non-costly method of buying a few dollars worth of Tuberculosis Christmas Seals during the month of December. These seals represent in very truth the Health Liberty Bonds that must finance this common effort against disease in 1938. The tuberculosis associations are winning the war—at least they are being tremendously successful with such weapons as the steady educational campaign for right living, the development of clinics, sanatoria, tuberculin testing, school health programs, better nursing facilities. These associations have kept the death rate from the disease steadily declining and enemy ground was being won. Last year however, throughout the United States, and in our own State of Indiana a slight increase in deaths and death rate was noted. This is probably the effect of the recent depression with its stress. It means therefore, that a greater fight than ever must be waged to keep the enemy on the retreat. The ammunition for the weapons of the tuberculosis association are the Christmas Seals, which will be sold to each of us from Thanksgiving Day until Christmas at one dollar a hundred.

There can be no Armistice in this Health War.

A SIMPLE PROTECTION

How often has the average letter-writer wondered, when he failed to receive an answer to his letter, if it was properly addressed, or if it really reached the party for whom it was intended? Maybe, too, it contained something of value, something he would very much like to have back in case the party addressed did not receive it. And yet all such worries are simply and easily avoided. The use of printed return cards or, in lieu of this your name and address written in the upper left-hand corner of the envelope will insure its return in the event the address is wrong, the party has moved or it cannot be delivered for any other reason. When he finds he can't deliver it properly, Uncle Sam will return it to you—providing your name and address is on the envelope. This day in time when printed stationery is cheaper than blank paper and envelopes used to be it is unwise to be without it. It is your one and only insurance against worrying over whether your letters reach their destination or not. And it is your only way of being sure that you will get back whatever valuables are in the letter in case it cannot be delivered. Use printed envelopes.

OSCAR BURNIER DIES OF AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Oscar J. Burnier, of 219 W. Nineteeth St., Auburn, died at 7:20 o'clock Wednesday evening at the Dr. J. A. Sanders Hospital from traumatic pneumonia at the age of 54 years.

Mr. Burnier was injured on Saturday afternoon, October 30th, in an automobile accident at the intersection of Indiana Ave. and Twentieth St. He was going east on Twentieth Street when his automobile collided with one being driven south on Indiana Ave., by Frank Ramsey, of Auburn Junction. Pneumonia developed Tuesday and his condition became critical.

Mr. Burnier was one of ten children born to Peter and Catherin Burnier of near Arl. His early life was spent on the farm and he came to Auburn when about eighteen years of age. For several years he worked in factories in this city and was employed at the former Thomas bakery for twelve years. For a period of two years he was employed at the DeKalb County court house as one of the custodians, and for the past three and a half years he has been an agent for Watkins products.

Some years ago, Mr. Burnier lived in St. Joe and was engaged in the operation of the coal yard, konwn as Lawhead & Burnier.

The deceased was united in marriage with Maud A. Wherley at Waterloo on November 12, 1905. To them was born a daughter, Mrs. Vivian Einkopf, of Fort Wayne. Surviving besides the widow and daughter is one brother, Russell Burnier, of Fort Wayne, the last of the family, and two grandchildren, Nancy Carol and Judith Ann Einkopf.

Mr. Burnier was an active member of the First Church of God. He was a deacon and a member of the board of trustees and held several offices in the Sunday School.

The funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock from the First Church of God, with Rev. Alva Klopfenstine, the pastor, officiating, assisted by Rev. Herman Hedges, former pastor of the church. Burial was made in Roselawn Cemetery.

Armistice Day—1937

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

"You are in some special sense the soldiers of freedom."

That was the message delivered by the people of America, through their Chief Executive, to the youths who made up our National Army two decades ago.

That is still the thought of America when on Armistice Day it accords to the Unknown Soldier at Arlington honors higher than are paid to any famous Captain.

On that anniversary of peace, Americans recall the ideals to which we once subscribed so wholeheartedly.

On that anniversary, we recall the sacrifices made in the cause of human freedom; in the conviction that the will of the people must supersede the will of kings and despots.

In America we not only remember these things, but continue to strive valiantly for the ideals of democracy.

In Europe many nations are forgetting them—threatening as a result not only the peace of the world, but the well-being and preservation of their own people.

Despite the picture of turmoil and cruelty which such nations present, there are men who would have America accept some of their theories. There are men who would have us weaken our democracy in spiritless imitation of methods which have brought want and terror to millions abroad.

But America knows that the only real security lies in the freedom of spirit and of body which our democracy assures.

And Armistice Day reminds us of that spirit of the American citizen—sometimes the soldier, but always the guardian, of freedom.

The final report of Elgin Curle as administrator of the estate of his father, the late Wm. Curle, of St. Joe, was filed in the DeKalb circuit court Monday and approval was deferred. H. S. Platner was recently appointed to administer the estate.

Graham Lewis is the new game warden, for DeKalb County. He has been assigned to all of DeKalb County and the lower tier of townships of Steuben County and took over the position on Thursday. He will reside on Lockhart Ave., Waterloo.

PATRONIZE THE ADVERTISER

Many people have ofttimes remarked what a fine service this newspaper is carrying on for its community in publishing not only items of general news, which are preserved for years to come, but in the hunderds of announcements for school functions, church services, lodge and club affairs, governmental programs, and notes of every institution in the community.

This paper has done this for more than fifty years, but credit for this is not due to the newspaper alone.

The money paid for the subscriptions to this newspaper would not support a paper of its size. This service to the community is made possible by the advertisers who, week by week, use these columns to inform the citizens of the community of the wares they are carrying and of the opportunity offered to supply customers' needs. This is a dollar and cents proposition with them, of course, but it makes possible the fine public service that is afforded by this newspaper with the aid of its advertisers.

Therefore, it is only fair that the beneficiaries of this service, and the organizations which are supported each week by these announcements, should in turn lend their influence as individuals and as organizations to Patronize Our Advertisers.

Because of the illness of Wm. Hamilton, a group of the community farmers spent the day, Tuesday in husking his corn. That is a splendid spirit and is much appreciated by the Hamiltons.

Less than 15 minutes after Mrs. Mark Morr telephoned a For Sale ad to The News Tuesday morning she called back and reported the ad had made the sale and that it was not necessary to run this week. That is the kind of results many of our classified users report. Why don't you try it?

Fay Reichelderfer and wife, of Dayton, O., were over Sunday night guests in the home of Mrs. Mary Bets, coming to attend the funeral of their aunt. They with Mrs. Bets and Mrs. Hazel Steward, of Spencerville, attended the funeral on Monday afternoon, which was held at Edgerton, the former home of the deceased.

Arden Casselman is a real booster for the classified column in The News. He said: "Before I began to run my 10c a week ad, I was not so very busy at my trade, but now I am getting new jobs every week. Last week an inquiry came from Ft. Wayne, as a direct result of my ad." Just think of it, getting a job for 10c.

A collision resulted Sunday at the Lucas-Fetters Corners, north-west of town. A car from the north was struck on the rear end by an Auburn car from the west, and was turned over several times, while the Auburn car was swerved out of the road and run into the Sible corn field. No one was injured. This is a clear view corner.

A big feature of the 38th International Live Stock Exposition, to be held at the Chicago Stock Yards November 27 to December 4, will be the National 4-H Club Congress. It will be held for the 16th time in connection with the exposition. Approximately 1200 boys and girls from the farms of nearly every state in the Union will attend this year. They will be the pick of the million members now active in 4-H Club work throughout the country. It will be a gathering of state and district champion farm youths who will be given free trips to the stock show and congress to compete for national honors.

Edgar W. Atkinson, of Auburn, has qualified to act as executor of the will of the late Wallace E. Abel, of Newville Township, a former county commissioner, by filing $20,000 surety bond in the DeKalb circuit court. Mr. Abel died last month and his estate is estimated at $10,000 in personal property and $4,500 in real estate. The heirs are the widow, Mrs. Nettie Abel; one son, Roy, who lives with his mother; and three daughters, Bessie Lake, of Fort Wayne, Blanche Tomlinson, of Butler, and Gladys McNabb, of Garrett.

Leon Kees is home from the Brown County CCC for the week with his family.

A judgment of $3,043.75 has been entered in the DeKalb circuit court for the state department of financial institutions against the Wm. H. Randall estate. Randall owned 25 shares of stock in the St. Joe Valley Bank of St. Joe, which is being liquidated. The par value was $100 a share, or a total of $2,500, to which was added interest of $543.75. The widow Mary Jane Randall, is administratrix of the estate.

P. T. A. NEWS

American Education Week, Nov 7 to 13. However we do want to say a good word for the plan to set aside the "American Education Week." Bringing patron and teacher together for a sound discussion of the question, "What can be done to give boys and girls a better deal in education." Often when patrons have paid school taxes and hired the teachers they think they are through. But truly their responsibility only begins.

They owe it to their children to follow through the year with genuine co-operation. Let us develope a community consciousness of the problems of education and child welfare. Parents look to your P. T. A.

SPENCERVILLE SCHOOL NOTES

Hot soup is again started at our school for the benefit of anyone wishing it at bare minimum costs.

The Juniors are starting practices on their class play this week. The name of the play is "Aunt Jerushy on the War-Path." It is a popular farce, and the cast is showing lots of enthusiasm. The date of presentation is set at Dec. 7.

Now that November is here, the minds of our student body naturally turns from Halloween activities and parties, to basketball as an extra activity. The yell leaders were selected a week ago. They are Fara Lee Walter and Louise Shockley. The boys are showing a very fine attitude and working hard on a new style of play. At present, the first team is composed of Hook, Shook, Allen, Sponhower, Stemen, and Akey. Some of the youngsters on the second team are showing possibilities and may help out the first team before long. Our season opened against Leo last Saturday. The scores were close throughout for both 1st and 2nd teams, but in the end, Leo won both of them. We play Harlan at Spencerville this Friday night, and a good game is expected. Harlan boasts several veterans from last year's team, while Spencerville has only one veteran from the first, but the rest played on the second team a year ago.

Season tickets have been selling well, indicating lots of support for the team. The schedule follows:

Nov. 12 Harlan, Here.
Nov. 19 Butler, There.
Nov. 24 St. Joe, There.
Dec. 3 Fremont, There.
Dec 4 Hamilton, There.
Dec. 10 Albion, Here.
Dec. 17 Leo, Here.
Dec. 18 Hamilton, Here.
Dec. 23 St. Joe, Here.
Jan. 7 Coesse, There.
Jan. 15 Concordia, There.
Jan. 28 Pleasant Lake, There.
Jan. 29 Ashley, Here.
Feb. 5 Waterloo, Here
Feb. 11 Harlan, There.
Feb. 12 Woodburn, There.
Feb. 18 Salem Center, There.
Feb. 19 Concordia, Here.
Feb. 25 Fremont, Here.

AUBURN LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

Furnished by
Ward Jackman, Sec.-Treas.

Buyers ruled the market in this week's sale. Local and Eastern orders were plentiful, bidding was active in all divisions.

Sheep and Lambs: Lambs made a top of $9.80 with the bulk between $9.60 to $9.75. Feeder lambs from $8.00 to $9.00. Slaughter ewes $3.00 to $3.50. Bucks $5.00 to $12.00 per head.

Veals: Top calves were $12.50 with a liberal sort, the bulk of all meaty calves selling at $11.00 and above. Second line calves sold nearer top than for many weeks. Bob or deacon calves are about 50c per head cheaper.

Hogs. There were plenty of slaughter hogs on sale this week bringing a top of $9.60 for 160 to 180 pound weights. 180 to 200, $9.50 and heavies mostly $9.30 to $9.40. Roughs $8.10 to $8.20. Boars $6.00. Feeding shoats selling by the head on a 12 to 16 cent basis.

Cattle seemed to show less activity than other kinds of livestock. Receipts were liberal for all offerings the price trend seemed about 25c per cwt. lower than last week. Best cows $4.65 to $6.20. Medium kinds averaging around 800 pounds mostly above $4.60. Plenty of thin shelly canners and low cutters below $3.00. Medium steers $5.25 to $6.50. Bulls $5.95.

Safetygrams

BY FRED W. BRAUN
© The Safety Man

In checking a few statistics the other day I learned that fully three-fourths of all motor vehicle fatalities among children occur while the youngsters, for the time being, are innocent little pedestrians.

It seems so little to ask of men that they try just a little bit harder to protect the lives of our little folks; that they should make it a rule to drive at all times as if they were expecting a little tot to dart out into the street.

Suppose your own child should dart out suddenly from the sidewalk, yard, or school playground. If you thought for one minute that he would, you would exert undue safe practices to be sure that your child would not be injured.

It seems to be the unquestionable right of every child to be free from accidental injuries.

Aren't they worth it?

GREAT REVIVAL SERVICE IS DRAWING TO CLOSE

Meeting to be Assisted by a Number of Outside People the Balance of This Closing Week.

"GOD'S WILL BE DONE IN THE CHURCH" based on the Scripture, "I MUST BE ABOUT MY FATHER'S BUSINESS" the theme adopted by United Brethren at the recent conference at Lancaster, Pennsylvania, has been the basis of the messages of Mr. P. A. Hubbartt at Newville, where the Community Revival is taking on new interest. Briefs gathered from his messages:

"O Lord I have heard thy speech and was afraid." Hab. 3: 2.

Many people stay away from the revival because they like Habakkuk ARE AFRAID.

The business world is in a dilemma today, they do not know what the government is going to do next, this from a leading automobile manufacturer, Mr. R. E. Olds.

Faith is waning in the church, men neglect the church, and most of their time is with the temporal needs.

"Woe unto them that are in Zion." Church of God awake! There is no better manhood in the land than on the farm, and the Devil knows it. Millions of rural boys and girls do not hear of Jesus, only in the common swearing of the day.

God's will in the church is the need of the hour, a real Bible Revival. One that exercises initiative, Holy Ghost euthusiasm. When this was shown in the Master's life, he was considered "beside himself, he hath a devil."

The reason that people stand for so much Jazz over the radio is on account of the fact that they are dead to the finer things of life. Mr. Hubbart is urging that letters be sent to WOWO supporting the Christian programs as given out by the Fort Wayne Gospel Temple.

HOMER R. GETTLE

Mr. Hubbartt's message on the Wonderful Christ, was a master piece of exaltation of the Lord Jesus.

On Sunday night his subject will be "What Think Ye of Christ?"

"The solution of the World's troubles is a King and the name of that King is Jesus Christ."

"Every drop of blood that was shed on the altar was a type of the Lord Jesus Christ, who became our sacrifice, but is now our risen Lord and is coming soon as our KING." Some day He is coming again and every king will bow at His feet.

Attendance and interest is increasing. The "Golden Hour" Boys' and Girls' meeting precedes each service at 7:00 o'clock, but Mr. Hubbartt does not get into his message before 8:15 o'clock and his service is closed about 9:00 o'clock.

An Friday morning at 6:45 all that will go to Ft. Wayne for the 8:00 o'clock broadcast will meet at the U. B. Church, Newville. Mr. P. A. Hubbartt, with these boys and girls will be a part of the morning Radio Bible Class, Clifford Hollifield, director.

The following are participating in the closing nights of the series:

Mrs. Hays, soloist from Auburn, on Wednesday night.

Mrs. Hazel Hubbartt, singing on Thursday night.

Dr. Homer R. Gettle, Christian business man, of Fort Wayne, on Thursday or Friday night.

Mrs. Rev. Frank Johnson, of Garrett, on Firday night, tells the story of her conversion, while in the Catholic Church, her experience relative to becoming a Nun. She does not antagonize the Catholic Church of today nor any other denomination, that exalts the Lord Jesus and the Word.

No meeting on Saturday night. Sunday morning and evening services close this Community Wide Bible Revival. A bible will be given to the one showing the best report card during the series.

FREE PICTURES CONTINUE TO DRAW GREAT DISTANCE

St. Joe was again crowded with people trading Saturday night. The free pictures and the valuable free gifts awarded by the merchants are also drawing cards. But on the other hand more people are trading in St. Joe than previously. The ads in The News are given a much wider circulation than ever before and this helps to draw trade.

Be in St. Joe next Saturday night.

The How and Why of the National Unemployment Census

A nation-wide census of all unemployed and partially unemployed persons in the United States will be taken between the dates of November 16 to 20, by act of Congress, and at the direction of President Roosevelt.

Here, in question-and-answer form, is the information you need to know about this plan.

1. WHAT IS PURPOSE OF THE UNEMPLOYMENT CENSUS?
   To get an accurate count of the unemployed and partly unemployed.
2. TO WHOM WILL CARDS BE SENT?
   To every family in the United States.
3. UNDER WHOSE AUSPICES IS THE CENSUS BEING TAKEN?
   Congress has decreed, and the President has directed, that it be taken.
4. IS THE CENSUS COMPULSORY?
   No. But every unemployed or partly unemployed person is urgently requested to cooperate.
5. HOW WILL THE CENSUS BE CONDUCTED?
   Through the facilities of the Post Office Department. Report Cards will be delivered to every family. Cards are to be returned by mail to Washington for tabulation and analysis.
6. WHEN WILL THE CENSUS BE TAKEN?
   Cards will be delivered on November 16 and must be returned by MIDNIGHT NOVEMBER 20. They are already addressed and no postage is required.
7. WHO SHOULD FILL AND RETURN CARDS?
   Every person who is unemployed or partly unemployed who is able to work and wants work.
8. WHAT AGE LIMITS APPLY?
   There are no age limits except existing State regulations concerning workers' ages.
9. SHOULD MORE THAN ONE UNEMPLOYED PERSON IN A FAMILY RETURN A CARD?
   Yes. Every unemployed member of a family should fill out and return a card, if able to work and seeking work.
10. WHERE MAY ADDITIONAL CARDS BE OBTAINED?
    At any post office or from your postman.
11. WHERE CAN INFORMATION BE SECURED IN FILLING OUT CARDS?
    At your post office or from your postman.
12. IS THIS CENSUS CONFINED TO AMERICAN CITIZENS?
    No. All permanent residents of the United States are included.
13. IS THE INFORMATION GIVEN ON THE CARDS TO BE CONSIDERED CONFIDENTIAL?
    Yes. This information will be used for unemployment statistics only.
14. SHOULD EVERY QUESTION OF THE CENSUS CARD BE ANSWERED?
    Yes. To obtain the most accurate information possible, the President asks that each question be answered. Numbers 9 and 10 are particularly important. However, failure to answer some of the questions will not invalidate the card.
15. WHO IS AN "UNEMPLOYED" PERSON?
    A person of either sex or any color who is not working and is able to work and seeking work.
16. WHO IS A "PARTLY UNEMPLOYED" PERSON?
    A person of either sex or any color with part-time employment who is able to do more work and is looking for more work.
17. ARE PERSONS ON EMERGENCY WORK PROJECTS INCLUDED?
    Yes. They should register as unemployed. A specific question, Number 2c, is provided on the Report Card for all persons working on a W.P.A., N.Y.A., C.C.C., or other emergency work project which is supported by public funds.

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

The White House
Washington

TO EVERY WORKER:

If you are unemployed or partly unemployed and are able to work and are seeking work, please fill out this report card right away and mail it before midnight, Saturday, November 20, 1937. No postage stamp is needed.

The Congress directed me to take this census. It is important to the unemployed and to everyone in this land that the census be complete, honest, and accurate. If you give me the facts, I shall try to use them for the benefit of all who need and want work and do not now have it.

CAN SELL RABBITS, BUT SELLING QUAIL IS LAW VIOLATION

Sale of rabbits is legal under the Indiana laws but the sale or purchase of quail and other game is a violation of the law, Virgil M. Simmons, commissioner of the Department of Conservation, pointed out today in discussing statutes applying to the hunting season.

The recodified Indiana fish and game laws, enacted by the General Assembly in the 1937 session, makes it illegal to take more than ten rabbits in one day and provides that "it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to have n his or its possession, or to ship, carry, or transport in this state more than twenty wild rabbits, dead or alive, in any one day, whether such rabbits were shot, killed or captured by such person, firm or corporation, or acquired in any other manner in this or some other state and brought into this state.

The section of the law relating to quail sets a daily bag limit of ten birds and provides that "any person having hunted three days may lawfully possess, but not on his person, at any one time during the open season not to exceed the number of quail that lawfully may be killed by one person in three days of lawful hunting."

Another section of the law provides that it shall be unlawful to sell, offer to sell, buy or offer to buy any quail or other game bird, whether taken in this state or in some other state and brought into Indiana. The law further states, "The term 'sale' shall include serving the same as a part of a meal by any erstaurant, hotel, boarding house or eating house keeper, and proof that any such quail, prairie chicken, hungarian partridge, pheasant, ruffed grouse, chukar partridge or wild turkey was so served shall constitute prima facie evidence that such birds were so served in violation of the provisions of this act, but such restaurant, hotel, boarding house or eating house keeper may perpare and serve during open season to a guest, patron or boarder and his family any of the above mentioned game lawfully taken by such guest, patron or boarder during the open season provided therefor in this state."

Statutes prohibiting the sale of quail and other game, except rabbits, and prohibiting the possession or transportation of more than twenty rabbits, are designed to curb the commercialization of hunting by persons engaging in the taking of game for sale.

REGISTRATION OF UNEMPLOYED

At the direction of Congress, the President has approved a plan for a census of all unemployed and partly unemployed workers.

The object of this registration is to provide information to aid in the formulation of a program for reemployment, social security and unemployment relief. This registration is being made through the Post Office Department.

Each worker will be supplied with registration cards Nov. 16. The cards must be filled out and returned to post office not later than Nov. 20th.

For further information sonsult your local postmaster.

STATE FAIR MAKES GREATEST GAIN IN 1937

A record-breaking mark was set at the 1937 State Fair in the realization of a profit of $78,135.85, according to the financial report of Harry G. Templeton, fair manager.

The highest profit heretofore was from the 1920 fair, at which time the admission price of 75 cents helped bring the profit to nearly $70,000. The 1936 profit was more than $62,000.

The attendance record was also broken this year, the report shows. There were 383,544 paid admissions sold. This is an increase of 18,583 over the 1936 attendance.

The state fair suffered losses in 1931 and 1932, but came out of the red in 1933, with a profit of $226.02. Since then the attendance and profit have been gaining steadily.

A comparison of figures for this year and for 1936 follows:

Horse show receipts, 1937, $9,919; 1936, $8,797.

Grand stand receipts, 1937, $35,803; 1936, $28,884.

Paid admissions, 1937, $133,954; 1936, $126,010.

Concessions, 1937, $52,222; 1936, $41,381.

Space sold in Manufacturers' Bldg. and display field, 1937, $16,603; 1936, $13,629.

TEN RULES IN AVOIDING THE COMMON COLD

1. Get plenty of sleep, fresh air and sunshine.
2. Eat all the nourishing food you need but avoid overeating.
3. Dress sensibly and with regard to the climate.
4. If you get wet, change to dry clothing as soon as possible.
5. Breathe through your nose, not your month.
6. "Cleanliness is next to godliness." Bathe daily.
7. Avoid constipation.
8. Get outdoor exercise every day. Long walks are excellent.
9. Avoid sudden changes of temperature.
10. Keep away from people who have colds.

SCHOOL NEWS

On Wednesday evening, November 24, Spencerville High School basket ball teams come to Saint Joe for games with the local school. Come early if you want a good seat.

Rev. Walter Coburn representing the local American Legion Post made two talks in the schools on Armistice Day. In company with the Post commander, color bearers, other legionnaires and representatives form the Legion Auxiliary a brief program and talk was given to the seventh and and eighth grades in the forenoon. In the afternoon a similar program was presented to the upper four years. Rev. Coburn explained the basis on which the American Legion will give a medal to the outstanding pupil in the eighth grade and twelfth year classes. The points given consideration are character, citizenship, school spirit, iniatitive, and scholarship.

Can You Assist

The local school could make use of a few good books and a few good magazines for school library purposes. If you care to present such to the school it will be much appreciated. This would help us toward that aim of right use of leisure time and also help increase that range of information so much desired.

Several pupils from the local school were in Fort Wayne early Friday morning and had a part in the Gospel Temple's radio program. In this number were Garnet Washler, Eva Young, Betty Young, Dorothy Reas, Sylvia Washler and Catherine Evans.

Good Sportsmanship?

Receipts from the Scott Center games on class Friday evening were $15.90. Expenses; Scott Center, $5.00 for transportation; $6.00 for the referee. Balance $4.90. It costs to buy basketballs and other equipment for basketball players. Receipts would have been somewhat better had not very questionable methods of entry been employed by certain well known individuals who used "floating keys" on a back door. The lock will be changed on that door before the next home games. We regret to say that some of the school's alumni entered through that rear door. If they will see us and make explanations we will not reveal their names. Otherwise this may happen when they are least expecting it.

THANKSGIVING DINNER

WALTER WHITEHURST POST No. 283

Meeting Night: Second & Fourth Tuesday of the Month.

November eleventh was a busy day for the officers and members of Post 283 American Legion. A delegation from the Post, headed by Commander Lehr Wilder, and including the School Award committee, visited the schools at Harlan, Spencerville, Newville, Newville Center and St. Joe, and explained the qualifications necessary to be eligible to win the award. Comrade Walter Coburn, of Corunna, gave a short address at each place.

At 10:45 A. M., the pupils of the St. Joe Schools, led by the school band, the American Colors, the American Legion and Auxiliary Colors, and the Boy Scout and Girl Scout organizations, the latter being led by their colors and Standards at the head of their respective groups, marched from the school building to the Lutheran Church lawn, where the following program was given:

Selection ....High School Band.
Talk .... Commander Lehr Wilder.
American's Creed .... Jimmy Kees.
Reading, "I have a Rendesvous with Death," .... Christine Zonker.
Moment of Silence, 11:00 A. M.
Address .... Walter Coburn.
Pledge to the Flag .... The School.
Roster of World War Dead.
Taps.
Dismissal.

At 1:00 P M. a delegation of Legionnaires attended the Armistice Day program at the High School Auditorium in Spencerville.

In the evening the Post and Auxiliary members and their families gathered at the Legion Home and enjoyed a bountiful pot luck supper, after which the evening was given over to entertainment.

Two selections, "The Trumpeter" and "Old Man River" were given by John Smith, of Auburn, Mrs. Smith playing the accompaniment.

A debate, directed by Comrade Ralph Sechler, the subject, Resolved, that the Auxiliary is of more value to the community than the Legion itself. For the affirmative, Mrs. Leon Kees and Clark Scholes. Negative, John Crothers and Leon Kees.

Wonderful bursts of oratory from both sides were enjoyed by the audience, until Director Sechler called time and sent the judges, Mrs. Delora Curle, Mrs. John Crothers and Merwin Place to an ante room to render a decision. In a very few minutes the judges reported that "It takes the Auxiliary to keep the Legion rolling along."

After the debate, all present joined in singing several songs popular in 1918. "Over There," "Smiles," "Long, Long Trail," "Pack Up Your Troubles," "KKKKaty," "Tipperary," "Back Home in Indiana,' and "Keep the Home Fires Burning."

The Post and Auxiliary were well represented at Fort Wayne on Wednesday evening in the Fourth District Legion parade, and Open House at Post No. 47 in their new Home. You have a wonderful Home, Post 47, we congratulate you.

Legionnaires don't forget the District Convention at Columbia City on December second. The bulletin board says "Park your wives and come."

The Post recently received from the government and set up at the grave of Isaac Messe, a veteran of the Civil War, a marble head stone as issued by the government for all unmarked graves of veterans of the U. S. Army.

DEKALB PENSION ROLL ON INCREASE

With 276 names on the old age assistance rolls in DeKalb County, report was made Thursday that no deaths have occurred since Sept. 18.

The number of children receiving assistance as of Nov. 1 was 120, the number of families involved being 51. At a meeting of the welfare board at the court house Wednesday night two children's cases that had been reinvestigated were continued with no change in award.

Two new awards for age assistance were granted and one application was rejected. Of age cases reinvestigated eight were continued the same, two changes in awards were ordered and one withdrawal was reported. The board also reported an application for assistance asked in order to pay for treatment of an eye.

All members were present. Virgil Sheppard, assistant state administrator, and Mrs. Gladys Ruoff of Fort Wayne, field representative, called upon the board and the conference, relating to problems of administering the law, lasted for an hour.

YOUNG BOY MAKES RESTITUTION FOR FIRE

The town board was somewhat surprised this week to receive a letter containing $7.00 for a fire call made last summer and with it came a letter of explanation.

We print it as follows:

Rural Route 1
Spencerville, Ind.
Nov. 6, 1937

Dear Sirs:

"You will please find in this letter $7.00 in bills for the fire run you made to our place this summer.

"I have earned this money myself as it was my fault the fire started and I did the calling of the fire department so I felt it my duty to pay this myself and not cause my father any more expense than I can.

"I have learned a good lesson which is never to play with matches.

"Please send me a receipt for this."

Yours truly,
Lavon Hart.

This call was 1½ miles south of Coburntown, the boys decided to smoke rats out of a straw stack, the fire resulting.

This young man deserves a lot of credit.

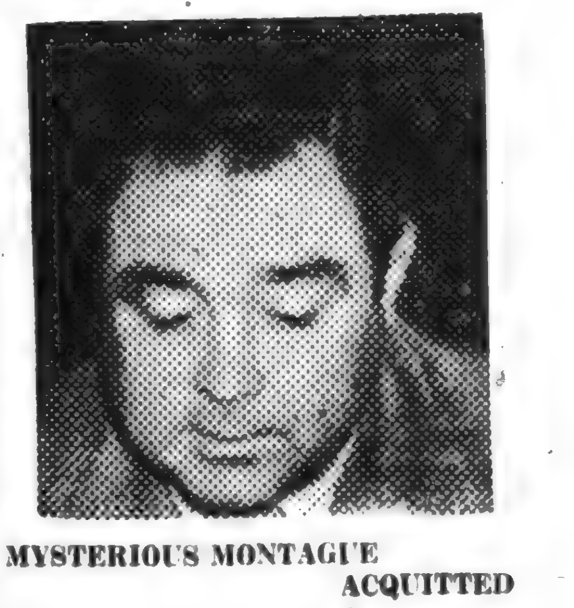
LEAVE FOR COLORADO

After suffering for many weeks and months with asthma, and unable to get relief from the many remedies used James Monroe left St. Joe on Tuesday morning for Colorado Springs, Colo., accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Vernie Monroe and daughter, Nancy, and Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Dilley. They will arrive at the Bert Hull home and then make plans for their stay. No definite time for their return was made, depending upon the relief James receives. Should the climate agree with him, we understand that he expects to remain.

NEWS TO PRINT EARLY

The News will be printed on Tuesday next week because of Thanksgiving being a holiday, and it would bring the paper to its readers one day late. All persons having matter for next week's issue, remember that Tuesday morning will constitute the dead line for that issue.

Mrs. Mayola Kinsey and Mrs. Chas. Kinsey spent yesterday in Ft. Wayne.



MYSTERIOUS MONTAGUE ACQUITTED

LaVerne Moore alias Montague, Hollywood's man of mystery after his acquittal in N. Y. on robbery charges of seven years standing. Montague is reported to have signed contracts which will bring him a total of $1,000,000 during the next several years.

FUR TRAPPERS FINED

Carl Baughman, of Stafford Township and Delbert Krontz, of Butler, plead guilty to the possession of hides of fur bearing animals taken out of season in the court of Miles Baxter, justice of the peace, in Auburn on Saturday. Both paid $25 fines and the costs amounting to $13.50. The license of both men were confiscated and they will not be allowed to trap for a year. The arrests were made by Graham Tevis, new game warden in DeKalb County.

TO CONDEMN LAND

Spencer school township, by Atkinson & Sanders, has filed a complaint in the DeKalb circuit court against Chas. F. High and others to condemn a tract of ground 56x86 in Fales addition to Spencerville for use in building a gymnasium. Some of the owners are non-residents of the state, making court action necessary to obtain title to the property.

WHAT OUR CLASSIFIED ADVERTISERS HAVE TO SAY

Sheffer—Sold trailer to the first person calling, and had two others.

Yeiser—Had one inquiry for the cow we advertised. She was promptly sold as result of using two papers.

Sible—Thanks to you, the ad sold the stove before our paper arrived on the Route. A second prospect called this week.

The date of the Band Fair and Carnival has been changed to Friday night following Thanksgiving, November 26. Full details next week. 46t1

BE CAUTIOUS

It takes more skill to handle your car in reverse than in any of the speeds ahead. Scores of motorists around St. Joe who are perfect drivers when going forward are little better than amateurs when it comes to "backing up.' And that is true of motorists everywhere, and accounts for thousands of accidents—and many deaths—every year. Failure to make sure the way is clear in all directions before going into reverse is dangerous. Backing in and out of parking places is ticklish business, for besides the safety of pedestrians passing traffic must also be reckoned with. As a precaution, sound your horn and especially look to the rear on both sides before backing—a child or some other pedestrian may have stepped into the path you are about to take while you were getting behind the wheel. Be cautious, always back carefully, and follow that safest of all rules—"Take it easy."

IT HITS EVERYBODY

An average 100-mile trip in an automobile costs $1.50 for gasoline, 20 cents for oil, 19 cents for tires, and 71 cents for accidents. Consider this last item, as it represents more than one-third of the cost of that 100 mile trip.

The St. Joe driver who has never had an accident, or at least a serious one, may think that these figures do not apply to him. But the law of averages has a habit of catching up with all of us sooner or later, and the figures quoted above are average figures. The accident bill in this country last year totaled $1,640,000,000, which was just about half the amount American motorists spent for gasoline. This accident cost averages $12.75 per capita, or $43 per family. These costs may not have hit you last year, but you may not be so lucky this year or next.

The fact that more persons died in traffic accidents in this country last year than there were American soldiers killed on the battlefields of France during the World War has been mentioned so often that it has become an old story. Few pay any attention to it nowaday. But by reducing the monetary costs of such accidents to terms that will fit the average pocketbook, it may be that the different viewpoint will cause us to be a little more careful on the highways. It's hard to get the average driver to think in terms of life and death, so maybe he will give the matter of safety more serious thought if he will stop to consider the cost of accidents from a dollar and cent standpoint.

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

Mrs. Malinda Shilling is spending a few days this week in the Wesley Rothgeb home near Milan Center.

Mrs. Henry Shroyer entertained Mrs. Clara Poper and Mrs. Myra Malone, of Butler, to dinner last Thursday.

Emmett Epler and family, of near Angola, Lake Gage, were Sunday dinner guests in the Herman Kessler home.

Mr. and Mrs. Zay Sailer were Sunday guests of the latter's sister, Mrs. Emil Hermann, and family at Fort Wayne.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Reasoner and two daughters, of Fort Wayne, took Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Reasoner.

Leon Kees returned to Nashville, Indiana, CCC Veterans Camp, Sunday afternoon, after spending the week on leave, with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ottis Wilbern, of Fairmount, spent Saturday and Sunday here with their son, Leslie, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Koch spent Wednesday evening in Fort Wayne with their son, Stanley and wife and attended Mrs. Roosevelt's lecture at the Shrine.

Mrs. E. C. Winn, of Chicago, is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. C. Borthwick. On Monday afternoon they called on Mrs. Winn's niece, Mrs. Lelah McCullough in Auburn.

Visitors in the Chas. Koch home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Koch and son, Jimmy and Miss Mary Platt, of Auburn, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Koch, of Ft. Wayne, and Mr. and Mrs. James P. Youpa, of Los Angeles, California.

Earl Kepner, of Marion, a business man, wife and two sons, Richard and Morris, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kees. Other guests were Henry Gerkin, wife and children, Winifred, Phyllis and Marjorie, of Defiance, Ohio.

The Indiana maternal death rate for the first six months of the year was 4.1 per 1000 live births, while the national rate was 4.8, according to the State Board of Health. The Indiana figure represents a decided decrease in contrast to 5.4 for the same period in 1936 and 5.8 for the same period in 1935.

On hundreds of farms in the United States and Canada thousands of the continent's finest farm animals are now in the final week of grooming for the competitions of the 38th International Live Stock Exposition, which opens here November 27 and will be in progress until December 4. Despite high feed costs during the past year, entries will equal if not surpass last year's record breaking show at which over 14,000 animals were exhibited, the management reports.

Concord Township Home Bureau will meet Friday at the home of Mrs. Dessie Hurni, Mrs. Anna Hursey being the hostess. She will be assisted by Mrs. Hurni, Doris Yeiser and Mary Ridgway. The last project lesson will be given by Mrs. Millie Shull and Mrs. Clara Folts, the subject being Meat Cookery. Reports from each member as to sales of cook books are asked for so all money collected may be turned into the county on Dec. 11th at the township presidents meeting.

A birthday surprise party and pot luck supper was enjoyed Saturday night at the M. C. Blue home, in honor of Mrs. Blue. Friends and neighbors attending were: F. A. Jenkins and wife, Harry Hursh and wife, Mrs. Pluma Hamilton, M. H. Andress and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Wilbern and daughter, Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Ottis Wilbern of Fairmount, Ind., Roy Reidenbach, wife and two daughters, Ersa and Frances, Mrs. Delora Curle, Glen Wineland and wife, Walter Irvin, Glen Kinsey, wife and son, Bobbie, Albert Wade and wife and Donald Kinsey.

SUCCESSFUL SERVICES CLOSE AT NEWVILLE

A good Sunday School followed the merged service of Morning Worship and then at the evening Evangelistic Service, along with preaching at Mt. Pleasant, Sunday morning and speaking at special service there in the afternoon made Sunday a full day for the Rev. P. A. Hubbartt, pastor of the Newville circuit of churches.

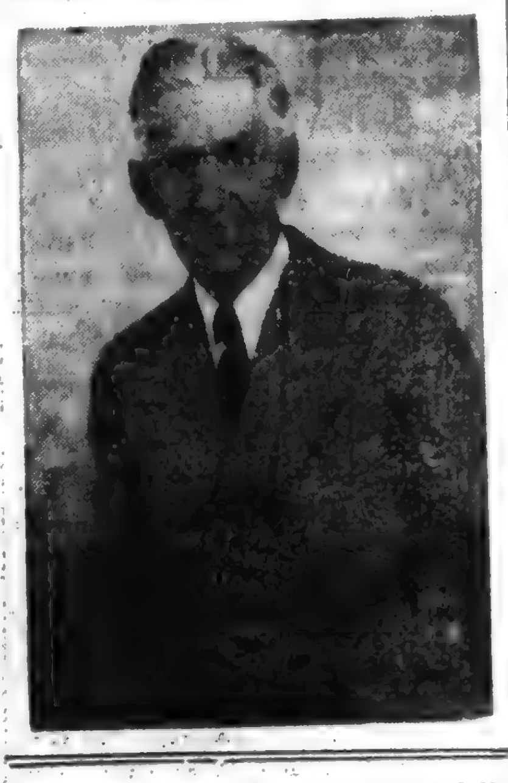
"Ye must be BORN AGAIN" was the text and subject used at the morning service.

"What will you do with Jesus?" was the subject text for the Sunday night service. Some gleanings from Mr. Hubbartt's message follow:

"Apart from God we are mechanically operated."

"Someone has said, 'Millions now living will never die,' permit me to say millions now living are already dead, they need new life. 'Ye must be born again.' 'A new heart also will I give you and a new spirit will I put within you, and I will take away the stony heart out of your flesh, and I will give you an heart of flesh.' "

Mr. Hubbartt, quoted from a Christian publication that, "Jews and Modernists have much in common, of 200,000 dollars used by the Federated Church of America, $145,000 is given by the Jews and other sources and $55,000 by the churches." The Jew does not believe in Jesus, the new birth, the Diety of Christ, the blood as the atoning power for sin, neither do adherents of the Federated Churches, they instruct ministers to deceitfully take the pulpits. Don't let the people know you are a modernist, ust mental reservation, you can say you believe Christ divine, with the reservation that man is divine, the resurrection, because in a way we are all resurrected.



"A preacher is a soul murderer that preaches that any ritual will save The Soul."

"A sinner in Heaven would be worse off than the saint in Hell."

"Heaven is a prepared place for a prepared people."

"Nicodeums was a church man yet not saved."

"Man needs transformation not reformation."

Mr. Waldo Rosenbry, Sam Wyatt, John Washler, Louie Nort, Mr. Glen Hart, principal of Newville School, and E. Herschel Crecraft with Mr. P. A. Hbbartt, drove to Fort Wayne Gospel Temple on Friday morning, with scholars from St. Joe School, Mr. Munn, principal, Newville, Glen Hart, principal and Mrs. Callaway, teacher, Mr. Orlie Willennar, principal of Newville Center, Hablewitz School, Ruth Campbell, principal, and Hopewell School, Mr. Clarence Dirrim, principal, making possible for Newville vicinity along with the thousands of listeners over WOWO Radio Bible Class period, to hear forty voices from these different schools.

Farmers visited homes to hear the broadcast and a new thrill was theirs. Clifford Hollifield and Wm. Dillon in charge of this broadcast, were happily surprised as the boys and girls were in the studio, in rehearsal when they arrived. Little Lora Mayola Reas, but 5 years of age sang a splendid chorus.

"Are we downhearted?" "Happy am I," "America," "Bring back the King," "Seek Ye First the Kingdom of God," "Added Prayer," "Saved by Grace," and "Into my heart,' were the choruses used closing with the foundation scripture used during the Golden Hour with the boys and girls. Ezek. 36:26.

Sunday night closed the series with four Juniors accepting Christ. Two testaments were given to the two leading Juniors in credits on their report cards during the Golden Hour. The Rev. P. A. Hubbartt announced that regardless of the busy time for the farmers the attendance was the best they had had in years.

Mrs. Estell Otis, 55, of Hicksville, sister of Mrs Harry Reas, of north of town, died of pulmonary tuberculosis, Nov. 5, after an illness of many months.

As Congress Meets
By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

As Congress meets in its current special session, the American people look hopefully to Capitol Hill for relief from the many problems which have troubled them through recent months.

For from Washington and elsewhere have come many signs more or less optimistic in nature.

They indicate:

That members of Congress, fresh from human contacts with the men and women back home, will be guided by the wishes of those constituents, rather than by the demands of officeholders and politically-appointed bureau chiefs.

That Congress will again assert a sense of its responsibility under the government of balanced powers established by our Constitution.

That Congress will remember that taxes are paid out of the earnings of the men and women who labor, and that every dollar flung recklessly into new and odd experiments is a dollar out of a wage-earner's envelope or a housewife's budget.

That Congress will realize that the solution of unemployment lies not in jungles of diagrams and figures, but in encouraging the enterprise which creates employment—and with it national progress.

That Congress will insist that ours is a government of and for all the people, and not for groups and classes favored on the basis of how many votes they represent.

This, say commentators from Washington, represents the spirit of many Congressmen after their healthful contacts with the folks at home.

America will hope it is an accurate picture. And Congressmen should hope so, too. For on the judgment of those folks at home, depends ultimately not only re-election to Congress, but the progress of our nation as well.

Politicians may talk and threaten, but it is the people who make the decisions and cast the votes.

This is something for Washington to remember—as Congress meets.

Miss LaNore Laub, a teacher in the Hicksville schools, spent the week end here with her parents.

Howard Means has moved on the Homer Jackson farm, and will farm for both Mr. Kling and Mr. Jackson.

By the Ladies Aid having their quota at the aluminum demonstration Friday evening, they received $10.00.

A number in our community attended the revival services held at the Corunna Christian Church Sunday evening.

Coburn's Corners was represented in the Armistice parade in Fort Wayne last Wednesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Lehr Wilder.

Mrs. Mattie Hart and daughter called Monday afternoon on Mrs. J. N. Scholes and William Hamilton. Both are improving nicely.

Friends and neighbors gave a miscellaneous shower Wednesday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Dale Trostel, who reside on the Powers farm.

Rev. Walter Coburn and family and Miss Bonita Shaffer were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Coburn and Wilmot Coburn.

Mrs. Miller, of Fort Wayne, came for a few days visit with her mother, at the home of Mr. Edwin Guthrie, who does not improve as her friends would like.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Poper, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Hart and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hart attended the Cadle meeting held in the Shrine Temple in Fort Wayne, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hart, Mrs. Eva Shull and Garth Shull and family spent Sunday afternoon with Lee Mercer and family of Butler. Mr. Mercer is suffering from injuries received in loading stock.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hamilton and son, James, were entertained Sunday at the home of his sister, Mrs. O. K. Shull, in honor of his birthday, which was the past week. We are all glad to hear of Mr. Hamilton's improvement.

The Rural Housewife Club was pleasantly entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Abner Trostel, president. Mrs. Fred Hart had charge of the meeting. Fourteen members and one guest responded to roll call, giving their Thanksgiving menu. Report of sick committee heard minutes of previous meeting read. Plans were also started for the Chrstmas party. All members that can should be present at next meeting to help complete the arrangements. The hostess, assisted by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Dale Trostel, served dainty refreshments. Club adjourned to meet November 23 with Mrs. Leona Mason.

The Spencer Township Home Bureau met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Berneice Wilder. Meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Zona Abel, then all singing The Star Spangled Banner. Pledge to the Flag, followed by reading of minutes and roll call, with the members responding on "What the Armistice Means to Me." The hostess gave instructions on how to display the Flag properly. The penny march was followed by Mrs. Dora Wilder giving the project lesson on nourishment in vegetables and meat. Several reported their success of cook book sale now on. The hostess then invited all to the dining room, where a dainty luncheon was served to nine members and seven guests.

Dame Fortune can never be fathomed, for she works in surprising and often disappointing ways. Ray Salzman has discovered this. Until late Sunday evening of last week was going to play one of the leading roles in the Garrick Club play, Ah Wilderness!, performed two evenings last week. But Sunday night he became ill, and it was found that he had severe appendicitis. Salzman was taken to a Chicago Hospital early Monday morning. That afternoon he was wheeled into the operating room, and that was the end of the play as far as he was concerned. Robert Klopfenstein, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Hart, of this place, was drafted into service for the leading role of Richard Miller. With only three days remaining before the show was to go on, Klopfenstein willingly accepted and started the wearying drill. Amid hearty applause and quiet attentiveness, the laughter, loves, and heartbreaks of an average American family were revealed to Lake Forest audiences both nights, where Robert is in college. Klopfenstein deserves all the applause he received and more, because he turned in a thorough characterization, which he had only three days to prepare. He worked literally day and night to fill the gap left by the stricken lad.

Safetygrams

BY FRED W. BRAUN © The Safety Man

The primitive man met dangers which were inevitable. We meet dangers which are preventable.

Automobile accidents can be prevented. In fact, all accidents can be prevented. What makes the moral significance of this safety movement is the fact that we can, if we will, eliminate to a very large degree the appalling dangers of modern life.

We should realize and appreciate the value of a human being. Not all people seem to realize or appreciate that.

The carelessness regarding human life is the great tragedy that hangs over human industry. Only recently has there developed a regard for human life, and we hope that this regard will increase.

The motorist can help considerably in solving this problem by driving carefully, courteously, and thoughtfully on our highways.

Altogether I Need Lamps

We'll Help You, Madam, to Brighten Up!

Believe it or not, our business is—partly—to spread sunshine and light. We do it by brightening up countless homes with genuine Edison MAZDA Lamps—known everywhere as "The Sun's Only Rival." These fine electric lamps have never been surpassed in giving the most light for the current used.

Look about your home. Count the empty sockets—count the blackened, wasteful lamps. Jot down your figures right on this advertisement; then clip the ad and slip it into your purse.

Let it remind you, on your next shopping trip, that you can afford to burn Edison MAZDA Lamps freely. Let it remind you to come to us, without delay, for a good supply. Singly or in handy cartons of six.

"Parents look to your schools."

The health and welfare of their own children are at stake and for that reason they cannot afford to be in the wrong about so important a matter.

Are you interested in athletics, there are violent arguments pro and con concerning this. Let the parents find out for themselves what is going on in the schools.

Schools are extremely expensive and no time should be wasted. The children's ages 6 to 18 are so precious. They must not be wasted.

Let our school education be of genuine use and pleasure throughout our lives.

NEWS FROM COUNTY AGENT

CORN LOANS WILL BE MADE TO FARMERS UNDER THE 1937-38 AGRICULTURAL CONSERVATION PROGRAM

Under the 1937-38 Agricultural Conservation Program, corn loans will be made to farmers who make application to the County Agricultural Conservation Committee.

In order that a farmer will be eligible for a corn loan, certain rules and regulations will have to be met. We would like to enumerate some of these, so that farmers considering taking this loan may know what the most important requirements will be.

First: Any person, partnership, association, or corporation, either as landlord, landowner, farm operator, or tenant, who has received or will receive a grant payment in connection with his participation in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program, will be eligible.

Second: Corn will be moisture tested.

Third: Cribs must be of a substantial structure with a roof that will adequately protect the corn for at least two years, and on a foundation high enough for ventilation. Also, the crib must be narrow enough for ventilation and stand separately from other buildings.

Fourth: Cribs must be sealed according to rules and regulations.

The loans on this corn will draw 4% interest, for eight months, after which the loan may be renewed for ten months, making a total of eighteen months time for which this money may be borrowed.

Insurance must be obtained by the producer on all corn offered as collateral.

Ralph Bartles, Chairman
DeKalb County A. C. A.

"WHY" OF 1938 FARM PLAN IS TOPIC OF MEETINGS

Election of community committeemen and discussion of current farm problems and the objectives of the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program will take place at the community meetings to be held in DeKalb County during the week of Nov. 15th, according to Ralph Bartles, Chairman of the County Agricultural Conservation Committee. The schedule of local meetings is as follows:

Nov. 17, Butler Township at Butler Center. Fairfield Township at Fairfield Center.

Nov. 17, Concord Township at St. Joe Town Hall. Franklin Township at Franklin Center.

Nov. 18, Grant Township at Waterloo Library. Jackson Township at Jackson Center.

Nov. 18, Keyser Township at North Keyser. Newville Township at Newville Center.

Nov. 18, Richland Township at West Richland.

Nov. 19, Smithfield Township at St. Michael's. Spencer Township at Spencerville Bank.

Nov. 19, Stafford Township at Stafford Center. Troy Township at Troy Center.

Nov. 19, Wilmington Township at Butler Town Hall.

Nov. 20, Union Township at Assembly Room Auburn Court House.

All Meetings Start at 8:00 P. M.

The program for 1938 aims at much the same purpose as did the 1936 and 1937 programs, Mr. Bartles says, but somewhat different methods are being used. At the meetings to be held in this county the reasons back of the provisions of the new program will be discussed as well as the provisions themselves.

The general outlines of the 1938 program are simpler than former programs Mr. Bartles says. There are three main points of the program that the farmer needs to know.

The first is that a single total payment representing the amount that a farmer can earn, will be calculated at the beginning of the year. He will know just what he has to do to earn this payment.

The second of these is the total soil depleting crop goal, along with special soil depleting crop goals, if any. These represent the farmers share of a national goal of soil depleting crops.

Third, and in addition to the soil depleting crop goal, each farmer will have a soil-building goal established for his farm. This soil-bilding goal represents a total of soil conserving practices for the farm. The farmer will be able to use about the same for his farm. This soil-building goal goal as were listed in the soil conserving practices in 1937, but they will be counted on an acreage basis toward achieving the goal and not at any specified rate of payment.

AUBURN LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

Furnished by
Ward Jackman, Sec.-Treas.

There were 523 head of stock on sale in this week's auction. Receipts were more than last week but prices were strong to higher.

Hogs: 160 to 180, $8.95; 250 to 285, $8.75. Fat sows, $7.40 to $7.80 Boars, $4.80 to $5.70; feeder shoats, $10.00 to $12.00.

Sheep and Lambs: Lambs fit for slaughter made a top of $9.10 with the bulk of the offerings moving at $8.50 to $9.00. Slaughter ewes around $3.00. Bucks around $5.00 to $12.00 per head.

Cattle: There are a lot of thin pasture cattle, mostly young heifers, going to market as the approach of winter takes them off pasture but there seems to be no lack of buyers who take them at seemingly good prices. Fat cows sold from $5.00 to $6.05; bulls from $5.10 to a new high of $8.20. The top milk cow of the sale brought $62.00.

The How and Why of the National Unemployment Census

A nation-wide census of all unemployed and partially unemployed persons in the United States will be taken between the dates of November 16 to 20, by act of Congress, and at the direction of President Roosevelt.

Here, in question-and-answer form, is the information you need to know about this plan.

1. WHAT IS PURPOSE OF THE UNEMPLOYMENT CENSUS?
   To get an accurate count of the unemployed and partly unemployed.
2. TO WHOM WILL CARDS BE SENT?
   To every family in the United States.
3. UNDER WHOSE AUSPICES IS THE CENSUS BEING TAKEN?
   Congress has decreed, and the President has directed, that it be taken.
4. IS THE CENSUS COMPULSORY?
   No. But every unemployed or partly unemployed person is urgently requested to cooperate.
5. HOW WILL THE CENSUS BE CONDUCTED?
   Through the facilities of the Post Office Department. Report Cards will be delivered to every family. Cards are to be returned by mail to Washington for tabulation and analysis.
6. WHEN WILL THE CENSUS BE TAKEN?
   Cards will be delivered on November 16 and must be returned by MIDNIGHT NOVEMBER 20. They are already addressed and no postage is required.
7. WHO SHOULD FILL AND RETURN CARDS?
   Every person who is unemployed or partly unemployed who is able to work and wants work.
8. WHAT AGE LIMITS APPLY?
   There are no age limits except existing State regulations concerning workers' ages.
9. SHOULD MORE THAN ONE UNEMPLOYED PERSON IN A FAMILY RETURN A CARD?
   Yes. Every unemployed member of a family should fill out and return a card, if able to work and seeking work.
10. WHERE MAY ADDITIONAL CARDS BE OBTAINED?
    At any post office or from your postman.
11. WHERE CAN INFORMATION BE SECURED IN FILLING OUT CARDS?
    At your post office or from your postman.
12. IS THIS CENSUS CONFINED TO AMERICAN CITIZENS?
    No. All permanent residents of the United States are included.
13. IS THE INFORMATION GIVEN ON THE CARDS TO BE CONSIDERED CONFIDENTIAL?
    Yes. This information will be used for unemployment statistics only.
14. SHOULD EVERY QUESTION OF THE CENSUS CARD BE ANSWERED?
    Yes. To obtain the most accurate information possible, the President asks that each question be answered. Numbers 9 and 10 are particularly important. However, failure to answer some of the questions will not invalidate the card.
15. WHO IS AN "UNEMPLOYED" PERSON?
    A person of either sex or any color who is not working and is able to work and seeking work.
16. WHO IS A "PARTLY UNEMPLOYED" PERSON?
    A person of either sex or any color with part-time employment who is able to do more work and is looking for more work.
17. ARE PERSONS ON EMERGENCY WORK PROJECTS INCLUDED?
    Yes. They should register as unemployed. A specific question, Number 2c, is provided on the Report Card for all persons working on a W.P.A., N.Y.A., C.C.C., or other emergency work project which is supported by public funds.

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

The White House
Washington

TO EVERY WORKER:

If you are unemployed or partly unemployed and are able to work and are seeking work, please fill out this report card right away and mail it before midnight, Saturday, November 20, 1937. No postage stamp is needed.

The Congress directed me to take this census. It is important to the unemployed and to everyone in this land that the census be complete, honest, and accurate. If you give me the facts, I shall try to use them for the benefit of all who need and want work and do not now have it.

VOL. LII. (52 YEARS) (In the St. Joe Valley) ST. JOE, DeKALB COUNTY, INDIANA. THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1937 NUMBER 17

MORE HUNTERS AND MORE GAME WARDEN REPORTS INDICATE

Preliminary reports on the early part of the hunting season indicate an increased number of hunters as well as an increase in the amount of game, Virgil M. Simmons, commissioner of the Departmet of Conservation, said today. The reports from game wardens covered the first four days of the open season in practically every county.

While almost every report noted an increase in the amount of game, the wardens pointed out that unusually heavy cover and dry, comparatively warm weather handicapped the bird hunters. Six central Indiana counties reported that an increased number of fox had reduced the amount of game in those areas. In a few counties flood waters were credited with cutting down the number of birds and rabbits.

In checking 45 Clay County hunters for licenses, the warden found that they had 59 rabbits, 45 quail and a pheasant. In Benton County seventy-five per cent of the early season hunters had pheasants; more ducks were reported in Greene County than last year; on Lake County many of the early hunters bagged their limits on duck and waterfowl; in Morgan County, aftr two days hunting, a party of five had 85 quail and 22 rabbits; duck hunting is better than last year in Spencer and Warrick Counties; in Jasper County four hundred duck hunters had 300 birds and 500 rabbit hunters had 262 cottontails.

The wardens were almost unanimous in predicting that colder weather would result in considerably better hunting throughout the state, making both quail and rabbits easier to find and thining out some of the dense cover which frequently made shooting impossible.

Experience during the four-day open season on cock pheasants convinced most Hoosier sportsmen that these birds are well able to take care of themselves and provide real sport. Frequently hunters tramped through areas which they knew sheltered pheasants without getting a shot. Department of Conservation officials were particularly pleased by the attitude of the hunters with few violations of hunting laws or cases of trespass by hunters. These phases of good sportsmanship have been stressed by conservationists as essential to the future of hunting. In one county the warden reported that over 90 per cent of the cars used by hunters were parked in farm yards, indicating that the sportsmen were asking and receiving permission to hunt.

CHICAGO STOCK SHOW WILL OPEN THIS WEEK

America's biggest farm congress, the International Live Stock Exposition and Horse Show, will open in Chicago next Saturday morning in the International Amphitheatre.

The exposition will be in progress for eight days, from November 27 to December 4. It will be the 38th anniversary of this largest annual showing of live stock and farm products.

Purebred beef cattle breeders from 25 states and three Canadian provinces will exhibit a total of 1348 animals. Shorthorn and Aberdeen-angus herds will be sent from 19 states and Canada, and Herefords will be here from 12 states.

Sheep breeders from 16 states and Canada send exhibition flocks for the competitions of eleven different breeds.

Farm youths from 12 states will compete on the opening day in a junior live stock feeding contest. They will exhibit a total of 405 baby beeves, lambs, and pigs of their own raising, most of which have been prize winners at State and County Fairs.

A total of 465 draft horses, representing five breeds, will be exhibited by breeders in 13 states, and swine herds have been listed by stockmen in ten states.

Livestock feeders in 15 states, Ontario and Saskatchewan, will exhibit over 300 carloads of cattle, sheep, and swine in the exposition's carlot competitions, which comprise the largest showing of prime market animals to be seen at any exposition in the world.

LEGION AUXILIARY NOTES

Walter Whitehurst American Legion Auxiliary Unit Number 283 meets on every second and fourth night of each month at 7:30 o'clock in the Legion rooms of the K. of P. Hall in St. Joe.

On Nov. 16, the dedication service held at the new home of Fort Wayne Unit 47 was a beautiful sight. Thirty-five new members were initiated into Unit 47. The work was put on by the Unit 47 uniformed drill team, and their work was well done, it was very impressive.

The new home was presented to the Auxiliary Unit by Commander Ernst of Post 47. A short address was given by Charles Pierre Adjutant of Post 47.

Carl Graham, 4th District Commander and winner of the trip to place the Indiana wreath on the Unknown Soldier in Arlington Cemetery, gave a very interesting lecture of his trip.

Distinguished guests included Marie Behmer, State President, Mrs. Louise Young, Northern Indiana Membership chairman.

Among those from the St. Joe Unit attending were Mrs. Roy Reidenbach, Mrs. Anna Bachtel ad Mrs. Clark Scholes.

On Thursday, Nov. 17 the Fourth District Auxiliary Convention was held in Wolcottville. This meeting was entirely of reports and business. State president and North Indiana membership chairman were present at this meeting. The next District convention will be held in January with the St. Joe Unit as host. The exact date will be announced later. Mrs. Lehr Wilder, Mrs. Anna Bachtel and Mrs. Clark Scholes attended the district meeting. Committees for this meeing are being selected now.

We are asking for jellies, preserves or butters to be sent to the Knightstown Orphanage. We are wondering if you realize it takes 125 glasses of jelly to serve one meal to these little tots in the Home. Can you spare just one container of jelly? The only thing we ask is that you send us a well sealed container, one that will be easy to ship by mail If you have anything for us get in touch with the Unit President, Mrs. Hazel Baltz, Knightstown chairman.

Our Veterans Hospital is asking for more silk. They do not have enough to keep the Veterans minds and hands occupied. We need old silk stockings, underwear, neck ties, dresses, old drapes, any thing that they can use to make rugs out of.

STOCKING NEW LAKES FOR FUTURE FISHING

Artificial lakes being developed by the Works Progress Administration in sixty-five Indiana counties have been and wil lbe stocked with game fish by the Department of Conservation to porvide additional fishing for Hoosier anglers, Virgil M. Simmons, commissioner, said today.

These lakes, all of which will be open to the public for fishing, range in size from two to 115 acres and many of them have a water area of twenty acres. While providing additional fishing in central and southern Indiana, the lakes will have a definite value through the conservation of water during dry months. Many of them have been located in areas where farmers have been forced to haul water for their homes and live stock. In some cases the dams will be sufficiently large to create conservancy areas in time of flood, holding back large quantities of water.

Construction of the lakes supplements the stream improvement program sponsored by the Department of Conservation and WPA which has resulted in the construction of several thousand low dams in streams and creeks to retain water during the months that these watercourses normally dry up or become stagnant. Pools created by these dams were a material benefit to farmers during the past summer, furnishing water for livestock and maintaining moisture in adjoining fields. Many of these pools have already been stocked with game fish.

HOLDS RECORD AS JUDGE FOR DEKALB COUNTY

"It was fifteen years ago today that I started in this office," Judge Wm. P. Endicott recalled Saturday. When first elected he had jurisdiction in both DeKalb and Steuben Counties but DeKalb was made a separate circuit later. Judge Endicott estimates that he has handled 9,000 civil, criminal and probate trial cases in the local court. He is the first judge, at least for many decades, to serve as long as two terms and he is now in his third six year term.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

The annual Bible evening of the Ladies Literary Club was held at the home of Mrs. Avis Staman last Wednesday evening. The program was in charge of the Emeritus members, Mrs. Jennie Sechler, Loretta Hull, Delora Curie and Lillian Buckingham. Mrs. Sechler had charge of the program which consisted of "The Story of Jeptha's Daughter" read by Catherine Haller; the books of the Bible in rhyme, by Belle Woodcox. Mrs. Sechler and Mrs. Hull read very interesting articles on the Bible and Mrs. Buckingham a poem. Mrs. Delora Curie conducted a Bible contest. Hymns of all churches were then sung. Mrs. Mary Wilbern read the story of the writing of several old hymns and spirituals and after the reading of each story a trio, Mrs. Avis Staman, Lora Leighty and Edith Cole with Cora Curie at the piano, sang each one.

Responses to roll call were Bible verses. The ladies very much appreciated this work of the Emeritus members and voted this one of the most interesting Bible evenings ever held.

THANKSGIVING

Again the harvest season reaches a close, and again comes America's day of Thanksgiving.

Inso some hearts rain may have fallen since last this national holiday was celebrated, but despite this there also must have come some sunshine, and it is for the sunshine that everyone in St. Joe and the nation in genaral now offers a prayer of thanks and a plea for another year fraught with such blessings as a kindly Providence has seen fit to bestow in the year now nearing its close.

Blessed by crops more bountiful than in normal years; unhampered by shattered peace or warfare with any sister nation; heartened by steady steps toward normal industrial and financial conditions, America has much cause for thankfulness at this time. To those who enjoy the greatest of all blessings—good health—there is the greatest reason for returning thanks on this great national holiday. To those who have suffered, or across whose path the dark clouds of adversity have fallen during the year, there still is left the blessing of hope for brighter days ahead. In fact, in a country numbering its blessings as generously as this one, there should be no heart without cause for thankfulness.

With the past, and whatever regrets its holds, behind us; with the future steadily growing brighter and confidence and hope growing stronger, this community joins with the balance of the nation in offering up its prayon this Thanksgiving Day. Each prayer will be in the same spirit of hopefulness which has made America great, and each prayer will be from a heart that is thankful for the privilege of being permitted to share in her greatness.

Thanksgiving, if thoughtfully observed, is a fine spiritual tonic. An occasional check-up is as good for the human mind and soul as it is for a machine. It is human nature to feel that our neighbors and friends have more of this or that good thing than we do. But, when we stop to think carefully about it, most of us will agree that we should be, and are, thankful for a wealth of blessings.

We are thankful, it is true, but, too often, we are not deeply grateful. We are inclined to thank God in a rather superficial way for the benefits of food and clothing and shelter, for the fine country in which we live—and let it go at that.

All these are wonderful blessings, and we cannot thank God enough for them. And, in addition to these, surely God does not want us to forget to be thankful for our fellow man. Did Christ not say, "Love ye one another?" For centuries, countless numbers of fine, earnest men and women have struggled to benefit and uplift humanity. They have made life easier, safer and more enjoyable for us. They have made electricity do almost unbelievable tasks for us which lighten our work and contribute immeasurably to our pleasure and our safety. They have built bridges and highways, and those three marvels of transportation, trains, automobiles and airplanes. They have discovered new medicines and devices for the care and healing of the sick. They have built laboratories for further research. They have founded schools and churches and recreational centers in order to develop the characters of young people to a well-rounded maturity.

It is hard to express adequately our thankfulness for the daily companionship of those who make up the inner circle of our family and close friends. What, except the love of God, can compare with the devotion and understanding of a mother and father? Their love conquers the greatest obstacle, and time does not change it. Yes, truly, we are thankful for our fellow man.

But where does this gratitude lead us? If we are thankful for only a few minutes on Thanksgiving Day, we find ourselves on a dead-end street. But if we carry in our hearts this deep sense of gratitude for the faithful work, the nobility, and the heroism of our fellow men, we shall emerge upon the broad highway of achievement. Here are thousands of others who are working for their own betterment and that of humanity, and by being truly thankful to them, we may take our place beside them.

1938 POLITICAL YEAR TO ELECT COUNTY OFFICIALS

Persons with political aspirations will have plenty of opportunities to get into office next year, according to the number of places to be filled at the biennial election.

The following county offices are subject to the 1938 election: Prosecuting attorney, state representative, auditdr, treasurer, recorder, sheriff, coroner, surveyor, assessor, commissioner southeast, and seven councilmen.

Trustee and three advisory members are to be elected in each of the fifteen townships and assessors will be chosen in Union and Keyser Townships. Precinct cemmitteemen also are on the list.

City elections will take place in Auburn and Garrett. In each city a mayor, clerk-treasurer and five councilmen will be chosen.

The voters also will elect delegates to the party conventions and will elect a congressman, United States senator, secretary of state, auditor of state, treasurer of state, clerk of the supreme court, superintendent of public instruction and five appellate and supreme court judges.

Hundreds of candidates will make known their ambitions in March and April, when they will file their declarations in the office of the county clerk. The primary will be held in May. The new precinct committeemen of each party will convene in Auburn the Saturday following the primary and elect new county chairmen. They in turn will elect district chairmen and then state chairmen are to be chosen.

The general election will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 8.

THE BAND FAIR AND CARNIVAL

Next Friday night at the gym, the Band will stage an effort to raise funds for uniforms.

Among other attractions will be a Kangaroo Court which will furnish uproarious amusement for the entire evening.

The Fortune Tellers who will delve into the future and tell you all you want to know.

And watch for the wandering minstrel DON JUAN DE LA DERIGUEZ—from the Argentine Republic, who will demonstrate all of the Spanish fandangoes.

The Band members will surely appreciate your patronage. 47t1.

Kitchen Kinks

Eggs will not cause the grease to spatter when they are dropped into the hot frying pan if a little flour is added to the hot grease first.....Foods fried in deep fat will not absorb too much of the grease in which they are fried if a teaspoonful of vinegar is added to the hot lard.....To coat doughnuts with sugar, put sugar in a paper bag, shaking doughnuts in bag to coat them.

Harley Like, wife and baby are home from Adrain, Mich., for over Thanksgiving. Wayne Graber and wife are also expected for the day. Wayne was on a deer hunting expedition to Beverton, Mich., and he shot an eight point buck.

FIRST SNOW FOUND HIGHWAY WORKERS READY FOR ACTION

First snows of the season found state highway maintenance forces prepared for winter operations and workers will be on the job whenever snow or ice threatens to interfere with traffic, Earl Crawford, chairman of the State Highway Commission, announced today.

During the winter months state highway patrolmen and maintenance workers are subject to call day and night, clearing the highways of snow or ice and spreading sand or other abrasive materials on curves and grades where there is danger of skidding. Each patrolman is responsible for keeping an approximate twenty mile section of the highway open for traffic and goes on duty whenever there is danger of drifts or ice in his district.

Through familiarity with his maintenance section, the patrolman can usually anticipate the places where drifts will form or ice create a hazard to motorists, giving these his first attention. While no formal list of preferential roads for snow and ice removal has been compiled, patrolmen have been instructed to clear the main traveled roads first.

Preparations for winter were started in the thirty-six sub-district garages several weeks ago when trucks, ment received a thorough checking. snow plows, graders and other equip- In the northern part of the state miles of snow fence has been erected to check formation of drifts and in all sub-districts sand, cinders and other material has been stocked along highways to be spread on curves and grades.

Highway snow plows and other equipment used to clear the roads is brightly lighted at night to prevent accidents and all motorists driving on highways where maintenance workers are engaged in snow and ice removal, should drive carefully. On roads where there are heavy drifts, all vehicles should remain behind the snow plows and not attempt to pass until signalled that the road ahead is clear.

Fifty years ago St. Joe citizens did not have the "advantages" we have today, but they had a lot more time to enjoy those they did have.

Every cloud still has its silvery lining—unless it happens to be a war cloud.

Another problem that probably never will be solved is what ants do in winter when there are no picnics.

The treasury department says it can't produce dimes and quarters fast enough to supply the demand. And it's the same way with a lot of fathers.

They say the less a man has the prouder he is of it. This seems especially true in the matter of brains.

Freedom is your right, provided you are old enough to restrain yourself and respect the rights of others.

A Chicago editor favors giving every man who pays his taxes a medal, but by the time some fellows around here get through paying their taxes they haven't anything left to pin the medal on.

Another thing well worth remembering is that real Christians do not carry their religon. Their religion carries them.

What the future has in store for you depends a good deal on what you put in store for the future.

If you want to see an old-timer wiggle with delight just let a good looking woman tell him he has a fine forehead.

It's a question which is the biggest nuisance in this country today—the wolf at the back door or the tax collector at the front door.

And just to think that down in South America they are just beginning to dig dandelions out of the front yard and sharpen the lawn mower.

And what doth it profit a nation to have so much gold when another nation has so much brass?

One thing that never seems to break down in Hollywood is the merry-go-round.

Some old-timers can remember when the only time a woman appeared on the streets with as little on as she wears now was when her house caught fire.

Once more Congress, that never-failing source of comment, is in session. Although called specifically to attend to emergency legislation, the Senate starts business by a deadlock on the anti-lynching bill. The end sought to be accomplished is commendable, but in no sense represents an emergency. Without attempting to defend lynching under any circumstances, it is to be observed that benign measures generally are used to strengthen the central government and to detract from the rights of the states. How far states are to be protected throws us back to a discussion that raged years ago, and so it appears that legislation, like almost everything else, goes around and around in a circle, with little involved that is new essentially and in principle.

The President's message called for action tending to help the farmer, for tax revision, especially as to small business, for crop control, for regulation of wages, and for the familiar activity which is designated by the somewhat elastic title of reorganizing the government, any one of which, to say nothing of all taken together, is enough to start a general scratching of Congressional heads, and it appears that if Congress quits at the end of the session with a clean slate there will be plenty to do in the meantime. Conforming to precedent, the Senate recessed to notify the Chief Executive that Congress was in session. He may have suspected as much before he was told about it officially.

According to a newspaper heading, the peace parley in Brussels scores Japan and waits on the United States for pressure. The scoring does not seem to have changed Japan's course of action greatly, whatever effect it may have had on her feelings. As for exerting pressure, it is strange how this country is relied upon by Europe to do the dirty work, when there is dirty work to be done. It seems odd that power should be expected from a country that is unable to collect its overdue debts. That there exists in the United States a sympathy for China seems probable, but when one views the acres of soldier's graves at Arlington, to say nothing of the liberal sowing of mounds in every other part of the country, there arises a feeling that perhaps we are justified in furnishing a liberal supply of advice about affairs in the Orient and letting it go at that. The United States turned back a wave that swept Kaiser Wilhelm into exile. Perhaps it is someone else's turn next. In return for Wilhelm, whose doings did not concern us much anyhow, we got Hitler, the Duce, and a Red Russia not averse to over-throwing all existing governments but its own. Somehow there persists the feeling that so far as messing with the World War is concerned, Uncle Sam at the end was left holding the sack. The situation in the Far East may embody another sack which Europe would be quite willing to turn over to the U. S. A. at the wind-up.

A woman is dead in the vicinity of New York City, after fourteen years of service as boss of sixteen servants on a large estate. She chose to pass as a man and death alone revealed the truth as to her sex. When things go smoothly about the house, there is always some secret connected with the even flow of domestic affairs. Although the secret barely comes out due to a mere removal of garments, the facts generally are the same. A woman is the cause.

Seventeen persons are sent to prison in Italy for plotting against Mr. Mussolini, and the ax falls in Russia for a similar reason with such regularity that the event is scarcely noticed. There are many who think that Mr. Hoover wrecked the country. Not a few look on Mr. Roosevelt as something of a menace. Yet Mr. Roosevelt preserves the level tenor of his way without fear of conspiracy against his person, and Mr. Hoover went quietly out of office in the same security. Partisans may pass hard words, but opposition, however directed, seems to prefer a sane and lawful means of expression, and the United States continues to be a safe place in which to live.

HUNTING DON'TS

Here are some timely and sensible dont's for local hunters who may be inclined to grow careless with firearms along about this time of year—learn them by heart or paste them in your hat:

Don't pull a gun carelessly through a fence or from an auto. Remove the shells before crawling through a fence. Don't use your gun to club game from the brush. Don't carry it cocekd—it's always closer to you than it is to the game. Never point a weapon at anyone in fun. Don't walk ahead of an inexperienced hunter—let him go first. Don't leave a gun where children can reach it; all weapons are popguns to them. Don't leave a loaded gun in the house; bears are not coming into the living room this year. Never allow your gun muzzle to clog with mud or snow.

Hunting accidents caused 2,000 deaths in 1936. If everyone obeys the above rules closely there won't be any around here in 1937.

WALK IN SAFETY

The idea that it is safer to walk with traffic than against it still exists in the minds of a good many citizens. Despite the repeated warnings of traffic authorities pedestrians continue to turn their backs on vehicles bearing down on them, instead of facing cars coming toward them. In walking against traffic one should walk as close the edge of the road as possible. Then, if he keeps his wits about him, he won't be caught unawares and hit—except in such cases as when a car for some reason or other suddenly swerves from the road. If you are walking against traffic you have the advantage of seeing cars that are coming toward you; you have the protection of your own eyes as well as the eyes of the driver. If you have to walk on a highway, walk against traffic. Then you will live to walk another day.

A WORD OF WISDOM

We are not trying to tell you your business, or regulate your affairs, but a sensible suggestion is never out of place—and here is a timely and sensible one. Before you are tempted to answer the alluring mail-order ads offering Christmas gifts or holiday goods, wait a little while and see what local merchants will have to offer you. They will no doubt show about the same type of goods, and there's always the chance you will see something here at home you will want more than you'll want the mail-order merchandise after it gets here. It's only home-town loyalty to do this, but for your own satisfaction, and with a view to making your own Christmas a happier one, it's the sensible thing to do. It won't be long now until local merchants will be displaying their holiday wares, and advertising them. So be patient, be loyal to your home-town, and be economical at the same time. Let the mail-order ads go this year and buy all your Christmas merchandise right here at home.

DEKALB COUNTY HOME BUREAU CHORUS GOES ON THE AIR

The DeKalb County Home Bureau Chorus of thirty voices will "go on the air" over Fort Wayne Station WOWO on Friday noon, December 10th from 11:30 to 12:15.

The Purdue Agricultural Alumni Association will present a series of five broadcasts over the various stations in Indiana to be known as "Indiana Agriculture goes on the Air." Most of the program will be concerned with farm problems and discussions.

The fifth and last of these programs will come from WOWO, Fort Wayne, Friday, Dec. 10th., 11:30 to 12:15. The DeKalb County Home Bureau chorus will give about eight minutes of this program.

In preparation for this program the ladies will meet at the Eckhart Public Library on Monday, November 29 at 1:30 P. M. for a rehearsal. All Home Bureau ladies wishing to sing in the chorus should attend this rehearsal.

DEMANDS $1,000 FOR HER INJURIES RECEIVED

A complaint for $1,000 damages has been filed in the DeKalb circuit court by Irene Carrington, of Fort Wayne, against the Auburn Automobile Sales Corporation and Paul Krise.

The plaintiff states that while employed in distributing newspapers she placed a paper in a box along highway No. 30 between Tilman and Townley in Allen County last April 8. As she drove back onto the road she says an automobile owned by the defendant corporation and driven by the defendant Krise approached from the rear at high speed. Another car was coming from the opposite direction and the plaintiff claims that the defendants' car collided with the one driven by her. Miss Carrington asserts that she suffered injuries of the shoulder, neck and lower part of her back and that the rear of her automobile was crushed. Attorney Dan M. Link represents her.

Thanksgiving Day

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN

National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

Again in 1937, as through many years of its history, our Nation celebrates from ocean to ocean, from Lakes to Gulf, the most typical of all American holidays.

It is the observance of Thanksgiving Day—a celebration first dedicated to reverend gratitude for bountiful harvests; then later to appreciation of other blessings and promises of the passing years.

Never has America been without cause for such gratitude. For despite frequent problems, America remains, in a turbulent world, a land of faith and of fulfillment. That is true today, as in the past.

While other nations follow the hideous chimera of war, America remains at peace with her neighbors.

While other nations sacrifice the happiness of their people to the strutting show of nationalistic ambitions, the American people still believe in personal opportunity and freedom.

While other nations bow and scrape to the pretensions of dictators and their cliques, America is still dedicated to the proposition that all men are equal, and entitled to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

While other peoples suffer and die in the clutch of desperate economic and political experiments, Americans still enjoy the highest standards of life of any nation.

There is the glow of promise, too—not only of plentiful harvests, but of changing attitudes by our national leaders which presage freer opportunity for production of the many requirements of the American people, and wider reemployment for those on whose enterprise and labor all production depends, whether at the plow, the lathe or the desk.

For these things Americans are grateful. For these they offer thanks to a Providence which blessed their efforts to make the earth yield more generously and to create by their own unfettered energy, the greatest, the freest and most bountiful land on earth.

MR. SAMUEL ANDRESS FOUND DEAD IN BED

Samuel J. Andress, a former resident of Auburn, died suddenly at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs John E. Brown, residing on the Brown Road east of Auburn.

Mrs. Brown went to her father's room to tell him not to be in a hurry about getting up as repairs were being made on the furnace. She received no reply. She went to his bed and discovered he had died a short time before. Mr. Andress had been in good health and Tuesday evening had eaten a hearty supper. He was 86 years of age on February 15th last.

The deceased was born in Ashland County, Ohio, one of a family of seven children and is the last survivor. He came to DeKalb County when a young man and engaged in the business of threshing and also farmed. He resided in Auburn for about thirty years. Since the death of Mrs. Andress on April 27, 1936, he had made his home with his daughter. During his residence in Auburn he was custodian of the court house and later of the Auburn State and City National banks and also of the First M. E. Church. Mr. and Mrs. Andress celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in Auburn nine years ago.

Surviving are his daughter, Mrs. Brown and a son, Orlan Andress, of Jackson, Michigan.

Mr. Andress was a member of the Auburn First M. E. Church.

The funeral services were held Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock from Dilgard Bros. funeral home, with Dr. Manfred C. Wright officiatng. Burial was made in Woodlawn cemetery.

Mr. Andress was well known in St. Joe, being a cousin of M. H. Andress in whose home he frequently visited.

"Life is not so short but there is always time for courtesy."

(Correction:) Estell Otis, who died recently at Hicksville, was a brother of Mrs. Harry Reas, of north of town, and a brother-in-law of Mrs. Howard Borthwick. Both families attended the funeral at the U. B. Church in Hicksville. Burial was in the Six Corners Cemetery.

LOW DOWN from HICKORY GROVE

I was scribblin' not so long ago about how I married Mrs. Jo there in Topeka, and about where I had traveled, and about my politics and such. So a Texas editor, he wrote me an open letter.

And this Texas feller he says he says he thinks I must be a Hoover democrat. And he also intimates that the sheriff may have had something to do with my kinda extensive travelin'. And I would not be surprised if this duck himself has had some sheriff experience his ownself, but I would like to meet the gent.

So one of these days I am gonna fill up the old tank and amble down there and look this person up, and also another person, who is a V. P. of the U. S., and if I can locate him, maybe he can help me on my budget. And I will listen to him, but Uncle Sambo don't.

And I have trouble makin' ends meet, because stuff is high and most of it is high on account of taxes. And one tax that riles me up most, it is the 4 or 5 or 6 cents on gasoline—and I will ask the V. P. about that.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA.

Union Thanksgiving services are being planned in Auburn and Butler on Wednesday evening of this week.

Sunday guests of Mrs. Nan Lysher and son, Edgar, were Mrs. Anna Koch, Charles Bassett and Dean Kees. Charles is planning on a trip to California.

We are pleased with the rapidity the classified column of The News works. Wm. Hurni stated that on Thursday the ad brought a cash customer, and Mrs. Delora Curie sold her stove the same day the ad came out. Their success can be retold by you, if you will use this column.

DuWayne Kinsey is somewhat improved at the Moran home in Garrett, where he has been since taken sick two weeks ago Sunday, resulting from a severe strain caused by heavy lifting, which has affected the sciatic nerve. On Sunday he was able to walk out for the first. He stated that his physician says only patience and caution can administer relief together with walking to make readjustments necessary for relief. He expects to be able to come home possibly this week, should he continue to improve.

Celebrating the birthday of Mrs. Minnie Kagey, of 905 South Jackson Street, Auburn, last Friday, a group of relatives assembled at her home with a carry-in dinner to assist in the observance of the anniversary. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hathaway, residing on the DeKalb-Noble County Line in Fairfield Township, Mr. and Mrs. John Bishop, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. John Bishop, Jr., Mrs. George Bishop and daughter, Shirley, all of Auburn, Mrs. J. R. Bishop, of Bluffton, Dr. Clayton Hathaway and Mrs. Ida Ball, of Butler.

J. Harry Six, of Bryan, Ohio, who operates a carnival company, and has been blind for many years, regained his eyesight for a moment recently while eating his dinner. Mr. Six, who is traveling in the south at present, was treated in a hospital at Frankfort, Ky., for sinus trouble and it was at a luncheon when he caught a glimpse of his plate and described it. There was a regeular celebration along the midway. Mrs. Six writes Bryan friends, "though the story of Harry as a champion of the world as a high diver is history now, he is still a champion example of courageous refusal to surrender to his affliction."

A new well is being drilled at the Mrs. Mary Betz home.

Master Robert Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Baker, is carrying his right arm in a sling. He rolled off the davenport last week while playing and broke both bones between the elbow and wrist.

The Auburn Junior Chamber of Commerce has purchased four 12-foot evergreen trees which will be planted on each of the four corners of the court house grounds. These trees will serve for permanent Christmas holiday decorations and will be lighted during the Yuletide season.

Some drivers of automobiles feel that they must drive a car that has more horsepower than other cars. They feel that they must sit behind the wheel and drive an automoile as tho it had 100 wild horses out in front of it running at random.

Under the hood of every automobile are anywhere from 4 to 100 horses—docile and tame in the hands of some drivers, but wild and dangerous to life, limb and property in the hands of others.

"Ride 'em Cowboy" may be a good cheer at a rodeo but "step on it" is poor advice to the person who takes a car out on a public highway that other people must use.

Combine that horsepower with horse sense and drive an automobile carefully.

MUSKRATS ARE CHIEF FUR-BEARING ANIMAL TRAPPED IN INDIANA

Muskrat pelts make up more than fifty per cent of the fur trapped in Indiana during the sixty-day open season of fur-bearing animals, Virgil M. Simmons, commissioner of the Department of Conservation, reported today.

Reports made by licensed fur-buyers last year showed that 351,927 muskrat pelts were purchased from trappers while a total of 623,112 pieces of fur were handled. Opossum was the second largest contributor to Indiana's fur crop, 146,210 possum hides being bought. Other hides included in the reports were: 70,464 skunks; 24,472 raccoon; 18,114 mink; 9,131 fox, and 3,794 weasels.

The trappers received more than eight hundred thousand dollars for the pelts sold to the buyers, an increase over their revenue in the two preceding years. Before the opening of the 1937-38 trapping season on November 15, predictions were made that fur prices would be lower due to weakness of the export markets and stocks carried over from the previous season.

Muskrats abound around lakes, marhses, rivers and creeks, spending much of the time, both winter and summer, in the water. They develop a heavy fur resembling that of the seal, and coats made of muskrat hides are designated Hudson seal by furriers. Having a high rate of reproduction, muskrats are able to hold their own against natural predators and the hunter.

The "rats" as they are generally known, construct their dens either in houses built in water from reeds and grasses or in burrows in stream banks or levees. Entrances to the houses or burrows are under water while the nest is above the water line. For the most part their food consists of aquatic vegetation although they occasionally eat grain.

Opossum, raccoon, and other fur bearing animals have also demonstrated an ability to establish and maintain themselves under present day conditions, their numbers having increased in many parts of the state during recent years.

State laws designed to protect fur-bearing animals—muskrat, mink, raccoon, skunk and opossum, prohibit their being taken except during the open season extending from November 15 to January 15. There is no open season on beaver which are becoming re-established in northwestern Indiana. Red and grey fox may be taken at any time, the closed season on red fox in some parts of the state having been suspended until Jan. 15, 1939 by the legislature.

PICTURE SHOW TO BE DISCONTINUED BY MERCHANTS

The picture show sponsored by the St. Joe Merchants will be discontinued for the winter, due to weather conditions. Being held in the garage operated by Harry Loucks, it will necessitate considerable inconvenience to him and his customers, who are storing cars there.

Because of holiday activities and winter sports, it again became necessary to cancel a number of Saturday night pictures. All in all the merchants have done considerably well in providing the free entertainment.

The public appreciates the efforts of the merchants and will no doubt continue to come to St. Joe.

JARRETT—CURIE

A quiet wedding took place Thanksgiving morning, Nov. 25th, at the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. N. Scobles, when Rev. Scholes united the lives of Mrs. Mildred Gee Curie and Mr. Leonard Jarrett in double ring ceremony. Harold, Joan and Carlton Curie were the attendants. Joan acting as flower girl and Harold and Carlton as ring bearers.

Those present besides the above were Mrs. Ford Scholes, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Laney Gee, parents of the bride. All repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Akins and partook of a bountiful Thanksgiving dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Jarrett will be at home to their friends at the home of the bride east of St. Joe.

AUBURN LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

Furnished by
Ward Jackman, Sec.-Treas.

Receipts at the local yards were below average this week owing to a holiday. Prices on hogs were steady to slightly higher than last week, lambs were fully steady with some sales 25c above last week; calves were fifty cents higher with an active demand. Slaughter cattle were from 50c to 75c lower.

A top of $8.05 was paid for hogs with the bulk at $8.00, roughs at $7.10 and feeding shoats fully steady with last week's sale.

Veals made a top of $11.95. Most of the calves on sale this week were second line calves with no selects and only a few tops. City buyers are complaining that calves are poor quality and that the price will suffer unless the quality improves.

The lamb market was very active this week in spite of the fact that we had no really fat lambs a top of $8.45 was reached, with medium kinds at $7.00 down.

All kinds of butcher cattle were hard to sell at near last week's prices; the best heifers in the offering changed hands at from $6.00 to $6.40. Good fat cows $3.50 to $4.10; cutters $3.00 down and shelly canners below $2.50.

FUNDS AVAILABLE FOR UNEMPLOYED APRIL FIRST

The Indiana unemployment compensation fund, from which benefits will be paid to eligible uemployed Indiana workers atfer April 1 next year, has passed the $20,000,000 mark, Clarence A. Jackson, director of the Indiana Unemployment Compensation Division, announced today.

"This fund, which is being built up through contributions of employers subject to the Indiana law," Mr. Jackson said, "can be used only for the payment of benefits to their employees who become involuntarily unemployed after next April 1. It is expected that by that time the fund will have grown to nearly $28,000,000.

"After next April 1, an employee who has been working for an employer subject to the law and who loses his job will be required to register at one of the 43 local offices of the Indiana State Employment Service, which is a part of the Unemployment Compensation Division. The Employment Service will attempt to find him a suitable job during the two weeks waiting period before benefits begin.

"If it is unsuccessful, he will receive weekly benefit checks upon his previous earning record. The amount and duration of these checks will be computed from employee earnings reports which subject employers now file with the Division."

In general, employers of eight or more persons in business and industry are subject to the law. About 650,000 Indiana workers are covered.

Every day the papers write of hunting accidents. "Hunter accidentally shot." "Rifle or shot gun explodes when hunter drops gun." And so on.

A loaded gun should not be taken into a house, hunting shack, or car. Many times some other person tries out the "sight," pulls the trigger, and a fatality is the result. Pulling a loaded gun through a fence by taking hold of the barrel is a dangerous stunt.

Do not clean a gun until you have made positive inspection of chamber and barrel. Never point a gun at anybody. It's a foolish and senseless action.

The supposedly unloaded gun is the gun that has killed many people. If you cannot handle a gun, stay away from it.

FARM GRANARY BURNS

The granary and contents at the Krabill farm on Road 8 and 1, were destroyed by fire Friday morning, the origin of which was not learned by the fire department officials, who responded to the call. The contents consisted of soy beans, oats and corn, besides many other small articles of farming implement repairs.

Irnman Haifley is living on the farm which is operated by W. W. Zonker.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL ITEMS

Wm. Hough and family and Mrs. Inez Hadsell spent Thanksgiving Day at Flint, Mich., with Paul Hadsell and family.

Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Shull and family and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Haller and son, were at Defiance last Thursday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lee O. Tustison and son.

Mrs. Alice Copp entertained for her Thanksgiving dinner guests, Mr. Jesse Copp, wife and two daughters, Jean and Vernell and Mr. Roy Jacob of New Haven, Mr. and Mrs. B. V. Widney, of Columbia City, and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Stout, of Fort Wayne.

Two transfers of real estate of interest to our readers are Wm. C. Reed to Edward E. & Jane Woodring, lots 35 and 36 in Spencerville; and John R. and Agnes Leighty to Don and Lazearne Keller, lots 8 and 9, Leighty's fourth addition to town of St. Joe.

The Huber Theatre at Hicksville will be closed Thursday of this week, Dec. 2nd on account of installing new projection machine and R. C. A. Sound. The Huber will be open and resume schedule Friday evening and the public will find a fine improvement in the service.

Thanksgiving dinner guests in the Chas. Koch home were Stanley Koch and wife of Fort Wayne, Joseph Koch, wife and son, Jimmy, of Auburn. Jimmy remained until Sunday and then wasn't ready to go home. He said he wanted to stay until Christmas. Probabilities are that he will be here for Christmas.

Mrs. Frank Worman, of Rapid City, S. D., and Mrs. Sarah Kimmell, of Chicago, spent from Friday until Monday in the home of their sister, Mrs. L. R. Zimmerman, and their mother, Mrs. Lucinda McClure, who is here for the winter. Mrs. McClure has been bedfast for the past three weeks suffering a gall stone attack, but is now able to be about the house.

Mrs. Vienna Rude and two children spent Thanksgiving Day with Mr. and Mrs. John Rude at Newville. Other guests in the same home were Mr. and Mrs. Oren Rude and two children, Lois Boyd, Lloyd Boyd, Dorsey Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Boyd and two children, of Kendallville, Betty Treesh, of Sedan, Abe Rude, of Sabina, Ohio, Louisa Rowe, Elizabeth Burnett and daughter, Marie Powers, of Washington, Ohio, and Mazie Rhonemus, of Sweetser, Indiana.

Edward Shilling, 22, son of Mrs. Ila Shilling, Auburn, was able to be out Tuesday after being discharged from the Methodist Hospital, Fort Wayne. He and two other young people, Philbert Mooney, 25, of St. Joe, and Dorothy Littlefield, 15, of Concord, were injured in an accident Monday morning when the automobile in which they were riding left the Leo Road at the Wabash crossing near the County Line. The driver was blinded by an approaching car as they started up the crossing grade, and he drove off the embankment, striking the flasher signal. All were treated at the hospital for cuts, bruises and shock.

WINTER DRIVING TIPS FOR ALL WINTER

Valuable Points Stressed That All Motorists Need to Check Up On

The proper technique of safe winter driving rests primarily upon the avoidance of quick, sudden moves of any kind, according to a bulletin issued by Chevrolet this week in the interest of traffic safety under hazardous road and weather conditions.

Modern motor cars are engineered for year-round operation, the bulletin states, and the driver who takes full advantages of their engineering refinements can reduce driving hazards to a minimum. The principal source of such hazards lies in poor tire traction on icy pavements where safe driving depends o nthe avoidance of any ing depends on the avoidance of any or the brake.

Some of the points stressed in the bulletin are:

"A good driver uses second speed extensively in stopping, in approaching intersections, and in turning corners. With the syncro-mesh transmission, it is simple and easy to shift to a lower speed and maintain control of the car at all times. Another important point is to leave the car in gear when slowing down so that the engine may act as a brake.

"Cultivate the habit of giving other drivers ample notice of your intention to stop, turn, or slow down," the bulletin continues. "Even though you may have your own car under perfect control, the driver behind you may not be so fortunate. Never permit the wheels of your car to spin if it can be avoided. Spinning wheels may cause dangerous skids, and if they come into contact with a spot of dry pavement and thus gain sudden traction, a heavy strain is placed upon the propeller shaft and rear axle.

"Good visibility, always of the utmost importance, is assured in winter driving by the use of defrosting units which are available in several forms at moderate cost. Chains add traction in snow, but they should not be relied upon to take the place of sensible driving as a guard against skidding.

"Besides making for greater highway safety, these suggestions will prolong the life of any car if they are followed the year round. Proper care of the car in cold weather adds immeasurably to driving pleasure. The engine should never be raced, because lubricants flow more slowly when the engine is cold and the stress on engine parts is increased."

The only reason some men say goodbye to their wives is so they can have the last word.

Who would have thought, back in the good old days, that the time would ever come when women would be able to get drunk just like men.

The best that can be said of the wars of 1937 is that they didn't give a few Americans a chance to get rich in the stock market.

Potatoes must be getting cheaper for several people living in the rural districts report they are again making their appearance on kerosene cans.

Still another nice thing about the wars in Ethiopia and China is nobody thought to write any dirty songs about them.

Most any man can tell you that he could have missed a good deal of misery if he hadn't been afraid he might miss a little fun.

The average man's idea of the pursuit of happiness is to keep one step behind his neighbors and two jumps ahead of the sheriff.

A New York editor says "Worrying won't help you," and that makes it an even break because most of us can't help worrying.

Another difficult thing to understand is why a waffle supper will get people into church faster than a good sermon.

One way you look at it life is a good deal like hash. You get out of it just what you put in it.

As the average housewfe now views it, the price of steak has become something to beef about.

It's a fine thing that there is no prison sentence for telling how many miles you can get out of a gallon.

Any man who has even been hungry can tell you that one hot dog is worth a truck load of advice.

Economists say the business outlook for 1938 is brilliant, and that is one kind of brilliance that won't hurt the average man's eyes.

When you hear of a man getting stung by a fake stock salesman it's usually the fellow who never reads the newspapers.

If a lot of husbands went out into the cold and ice dressed as their wives dress people would think they were trying to committ suicide.

SANTA AND HIS PACK

With Christmas just around the corner, toymakers announce that the volume of buisness has been greater this season than at any time for the past seven years. They have manufactured a quarter of a billion dollars worth of toys for this Christmas and distributed them to the trade, so it is evident Santa's pack is going to be well filled this year, especially for the children.

It should be of interest to St. Joe citizens to learn in connection with this report that the toymakers have this year steered clear of war toys, which have been the rage in years gone by. Through an agreement reached early last spring they reduced the manufacture of toy cannon, guns, soldiers and all other type of toys that smack of war and instead have turned out more toys stressing scientific, industrial and transportation lines. They consist of many ingenious mechanical features, and the airplane, the auto, the streamlined locomotive along with toys that do marvelous acrobatic stunts will this year direct the childish mind away from war and its destruction.

This is good news, and it reflects the sane judgment of the men who design and manufacture the things which go to make up Santa's pack. It is high time that American fathers and mothers turned the interests of their children away from thoughts of war and directed their minds more toward the worth-while things of life.

A HAPPIER HOLIDAY

The Postmaster General has addressed a timely appeal to the people of the United States. He says: "The Government will be thankful to you if you will shop early, wrap carefully, address plainly and mail promptly all of this year's Christmas merchandise."

This is a reasonable and sensible request and we feel sure everyone around here can profit by following it. Shopping early means getting the best of everything in stock before it has been picked over, and also more time for making selections. Wrapping carefully means the goods will go thru the mail without breakage and without loss. It also means quick handling, and getting the things you are sending into the hands of those for whom they are intended in good condition. Addressing plainly and mailing promptly go hand-in-hand with the other two suggestions.

Taken altogether, these suggestions mean a happier Christmas for the ones who carry them out. Merchants hove more time in which to wait on you, and also time in which to personally help you solve your buying problems, if you will do your buying early and not wait until the last minute. Postoffice employes can be relieved of the heaviest part of their annual burden if you will only cooperate with them by following the Postmaster General's suggestions.

But, best of all, shopping early, wrapping carefully and mailing promptly brings happiness to those who do it. It will help to make your own individual Christmas happier, too. And that is why there should be more of it done.

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING

The citizen who contends that "you can't get something for nothing" is wrong. All he has to do is catch cold and he will realize that he can get enough free "cold remedies" to fill a book. Of the number, some may be beneficial, yet all of them are worthless to those who know how to avoid catching cold. Comfortable clothing, fresh air in the sleeping room, careful attention to the elimination of waste matter from the system and drinking plenty of fresh water daily will, it has been determined, go far toward preventing what we know as the common cold. But even this fails at times—and then is when a cold becomes dangerous. In that case the best possible advice is—go to bed. Don't try to wear it out. Better the loss of a little time spent in bed than contracting one of the many serious conditions that common colds are capable of bringing on. Don't look lightly on a cold. Go right after it the moment you feel it coming on, and don't stop doctoring it until you have it under control.

A SAFETY STUNT

A Cleveland, O., man has suggested that it might help to reduce auto accidents if every time a motorist kills a pedestrian a bright red license tag be substituted for the regular one he has on his car. The number would remain the same, of course; only the color would be changed, and that it be a bright crimson. In this way the public would know, he points out, the moment it spied a car with a crimson tag that it had been the agency thru which someone met death, and other drivers, fearing the publicity and comment such a tag would bring, would naturally drive far more carefully. We have heard many suggestions for safer driving offered by motorists around St. Joe but never anything touching on this line, and while such a suggestion will probably never be adopted by any state in the union, it shows to what extremes those who make a study of safety are willing to go to cut down the nation's annual death roll.

IT ALWAYS WORKS

Everybody knows the story of Robinson Crusoe, how he was stranded on an island with only a goat, a parrot and a black man as his companions, and how badly he wanted to get off of that island. Bt most people do not know that it was advertising that got him off. He had only a ragged shirt with which to do his advertising, but he stuck it on a pole, planted the pole in the ground, and waited. He didn't get discouraged when no one came the first day—no good advertiser does. But he kept advertising his predicament by means of that old shirt waving in the air—and finally he got results. If Robinson Crusoe with one old shirt could reach the people he sought, how much more easy it is for merchants in this territory to reach the people they want to sell goods to thru the columns of a modern, home-town newspaper? Now that the winter buying season is in full swing, this is a pretty timely subject to devote a little study to.

THE CHRISTMAS SEAL

Friday, November 26 was the opening day for the Health Bond and Christmas Seal sale throughout the country, the drive for funds to carry on the work.

That the public is becoming educated in this work is evident by the increased purchase of seals and bonds and also by the increased amount of work being done by the DeKalb County Tuberculosis Association, people are learning what such an organization means to a community.

The money is used for Free Clinics, X-Rays, tuberculin tests and special examinations, the modern ways of diagnosing tuberculosis.

The City and Township chairmen are showing a great interest and the association is looking forward to a splendid year, and to take care of the increased amount of work and to carry out the 1938 program the public is urged to buy as many seals as possible.

The envelopes are mailed throughout the county with a stamped addressed envelope to your county or city chairman or to this office enclosed.

Mrs. Ida Penry is the new chairman for Auburn this year and Mrs. Frank Hyde is chairman for Garrett, Mrs. Eva Hamilton, Waterloo; Miss Ruth Mutzfeld, Butler; Mrs. Vern Sparks, Ashley and Smithfield Twp.; Mrs. F. B. Leighty, St. Joe and Concord Twp.; Mrs. Pauline Baumgartner, Spencerville and Spencer Twp.; Mrs. Angilla Mason, Corunna and Richland Twp.; for Butler Twp., Mrs. John Noel; for Fairfield, Mrs. Spencer Ringler; Jackson, Mrs. Walter DePew; Franklin, Mrs. Roy Robbins; Grant, Mrs. Laura Husselman; Keyser, Mrs. Art Grube; Newville, Mrs. Ross Tustison; Stafford, Mrs. Wayland Mutzfeld; Troy, Mrs. Hazel Myers; Union, Mrs. Lester Boger, and for Wilmington, Mrs. Fanny Boger.

The following poem is written by Mrs. Anna E. Reesch, 216 Baxter St., Auburn, in a clever manner. Mrs. Reesch says why and how one may help.

S. O. S.

There lives a vampire white and sly
That's stalking o'er land and sea.
He attacks the rich and poor alike
So come now friends and lend a hand.

You know not when to you he'll come
No lock nor key can keep him out.
He's flying thru the air unseen,
He's lurking near there's not a doubt.

The little ones to you so dear
The young man and the maid
No matter how you love each one
Beneath the earth may soon be laid.

You have a chance to do your bit
And we surely hope you will
Buy a bond or stamps today
And this manster help to kill.

Congress—And The Average Citizen

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN

National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

Although Congress thus far has achieved little in its special session, the American public sees, in current indications, several rays of hope.

From various statements emanating from Washington, the average citizen is encouraged to believe that Government is beginning to think of him as the man for whom it actually exists.

Washington, for example, is giving thought to the great army of American consumers—which includes more than 129,000,000 members. Instructions have been issued to determine why the costs of food and necessities for all the people have risen so markedly in recent years.

It is giving thought to the average citizen as a worker. Efforts are being made to supplant guesswork with actual facts and figures on the numbers of jobless, and the reasons for their unemployment.

It is giving thought to him as a wage-earner. Efforts are being made, by some members of Congress, to strike the shackles from the wrists of private enterprise, and thus encourage employers to expand those productive activities on which all payrolls depend.

It is giving thought to him as a taxpayer. Efforts are being made, by some Congressmen, to cut the waste in government which has boosted public debts, public deficits and public spending to heights that take now a terrific toll from all workers, in taxes both direct and indirect.

It is giving thought to him as a citizen and constituent. Many Congressmen are now tuning in on his voice, even though it means lending a less eager ear to bureaucrats who demand huge checks, drawn on the public account, for fresh and often impractical experiments.

All these things are still promises. But, despite earlier disappointments, the American public continues to hope they will be fulfilled. If not, it's a fair guess that a lot of Congressmen are going to be asked the reason why.

We'll Help You, Madam, to Brighten Up!

Believe it or not, our business is—partly—to spread sunshine and light. We do it by brightening up countless homes with genuine Edison MAZDA Lamps—known everywhere as "The Sun's Only Rival." These fine electric lamps have never been surpassed in giving the most light for the current used.

Look about your home. Count the empty sockets—count the blackened, wasteful lamps. Jot down your figures right on this advertisement; then clip the ad and slip it into your purse.

MORTUARY

WALTER

Samantha Alice Davis, the oldest daughter of Martin and Susan Fisher Davis, was born in Springfield Township, Allen County, Indiana, on September 26, 1858, and departed this life November 23, 1937.

She spent nearly her entire life in the community in which she was born.

At about the age of sixteen, she united with the Lutheran Church at Spencerville and remained a member there until death.

On June 22, 1882 she was united in marriage to Henry A. Walter. They went to housekeeping on a farm in Springfield Township and she lived there the rest of her life.

To this union was born four children. Three sons and a daughter. They also reared a nephew, Arthur Walter.

She leaves to mourn her departure, the husband, a daughter, Emma F., at home and three sons, Roscoe, Henry, Jr., and Martin, all in and near Spencerville and a foster son, Arthur Walter, of Sanger, California. One sister, Mrs. Sarah Cramer, of Ft. Wayne, a brother, R. E. Davis of near Spencerville and nine grandchildren. Besides other relatives and friends.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence with Rev. J. N. Scholes officiating. Burial was made in the Leo Cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors for their kindness and words of sympathy in our recent bereavement.

The Family.

James Draggoo and Frank Curie from first and second teams were presented with an emblem emblazoned with "St. Joe H. S." Monday morning as a result of having displayed the best mental attitude in Spencerville game. St. Joe travels to Harlan this coming Friday night. Next week they will play two games Friday, December 10th at Hamilton and Avilla here Saturday, December 11th.

The newly organized St. Joe Merchants basket ball team proved in their first game that they are going to be one of the fastest teams in Northeastern Indiana, by defeating Auburn Rubber Co., by a score of 40 to 22.

Their offense and defense are the strongest that have been seen at the local gym for many years. You fans should support the team with your regular attendance. Any one of the ten players on the team can be called a regular. It's a break for the fans here to have a team they can be proud of this winter. If you see them play once, you will surely become one of the so called "dyed in the wool fans."

Those well known Zanesville Hoosiers will be the opponents next Saturday eve, Dec. 4. "Come on St. Joe, let's go."

ITEMS ABOUT ST. JOE

Mrs. Helen D. Wade has purchased the Shroyer property.

Little Miss Anita Jean visited her grandparents since Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Susan Little, of Montpelier, Ohio, aunt of Mrs. John Gablick, died at her home Tuesday morning of a heart attack. Her son was home at the time. Mrs. Gablick went to her home Wednesday. The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Gablick also visited her mother, Mrs. Alice Ives while at Montpelier, who made her home here for three years. Mrs. Ives is quite poorly besides the death of her sister being a severe shock to her.

I had the dictionary on my knee the other day, and was lookin' up Santa Fe, New Mexico, and it is 332 years old and nearly as old as St. Augustine, which is 372. And I got to thinkin' about California, which is kinda Spanish too, and if Santa Fe was out there, they would claim the dictionary is wrong and that the Florida town is an up-start.

But while I was on the S page, I glimpsed around and saw the words, "sapling" and also "sap" and it set me to ponderin', and she finally soaked in, that maybe I was partly readin' about my ownself, judgin' by the way I been listenin' to speeches, and believin' stuff, etc.

And others who could maybe read the S page, they are all around, like the ones tryin' to beat a train to the crossing—and the night club sisters—and fellers puttin' tonic on bald heads, etc.

And in the same boat also, are folks who think the sun will come up in the west and set in the north, or some new place, just by votin' for it—if somebody says to do so.

The Salzburg Opera Guild opened its first season in America last night at the Forty-fourth Street Theatre with a delicious performance of Mozart's "Cosi Fan Tutti." It has been long since such a spirit and such an ensemble has been witnessed in musico-dramatic representations in this city. The interpretation was a delight throughout for its finish and wit, its lyrical quality and musical beauty, and its style, so perfectly appropriate to the period and manner of Mozart's opera.

INDIANA DAY
DECEMBER 11, 1937

Indiana will celebrate its 121st anniversary Saturday, December 11, a proclamation issued by Governor M. Clifford Townsend pointed out.

The order proclaiming "Indiana Day" says in part:

"On December 11, 1937, Indiana will observe its '121st anniverasry as a 'free, sovereign and independent state.'

"Our state was created because our forefathers had a deep faith in democratic government and demanded the political rights of citizens of a sovereign state.

"On the occasion of the initial meeting of our General Assembly on July 29, 1805, in Vincennes, William Henry Harrison, our first Territorial Governor, urged the people to press for full statehood, so that Indiana might be 'equal to our sister states in dignity and rights.'

"Always mindful of that great goal, the people of Indiana worked earnestly for statehood, and on December 11, 1816, Indiana became the 19th state of the Union.

"Throughout these 121 years Indiana has retained the courage and vision of its pioneering days. It has never lost its spirit of friendliness and co-operation. Our beloved state has through the years gradually changed from a Western frontier to a great state of varied industry and agriculture. Our sons and daughters have brought fame and fortune to Indiana. Our agricultural and industrial products are known throughout the world.

"We recognize that the future of our state depends upon its people and the Legislature has directed the Governor to proclaim Indiana Day that the people may on this occasion give thought to the great progress and future development in Indiana.

"NOW, THEREFORE, I, M. Clifford Townsend, Governor of the State of Indiana, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws of this state, proclaim SATURDAY, DECEMBER 11, as INDIANA DAY, and do call upon our people to observe this anniversary with appropriate ceremonies and exercises."

NEW DRIVERS LICENSE LAW EXPLAINED IN DETAIL

Drastic Changes Made From Present Law As To Requirements For Dirvers Licenses

WILL MAKE BETTER DRIVERS

Beginners Permit Must Be Obtained Befort Operating Motor Vehicle in 1938—Ninet yDays Probation Is Required

Public interest is being centered in the new driver's license law enacted at the last General Assembly and which becomes effective January 1, 1938.

Drastic changes have been made from the present law and as the new requirements effect many people, this paper is glad to inform its readers how to proceed to obtain the proper license when the annual sale opens tomorrow morning, December 10.

The new law was framed and will be administered to make better drivers and to promote safety upon the highways. The driving record of each individual will be established in the office of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles. When it develops that a person is a careless driver or is not properly regarding the privileges of others, either other drivers or pedestrians, or perhaps the person has shown his disregard of the traffic laws by minor violations, then the state has the authority to summons him to appear before a hearing judge and show cause why his license should not be suspended or revoked.

The new law is based upon the idea of taking the careless, incompetent, or drinking drivers off the road before he has an accident. After a hearing, the license may be revoked or suspended for an indefinite time.

In approaching the accident prevention problem, there was a proposal that every driver qualify for a license by passing a physical and mental examination. This was concluded to be of doubtful value in definitely classifying the competent group. Even though a person should successfully pass through such an examination there was no assurance that that person would not sometime fall asleep at the wheel, or become intoxicated or develop some other driving fault.

The framers of the new law concluded that the approach to the problem rested in the driver to prove his ability as a driver by his observance of and respect for traffic laws and safety.

The driving record of each licensee will be maintained through arrest, accident and court reports.

All police officers, state and municipal and sheriffs are required to furnish the Department with a daily report of arrests for traffic violations. The arrest report must be made whether or not there is a personal injury or property damage. Violations upon which reports are required include the state and city traffic laws. The name of the vehicle owner must be carried in this report and this name will be obtainable immediately at the scene of the accident or arrest from the registration certificate required to be displayed through the windshield. The arrest may develop irregularities in registration or in ownership. Violations, such as running a stop light, entering a preferential street or state highway without first stopping, cutting in and out of traffic, illegal parking, failure to signal, etc., are charged against the driver.

A repetition of such offense would lead the Department to conclude that such a person has disregard for highway safety or is too careless to be trusted with a motor vehicle and a suspension would follow. It is likely that his lesson will have been learned from a term of suspension of his driving privileges. The degree of the case will determine his suspension term.

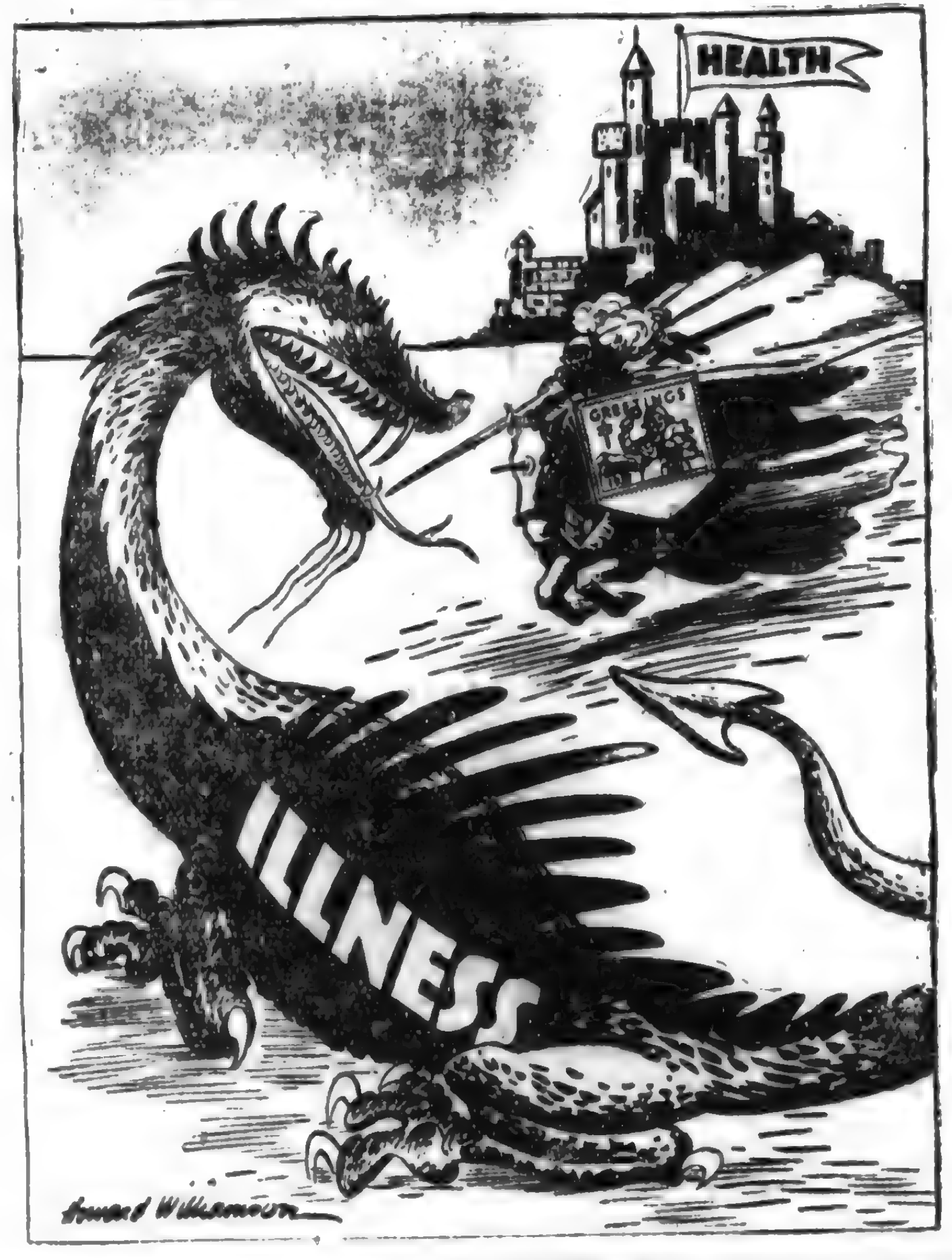
The person who drives while suspended is subject to a fine up to $500 or imprisonment of one to six months or both.

The new law provides for five types of driver's license.

Beginner's Permit

All persons of any age who have never held an Indiana Operator or Chauffer License will be required to obtain a Beginner's Permit before operating a motor vehicle in 1938. It is assumed that such person does not know how to operate a motor vehicle and that he is not versed in traffic laws. The permit carries a fee of fifty cents and is valid for ninety days from date of issuance. The permit, when issued, must be carried by the permittee at all times while driving and, upon demand, displayed to any court or police officer or any deputy or agent of the Motor Vehicle Department. All holders of Beginner's Permits must be accompanied by a regular licensed operator or chauffeur seated in the driving compartment of the car at all times when permittee is driving. If the applicant for a permit is under eighteen years of age and over sixteen years of age, the applicant must be approved by the father. If the father is not living, the responsibility falls upon the mother or guardian. The endorser assumes any liability incurred by reason of the issuance of the permit. All permittees must state upon the application the name of the person or persons who are to accompany the beginner.

SMITING THE ENEMY



Beginner's Examinations

Before Beginner's Permits are finally issued all beginners are required to pass the examination provided. Fifty-two examiners will be scheduled throughout the state. The branch manager will accept the application and give the applicant an appointment for a certain time and place of examination. In the interview with the examiner a sight test is given and the traffic and safety laws are impressed upon the applicant. A folder of salient facts pertaining to safe driving will be handed him for study—later to be the text for the quiz when he advances to the next step on his way to obtaining his regular operator's license.

A non-resident, over eighteen years of age, having held an unrevoked license in his home state and having driven a car for a period of more than one year, does not apply for a permit but goes on a Beginner's License which is the next step for all holders of Beginner's Permits.

Beginner's Licenses

After serving the ninety days of the permit the driver may then apply for a Beginner's License. This license is required for all persons between the ages of sixteen and eighteen. The Beginner's License class includes two groups—those who hold a Beginner's Permit and those under eighteen years of age who hold an unrevoked operator's license in 1937. No person, who is under eighteen years of age can be issued a regular operator's license under the new law. A list of particular questions must be answered on the application for a Beginner's License. If the applicant is under eighteen years of age, endorsement must be made, by the father, and if the father is not living, then by the mother or guardian—such person giving consent assumes liability. It should be noted that this applicant either has had the driving experience under his 1937 operator's license or gained it while operating under his ninety day permit.

The Beginner's License runs for a term of twelve months from date of issuance. The fee is fifty cents. With this license there is also issued a book of twelve report forms. Reports are to be sent to the Department (or filed with any branch office) beginning on the first day of the month following the issuance. The state is keeping in close touch with all beginners. Failure to make a monthly report is cause for suspension. After serving the term of ninety days under a permit and the twelve months under a Beginner's License, the person is then required to take another twelve month Beginner's License if he is yet under eighteen years of age and he shall be required to operate thereunder until the expiration date of such license.

Operators' Licenses

The regular operator's license, fee fifty cents, will be issued to all applicants, without examination, who have previously held an Indiana Operators License, providing the last held license is unrevoked.

Chauffeurs' Licenses

Chauffeurs are divided into two classifications.

Class one, defined in the law as "Chauffeur," includes the family or private chauffeur as well as the driver of a vehicle carrying property—the truck driver.

Class two, the driver of a public passenger carrying vehicle and known as a "Public Passenger Chauffeur," is authorized to drive public busses, school busses and taxi cabs. The fee for either type of chauffeur's license is one dollar and there must be furnished a small photograph showing the true likeness of the applicant which photograph shall have been taken within thirty days prior to date of application.

Class one chauffeur's license applicants must be eighteen years or over and if he is employed for the principle purpose of operating a motor vehicle and has driven for more than one year and successfully passed his examination, he is issued a Chauffeur's License. If the applicant is the holder of an Indiana Chauffeur's License for either the years 1935, 1936 and 1937, none of which have even been revoked he may be issued his 1938 license without examination. The chauffeur's license is also valid and may be used in lieu of an operator's license.

Class two, Public Passenger Chauffeur's License Applicants, must be twenty-one years of age or older to drive a public bus, school bus or taxi cab. If he has had two years driving experience and passed the road and traffic law test and also passed the physical examination given by a licensed physician of this state, he is issued a Public Passenger Chauffeur's License.

An applicant may be issued a Public Passenger Chauffeur's License if he has held an Indiana Chauffeur's License for either the years 1935, 1936 and 1937 and whose license has not been revoked within the last three years and the person thus qualified is not subject to the driving examination but is required to satisfactorily pass the medical examination.

The Public Passenger Chauffeur's License is valid in lieu of any other driver's license thus permitting him to operate any motor vehicle upon the highways.

Wheel Tax on Trucks

The new Weight Tax Law, which properly could be termed a wheel tax, becomes effective January first and includes every commercial vehicle excepting governmental owned vehicles and one or two wheeled trailers when such trailers are pulled behind a passenger car. The tax is based upon the size, kind and number of tires on a vehicle. The front wheels of any truck, tractor or bus are not taxable. Applications to pay this fee will be enclosed with the registration application when they are mailed out to the owners form the State House. The placards showing the class and the fees will be in each branch office. It is suggested by the Department that the owner, upon receipt of his application in the mail, check his tire sizes and fill out the weight tax application as complete as possible before presenting it to the branch. A Weight Tax Registration Card and number plate wil be issued. The plate is required to be prominently displayed on the outside of the vehicle.

Another requirement in the new law provides that the size of the tires and the classification shall be painted in a conspicuous place on each side of the vehicle in letters and figures not less than three inches in height nor less than three-eights of an inch in width. If the vehicle is so constructed that it is not practical to paint the tire sizes on the vehicle then the required information may be painted on a metal plate and in that case shall be attached to the front and rear of the vehicle.

Two-wheeled house trailers are not included in the exempt class but carry a flat rate of ten dollars.

The fees imposed are based upon an annual term, but for any carriers acquiring or operating a vehicle subsequent to the month of January, the fee is reduced one-twelfth for each elapsed month of that year.

An owner discounting the use, of, or otherwise disposing of a vehicle subject to weight tax may return the plate issued to him and the state refunds the unearned portion of the fee originally paid.

All fees collected from the weight tax go to the Motor Vehicle Highway Account and all such money is applied to road construction and maintenance.

Weight Tax plates are not transferable from one vehicle to another nor from one person to another.

BREAKS COLLAR BONE

Roy Bowser is laid up with a broken collar bone resulting in a fall of 6 or 8 feet Saturday, while working with Orla Baker on the old Nugen farm, west of St. Joe. They were putting in overlays, when one broke, letting Roy fall.

WINS CASH AWARDS ON SALES PROMOTION PROGRAM

Ed Leighty, driver on one of the thirteen Master Bakery trucks out of Auburn, won two cash awards last month in their sales promotion campaign.

From November 11 to December 11, a $10.00 cash award was offered for the best sales on their brand of coffee and an additional points award of $7.75 was offered the drivers. When the report was made, Ed was reported as being high for both awards, making a splendid bonus for one month. Because of the thirteen drivers competing, the winner can justly feel proud of the territory which he serves as loyal supporters of his products.

Fortieth Anniversary

One of the most pleasant and social evenings the R. H. Club has enjoyed, was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Laney Gee Wednesday evening of last week, to help them celebrate their fortieth wedding anniversary. Around 7:30 the members and their families arrived and after congratulations a fine program was given for the host and hostess, which was enjoyed by all present, and which helped pass a merry evening.

Later their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Jarrett, served home made ice cream, cake and coffee to thirty guests.

The club members presented Mr. and Mrs. Gee a beautiful electric lamp, which both will enjoy, and be a pleasant reminder of their anniversary. All returned late to their homes, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Gee good health, happiness and many returns of the day.

CHRISTMAS CANTATA

Rehearsals are now in progress for the Christmas Cantata, "The Everlasting Light," to be given at the Lutheran Church, Sunday evening, December 19th. Full details and program will appear next week.

PARK ATTENDANCE
156,000 OVER 1936

Attendance at the Indiana state parks for the first eleven months of 1937 is more han 156,000 ahead of the same period last year. On December 1, attendance at the parks and memorials for the year was 1,063,779 with the final total for the year anticipated to add several thousand to that figure. This is the largest attendance in the history of the state parks and is also the largest one-year gain.

Million Tons Crash As Elysian Hill Falls

LOS ANGELES, CALIF., PHOTO SHOWS: Some idea of magnitude of slide is gained from this camera view showing viaduct covered by rocks and dirt. Note size of boulder that barely missed auto in foreground. This is only one of thousands that tumbled down, as the mass of earth and boulders slipped down onto Riverside Drive from Elysian Park on November 27th.

It is usually the lessons that a man learns from hard luck that he labels "experience."

In these days of high pork prices that old rhym about Tom, Tom the Piper's son seems very appropriate.

A Chicago scientist says there will be no blondes in this country 200 years from now. But we'll still have taxes to make us light-headed.

Don't get discouraged because this country no longer has a "Public Enemy No. 1." The parole boards will soon furnish us one.

After all, the best way in the world to cure the itch for money is to scratch for it.

As some husbands around St. Joe view it, their wives run everything about the house but the errands.

A child taught good manners at home needs no book of etiquette when it grows up.

Th toughest job of a politician is to find some way to correct a mistake without admitting he made one.

The father who wants to tackle a hard job should try convincing his little boy that the study of algebra is going to be a great help to him when he gets to be a man.

What appears to be needed in the Orient just now is a good reliable Chinese cement.

Just by way of suggestion, do not forget to do your Christmas hinting early.

Many of our old-timers recall that there were not so many books on child-raising in their early days as there are now. But there were more woodsheds.

In this day of frequent divorces there's more courting after marriage than there is before.

Some people's idea of economy is to buy a lot of merchandise they don't have to pay cash for.

The man with rips in his coat and buttons off his clothes should either get married or get a divorce.

The greatest need of the present day is to make the public mind conscious of the dire necessity for creating more wealth.

When President Roosevelt called the special session of Congress the country was virtually in a boom stage, as compared with todays conditions. Stocks were at high levels. Reemployment was going ahead on a comfortable scale. Though unfavorable signs existed, they were few and apparently insignificant, and almost everything pointed to a highly prosperous winter season.

Now, in two months, the picture has changed completely. Stocks, in spite of occasional flurires, are holding stubbornly at levels close to the October lows. With few exceptions, industrial production continues to sag. Unemployment is increasing alarmingly. And it is very likely that this winter's relief problem will be as grave as in any year since 1929.

One result of this is a complete change in the attitude of Congress—and, to a lesser degree, a change in the attitude of the Administration. The special session was primarily called for three purposes—the wage and hours law, the farm relief proposal, and the bill to create seven new regional electric authorities similar in nature to the TVA. It was assumed that these matters would absorb the undivided attention of the session, and that nothing else of moment would be brot up on the floor or in committee.

What has happened? The wage and hours law is in a state of chaos, with warring factions seeking to change it one way or another, and with a strong Congressional bloc opposed to the passage of any law of its type. The chances are against it going through in the special session.

The farm bill is in a similar predicament—it seems almost impossible that a law satisfactory to the various opposed factions in House and Senate can be prepared for months.

The seven regional authorities bill is, according to last reports, completely moribund.

Congress is almost wholly occupied with the business recession, and with proposals designed to prevent it from becoming another major, long-lasting depression. Tax reform seems nearer to achievement than at any time in the last four years. There is definite sentiment in favor of a more conciliatory general policy toward industry. There is a growing feeling that we have gone too far with regulation, especially as it affects the security markets and exchanges. There is a movement on foot to encourage business to spend on a big scale—of which the most significant development is the President's announced policy of a more friendly attitude toward the electric utilities, and his recent talks with utility executives.

The principal question now is, Can Congress act fast enough and drastically enough to stop the decline? Some recent events have been encouraging, but they by no means assure a change in the downward trend. Whatever happens, it seems impossible for any important change to take place before late January—a fact which augurs badly for the Christmas season.

WHAT SENT PRICES SKYROCKETING

The Federal Trade Commission has been ordered to make an immediate investigation of reports that monopolistic methods and other unwholesome methods of competition have contributed to the sharp rise in the cost of living this year.

That is a laudable activity. But isn't it also possible that the government's policy of killing pigs and reducing crops, plus shorter hours and higher wages, plus artificially restricted factory output per man, have had something to do with higher prices?

SENSIBLE GIVING

Few things offer more interest at this time of year than a comparison of Christmas merchandise carried in the stores of this community today with that which the holiday buyers had set before them a dozen or more years ago. By that is not meant the size of the stocks carried, for naturally they are larger since holiday buying has increased with the years. But the comparison on the variety and service of gift goods offered now with gift goods of earlier holidays, and you will be letting yourself in for a genuine surprise.

In former years it was not considered "good taste" to give articles of wearing apparel to anyone outside the immediate family circle. No man thot of giving a feminine friend something she could wear in comfort and enjoyment, something sensible and serviceble. Such things were all right to give one's sister, but for a sweetheart it had to be, a manicure set, a bottle of perfume, a set of fancy hair combs, or something along that line.

Today, happily for all concerned, everybody gives serviceable gifts and everybody expects that kind. So merchants stock that kind instead of the shoddy array of useless stuff that passed as Christmas gifts. Today gifts of clothing, furniture, electrical devices for the home and the auto—gifts that are useful and that add actual comfort to life—from the bulk of all holiday buying. Today's Christmas gift is a sensible gift and it's purchase is in practically every instance money sensibly invested. There has been a radical change in the type of Christmas merchandise in the past few years, as a visit to the local stores will reveal. And the change has been not only for the better but for a happier Chrismas as well.

PASSING OF THE WOODSHED

The slipper, the shingle and the barrel stave have passed out of the picture in St. Joe homes as important instruments in the discipline of children. But there are times when one wonders if it was a good idea to dispense with them. Such punishment tended to be harsh, it is true, but in the hands of a coolly deliberate and not unkindly authority, they had their value. The old woodshed played a very valuable part in the life of earlier generations.

Five young boys were recently arrested in a middle western town for wrecking classrooms in a school building. They counted it a great lark and their only comment on arrest was: "Oh, the taxpayers will have to settle for the repairs." This statement may have been in keeping with present day ideas of political ecoonmy, but it is unsound, nevertheless. And some early training in the woodshed may have prevented such youthful depredations.

There is nothing heroic in being laid over Dad's knees and paddled with a slipper or a shingle. But history has proved that there is something effective about it. And such socially dangerous philosophy as that held by those five boys should still be whacked out of them and others before they become permanent charges on the taxpayers. Growing up to be a bandit or a hard-boiled type of citizen never had a place in very many youthful minds before the old woodshed passed on.

USING THE BOYCOTT

Newspaper reports that one of the largest five-and-ten-cent store organiaztions in the U. S. has announced that it will not in the future sell "Made in Japan" merchandise is causing nation-wide comment. And yet the average citizen will wonder why such a decision wasn't reached years ago by every store in America. Using such a boycott now as a protest against war may or may not be all right. That is open for argument. But boycotting the cheap and usually worthless Japanese junk in an effort to protect American labor and American wages has long been needed. As the average St. Joe citizen who is anxious to see the market for American-made products views it, "Made in Japan" merchandise should have been shut out of this country long before Japan began her cruel and unjustified war on the Chinese.

ROTTEN TO THE CORE

That the practice of exempting state and federal employes from state and federal taxes has grown into a national "racket" is becoming more and more apparent is shown by renewed agitation now going on throughout the country. New facts are coming out concerning it and the public is getting its eyes open. "Why should a man be exempt from state taxes because he holds a state job, or from the federal income tax because he holds a government job?" That is the question taxpayers are commencing to ask, and as the subject becomes more widely discussed the demand for an answer to that question becomes more insistent. Here, as most St. Joe people view it, is something that should be looked into, and all facts in connection with it given the fullest publicity. The laws or the regulations under which a certain set of citizens can escape taxation which other classes of citizens must face, and pay, should be made plain to everyone. For here, as the average taxpayer is commencing to see it, is a practice that is rotten to the core.

COLD TYPE

The printed word has an enormous power over the public mind. If people hear by word of mouth some report that seems at first thought unlikely, they are disposed to reject it. But if they see the same report printed in a newspaper they regard it as the truth. Few readers realise, perhaps, just how much time newspaper people spend running down rumors, yet it is because newspapers are careful to get the facts that what they print is acceptable as true. The ability of the printed word to influence the public is demonstrated in the power of advertising. Just as people shape their opinions and actions largely by the events which are recorded by the printed word, so their habit of buying household and personal supplies are shaped largely by the printed word of newspaper advertising. If a business concern uses the printed word to make some misleading offer to the public, the effect of such misuse will plague that business forever. People who bought such misrepresented goods would take them back, and also tell their friends. For that reason advertising is prepared with a regard for truth—and truth always pays. And that is why you can always depend on the business institution that advertises what it has for sale.

The Sunday School Class, taught by L. W. Yeiser, met at his home Friday evening for their regular monthly meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wisler and son, Neal, of Garrett, were Saturday night and Sunday guests in the W. L. Hamilton home.

Mrs. A. R. Cole, son, George and daughter, Fairie, of Garrett, were here Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Wineland. Frank Davis has also returned to Fort Wayne after a week in the home of his sister.

Word has been received that Vance Woodcox, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Woodcox, has been elected vice president of Radio Corp. of America. Vance lives at Riverton, N. J., a suburb of Camden, N. J., and was formerly an executive of the Kelvinator Co., of Detroit.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Newville U. B. Church met last week on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Neva Jennings. The day was spent in quilting and knotting of comforters. Besides the regular members, there were five visitors, Mrs. Henry Shroyer, Mrs. M. M. Mansfield, Mrs. George Koeppe and son, Kenneth, Mrs. A. C. Koeppe and Mrs. Allen Haller.

Altogether I Need Lamps

We'll Help You, Madam, to Brighten Up!

Believe it or not, our business is—partly—to spread sunshine and light. We do it by brightening up countless homes with genuine Edison MAZDA Lamps—known everywhere as "The Sun's Only Rival." These fine electric lamps have never been surpassed in giving the most light for the current used.

Look about your home. Count the empty sockets—count the blackened, wasteful lamps. Jot down your figures right on this advertisement; then clip the ad and slip it into your purse.

15c Let it remind you, on your next shopping trip, that you can afford to burn Edison MAZDA Lamps freely. Let it remind you to come to us, without delay, for a good supply. Singly or in handy cartons of six.

Saturday Night in Japan

"COME on in, the water's fine." Bathing in Japan is on a different plane from ours, as these two American gentlemen can tell you. Tubs are perpendicular there, instead of horizontal, and you stand in the water up to your neck. But we shouldn't laugh at this somewhat primitive scene, according to Consumers Information, which points out that only a hundred years ago, there were only 1,500 bathtubs in the United States, all of them in Philadelphia, where they had a city water system and taxed each tub $2.00. President Fillmore installed the first tub in the White House in 1850. Advertising of the advantages of convenient and sanitary bathing started 31 years later, has continued increasingly ever since, and has made the United States the cleanest nation on earth. Even the most advanced European nations are far behind us in this respect, and the possession of a bathtub in most countries is a sign not only of opulence, but ostentation. The United States is among the few countries generally educated to the knowledge that health and cleanliness go together.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL ITEMS

Harold Yeiser has been laid up this week with pleurisy.

The quail hunting season closes Monday, December 20.

Jeanne Hatch spent the week end with her brother, James, at St. Joe.

Mrs. Hazel Storer, of Auburn, was here yesterday visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Storer.

The Curie property, occupied by Clarence Dorsey, just west of the St. Joe Service Station, was sold last week to Wilbur Yeiser.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Koch and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Koch were callers Suday afternoon at the Jerry Klopfenstein home near Grabill.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid Society will meet Thursday afternoon with Lora Leighty. The committee requests that all bring a ten cent Christmas exchange.

Rev. J. E. Ferster, of Mulberry, Ind., a former Lutheran pastor, returned to the local circuit for services last Sunday, being at St. Joe in the morning and Spencerville in the evening. A portion of his talk was devoted to the Old People's Home of which he has been assigned as the superintendent. The talk was indeed educational, and he gave the congregation some things to think about as it is owned, controlled and managed entirely by the Lutheran Church. Rev. Ferster likes his new work. He was glad to get back, and see many of his old friends. A harvest home donation was given by many to be used in the home.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ferman moved here from Tiffin, Ohio, this week and will occupy the rooms in Dr. Price's office. Mr. Ferman works second trick at H. K. Tower.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert West and Mrs. Sarah Kimmell, of Chicago, were here Sunday guests of Mrs. Lucinda McClure in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Zimmerman.

Sunday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Staman were Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Sechler, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sechler, Louise Sechler and Vernie Monroe and son, Billy.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sechler entertained to supper Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bowen, of Fort Wayne, Mrs. Mary Sechler, Vernie Monroe and son, Billy, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Staman.

The township trustees held their monthly meeting at the Ashley school house Monday and enjoyed a dinner served by the home economics class. The trustees will be entertained at dinner Monday, Jan. 10, at the Spencerville school.

The St. Joe Merchants will play Bergs Bottling Works on the local floor Monday night, December 13. This Auburn team is made up of ex-high school players and is a fast aggregation and should give the Merchants a real battle.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Leighty, of Hamilton Lake, are in Chicago for a few days this week. Mrs. Mae Openlander of Sherwood, Ohio, a sister, is keeping house for them. Mrs. Ed Leighty spent from Sunday until Wednesday in the Leighty home.

Dan Herrick, Auburn's oldest restaurant operator, was telling his friends Monday what a "good old man he is." Mr. Herrick was 77 years old on Monday and is at his restaurant, located at 113 West Seventh St., every day, still active and well.—Star.

School will open this (Thursday) morning after a week's vacation caused by the well giving out that supplied the water for the two buildings. A new 2½ inch well was dug and ready for operation, by Derwood Ridgway. It was drilled in the furnace room of the new high school building.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bowen are spending the week at Ralph Sechler's. Glen is an experienced plumber having worked at that trade in the Pennsylvania shops for years, and he is taking this week to assist in the completion of the pickle processing plant, that has been erected since the fire about a month ago.

Contracts were awarded Tuesday morning for the construction of a 4 class room school building and community hall in Fairfield Township, by trustee, Ora Rowe, to W. R. Dunkin, of Fort Wayne, general contract, $28,158 and for the heating and plumbing to Lige Heating Co., of Auburn, $6,440.

A new major industry for Auburn was assured Tuesday when the Warner Automotive Parts Corp. became the owner of the entire plant of the Auburn Automobile Co., with the exception of the administration building. The operation of the plant is to be started in the spring, depending on improvement in business conditions. The plant will employ 300 men.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Metcalf, of Huntington, spent Sunday in the J. P. Buckingham home. They came with a well filled basket to be spread at the noon hour, thus saving the uneasiness of the hostess upon the arrival of unexpected guests. They had learned that Mr. and Mrs. Buckingham were not very well, and in this way the day was a real enjoyment for all.

Mr. and Mrs. Cy Cline were accompanied by Lester Coburn on a hunting trip to Pennsylvania, but were not successful due to the extreme ice condition in the woods. They expect to return as soon as snow falls there to aid in the hunting. Later: Sunday evening Mr. Cline received a telephone message that six inches of snow fell Sunday evening. Tuesday evening Mr. Cline, accompanied by Wilbur Yeiser, returned to Pennsylvania. Better luck, boys.

David Moudy, of 1⅛ miles west of Sawdust Church, was in our office Tuesday, placing an ad in the classified column. In the course of conversation Mr. Moudy stated his complete satisfaction of results The News gave him, when he run a potato ad last fall. He remarked that it beat anything he ever experienced. He hired two men to wait on the customers, while the digging crew continued. 300 customers were served at his field and 1500 bushels were disposed of in a short time. The men worked as late as midnight, and the cars wanting to be loaded resembled a county fair. That's what we call real results, and thanks Mr. Moudy.

SPENCERVILLE SCHOOL NOTES

Another month of school has come to a close and another set of report cards has been sent home to the parents. We sincerely hope the report is used as we wish it to be used—as a criterion to determine if the child is applying himself or wasting a lot of valuable time. All children cannot make marks of an A or B, but a mark of C or D in subject matter along with a satisfactory conduct and application mark may mean the child is doing good work. A child with low marks in subject matter, but good marks in conduct and application is not to be censored. Low conduct and application marks are given for only one purpose—to tell the parents that their child is wasting time in school, perhaps even to the extent that he is keeping others from putting forth maximum efforts. With encouragement from home, the child may be led to greater activity and to a greater conservation of valuable time. The patrons of our school have been most generous in cooperating with our teachers in attempting to lead pupils to a higher understanding of their responsibilities.

Honor Roll for November consists of following: Virginia Akey; Martha Hart; Evelyn Shook; Ray Brunson; Carol Reed; Virginia Rugman, and Hilda McNamara.

Betty Bellinger is a new junior in our school, having moved into the vicinity from Churubusco.

The moving of the Home Economics and the Science Departments has been completed. We think the move is a wise one and wonder why it was not made a long time ago. The Home Economics Department is now housed on the lower floor, and the science room is directly off from the assembly room. The Home Economics girls were happily surprised the other morning to find a new Shelvadore refrigerator for their use.

JACKSON TOWNSHIP SELECTS OFFICERS FOR 1938

A full house attended the Jackson Township Sunday School Convention at Rehoboth Church Sunday afternoon. The program was extremely interesting throughout.

Reports from the Sunday School secretaries showed a keen interest in following the plans of the county association, in observance of the standard requirements for a well rounded program. The departmental reports were far above the average in definite work done as a township unit, thus explaining the success of the three schools in Jackson Township.

Frank Carleton Nelson, a scholar of the Rehoboth school some 41 years ago, was present and recited a number of his poems.

The officers elected are as follows:

President, Ernest Cornell.

First Vice Pres., Ray Armstrong.

Second Vice Pres., Arthur Friend.

Secretary-Treasurer, Fern Wright.

Pianist and Chorister from entertaing school.

Divisional Superintendents: Adult, Wesley Carper; Young People, Frank Dosch; Children, Ida Carnahan; Educational, Ines Dosch.

MARRIED IN LOUISIANA

Mr. Leo Spitler, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Milt Spitler, of east of Spencerville, was united in marriage at Lake Charles, Louisiana, November 24th to Miss Lottie Williams, of San Angelo, Texas. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. J. Bradley, of the M. E. Church. Leo is employed by the Loffland Bros. Drilling Company of Alvin, Texas. His many friends here extend congratualtions.

YOUNGSTERS WRITING THEIR... .... REQUESTS TO SANTA CLAUS

Garrett, Ind., 301 E. Quincy St.

Dear Santa,

I'm a little boy not yet 3 yrs. old.

I'll tell you a few things I'd like to have a red car I can ride in, a tractor, blocks, a black board, A. B. C. book, Tool Kit, (big enough for my hammer) and a live baby kitty so I can name her "Tabby"

Which ever of these you can spare. I'm a very good boy. Yours

Niel "Petar" Wisler.

Wants A Modern Doll

St. Joe, Indiana

Dear Santa,

How are you? I want a doll that wets and a milk bottle with it. I want a little sled too! And while you are at it you could give me a set of crayons and a thick coloring book.

P. S. Don't forget the nuts and candy. I am six years old.

Yours truly,

Jacqueline Zonker.

NEWS FROM COUNTY AGENT

On December 15, 1937, at 1:30 P. M. in the Court House at Auburn, the dairymen of DeKalb County will hold a special dairy meeting to discuss breeding of dairy cattle. Mr. E. T. Wallace, Purdue Extension Dairyman, will lead the discussion and outline methods and breeding programs that have helped to build successful dairy herds in Indiana.

One of the special features of the meeting will be a two-reel picture, showing the complete physiology of reproduction. A part of the film involves microscopic photography and shows actual pictures of the growth and development of the embryo calf from a tiny egg cell to maturity.

Charts, showing the results of dairy cattle breeding in leading Indiana herds, and outlining methods of sire selection will further illustrate the discussion. Dairy sire and dairy herd management will also be discussed. Any one interested in dairy herd improvement and the development of a profitable dairy herd is invited.

The local dairy committee in charge of this meeting is composed of the following: Harry Steele, Archie Hewitt, George B. Hart and John Yarde.

AUBURN LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

Furnished by
Ward Jackman, Sec.-Treas.

There were 532 head of livestock on sale this week with prices active as compared to last week.

Hogs: 180 to 225, $8.20; 225 to 275, $7.75 to $7.85. Fat sows $6.85 to $7.10; boars $4.70 to $4.90; a Hampshire sow with six pigs at heel brought $42.50. Feeder shoats selling by the head equaled ten to fourteen cents per pound.

The top on Veals was $11.80 with the bulk changing hands at from $10 to $11.00. The offering in calves was of lower quality than for several weeks; there were no selects in the offering and only a very few tops. There were plenty of orders for select calves at $12.00.

Sheep and lambs were active with more buyers than consignors top offerings of lambs brought $9.20 with seconds from $8.00 down. The bulk of the lambs were bought on orders for Indianapolis. Fat ewes $3.50 and breeding ewes from $8.40 down.

Cattle seemed to sell faster than last week with maybe a shade higher price; fat cows from $4.00 to $4.80; canners mostly from $2.50 to $3.00; common butcher steers $5.00 to $5.80; bulls $5.10 to $5.65.

ST. JOE GRADES WIN AT HAMILTON

The St. Joe grade team won their first game over Hamilton grade team 21 to 19.

The second team was defeated 18 to 35, and the firts team lost by the score of 11 to 31.

Avilla invaded to local high school gym defeating St. Joe second team 13 to 29 and the first team 21 to 57.

Fremont will play here Dec. 17th.

WINS TWO GAMES

Our fast stepping St. Joe Merchants basket ball team last Saturday night defeated the Westminster A. C's a Antwerp, score 22-23. On Monday night at the local gym they defeated Berg's Bottlers of Auburn, who were composed of ex-high school stars and one university star. Score 36-15. The score at the half was 20-7.

The merchants have proven that they now have one of the fastest breaking teams both on offense and defense in Northeastern Indiana. Come on, you fans and give the team the support that they're deserving. Following is a part of the schedule:

Zanesville, Saturday, December 18.
Hoagland, Monday, December 20.
Spencerville, Friday, December 31.
Harlan, Saturday, January 11.
Admission, 10c and 15c. Grades free.

SANTA CLAUS GETS A BIG LETTER FROM HIS FRIENDS

St. Joe, Ind.
Dec. 11, 1937.

Dear Santa Claus.

Will you bring me a little electric stove? That is what I want the very most and if you have enough for all the other little children all over the world bring me some little pans and cooking utensils and some little aluminum dishes, too.

My brother John wants a tractor and a truck and a barn with animals. He says he wants a little car to ride in, but Santa, we're afraid you can't leave so many things at our house so maybe he will wait till next year. I want him to have some little skates like mine.

John is 3 years old I am five, and my mamma is helping me write to you. There's lots of things we want, so if you, have any left we like to have some new clothes and some house slippers for me and some for mamma and some thing for daddy too. I wanted to tell you that I've really quit sucking my thumb this year, so I could get my electric stove. I'm trying to be real good and help my mamma so you'll come here every Christmas.

Well good bye, With love
From Geraldine Shull.

CONSERVATION CLUBS ARE FEEDING BIRDS AND OTHER WILD LIFE

Conservation Clubs throughout the state have begun the emergency feeding of birds and other wildlife as a result of the snows and near-zero temperatures of the past week, Virgil M. Simmons, commissioner of the Department of Conservation, said today.

Tons of grain and screenings have been accumulated and stored during the summer and fall months in anticipation of this progarm in which farmers, school children, rural mail carriers and thousands of others participate annually. Sponsored by the Department of Conservation with the cooperation of the nearly seven hundren local clubs, the emergency feeding of birds and wildlife is playing a big part in increasing the number of game and song birds in Indiana.

In many parts of the state there has been sufficient snow on the ground to hide the weed seeds and other natural food for birds. In some places the natural food supply was insufficent to carry the birds through the winter months and regular distribution of grain will be required to prevent the starvation of wildlife or its being weakened by lack of food.

Pheasants, quail and partridge can be fed best by placing the grain or screenings under a brush pile or other shelter which will prevent its being covered by snow. Such feeding stations should be located close to natural cover as the birds will hesitate to venture away from cover, exposing themselves to hawks and other predators.

A small pile of gravel or grit should be placed at each feeding station, as this is a necessary part of a bird's diet and cannot be obtained when the ground is frozen. Suet of beef fas is also welcomed by many species of birds.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL ESTIMATED AT $1,200

While complete returns are not in as yet, Ralph Griest, county roll call chairman for the annual American Red Cross membership drive, announces that memberships and donations will exceed last year's contributions by about $150. The report for every city and township is complete with the exception of Garrett. Following are the results:

	Memberships	Donations
Waterloo	$ 82	$ 5.50
Stafford	3	1.01
Troy Twp.	11	9.25
Fairfield Twp.	4	3.53
St. Joe	27	1.80
Spencerville	14
Richland Twp.	13	4.75
Simthfield Twp.	10	4.25
Grant Twp.	2
Ashley	53	4.58
Butler	73	5.10
Auburn	307	196.50
Garrett	234	12.02

The above figures make a grand total of $1,083.44, but when all Garrett contributions are accounted for, it is expected the total received will run over $1,200.

CHANGE FROM MONTHLY TO QUARTERLY TAX RETURNS

After the month of December, 1937, tax returns under Title VIII of the U. S. Social Security Act will be filed quarterly instead of monthly. The quarterly return will be a combined tax and information return. The first quarterly return will be for January, February and March, 1938, and must be filed in the office of the Collector of Internal Revenue not later than April 30, 1938. Blank forms for the filing of this return will be mailed in sufficient time for preparation and filing before the due date.

The monthly tax return for December, 1937, must be filed as usual in the office of the Collector of Internal Revenue not later than January 31, 1938. A blank form SS-1 will be mailed for this purpose.

Taxpayers are also required to file returns showing the total wages on which tax was paid and the amount of wages paid to each employee during the period from July 1 to December 31, 1937. Blank forms SS-2 and SS-2a will be mailed for this purpose. They must be filled out and filed in the office of the Collector of Internal Revenue not later than January 31, 1938.

LOW DOWN from HICKORY GROVE

About every other day, when you pick up a paper, you will see where they are shootin' another dozen or one-half dozen, over there in Russia. And pretty soon they are gonna have to do quite a little lookin' around, to find people to shoot. Like in the early days in the U. S., they had plenty of buffalo and they thought they would never run out of 'em, and they shot 'em just for a buffalo robe.

And some day it will maybe be the same in Russia. And it is kinda funny that you will find peoople here in the U. S., on soap boxes and other places, here and there—and you will find 'em favorin' making over our own Govt., and try out some foreign idea, or some new ism or asm that has not been used, but sounds great.

But the ducks talkin' up these big ideas, they would not be so hot for 'em, except they figure they maybe can be the top-sergeant, with a nice new job, and a fur lined overcoat—and not the guy standin' up against the wall.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA.

I believe in safety because the loss of my ability to work means suffering for those I love most. Without my help they are thrown to the mercies of a more or less indifferent world.

I believe in safety because it is effective. It provides real protection for myself and others.

I believe in safety because it is my patriotic duty to do so. No community can afford to have accidents to its citizens.

I believe in safety because I want to live the full length of my life and enjoy it to the utmost.

I believe in safety because I do not want to depend upon charity.

These are just a few of the reasons why we should all believe in safety. Please read them carefully and think them over.

Harold Yeiser continues on the sick list. Robert Ridgway is also out of school.

Charles Worden was a supper guest in the Dale Trostel home Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Hasel Krabill-Miller, of Auburn, is recovering slowly from a recent operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wells and little son, Lamar, called on Mrs. Wells parents Saturday night.

Mrs. Gladys Gorrell and son, of Ft. Wayne, visited several days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hart.

Keith Daily spent Saturday and Sunday at Grand Rapids, Mich., and he reported about a foot of snow fall.

Harold Morr, an employe at the Hicksville handle factory, lost two fingers Tuesday. He is the husband of Ruth Widney Morr, daughter of Mrs. Otto Widney.

Dorothy Littlefield is able to be in school again following her absence on account of an auto accident on the morning of November 27th. Her cuts are all healing nicely.

A liberal helping of home made sausage and fresh pork side meat was presented The News, by O. E. Ginther and wife last week. The famous Hampshire hogs do sure make good sausage and this kindness is much appreciated by The News force.

Mrs. Chas. Eckhart, 83, of Los Angeles, California, a former Auburn resident, died Wednesday morning of last week. Her body will be cremated and the ashes probably returned to Auburn for interment.

Mrs. Mary Sechler, Mrs. Cora Curie, Mr. B. E. Widney and Merritt Sechler enjoyed a birthday dinner yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Mavis in Auburn, in honor of Mrs. Jennie Sechler, who is spending the winter in the Mavis home.

A taffy pull and bunco party was held at the home of Mrs. Chas. Woodcox last Thursday evening. Those present were Mrs. Lou Woodcox, Mrs. Elnora Blue, Mrs. Anna Hersey, Mrs. Alice Copp, Mrs. Ethel Wineland, Mrs. Millie Wilson, Mrs. Daisy Keeler, Mrs. Vienna Rude and daughter, Mary Ellen, Mrs. Elizabeth Milliman, Mrs. Chas. On Tuesday evening Mrs. Elizabeth Milliman entertained the following friends to a bunco party and pot luck supper, Mrs. Anna Hersey, Mrs. Daisy Keeler, Mrs. Elnora Blue, Mrs. Alice Copp, Mrs. Ida Woodcox and daughter, Maxine, Mrs. Katie Storer, Mrs. Millie Wilson, Mrs. Edna Jenkins, Mrs. Vessie Martin, Mrs. Viena Rude and daughter, Mary Ellen, and Jacqueline Shuff.

PICKED UP ABOUT TOWN

"Women like to be up-to-date in all but one thing," asserts Ed Storer, "and that's their birthdays."

George Hart says maybe the big part of that $10,000 paid for a bull at the Chicago Live Stock Show was just plain bull.

Some things never change. You can always have more fun sowing wild oats than you can harvesting them.

"You can always get your wife to agree with you," says Chas. Koch, "when you tell her Solomon got all his wisdom listening to his wives."

According to Wm. Staman anybody can shine in society if he will wear the same pair of pants long enough.

"My idea is," declares DuWayne Kinsey, "that after a fellow has learned to play a saxaphone he oughtn't to practice so much."

It's pretty hard to make some men believe that a large family and a used car is an expensive combination.

"The average man has just two objects in life," asserts L. B. Meek. "One is to get rich and the other is to get richer."

J. R. Leighty is of the opinion that every time the bottom drops out of the stock market a new class is graduated in the School of Experience.

Concord Township Home Bureau held a most enjoyable Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Yeiser on Friday, Dec. 10th.

The home was beautifully decorated in keeping with the season, a lighted Christmas tree being the center of attracion. A large red Christmas stocking received the exchange gifts. The exchange being in charge of Mrs. Neva Wyatt and Mrs. Laura Washler.

In addition to the pot luck dinner which included an appetizing array of all kinds of dainties, the committee in charge served hot browned potatoes, meat loaf, tea rolls and coffee. Favors at each plate were ribbon tied red and green candy Christmas bells.

At 1:30 the meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Gertrude Borthwick. Singing of Silent Night and Jingle Bells were led by Mrs. Helen Ulm.

Several matters of business were taken care of, secretary's report read and roll called to which twenty-five members responded. Mrs. Mary Krise was elected chorister to serve for 1938, with Mrs. Laura Washeir, assistant. Mrs. Ethel Wineland and Mrs. Clara Sible were elected project leaders.

A very interesting program was in the charge of Mrs. Harriett Draggoo, Mrs. Laura Washler and Mrs. Myrtle Pugsley. After the Christmas exchange all returnd to their homes pronouncing it a most pleasant and long to be remembered day. Mr. Yeiser heartily invited the ladies back any time they had a good supply of things baked up.

Mrs. Yeiser and her committee, Clara Foltz, Katie Storer, and Mable Weikel have the thanks of the entire club membership for their part in the making of a pleasant Christmas party. Mrs. Neva Jennings, Mrs. Harriett Baker and little Miss Sally Draggoo were guests.

Christmas turkeys are plumper this year than usual, but that does not mean a thing to the boy who has to be content with the neck or a wing.

Maybe the reason why justice is blind is because she has been socked in the eye so often.

You can safely bet there will always be something to reform so long as we have professional reformers at fat salaries.

Another trouble is that too many people refuse to do their good deed for the day unless there a lot of other people looking.

We are told that the 1938 model cars are so perfect that even a fool can drive them. And a lot of fools probably will.

Census figures show over a million divorced people in the U. S. It is probably the nation's greatest example of long division.

Even at the risk of being called old-fashioned, many a St. Joe man would like to stretch his feet in a pair of old time congress gaiters.

Almost anyone can be a bread-winner these days, girls, but if he happens to also be a meat-winner, then you'd better grab him.

Don't blame the children for howling. All of us might be doing the same thing if we knew it would get us what we want.

Every girl has the God-given right to choose a husband, but she should first make sure whose husband she is choosing.

The country would be better off if all those Americans running over to Egypt to dig for ancient relics would stay at home and dig coal.

In this modern day more than one citizen begins life in an installment-plan cradle and winds up in a partial-payment plan coffin.

If they keep on making scientific studies of farm life it won't be long until most any farmer around can make a living while still wearing a necktie.

Old Adam had one advantage. He could roll in at 3 A. M. without being accused of being out with some other woman.

A good many years ago, the Latin poet Horace remarked that there were things that stalked with impartial tread through the palaces of the rich and the humble dwellings of the poor; among which is toothache. The President, like the rest of us, has been keeping his hand on his jaw, though his mind may have been on more important affairs. Let it suffice to say that the particular disorder mentioned is better which helps some. Toothache or no toothache, the President had time for the usual press conference. About the only definite statement made was that the late contraction of business was getting no worse. To other questions he replied in substance that they were in other hands and had not reached him offically for decision or definite expression of opinion. He is planning to suggest to Congress in due season that a round billion be set aside for national defence in 1939, divided about equally between the army and the navy. With this determination, reports from the State Department undoubtedly had something to do. So it seems that Uncle Sam does not propose to be walked upon.

It should not be assumed, however, that the Department of State is going about with a chip on its shoulder. Secretary Hull, rather, has intimated that it is his sincere desire that the United States travel the way of peace. Yet with national defence occupying for some time a place in the background, with the Orient openly in arms, and with Europe none too settled, there may be sound judgment in the plan to have an extra musket or two handy, or a few more ships floating here or there to the end that if worst comes to worst, the United States may be something more than grain undergoing a process of helpless grinding between the upper and the nether millstones.

Less than a twelve-month ago, rumor had it that the Supreme Court was headed for the junk pile, and that the justices thereof soon would have their names in print under the heading "Situations Wanted, Male." The summer has passed, the harvest is ended, and the highest tribunal of the land still is on the old job, handing down decisions that dizzy the heads of all save the black robed lawyers who appear and tell their involved stories. Out of the mass of material that is hard for "Subscriber" and "Constant Readers" to understand may be picked the statement that the court inclines toward enlarging powers, both state and national, to collect taxes. Opportunity for "holding out" with respect to the tax gatherer grow less and less.

Accounts of what the Senate and the House are doing, open with the words: "Met at noon." It must be fine to be so placed that the alarm clock does not have to be wound, but at that a good and lively Senator or Representative can accomplish much between noon and quitting time. What seems to slow up legislation is the fact that everybody is entitled to have his say. Committees may whip legislation into workable shape, and along comes a legislator with an amendment that requires a debate: but perhaps a thorough airing is a good thing after all. In any event it is to be preferred to the steam roller. So it happens that time may be well spent even though one is compelled to report that both the Senate and the House are debating, considering, rejecting and reversing with respect to the Farm Bill. Among new bills is one changing the existing law to the extent that when two foreign nations start something, the President may declare that a state of war exists between them, decide who is to blame and stop the sale of munitions and the lending of money to the party at fault. Making allowance for the fact that it may be well to put too much power in any single branch of the government, no harm is seen in providing some means whereby international trouble makers, so far as possible, may be nipped promply and in the bud.

A NOTE OF CHEER

There has been no more cheering note during this gladsome holiday season than that sounded a few days ago by the great industrialist, Henry Ford, and we pass it on with the belief that everyone in and around St. Joe will appreciate it. "The year 1938 will see a swift upturn in business of every kind," says Ford in a public interview. "The recent slowdown started in Wall Street and coudl only be temporary. Wall Street has no more effect on actual business in this country than has the result of a dog race in California. The dollar Wall Street deals in is not wealth—wealth consists in the things dollars will buy." He says business men are now confident the government proposes to lend its cooperation in 1938, and that congress will at the present session enact legislation that will justify that confidence. He sees a big year ahead, and every well-thinking American will hope and pray that his prediction comes true.

DON'T LET DOWN

Once each year, for a week along in October, this country observes what it calls "Fire Prevention Week" and statistics show that during and immediately following that week there is an actual decline in fire losses. And the purpose of the occasion is forgotten, and up shoot the fire losses again. We imagine if a careful record were kept it would be found this same condition exists around St. Joe. At any rate it is worthy of a little thought and a determination on the part of property owners not to let down in their vigilance. This is the year's most dangerous season so far as fires are concerned, a season when the greatest possible care should be used to prevent them and when everyone is on the alert for things which cause them. In other words, every week should be "Fire Prevention Week" with those who value the lives and property of the community and who realize that extreme care is the only thing that can possibly reduce such losses.

WISDOM AND AGE

An Indian tribe in Idaho has issued a petition for a new chief because its present head, 40-year-old Joe Seltice is declared to be too young to hold the job. "It requires a chief who is at least 60 years old," say the petitioners, "if he is to have the wisdom and experience necessary to lead the rest of us." And yet in this same age and this same country there are industrial concerns who frown on employing men above the age of 45. Think that over and compare it with the petition of the Indians. There is a place in the world for youth, with its fire and ambition, and also for middle-age with its loyalty and mastery of details, and also for old age with its richness of experience, clarity of thought and the wisdom of its council. Age hasn't fared so well in this topsy-turvy world in the past 15 or 20 years. Perhaps if it had been consulted more freely a lot of things would not be in such a mess as we now find them.

Winona Lake is frozen over for the first time this winter but a flock of swans has managed to keep a small hole in the center of the body of water open by constant swimming around. The swans have been joined by many wild ducks, which had delayed their flight to the southland.

A card from Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Dilley, who are at Colorado Springs, Colorado, stated that James Monroe is feeling better from his asthma. They are enjoying their winter vacation, but do not know how long they will remain. Mrs. Agnes Monroe and daughter, Nancy, who accompanied them to Colorado, returned home last Friday.

Mrs. Minnie Kagey, of Auburn, a former St. Joe resident, came to the George Wilson home last week, to spend the winter. Mrs. Kagey has been living alone. We welcome her to St. Joe and hope that her many St. Joe friends will call on her and chat about the days of some years ago, when she was ver yactive in affairs here.

During the next two weeks the streets will be crowded with Christmas shoppers; traffic will be congested. These conditions call for additional care on the part of both the pedestrian and the motorist. Pedestrians, intent on the serious question What shall I buy Mary? are very likely to dash across intersections heedless of traffic signals. Arms will be loaded with packages, obscuring teh shopper's vision. Motorists will have to anticipate any emergency and be alert at all times.

Let us all do our part to make this a Merry Christmas. Not one of us would want to be responsible for an accident which would spoil the peace and happiness of anyone during the holiday season. Let us keep the thought of safety uppermost in our minds at all times.

Remember—a safe Christmas is a happy Christmas.

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. LII. (52 YEARS) (In the St. Joe Valley) ST. JOE, DeKALB COUNTY, INDIANA. THURSDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1937 NUMBER 51

SPORTING NEWS

FREMONT WINS OVER ST. JOE IN LOCAL GYM

The Cubs were defeated 21 to 37. In the last half however, they scored 16 points while their opponents conneeted for only 6 points.

The First team was defeated 22 to 40. They also let loose of their reserve power in the last half and scored 17 points and allowed Fremont 17 points.

On Thursday evening the St. Joe First and Second teams will motor to Spencerville where they will complete the first half of their basket ball season.

After the Christmas season Leo will travel to St. Joe on January 8th. This is a Saturday night game.

The boys have lost every game so far this season and have no alibi to offer, only that having had no previous basket ball experience have found it very difficult to get into the winning column. They are gradually improving and will give a good account of themselves later.

It is true that every fan enjoys seeing their local team win and when that is true the boys have many people who wish to show their appreciation.

However when one loss follows another the boys find they are deserted when they need encouragement most. This is not only discouraging from the stand point of the boys but also from the financial side.

Every school encounters a certain amount of expense in carrying on a program of athletics. These expenses must be met. So far our games have not turned in enough to meet these expenses. With a rather large obligation carried over from last year the school apparently sooner or later will need to ask the community to help clear the books.

Athletics are generally recognized to provide a medium for the development of community pride. It provides a meeting for local citizens, both young and old, who as spectators cheer the local boys who play basket ball. As a result of this there cannot help develop a sense of pride in the boys and responsibility for those who play as representatives of their high school and at the same time of their home communities. On the other hand, every boy who wears the colors of his home institution quite naturally devolopes a spirt of loyalty for the Old Home Town. Some of this loyalty is bound to carry over into his later years.

It is natural that the community should manifest their interest in these boys. Every loyal citizen believes that it is worth while to make life attractive and to develop by evidence of their interest a sense of responsibility and loyalty on the part of the boys of the community toward the town and its citizens.

The boys who have battled as hard as they knew, yet fairly, against their friendly rivals have high regard and respect for those rivals, whether victorious or not.

Since the majority of the boys who have played and the great majority of those who have followed these lads in their games are sportsmen of the highest order, then to them the idea of peace and good will toward all is a natural phenomenon.

NICE GOING

The St. Joe merchants are surely proving that they are about the fastest basket ball aggregation in this section of the country. Last Saturday night they defeated the highly touted Zanesville Hoosiers, score 28-27, and this week Monday evening they beat the Hoagland Independents 48-42. Hoagland has beaten ten of the best teams in that territory. The team, the manager and the coach ask you fans for your support in order that St. Joe and community can be put on the map as having one of those "wonder teams."

AUBURN LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

Furnished by
Ward Jackman, Sec.-Treas.

Icy roads made receipts lighter than normal at this week's sale, however prices ruled strong to higher in some departments.

Hogs responded downward to a twenty-five cent drop on all terminal markets and the tone was also lowered by a threatened additional drop of twenty-five cents for Friday, however prices were well up compared to competitive markets. 150 to 200 $7.65 to $8.65; 225 to 300 $7.00 to $7.45. Roughs $6.00 to $6.75; Boars $4.30 to $4.65.

Veals made a top of $11.90 with the bulk changing hands at $11.00. The offering of calves this week was of much better quality than for severel weeks past.

Cattle: most kinds of butcher cattle seemed higher than last week. Heifers carrying enough flesh to be attractive to butchers had no trouble in selling for around $6.00 the best butcher cows in the offering brought from $4.00 to $5.50 with the poorer quality cows at $3.00 and above. The bulls were all under $6.00 altho there were none showing quality; the general trend seemed to be steady with last week.

GOVENOR ISSUES CHRISTMAS DAY PROCLAMATION

Governor M. Clifford Townsend issued the annual Christmas Day proclamation today.

The proclamation states:

"Once again the glad tidings of 'Peace on earth, good will toward men' are spread throughout out State.

"At this time of world unrest, we have cause to rejoice that we are at peace with the world, that our national spirit reflects good will toward men.

"This joyful season should inspire all with the spirit of Christianity and the brotherhood of man. It is a time of generous giving, not only of material things but of our love and understanding of our fellow men.

"Now, thereore, I, M. Clifford Townsend, Governor of the State of Indiana, do hereby proclaim Christmas, the twenty-fifth day of December, a holiday, and in behalf of the State, wish all our citizens a very Merry Christmas."

Safetygrams
BY
FRED W. BRAUN
The Safety Man

I want to call your attention again to the need of safe driving and safe walking during this holiday season. Thousands of people are crowding our highways and sidewalks, and it behooves all of us to look out not only for our own safety but also that of our fellow men.

What could be better than any gift you could buy, than to have a pleasant holiday unmarred by an accident?

If you and I will do our part to drive safely, walk safely, and think of safety now and throughout 1938, we shall all be happier.

A MERRY CHRISTMAS and a HAPPY NEW YEAR.

A Merry Christmas

To each and every resident of St. Joe and the community surrounding, we present the season's greetings and our heartiest wishes for a Merry Christmas!

It is our wish that in every heart there abounds at this time the peace and happiness and contentment that makes of his the most helpful and inspiring season of the entire year. In each heart we trust there is cause for joy and gladness, and out of each heart we feel sure there comes a kindly and neighborly feeling for all mankind. The Christmas Spirit now finds its way into every corner of the civilized world; into the hovel and the palace alike; into the fastnesses of forest homes and homes set upon the plains; into the hearts of those who possess little of earthly goods and into the hearts of those who possess much. The Chirstmas Spirit—the greatest leveler of all—now touches the hearts of all mankind alike and kindles therein the beacon light of Hope—a hope that was born beneath the star of Bethlehem almost two thousand years ago; a hope that keeps the eyes of the world turned to the future and the hearts of the world united in a prayer of Peace On Earth Good Will Toward Men.

In this, the most beautiful season known to man, there should be found time for every heart to count its blessings and to give thought to their source. The age-old lesson of the lowly birth of the One the Christmas season honors should serve as a solace to those who feel life's burdens heavy upon them. It should lighten the heart and make it glad.

A season of joy and gladness for young hearts, it is likewise a season when old hearts are made young again, when the spirit of childish innocence is restored by memories, the bonds of friendship renewed and the welfare of our neighbors set with new importance. It is a season for renewing our pledge of friendship for those about us; a season for demonstrating by smile and hand-clasp and cheering words our love for those who make up our individual circle of neighbors and friends. It is a time for thankfulness that we have it in our power to make those friendshps endure.

Out of the East comes once more the light that guides mankind to higher and better things and toward a haven that is more magnificent than anything yet built by hands. We see that light—we know it as the Christmas Spirit. And now as hearts grow mellow beneath it, and are filled with it; as it is scattered abroad through smiles and laughter and gifts and gladsome song, we enter the Christmas season with only love and kindliness. We find Hope and earthly happiness born anew within us, and a tenderer feeling toward those about us. It is this mystic power of the Spirit of Christmas which makes this the most sacred and inspiring holiday of all. It is with this mystic power in our hearts that we repeat the wish now uppermost in our hearts—the wish that this will be for you and yours

A Merry Christmas!

A SAFE CHRISTMAS TO YOU

Here's a wishing you a Merry Christmas—and a safe Christmas.

This year, if past precedents prevail, many a Christmas that starts out merrily will end in tragedy—because of fire. A dead child, a seriously burned parent, a destroyed home—these are the fruits of carelessness and ignorance in regard to fire hazards.

The danger of fire always exists, and with the Holiday season a number of especially grave hazards appear. One of the worst of these is the use of real candles on Christmas trees. As the tree dries, it will very easily catch fire from even the slightest flame. And even though a tree is green enough to resist candle flame, the danger of clothing and decorations igniting is extremely great. Use electric tree candles—and buy outfits of good quality to reduce the hazard of short-circuits.

Christmas costumes, of paper and flimsy cloth, are another important danger, especially to children too young to be properly careful. Such costumes should never be worn in the presence of open flame of any kind, such as a fireplace.

During Christmas, more than ordinary care should be taken with matches and smoking materials. With a litter of package wrapping about, and the house in general happy disorder, carelessness with a match or cigarette may be the prelude to a conflagration.

Above all then—keep fire dangers in mind this Christmas, and be safe. It isn't hard. And it may save a life.

LUTHERAN SERVICES

There will be preaching services at the Lutheran Church on Sunday eve, at 7:00 o'clock.

The Rev. Frank Stevenson, a student at the Lutheran Seminary, Springfield, Ohio, will conduct the services.

P. T. A. NEWS

"Christmas "Good Morning"

Just a word to you this morning
In the good old fashioned way
"Merry Christmas and God bless you."
Other things one well might say
But we like the plain old phrasing
For this day of all the year
"Merry Christmas and God bless you,
With His Best of Christmas Cheer."

Have you visited your schools?
Have you met your child's teacher?
Do you attend the regular P. T. A. meetings?
You owe it to your child.
Do not neglect your responsibilities.

Josephine Kees, Publicity Chairman.

LEGION AUXILIARY NOTES

Walter Whitehurst American Legion Auxiliary Unit Number 283 meets on every second and fourth night of each month at 7:30 o'clock in the Legion rooms of the K. of P. Hall in St. Joe.

Our last regular meeting nite of 1937 will be held at the home of Mrs. Lehr Wilder. At this time the Post will meet with Mr. Wilder. After the regular business session a joint social meeting will be enjoyed. All Auxiliary members are urged to attend this meeting.

Auxiliary members will help pack the Christmas treats at the Legion rooms on this Thursday nite at 8:00 o'clock.

The Fourth District American Legion Auxiliary meeting will be held in Saint Joe on January 20. Delegates and Auxiliary members from the 19 Units in the Fourth District will attend this meeting. The convention will be held at the Lutheran Church with the church ladies serving the dinner. The meeting will be called to order at 10:30. The Walter Whitehurst Unit extend an invitation to every one in the community to attend this open meeting. We would like for you to know what fine work the American Legion Auxiliaries do. Please make your dinned reservations with our secretary, Mrs. Josephine Kees.

We will keep on hands the fine "Get-All" spoons and the "Dolly Dusit" metal sponges. Any Auxiliary member can supply you with either these articles.

Auxiliary members are ask to send a Christmas greeting to Lorens Pearson, 16 years old, Knightstown Home, Knightstown, Indiana. We have already sent a Christmas box to this boy.

A box of jellies has been sent to the Knightstown Home for the holidays.

Write, we know, is written right
When we see it written write.
But when we see it written rite
We know it is not written right;
For write to be written right,
Must not be written rite or right,
Nor yet must it be written wright,
But write, for so it's written right.

CONSERVATION MEETING

All 1937 members of the local Conservation Club are asked to meet at the Town Hall, Thursday night, December 23. Special planning to be done. Lunch will be served.

GIRL SCOUTS HOLD CHRISTMAS PARTY

The Girl Scout Troup held their Christmas party Monday evening at the home of their Captain, Mrs. J. R. Goldsmith.

The Christmas theme was carried out in the decorations of lights, trees, tinsel, wreathes and rope of red and green, lending a real atmosphere of the Christmas season and good cheer. The decorating committee was composed of Helen Faye Curle, Leila Hurni and Myra Keesler.

Games in keeping with the evening's theme conducted by Jean Goldsmith, Jacqueline Shuff and June Goldsimth, were greatly enjoyed. These were followed by an impromptu program in charge of Marcia Wade and Ruth Keesler, which consisted of musical numbers, songs and stories of the Yuletide.

Just at the opportune time Santa Claus arrived, receiving a cheerful welcome from all present. After quietude was once restored Santa proceeded to distribute the presents that were under the tree.

Mrs. F. B. Leighty, the guest of honor was presented with a gift from the group working on the Craftsmanship badge, whom she had been assisting. Mrs. Roy Reidenbach and Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser, lieutenant, were also guests.

A pot luck lunch was served consisting of sandwiches, fruit salad and cake. As June Goldsmith's birthday occurred on this day, she gave each a portion of her birthday cake.

This concluded the evening's program, the girls departing thanking their hostess for a delightful evening.

LUTHERAN CHOIR PRESENTS CHRISTMAS CANTATA

The Everlasting Light, a Christmas Cantata, was given by the Lutheran Church Choir, last Sunday evening, under the direction of Leslie Wilbern.

The choir was assisted by several other good singers of the community. The entire group was dressed in choir robes, which added very much to the dignity of the service.

Solo parts were sung by Mrs. Bernice Sechler, Mrs. Gladys Shull and Harvey Hull. Miss Elizabeth Jones presented the Christmas Story and Mrs. Lora Leighty presided at the piano.

A large and appreciative audience was present in spite of the bad weather. Mr. Wilbern and the Choir deserve much praise for their good offering to the community.

LIVING CHRISTMAS TREE

The living Christmas tree in St. Joe, was turned on Saturday night, opening the Christmas week. It presents a fine appearance. The large tree in the Wm. Strouse yard, was again offered for this purpose, and because of its height, it can be seen for some distance north and south.

Each evening the tree is lighted for several hours.

A short program of songs will be given Friday evening, December 24, conducted by John Woodcox before the treat of candy and oranges are given away by Santa Claus at 7:00 P. M.

W. L. WALLACE DIES AT SEATTLE, WASHINGTON

Mrs. Mary Betz reports having received a letter last week from Mrs. W. L. Wallace, of Seattle, Wash., a former St. Joe resident, stating that Mr. Wallace had died on September 23rd., following a stroke. He had been quite poorly since January. Mrs. Wallace was taking a rest at the home of her son, Glen, in San Pedro, California, and was also going to visit her daughter, Ethel, in Los Angeles, before returning to Seattle.

Mr. Wallace moved to St. Joe at the time of building the grade school house, and after completing the contract, he run the saw mill. He then made plans to build a home on the lots opposite the Chas. Koch home and had the cement foundations all in, when he decided to move to Seattle.

They made a return trip here a few years later and made their headquarters in the John Betz home.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE TO BE HELD IN JANUARY

The Tri-Township Farmers' Institute will be held at St. Joe on January 27, with L. W. Yeiser as the vice president, having full charge as Mrs. Hollis Dilley is in Colorado Springs for the winter.

Russell E. Reiff, of Burnettsville, Ind., will be the man speaker at all three institutes and Mrs. R. M. Brown, of Goshen, Ind., will be the lady speaker. Both speakers have a lot of farm experience and have a worthy message for the people of DeKalb County.

Complete details will be forthcoming from the new chairman.

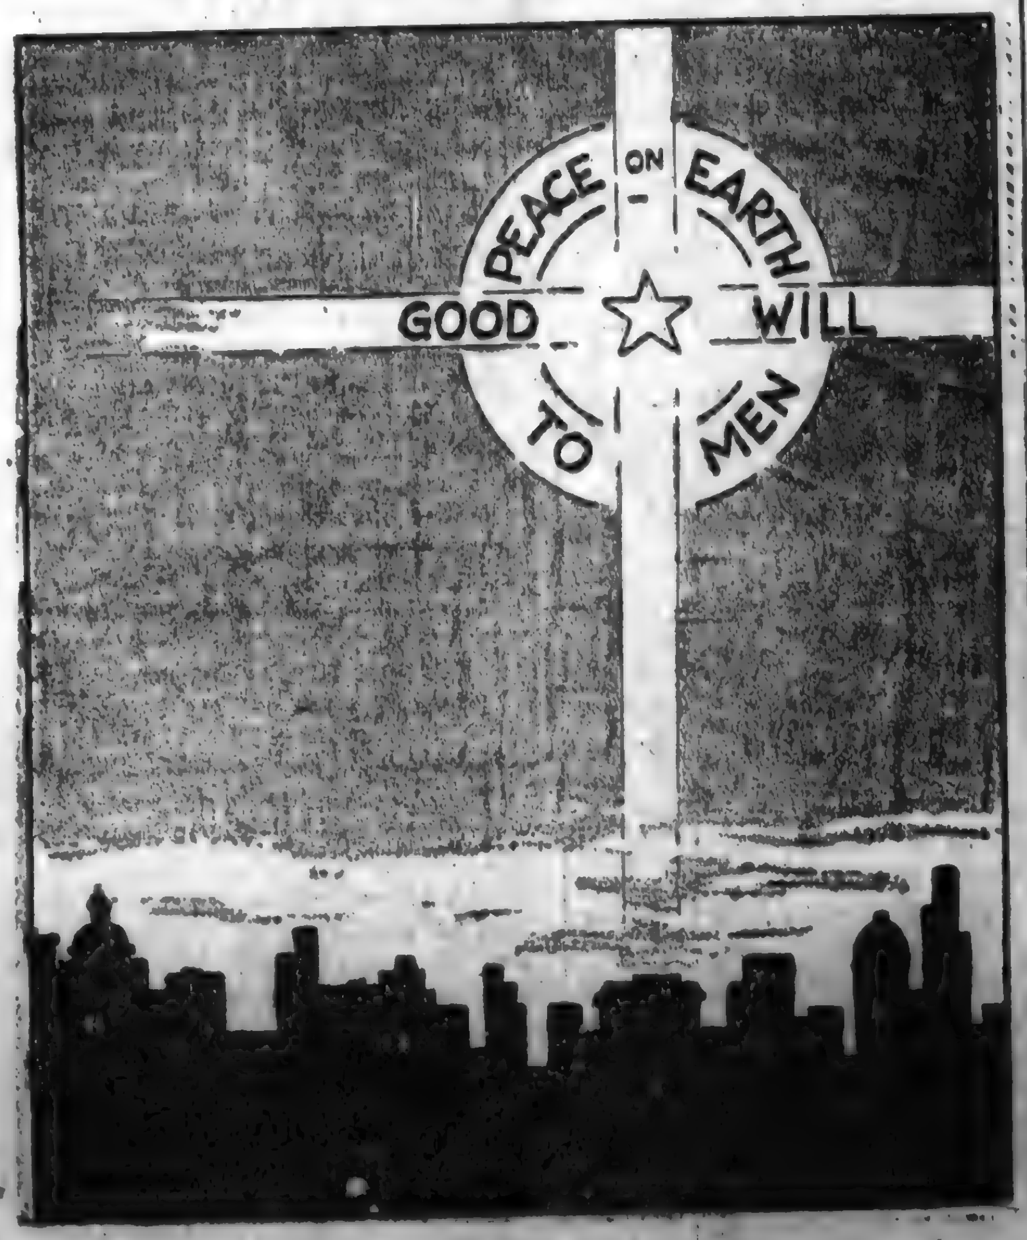
John Dilley, a tenant on the farm of Ray Dilgard, located west of Waterloo, was operated on Saturday night at the Dr. J. A. Sanders Hospital in Auburn for hernia. His condition was satisfactory on Monday. He is a brother of Hollis Dilley.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Woodcox took the early morning B. & O. train today for Philadelphia, to be guests of their son, Vance Woodcox and family, for a week, as a holiday gift. A much appreciated gift as Mr. and Mrs. Woodcox were anxious to visit their children and grandchildren in their Eastern home.

The firemen's fair and jubilee Thursday night proved quite a success in spite of the inclement weather, and the boys wish to express their appreciation to the general public for their support, as this will afford the company sufficient funds to again assist in spreading Christmas cheer.

THE STAR OF HOPE



Leniency was denied Jay Penland, 43, of North Walsh St., Garrett, Monday by the state clemency commission at Indianapolis. Penland, the father of twelve children, pleaded guilty in the DeKalb County Circuit Court last May 8 to a charge of incest and was sentenced to serve ten months at the state farm. It is said at the time that Penland had threatened to shoot his family and Deputy Sheriff C. M. Minnich. It will be remembered that Penland drove school bus here at one time and lived on Road 8.

Sunday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Borthwick were, Mr. and Mrs. Herald Beams and son, of Newark, New Jersey, Mrs. A. L. Anderson and Mrs. Xenia Cramer, of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Virgel Montague, of Fort Wanye, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Winn, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Winn and granddaughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fulmer and children and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Fulmer, of Hicksville, and Russell Borthwick, of Los Angeles, Calif., the latter having arrived on Saturday. Enroute he spent a couple days visiting his sister, Priscilla Simanton, who is teaching school in Lander, Wyo.

The American Spirit

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN

National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

During the past year many Americans have been reading a book which describes various problems in the art of living that still await solution.

It is a cheerful book. It believes a large number of those problems will be solved, and that the solutions are not so far away. It believes that men and women striving with diligence, sincerity and self-confidence will find the answers—as did, for example, Thomas Edison and Luther Burbank in their separate and important fields.

During the same period have appeared other writings, either emanating from Europe or inspired by foreign pessimism. These take a different point of view.

They despair of the capacity of men and women, as such, to solve their problems. They urge that all initiative, all responsibility be surrendered to those who hold the reins of government—as in many foreign lands today—and that youth trade its hopes, its energies, its self-reliance, for a problematical and dull future of state care and state guidance.

Here are two divergent viewpoints.

The first is American in approach and in method.

The second is foreign. It is the antithesis of the spirit which conquered our raw frontiers, and converted them into some of the most fruitful and pleasant home-sites on earth.

The new frontiers to be conquered are no longer geographical. But the spirit which will tame them and build thereon a fuller and happier life for men, is the same spirit of personal courage and confident enterprise that actuated our earlier pioneers.

It is the American spirit.

IT PUTS ON NO AIRS

The Country Weekly is the most popular week-end visitor of the rural community, welcomed fifty-two times a year. In some families it has been a fixture for generations.

It is in most instances a tried and true friend arriving some time on Thursday or Friday. It puts on no airs, is as comfortable as an old shoe, talks the language of the people it visits, knows them well and understandingly, tells its news of the neighborhood simply and quickly in a spirit of good-will, does not overstay its welcome and drops out of sight until another week rolls around.

The country weekly has been for generations and still remains the sensitive news center of towns, villages, and the widespread countryside. It is woven out of the fabric of the lives of the people who read it. It maintains close association and intimate contact with them. No other vehicle for carrying information is more personal in its relationship with its readers.

CHRISTMAS DINNER PARTY AND EXCHANGE

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Draggo entertained at a Christmas party on Christmad Day, fifty-eight guests. A bountiful dinner with all the Yuletide trimmings was enjoyed by every one. The afternoon was spent singing Christmas carols, visiting and the exchanging of gifts which each one had placed on the pretty lighted Christmas tree.

Those who were there to enjoy this happy party were Mr. and Mrs. G. Keller, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mutafeld and family, of Butler; Mr. and Mrs. Artus Coyle and family, Mr. O. B. Draggoo, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Draggoo, Mr. and Mrs. K. Provines and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brown and family, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Carper, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Carper, and Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, of Auburn; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Palmer and daughter, of Monroeville; Mrs. Goldie Shutt, of Spencerville; Mr. and Mrs. John Draggoo and family and Miss Alice Baker, of Fort Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Dell Draggoo, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Draggoo and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Engle and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Baker, of St. Joe; Mr. and Mrs. Marshal Morr, of South Bend, and Mr. C. Draggoo, of Hillsdale, Michigan.

ALICE HART FAMILY ENJOY CHRISTMAS DINNER

The Alice Hart family celebrated a Merry Christmas at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hart.

The guests arrived near the noon hour to find the rooms beautifully decorated in blue and silver. The three long tables carried out the same color scheme to which was added a touch of evergreen and white candles in cyrstal holders. A Christmas tree all in blue lights had been visited by Santa Claus earlier in the day as many gifts were piled beneath its branches.

After the bounteous dinner a short program was rendered. Just as the last carol was being sung a loud noise was heard outside and everyone rushed to the window to see Santa pass by on a tractor. He seemed to have lost his way, but returned in a few moments and passed out the many gifts to each and every one.

The guests present were Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hart and Miss Berniece Sauers, of Hicksville, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hart, Mrs. Alice Hart, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Hart and son, Mr. and Mrs. Lehr Wilder and children, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Hart, Miss Alice Hart, Mr. Harold Kagey, and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hart and son, of Goshen, Indiana.

HERE FOR HOLIDAYS FROM THE WEST

Christmas Day dinner guests in the O. K. Shull home, west of St. Joe, were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hamilton and son, Franklin, of Alliance, Nebraska; Mrs. Delphia Provines, of Oklahoma City, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Lee O. Tustison, of Defiance, Ohio; Keith Tustison and Clark Hamilton, students at Columbia University; Joseph Shull, of Columbia City; Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Shull and children and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Haller and son.

On Monday they were all guests in the Wm. Hamilton home and on Thursday in the Allen Haller home, with the exception of Joe Shull, of Columbia City.

It is seldom that this famly is able to all get together, so they are making good use of their visit to Indiana.

Sensible people try to settle their big problems to the accompaniment of laughter. The Eskimos employ laughter in peace negotiations. When alien chiefs meet, comic entertainment is provided. If hearty laughter is produced, friendly relations are immediately established. Laughter is a tonic, too. There's a fundamental reason for the popularity of the funny departments in newspapers.

Fortune magazine, announcing the results of its quarterly survey of public opinion, said today that Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes of the U. S. Supreme Court and Senator William E. Who will serve as mayor of Hicksville for the next two years remains a matter of conjecture. Orley (Irish) McCartney, who was elected to this office in November without having filed for nomination in the August primaries, has maintained since then that he did not expect to qualify for the office and there seems to be no information thus far that he has done so. However Jan. 3 is awaited when the new council enters upon its duties in the reorganization for the new term. Under the law, should Mr. McCartney fail to qualify, Mayor M. H. Bevington would continue in the office.

WALTER WHITEHURST POST No. 283

Meeting Night: Second & Fourth Tuesday of the Month.

Post No. 283, American Legion, held a joint meeting with its Auxiliary, Tuesday evening at the home of Commander Lehr Wilder. About thirty members being present.

After a short business session, a tasty lunch of oysters, sandwiches and coffee was served by the hostess, Mrs. Wilder. The social get together was enjoyed by all.

District Commander Carl Graham, was a guest of the Post, presenting them with a Citation from National Headquarters in recognition of the Post's help during the Ohio and Mississippi River flood last spring.

LEGION AUXILIARY NOTES

Walter Whitehurst American Legion Auxiliary Unit Number 283 meets on every second and fourth night of each month at 7:30 o'clock in the Legion rooms of the K. of P. Hall in St. Joe.

Mrs. Berniece Wilder entertained the unit at her lovely country home Tuesday nite.

The meeting was opened in ritualistic form by t h e president, Kathleen Scholes. Fourteen members answered roll call. Mrs. Pauline Graham, of Unit 47 Fort Wayne, was a welcome guest.

After the business meeting the hostess served sandwiches, oyster soup and coffee.

Plans are being completed for the 4th District Convention to be held in Saint Joe at the Lutheran Church, Jan. 20, 1938. Dinner is to be served by the ladies of the church. Price 40c. Please make your reservations with the Unit Secretary, Mrs. Josephine Kees. We are urging every unit member to be present at this meeting. Any one interested in knowing what the American Legion Auxiliaries are doing are invited to attend.

We still have a few "Get-All" spoons and "Dolly Dusit" sponges on hands.

Next regular meeting will be held in our Legion rooms on Jan. 10 at 7:30, C. S. T. Start your year right by attending meetings regularly.

P. T. A. NEWS

"Happy New Year to all," and the best wishes of the president and officers of the St. Joe P. T. A. for 1938.

Have you made those New Year Resolutions?

Happy is the child, who is active and curious. Who plays in the sun as long as possible, even in cold weather. Who has his meals at a regular time, and gets plenty of sleep and rest. Whose home life is happy and normal. Whose questions—the workings of an exploring mind, are never turned away unanswered.

Josephine Kees, Publicity Manager.

CULTURE CLUB

The Christmas meeting of the Culture Club was entertained by Mrs. Glen Wineland. The home was beautifully decorated in keeping with the holiday season. Mrs. Bert Sible, Mrs. Coral Platter and Mrs. Herman Keesler, as the committee for the evening, rendered a very entertaining program of Christmas carols, led by Mrs. Hamilton, and Christmas contests by the committee.

The Christmas exchange was carried out in a novel manner, each receiving a lovely gift. The committee assisted Mrs. Wineland in serving a dainty lunch to seventeen members, all seated at small tables.

A "crisis" is a very sensitive thing. It soon dies of neglect when people quit talking about it.

Our idea of a "horrible example' 'is the man who runs into debt trying to keep up with his neighbors.

Another advantage of the radio is it enables you to listen to some scalawag you'd be ashamed to listen to in public.

There may be such a thing as killing the goose that lays the golden egg, but nobody has to be goose enough to let that happen.

An optimist is a St. Joe man who thinks he'll feel better next week, pay up all his debts next month and begin getting rich next year.

A French woman has been denied admittance to the U. S. because she shot a man. There's nothing like protecting home industry.

A Kansas man has had removed from his ear a bug that got in it 40 years ago. Little things like that can become aggravating after awhile.

A Chicago expert says auto traffic will some day become so dense it will drive people underground. It's putting a lot of them there now.

It may be that the dense mass of gas discovered approaching the earth by astronomers is merely the start of next fall's congressional elections.

When the average man is out in town he is interested in how a woman's clothes look, but when he's at home he's only interested in what they cost.

Most girls like to see a man smoke a pipe until they are married to a pipe smoker and have to help him remember where he laid it.

FORWARD

It should be with few regrets that we see 1937 steal away into oblivion. When first he arrived, he was a husky, rosy-cheeked youngster with prospects galore ahead of him. But instead of encouraging his normal, steady growth into stalwart manhood and then comfortable old age, we decided to experiment.

We gave him shots in the arm to stimulate his growth so that he was middle-aged long before he was six months old. We hobbled him with strikes. We trained him on fear and uncertainty and name calling. So naturally he soon became a weak, quibbling old wreck long before his time.

Now young, husky 1938 arrives! His coming couldn't be better timed. He finds us sorry for our sins and anxious to help him be the kind of a year he should be. He won't be any guinea pig. We've done our experimenting. And now we're ready to raise him in sane and sensible fashion.

So long, 1937; we're not sorry to see you leave! Hi, 1938! Come on, let's march ahead!

THE NEW YEAR

Just what the new year will bring forth in the way of living and working conditions is a subject everyone around St. Joe just now is deeply interested in. Of course speculation is rife as to what it holds in store for the farmer, first of all, for it is an undisputed fact that unless things run along smoothly for him it is bound to be pretty bumpy for the balance of the country.

From scattered reports, covering the nation as a whole, it is understood that farmers do not look for the bumper crops they had in 1937—it's hard to have two years like that in a row—but they are, as a rule, of the opinion that prices will be better and that from an actual money standpoint 1938 will be a better year than 1937.

The inclination of the government to get in closer touch with industry and to cooperate heartily in launching a building boom and further reducing relief rolls through employment is also an optimistic note for the new year. In fact, but for the labor situation, with its many strikes and constant turmoil, its own ranks split asunder by factional fights and clash of leadership, everything would look mighty fine for 1938. If some way can be found to keep labor at peace with industry, then the one great threat to better times will be wiped out. We enter the new year at the mercy of capital and labor. If they can be brought together in a reign of peace and understanding, then agriculture and transportation and finance and trade will keep their affairs in shape. The fate of 1938 seems to lie in the hands of the man with the dinner pail and all the rest of the country can do is hope and pray that he acts soberly and sensibly and with the best interest of his fellowmen at heart.

MODERN RUSTLING

We may expect in the near future a new type of wild west novels of cattle rangers and rustlers and heroes and heroines, with the southwest as the scene and the present year as the time. The stream of stories will start to flow as soon as fiction writers hear about the state of affairs in Texas and adjoining states. It may be hard for the average News reader to realize it, but due to the high price of beef cattle thieves are on a rampage. In fact, says the commander of the Texas Rangers, there is more livestock being stolen right now than at any time for the past seventy years.

In place of the bronco, cayuse and mustang which sped the rustlers on their way in the old days, the rich business of stealing another's cattle is now done by motor truck, and the trucks guided by overhead planes. The gasoline cowboys who covet their neighbor's property on the hoof are giving honest men plenty of trouble. But virtually all of the rustlers end up in the jailhouse, which cattle raisers have reluctantly accepted as a substitute for the old-fashioned hemp rope and tree limb as punishment for the thieves.

The reason they are being captured is the crude old branding iron, which today as in days of yore, marks the route to stolen cattle. Ever since the first longhorn steer crossed the Rio Grande into Texas there have been cattle rustlers and branding irons. Longhorns have changed into beefy, white-faced shorthorns, but the old branding iron remains constant and unchanged, marking ownership as it did a century ago and furnishing still the evdence which eventually traps the rustler.

GOOD RESOLUTIONS

Following a custom which dates back far beyond the memory of oldest citizens around St. Joe the making of "New Year resolutions" are now in order, and the usual large number are indulging in this innocent pastime. We say "innocent" pastime, because as a general rule such resolutions are not of a nature to do much harm even if they're broken. But as lightly as such resolutions are usually kept there is always one that can be carried out to the letter, and that will benefit not only the one making the resolve but the entire community as well. That is a resolve to take some part during the year in addng to the welfare and attractiveness of your home-town and by deed and action helping to make it a still happier place in which to live.

No better resolution can be made by anyone as the new year gets under way than one to take a more active interest in the various movements, plans and discussions that will come up during the year. A resolve to join in and help out in all worthy public movements, instead of assuming a disinterested position and letting the other fellow do the work and the boosting, is as fine a resolution as it is possible to make. A resolution to enlist in the ranks of the boosters and to in every way ignore and discourage the chronic knockers is a contribution to the community you need not be ashamed to make.

If you make but one resolution, let that be it. Your home-town needs your cooperation, your suggestions for community betterment and every good example you can possibly set during 1938. Making that kind of resolution, and then living up to it, is bound to bring you a lot of satisfaction and it will likewise help to make your neighbors still more glad that you are a part of the community.

FOUND AT LAST

The state of Texas can now proudly boast as being the home of "the world's safest driver." His name is Allen B. Hill. By vocation he is a truck driver, is 55 years old, and was Exhibit A at the recent National Trucking Conventon. Hill's record is approximately 1,400,000 miles in 30 years without an accident or an arrest. And that is a record worth hanging up anywhere, and one that should serve as a good example to every driver as he enters a new year full of good resolutions. Hill, now a resident of Corpus Christi, has driven in many states, and drove a truck in France during the world War. And here is his rule for safe driving:

"Give all the road you can and take all they'll give you. I've had to take to the ditch many times to avoid getting hit, but I've found it the best way out. Stay off of the other fellow's side of the road."

PROFITABLE READING

No matter what newspaper you pick up - - read the ads along with the news and usual features. You'll not only find the ads carry much information of interest, but they also point the way to real economy. Men of wisdom no longer argue that advertising does not pay. If it didn't pay, for instance, Henry Ford would not be spending over six million dollars a year to advertise a car that is so well known, already it is a household word. Campbell wouldn't be spending around two million dollars a year to sell soup, and so on down the line with 50 or 100 other concerns to spend as much as $1,000,000 each to advertise their products for a single year. And the best part of it is it pays those who buy the same as it pays those who sell. So always read the ads, and al-always remember that you can profit most by buying from the men or the firms that advertise all the time.

DON'T OVERLOOK IT

As a general rule most people are so busy along about this time of year trying to get their holiday affairs adjusted and to keeping the home fires burning and the inside of the house comfortabe that they are apt to overlook a simple little duty they owe to that army of feathered friends outside who now find pretty hard going. Winter brings much suffering to the birds who elect to spend it around here. With their usual sources of food supply shut off, okeing out an existence until the return of spring is a different job, and one that hundreds of them are not capable of coping with. You know the delight they bring you later on, when insects and fruit and berries are plentiful, and you know their tremendous worth to you in destroying the insects that would make this a bleak old world were it not for them. But you never the less are inclined to forget them along about this time of year—the time when they need your help most.

Start today and throughout the remainder of the winter scatter a few crumbs daily to the birds outside your home.

IS IT A PESENT?

An auto plate moratorium has been declared by Gevernor Townsend, until March 1st., which came as a surprise to the public and bears the label of "a Christmas present to the public." In order to really be a present, the order should have carried with it free license plates. The order further states that auto owners must procure their driver's or chauffeur's license at once according to law.

In the prepared statement, the governor takes a crack at the "reactionary minority" as he calls them, as being those responsible for the current business recession, and for that reason, he feels confident, is the reason for the slowing up in the purchase of license tags for 1938. While we were out of the depression only recently, yet here we are again in the depression up to our ears. Many who have their 1938 plates would have used their money for other purposes had they dreamed of such an order being forthcoming from our governor.

Don't you think this order smacks somewhat of politics?

A DOG FIGHT

When a Chicago editor recently stated as his opinion that dogs do not think or plan ahead, he opened up a new way to get an argument out of any man around St. Joe who owns a dog. These dog owners want to know how about the shepherd dog that can round up a herd of sheep or cattle and drive them into pen or shed? Then, too, what about the St. Bernards that have been locating and bringing succor to lost travelers in the Alps mountains for many years? And if that is not enough, how about these dogs trained especially for parts in moving pictures, and who go through their parts as well as any of the human actors and actresses—and a whole lot better than many of them? If the canine hero does not look ahead, behind and to all sides in delicate situations in a manner that most people are incapable of we wiss our guess.

TEACHING THRIFT

On more than one occasion space has been devoted in these columns to suggesting that teachers around St. Joe make use of every opportunity they have to teach thrift in the schools. The wisdom of it becomes more apparent than ever before now a survey covering school savings funds throughout the country has just been finished. It reveals that during the school year of 1936-1937, pupils in this country's day schools practiced the savings habit to the extent of more than $16,000,000—a staggering total. And most of it, practically all of it, saved in pennies and nickels. It is something that we believe should set older heads to thinking, too. If saving pennies will pile up such a sum, what will saving a few dollars each week mean? Thrift must be emphasized in this country now and the school child who isn't being taught it is going to lag behind the procession when he gets out into the world for himself.

MORE BIKES

Reports by the bicycle makers of the country show that they turned out 1,250,000 of them during 1937—an even greater number than in the boom year of 1929. The auto was supposed to have driven first the horse and then the bicycle into oblivion, but this doesn't look like it. And both bicycles and horses are as numerous as ever before. The auto is not affecting the bike to any extent, but the bike is setting up a new problem for the auto. It is making it still more dangerous to drive, and while most motorists recognize the added danger the cyclers, most of whom are of the teen age, fails to realize it. As a result riding a bicycle has become a pretty dangerous proposition both on the streets and on the neighboring highways. Motorists will do their utmost, of course, to avoid collision with a cyclist. But the motorist must not be expected to assume all the responsibility. It is up to the parents of boys and girls who ride bicycles to make that fact plain to them, otherwise the increasing popularty of the bike will be a source of tragedy instead of a healthful and enjoyable form of outdoor recreation.

PLANS RURAL CHECK UP ON INCOME AFTER JAN. 1

Indianapolis, December 29.—Plans are being laid for a special gross income tax audit campaign in rural areas of the state in 1938, Clarence A. Jackson, director of the State Gross Income Tax Division, announced today.

Agents of the division now are engaged in a preliminary survey of farm incomes and tax reports in four test counties, Mr. Jackson said, with other counties to come within the scope of the campaign soon after the beginning of the new year.

Particular attention is to be given, he added, to the question of whether or not payments received from the federal government under the soil conservation program are being reported for taxation. Such receipts are taxable at the rate of 1 per cent under the gross income tax law, being construed as rental payments.

"We are sure," Mr. Jackson said, "that we will have the co-operation of farmers in the conduct of the audit program, since the farm groups were largely responsible for the passage of the gross income tax law. It is also true that farmers as a whole probably have benefited from the gross income tax more than any other single group because the gross income tax has been used to replace taxes which otherwise would have to be levied on property, the type of wealth which makes up the great proportion of farmers' possessions."

Gross income tax returns on 1937 income are due January 1 to 31 from all persons who received more than $1,000 during the year. Return forms and information have been made available at all state auto license branches.

HOLIDAYS AND ANNIVERSARIES HONORED

Cold, bleak December has come and gone, and to the John Doll family, indeed this month is one worthy of note for herien occurs both the birthdays and wedding anniversaries of several members of this family. On December 12 occurred the birthday of Mrs. Doll; on Dec. 20, the birthday of her son-in-law, Mr. Otis Fitch, and on Dec. 27 the birthday of Mrs. Paul Clark, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doll. Years rolled by and December babes became December brides and grooms.

Hence the Christmas season marks the fortieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Doll; the tenth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Clark, and the ninth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Fitch.

In honor of the above mentioned occasions and in keeping with the holiday season, Mr. and Mrs. Doll entertained with a family dinner at their home near Spenverville, on Sunday, Dec. 29. Guests included, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Clark and son, Ronald, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Fitch and children, Elsie May, Warren and Maxine, Mr. and Mrs. George Doll and children Ruthanna and Davey Lee, Mr. Donald Smith and the host and hostess.

After a bountiful dinner and a pleasant afternoon the guests returned to their homes hoping to celebrate many more anniversaries together.

The Schondelmayer automobile had a rear fender badly damaged Monday at Auburn, when hit by a coal truck, due to slippery streets.

MORTUARY

TIMMERMAN

Julius Burton Timmerman, son of Henry and Mary Timmerman, was born May 8, 1859 at Avilla, Noble County, Ind., departed this life December 23, 1935, aged 76 years, 7 months and 15 days.

He was united in marriage to Tabitha Baughman August 8, 1889. She preceded him in death February 10, 1892. To this union was born one daughter, Hazel E.

On March 24, 1897, he was united in marriage to Mattie M. Gorrell. To this union were born two sons, Walter D., and Harold H.

In early life he united with the Methodist Church in Cedarville, later, transferring his membership to the Harlan M. E. Church, and continued his faith until death.

His departure at Christmas time has caused many sad hearts, but our loss is his eternal gain.

He was a kind husband, and an affecionate father. He leaves to mourn his departure his wife, Martha, a daughter, Mrs. L. D. Belden of Fremont, Ohio, two sons, Walter D. Timmerman of Toledo, Ohio, and Harold H. Timmerman of Spencerville, Ind., three grandchildren, three sisters, twenty-two nieces and nephews, and a host of friends.

Funeral services were conducted Thursday at the Walter Funeral Home in Spencerville. Interment in the Harlan cemetery.

BAD AUTO ACCIDENT SUNDAY EVENING

Little Miss Frances Reidenbach had five stitches taken in her leg, Mrs. Reidenbach is crippling about her home and Roy bears a badly scarred face, caused by an auto wreck Sunday evening near the Leighty orchard, when returning from spending the day at Mishawaka. He was driving south when a rough place in the road caused the car to swerve and losing control, it headed for the ditch, turning over, mowing down several fence posts and a telephone pole, and rolled over and over into the field on the west side. Roy passed out entirely and Mrs. Reidenbach climbed out through the door.

Roy soon came too and help was called. The car is a total wreck. How some of the family escaped being killed is a miracle.

Miss Ersa did not go on the trip.

Special evangelistic services will begin January 5 and continue until the 19 with H. K. Schondelmayer as minister at the Newville Church of Christ, which he serves. The campaign has been carefully planned and the community is asked to participate.

Alfred E. Smith has declined the invitation of the President to be an over night guest at the White House on Jan. 25, when he would be in the city to address the American Liberty League. Al says he wants to stay with the boys, but he would sooner have had the people sent him to the White House in 1928.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Bowman, of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Reasoner and two daughters, and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Benninghoff, Jr. and two sons, of Ft. Wayne, were Christmas dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Reasoner. Sunday the Reasoners entertained Rev. C. J. Ferster and daughter, J. E. Foltz and wife and Floyd Weikel and family.

A copy of the Tampa (Fla.) Daily Times, of December 23, has arrived at our desk, the edition being in honor of its 43rd anniversary. Every phase of Tampa's life was given publicity, and as we scanned page after page, we came across a likeness of Ashur Culp, general manager of the Culp Lumber Co., now the leading building material retailing concern of this city. We are pleased to note his success and while here as manager of the Spencerville Lumber Co., we considered him well versed in the building material line.

Mr. and Mrs. John Geisinger, of South Peters St., Garrett, it is believed, have been married the longest time of any couple in DeKalb county. On September 17 last they observed their 63rd anniversary. Their wedding occurred on September 17, 1872, north of St. Joe. Mrs. Geisinger's name was Sarah L. Koch. He is 89 and she is 81 years of age and both are enjoying good health. They make their home with their daughter, Mrs. E. J. Brown, of Garrett. Three of their children are living, Dr. L. N. Geisinger, of Auburn, A. J. Geisinger, of Washington state and Mrs. Brown.

Winter Eggs

GO TO market with Winter eggs . . . the ones that bring the best prices . . . properly warmed drinking water will have a lot to do with deciding whether you can cash in on this season of highest prices or not.

For 80 percent of an egg is water, and hens drink the most water when the temperature is maintained at 45 to 55 degrees during the Winter.

To maintain egg production hens must be provided with water that they will drink in quantity. The modern water warmers have thermostat control which keeps the water just right—not too hot and not too cold.

Let us tell you more about this vital aid to winter egg production.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR TO YOU
1936

PROGRESS—

The years bring new things. The ox-cart gives way to swiftly speeding motors—electric lights shed their brilliance where once candles dimly glowed—it's a world of change.

Our methods have changed too—we have tried to give this community the very best—in other words we've tried to keep pace with the times.

But one thing hasr not changed—and that's the spirit behind this organization. There is still the same friendship, the same standards of ideals, and the same high quality of service that was in the beginning.

And in the same unchanging spirit we offer our New Year Greetings and our wishes for happiness for everyone during the year 1936.

Floyd Gibbons ADVENTURERS' CLUB

Hello, Everybody!

"On Whirlwind Wheel"

By FLOYD GIBBONS

Famous Headline Hunter.

A LOT of swell stories seep through the tent-flaps of the circus when it comes to town, and a lot of the adventures that take place in that exciting business are often not seen by the audiences. Carnivals are pretty much the same way.

Ever since I can remember I've had a secret yen to travel with a circus. Haven't you?

Richard T. Powers, our entertainer, had that same yen and went through with it. Dick joined a traveling circus and carnival when he was only fourteen and he's been in the business ever since.

He's twenty-two now. The most exciting thrill in his exciting life happened to him two years ago on a Ferris wheel in Middleboro.

I'll never forget the first Ferris wheel in this country. It was brought over from Paris, where it had been the big attraction at the Paris exposition and set up in Chicago during the first Chicago World's fair.

I was only a baby at the time, but I can still remember the thrill I got riding around in that thing high above the roof tops. Afterwards they put it up on the north side of Chicago and I was a steady customer.

Dick's Job Was the Kind You Dream About.

Well, sir, Dick had a swell job on the Ferris wheel at the Middleboro carnival. He could hop on and off the giant wheel and ride as many times as he wanted to without it costing him a cent.

I'd a paid money for a job like that. Dick got so used to it that he could jump on and off while it was moving.

Like the fellows who work on mechanical amusement devices, he liked to grab hold of the steel rail that ran around the cars and swing himself aboard like an acrobat.

That was a lot of fun and spectators used to marvel at his recklessness. The wheel was run by electricity and operated by an electrician in the hub.

One day, when business was not so good, Dick made a sensational hop aboard the moving wheel and swung himself into a seat. He sat back and admired the scenery as his car swung to the top of the high arc.

This Ferris Wheel Held Unadvertised Thrills.

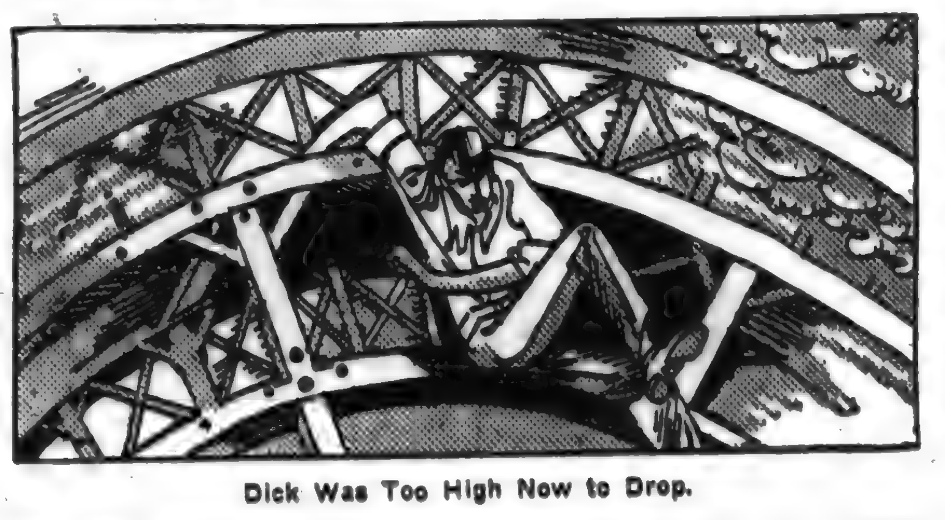
He was alone in the car and decided he would hop off when he came down and step aboard another car. Dick grabbed hold of the steel rod all ready to let go and make a graceful landing when—Zowie!

Something like a thousand needles shot up his arms and into his body. He realized in a flash what had happened. The electricity had gone hay-wire somehow or other and the power had charged the steel rail.

He tried to let go to drop to the ground, but he couldn't release his grip. The electric power held him to that rail as if in a vise!

Up went the wheel for its next revolution. Dick was too high from the ground now to drop, but he tried to swing into the car. Still he couldn't let go.

Two hundred and fifty volts of electric juice has a way of holding on to a fellow and there in mid-air Dick hung like a trapeze artist and watched the ground get farther and farther away.



Dick Was Too High Now to Drop.

Dick was on the outside of the wheel, out of sight of the engineer, who knew nothing of his plight. Far below he could see spectators gathering to watch what they considered another thrill.

Crowd Cheers as Dick Is "Getting Killed."

It was a thrill all right, Dick says, but one he had not planned. He tried to signal with his feet, but every move was just taken for another dare-devil stunt.

As the wheel brought him to the top he suddenly went white at the thought of what might happen to him if the engineer suddenly shut off the power. The shock had so numbed his arms that he was sure he could not hold on.

Using all his fast ebbing strength he swung one knee over the charged rod. A cheer went up from the ground and Dick ground his teeth in rage. The dumb-bells! Didn't they know he was getting killed?

Even Now the Ground Was an Unwelcome Sight

Dick was able to hold on better in his new position, but suddenly a new danger struck him. His head just missed one of the uprights of the wheel; he ducked it just as it grazed his hair. Dick says he is certain his hair was standing right up on end.

Finally his car was the next one to the ground. In a moment he would be all the way down. But it was still about seven feet to the ground from where he hung and it looked like he had a bad fall in store for him when the juice went off. He gritted his teeth and waited.

But the wheel didn't stop! The juice stayed on and glued poor Dick to the rod like a fly on flypaper.

As the wheel started up on another turn, Dick started to let out a yell when it suddenly occurred to him that a yell might be fatal. The engineer would certainly cut off the juice at the first sign of trouble and Dick was so high now that he couldn't take a chance on falling. So around he went again on the doggondest Ferris wheel ride a man ever took.

Dick decided he would yell for help when his body was even with the ground on the next descent. But, by the time he had made another complete turn the shocking electricity and the horror of his situation had made him speechless.

'Round She Goes—Dick's Life in Balance.

He passed the jumping off place without a sign and, believe it or not, that wheel carried poor Dick around that way—six times!

Well, sir, Dick would have been there yet if one of the managers hadn't seen him. The manager, of course, didn't know anything about the electric current running wild through that bar and he thought Dick had been showing off and was afraid to climb off the rod.

So when Dick's car was even with the ground he signalled the engineer to shut off the power and got ready to bawl out his reckless attendant.

Wham! The second the current was off Dick dropped to the ground like a sack of flour! Fortunately he wasn't hurt, but he couldn't stop shaking for hours after.

And the worst of the whole thing, Dick says, was when one of the spectators came up and asked him if he wasn't afraid to do stunts like that! Dick only glared and said nothing, because, you see, "the show must go on." But he got off the Ferris wheel—and stayed off.

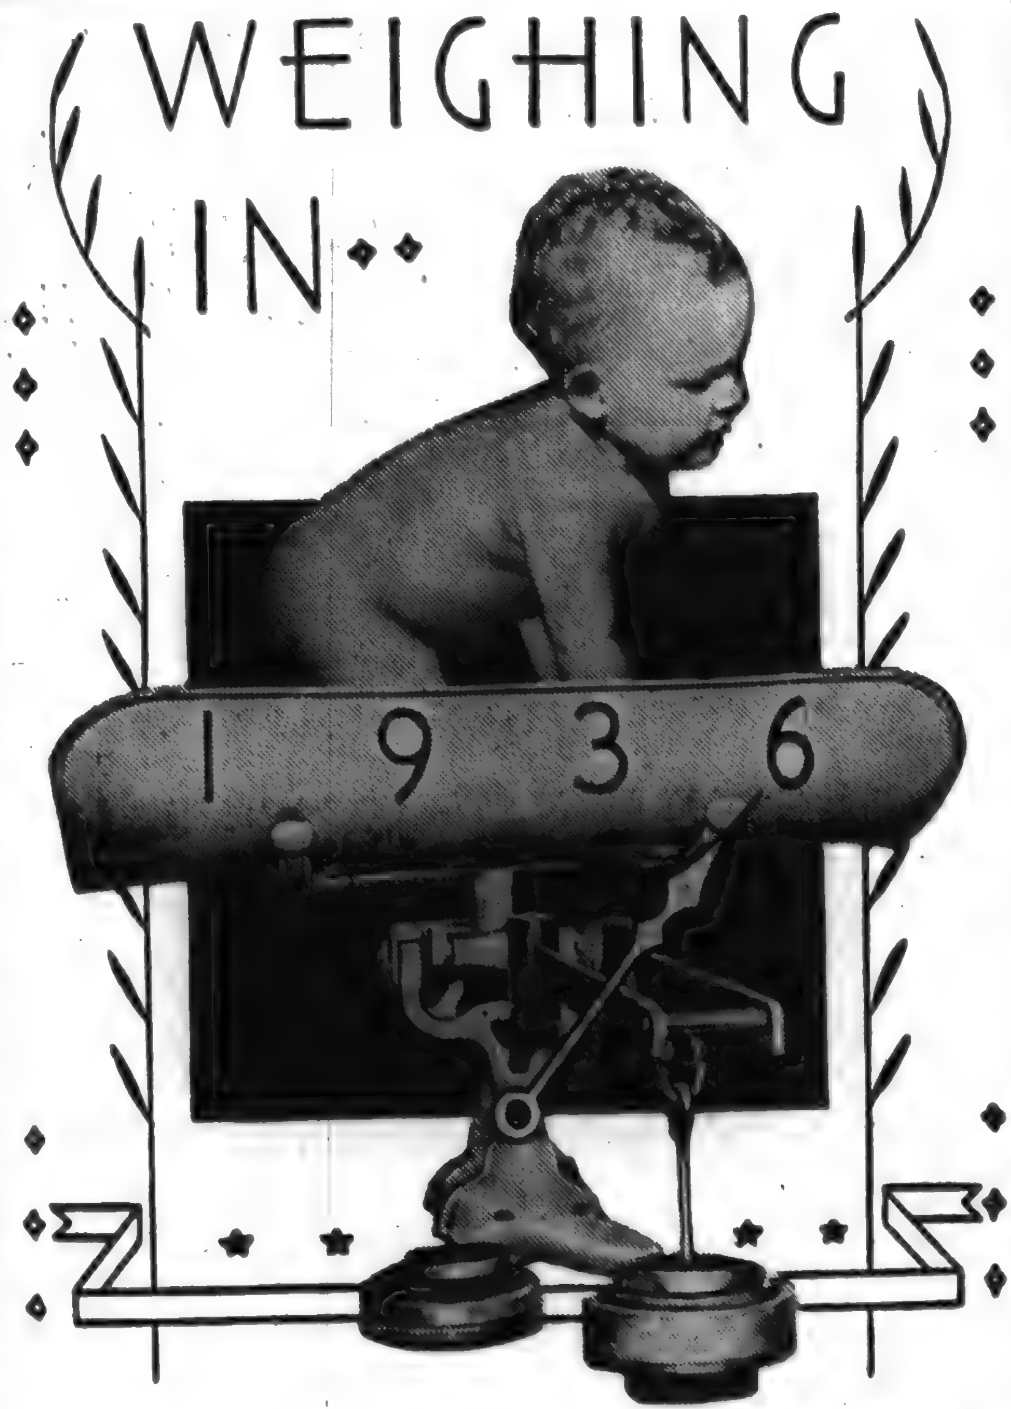
Frijoles, Cultivated Beans

In Mexico and the Spanish-American countries any cultivated bean of the genus Phaseolus is called frijole. In particular it refers to the small flat black bean, which ranks next to maize in importance as an article of diet and is an ingredient of many dishes. It is probably of South American origin.

First to Commercialize Writing

The first woman in the United States to make writing a profession was Hannah Adams (1755-1831), whose "Dictionary of Religions" passed through four editions. Her "Summary History of New England" was a pioneer history of the region and was abridged for use as a textbook.



Inspiration

by Helen Gaisford

MRS. McCRERY swept the snow from the steps of her boarding house with vicious strokes, all the time keeping up a stream of grumbled protests about everything in general.

"A fine start for a New Year. Work, work, work, same as last! Hang that confetti, how it sticks! What is there to life, anyway? Work all day, and half the night, and for what? What difference does it make that I'm alive? Nobody cares. What do I do that's worth while? Nothing! Might just as well be dead."

She had come to the end of the walk, and now she knocked the snow off her broom and turned back. "And I thought once that some day I'd be a great lady," she snorted. "Humph!" The door banged behind her with a dull thud.

All morning Mrs. McCrery spent in a maze of abuse and self-pity, but when lunch time came she bethought herself of Dora Pike, third floor back. "Poor chick," she thought, "no work yet. I'd better fix her up a bite to eat." She set a tray and covered it with a clean napkin.

"Shame on me," she went on, as she climbed the stairs, "grumbling at my work, when that poor girl would give her arm for a job. Guess she isn't everything she would like to be either, but she doesn't go around bawling like a calf. She's an inspiration, that's what she is, and this coming year I'm going to try to be more her way. If I had to put up with what she has to, maybe I'd have some right to mope and complain."

"Me?" "Yes. I Was Feeling Sorry for Myself."

She paused, panting, and then knocked. "Here's just a bite—" she began, as the door opened. "Why, what's the matter?"

Dora Pike's eyes were red with weeping, and now they brimmed again. "Oh, it's you, Mrs. McCrery! Come in," she said. "I'm in a bit of a funk," she apologized, "what with New Year's, and all. In fact, I would have ended it, if it hadn't been for thinking of you."

"Me?"

"Yes. I was feeling sorry for myself not having any work, and so on, and then I thought of you and how brave you are about all the things you do have to do, that I was right ashamed of myself. But I don't know what I might not have done, if there hadn't been you to think about."

"Well, dearie," said Mrs. McCrery, as she gathered the girl in her arms, "maybe that's what we're here for, darlin'."

NEW YEAR'S and PUBLICITY

by Luella B. Lyons

"YES, Margie dear, you are looking at half a million geraniums that will be bursting into bloom one of these days and as far as I know, you and I and maybe a few folks here in Boone will see them. No advance orders for them"; and Bob Marchant's face was the picture of woe.

"But you only tried selling them the order in one city, Bob," Margie reminded him.

"It Worked, Bob—My Plan Worked!" She Exclaimed.

"Darling, this is New Year's day and a time for making fresh starts. I've an idea for getting an order for the whole lot and to Ripleys at that, but don't ask me what—just trust me and hope for the New Year changing our luck, darling!"

That evening Margie spent an hour or so over a letter which she addressed to the "People Say This:" department of the Crandall newspaper.

The next day Margie insisted on hanging around the green house until Bob nearly went mad with her persistence. Then a long distance call did come through from the buyer at Ripley Brothers' store.

"Marchant, say, have you still, by any chance, got that prospect of half a million geraniums, and can you be sure to have them ready on a day we will later specify—in full bloom by then? We've just picked up a rip roaring idea for decorating the outside of the store with them this spring and here's hoping to high heaven we can still engage them at that date. Name your own price."

Bob, happy as a lark, scarcely knew the buyer had broken the connection for Margie was dancing about wildly yelling—"It worked, Bob—my plan worked!"

"Margie darling, I've just had one grand and glorious shock but I'm not fool enough to think I earned it. I know the answer, so spill the first half of the story, honey—quick!"

"Bob dear, I wrote in to that column as though I was some great landscape artist. They published the letter and Ripleys took the suggestion to heart. You see, I said it was a shame that the stores out here in this section of the country didn't ape the big stores where I hailed from, decorating every window of their stores with window boxes piled high with gaudy red geraniums through the spring months and summer, too, and with green and red everlasting shrubs the winter through—just like so many do in France. I went into detail even, but that doesn't matter now. They took it to heart, engaged your whole crop just so you and I can take our "geranium honeymoon"!

Breaking In New Shoes Is All These Girls Do

Nobody likes to break in a new pair of shoes. The old ones feel so comfortable. Suppose, however, it was your job to test new shoes by breaking them in, you would have, to say the least, one of the oddest of vocations. Then you would be on a par with Miss Peggy Robertshaw and Miss C. Davies of Liverpool.

All these two English girls have to do is to walk 12 miles each day, wearing a pair of new shoes to test them. Each girl has a pedometer attached to her leg. When she has walked the prescribed number of miles in new shoes her pedometer is officially checked and a record is made of the condition of the footwear.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Implosion

An implosion—a bursting inward from external pressure—can occur with as much force as an explosion. This was proved when a clinical thermometer, wrapped in heavy cloth, was lowered into very deep water. The resultant implosion did not blow the instrument into "a thousand pieces," but into a spoonful of fine white powder.

Mark Twain Depicted as a Serious Thinker

Mark Twain as a serious thinker and philosopher was described by Frederick C. Hibbard, Chicago sculptor who designed the Mark Twain statue and the monument to Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn at Hannibal, Mo.

"Mark Twain resented the fact that people laughed when he meant to be serious and that is why his statue in Hannibal does not show him smiling," said Mr. Hibbard. "During my study and research I was impressed with his seriousness. He was also a profound thinker. My treatment of Samuel Clemens (the author's real name) as a serious man won me the privilege of designing the Hannibal statue."

Excited Gentleman Finds He's Not Who He Thought

A man came into a barber shop the other day and asked for the works. He was in the chair, lather on his face, a manicure working on his nails, when another man burst in and cried excitedly: "Hey, Shapiro, your house is on fire."

The fellow jumped out of the chair and ran down the street, the towel around his neck waving in the wind, the lather drying on his cheeks. Out of breath, he stopped suddenly. "What the dickens is the matter with me?" he muttered. "My name ain't Shapiro."—June Provines in Chicago Tribune.

Blouses Gain New Fashion Heights

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Silk
Crepe
Satin
Velvet
Lame
Blouses

BLOUSES are stepping out of their one-time obscurity under a suit jacket and are appearing at gay social functions as costumes in their own right complete with slim skirts of silk satin, wool or silk velvet. Paradoxical as it sounds, tailored blouses have soft touches, while formal blouses have a rather tailored look, the fabric supplying the proper glamor for the occasion.

The blouse of silk lame is a favorite for dressy afternoon wear, and those "little evenings" when your hostess says: "Don't dress." There are long-sleeved or short-sleeved models in all-over patterned silk lames which glitter to your heart's content, or if you so choose you may have soft silks with just a suggestion of metal in interwoven or embroidered motifs.

The shirtwaist or jacket type of blouse of scintillating lame is prominent, fastening with long rows of self-covered buttons, rhinestone studs set on a front tuck, or with elaborate frogs of self-fabric. A typical model of each is here illustrated. Huge frogs of self-fabric trim the jacket blouse as pictured at the top in the group. White and silver silk metallic in a scroll pattern fashion it. The sleeves are full to the elbow. A tiny turn-down collar of self fabric finishes the neckline.

The other metallic blouse shown is of gold silk lame. It is a glittering little affair which can be worn for formal afternoons or "little" evenings. Its brief sleeves are puffed. The closely placed buttons are of self fabric, while pert bows accent the neckline and waistline. It is a Lanvin model. Very new looking, too, are sleeveless silk lame blouses with draped armholes shirred or draped bodices after the Molyneux tradition.

Blouses worn without suits under fox or mink capes for theater, night clubs or the cinema are smartly new. They are worn without hats or with absurd little evening hats that are mere twists or dabs of silk tulle, silk lame or silk velvet.

For luncheon in a swank restaurant, for afternoon tea, there is nothing more flattering than a blouse of delectable silk satin, softly draped or shirred at the shoulders, with a new version of the high cowl neckline after the manner of the Schiaparelli model illustrated to the left below. This stunning silk satin blouse is in Kelly green.

The sheer silk blouse, new this season, is attracting favorable attention. It can be worn with a dark woolen or tweed suit or as a separate costume with a contrasting skirt. Silk chiffon and silk georgettes are the featured fabrics. Fine pleating or tucking, shirring around yokes or under necklines give such blouses softness and femininity.

The tailored blouse for sports wear or with a tailored suit is done in varied moods. There are youthful blouses of soft silk crepes in pastel colors, with simple club collars, and perky bows for trimming—correct for wear with plaid woolen skirts or with tweed suits. Then there are shirtwaist blouses of delicate silk crepe de chine, with jabots and frills trimmed with fine lace, perfect to wear with a perfectly tailored suit.

Colors are new this season, too. Gold and silver vie for favor in metals. Strong blues and reds and greens are favorites in less formal blouses of satins and chiffons. The dusty pastels or strong vivid tones, both register for tailored blouses. Of course classic white is as important as ever. It is the rule for the blouse to provide the color accent for the ensemble, sounding the basic note of the costume, which makes it more than just a mere costume accessory.

BLACK AND WHITE IS SMART AS EVER

That the Parisian black and white is just as smart as it ever was is proven by the winter collection of Chanel, who trims with white touches almost as lavishly as in the summer collection.

Outstanding is the sheer black wool, which looks like a silk crepe. The dress is in two pieces, with a shorter, straight skirt whose fullness comes from box pleats at the side seams. The top is high at the neck with a white band and crisp bow tie similar to that worn by a man. The long sleeves are full above the elbow, and have white wrist cuffs. The bow tie at the neck is repeated at the front of the belt.

Hats for Country Outfit

There is lots of choice for the hat which completes one's country outfit. The suede or chamois can be matched in a beret trimmed with a bright quill, or the sweater and jacket lining can be matched with a soft, perky woolen hat, while still a third choice is a sports felt the same shade as the skirt and trimmed with a quill of the same color as the sweater and jacket lining.

Vanity News

Clothes may make the man, but make-up makes the woman. Make the eyes as dramatic as possible. Keep eyebrows faint and unobtrusive. Use rouge lightly to leave the emphasis on the eyes.

"Rag-Rug" Tweeds

New wools called "rag-rug" tweeds are being shown in Paris. They are woven with bits of multi-colored fabric among the threads, to resemble rag rugs.

Full and Slim Silhouette Now Appear for Evening

Both the slim silhouette and the very full one appear in the evening mode. Mainbocher, the clever young man from Chicago, who has become one of the leading designers in Paris, favors slim frocks with all the fullness gathered in the back. For instance, a slim frock of black matelasse silk taffeta has a vast bustle that puffs out just below the low graceful V of the black decolletage. In contrast is a dress of plain black crepe done on very slim lines. The frock is worn with a black satin cape on which there are sewn horizontal strips of monkey fur. A frock of purple-red and silver brocade has fullness only in the back. The fullness is held out with stiffened net.

Massive Jewelry

Bracelets and necklaces apparently have taken a tip from the barbaric splendor of Byzantine jewelry and appear in massive designs sometimes set with stones as large as bird's eggs. So large and blazing is the jewelry, which a number of designers display for wear with the frocks of Persian and Egyptian inspiration, that only one or two pieces can be worn at a time.

Black Supplants Pink

Black satin with a silvery brocade design, reputed to be scratchproof, is the latest material for foundation garments. On display in many Paris shops was a radical departure, white and flesh-colored undergarments. The newest are sleek, streamlined wisps of shimmering black satin and elastic.

Gold and Jewels

Day dresses this fall will be accented by embroideries, gold braiding, velvet trimming and jeweled ornaments.

Where Does the World Get Its Supply of Oil?

Three Nations Control Output of Industries' Lifeblood.

Discussion of oil embargoes in connection with the Italo-Ethiopian war raises the question: "Where does the world get its oil?" Petroleum deposits have been found in every continent except Antarctica, but well-defined pools are widely scattered. Actually, a very few nations control the supply of this lifeblood of modern industry.

"Three countries produce about 81 per cent of the world's petroleum output," says the National Geographic society. "These are the United States, Soviet Russia and Venezuela. If all three should cut off their oil supplies, many steamships, trucks, automobiles, armored tanks, airplanes and railroads all over the world would be stopped, as well as industries depending on oil for fuel or lubrication. Great Britain, through her control of distribution of oil produced in her dominions and colonies, and in many other countries, also is a powerful factor in the world's oil situation.

Italy Produces Little Oil.

"A general oil embargo would practically threaten Italy's motors with starvation, for Italy, in the entire year of 1934, produced only as much oil as the United States does in about two hours.

"Almost 99 per cent of the world's oil comes from only twelve countries. Italy is but one of the many nations which would have to combine their petroleum resources to make up the other 1 per cent.

"While the three leading nations are making production history by their thundering progress along the oil trail, four others follow them in a group, although many laps behind—Rumania, Iran (Persia), Netherlands Indies, and Mexico. Almost neck and neck, five more follow along: Colombia, Argentina, Peru, India, and Trinidad, which produce less than 1 per cent of the world's annual output each.

Oil Also Found Under Water.

"The distribution of petroleum seems to show a slight preference for the western hemisphere and for the northern side of the equator. Nevertheless, it is found in such extremes as Iraq, where iron-muscled Kurds work in July heat at 128 degrees in the shade, and north of Point Barrow in Alaska, where frozen clods of oil-soaked earth are burned as a substitute for coal.

"Water, as well as earth, may lie above petroleum. Venezuela's Lake Maracaibo, black with oil, is studded with derricks which workmen reach by bridges of narrow planks from the shore, and is supervised from a floating camp on a barge. The Summerland field of Santa Barbara county, California, extends beyond the shoreline of the Pacific, so that derricks wade into the ocean to draw up oil from several hundred feet below sea level.

"The United States leads the world in oil production. Recently a diamond jubilee marked the industry's seventy-fifth anniversary since Col. Edwin Drake sank the country's first oil well 70 feet into the rich Appalachian field at Titusville, Pa. Oil is still produced in Pennsylvania, especially for the manufacture of lubricants.

Texas Fields Date From 1901.

"In 1901 the rich Texas oil fields were brought in, starting a branch of the industry which in 1934 produced $36,000,000 worth of oil, more than the combined production of the two next richest areas, Oklahoma and California. The latest spectacular development is that of the Louisiana Gulf coast, which doubled its production in 1934. One geologist estimates that the United States, already producing 61 per cent of the world's oil from its two million acres of oil fields, actually has more than a billion acres untouched.

"Running second, Soviet Russia's government-controlled oil production rose in 1934 to 166,000,000 barrels, with acres and acres of oil seepages undeveloped or even unprospected.

"Venezuela keeps third place at a gait which is amazing, in view of the fact that commercial production began there less than twenty years ago. Petroleum constitutes 75 per cent of the country's exports. Rumania, taking fourth place from Iran in 1934, still has many undeveloped areas.

Advice of Old Usable for Straight Thinking Today

When we become angry our thinking gets crooked, and when we grow too fond of ways that are not right we cannot properly judge what is the true course to follow. Archbishop Adalberon, when presiding nearly a thousand years ago at an assemblage for the choice of a king for Lower Lorraine, in what is now France, warned his hearers of these obstacles to clear thinking by saying:

"Let us act in such sort that hatred stifle not reason, and affection distort not truth."

Could there be a better expression of what should be the attitude of folks today?

Dog Saved 40 Persons

One of the most intelligent dogs was "Barry," a St. Bernard belonging to the famous St. Bernard Hospice in the Swiss Alps. Before he was shot by a man who mistook him for a wolf, he saved the lives of 40 travelers who were lost and near death in snowstorms, one being a little girl whom he carried to safety.

WHEN TIRE DELAYS STOLE PROFITS—SENT DELIVERY COSTS SKYWARD . . .

THEY CHANGED TO Firestone GUM-DIPPED TIRES

TIRE delays were playing havoc with this man's business. Treads wore down fast—they failed to hold on slippery pavements. The situation was serious—something had to be done to lower costs and maintain on-time deliveries.

So he changed to Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires! And now his troubles are over! For Firestone Tires are built with patented construction features and stand up under most gruelling conditions.

The Gum-Dipped cord body prevents internal friction and heat—chief cause of premature wear and blowouts. The two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords securely lock the massive non-skid tread and cord body together. These patented features are used in no other tire.

Our old friend the Budget is still in the cast. He does not occupy the center of the stage at this writing, since the high-ups have gone no further than to discuss is costume. The sum of five billion dollars is suggested, with about two thousand million included for "ordinary" expenses, represented in domestic affairs by the household grocery bill, clothing and so on. Criticism is not included in these lines. The point sought to be emphasized is that when large-scale business is under discussion, Uncle Sam is qualified to speak as an expert.

The doctors say that we would be better off if we ate more frequently, and less at a sitting. The plan may be alright for the eaters, but what is going to become of the politicians, when they can no longer approach the electorate with the assurance of the conventional three square meals? The subject of political speeches brings to mind the fact that a presidential campaign is not remote in point of time. What are the stump speakers going to orate about? One thing is certain. An old time campaign song, recalled by living men and not patriarchs by any means, will not be revived. A line of it ran: "Roast beef to eat and two dollars a day." The soapbox orators on both sides will have to promise better pay than that. No party will have a Chinaman's chance unless it is in a position to offer enough to keep the auto running.

WOULD PROTECT BANKING FIELD IN RURAL AREAS

American Bankers Association Announces Purpose to Combat Return of Excessive Number of Banks

CITES LAX CHARTER POLICIES IN THE PAST

Finds a Chief Cause of Bank Failures Was Too Many Banks—Existing Sound Banks Serving Communities Well

NEW YORK. — Existing sound banks, especially the small banks in the rural districts which are serving their communities well, should be protected from any return of the overbanked local conditions caused by former lax chartering policies, which were mainly to blame for the unfavorable failure record of the past, says the Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association. This is brought out in a report covering an investigation by the commission of bank failures and public policies in chartering banks.

"The Commission's study gives an impressive revelation of how great a part mistaken public policies in the chartering of banks played in creating the unsound banking structure which finally collapsed with the Bank Holiday in March 1933," Robert V. Fleming, president of the association, says in a foreword.

"Over-production of banks, literally by thousands, over many years in the face of insistent warnings not only from bankers and others who recognized the danger, but even more so from the mounting records of bank failures themselves, is clearly shown to have constituted as a whole one of the greatest single economic errors in the history of the Nation."

A Recurrence Feared

He refers to fears of a recurrence of over-banking recently expressed by Federal banking authorities, to the powers given the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation by the provision of the Banking Act of 1935 over the admission of banks to membership in the insurance fund, to strengthened state laws and to the policies now being followed by both national and state supervisory authorities aimed to safeguard the nation against over-banking.

"But sound laws and conscientious officials are not of themselves always sufficient safeguard in any field of our complex national life unless they have the active support of public opinion," he adds. "It is the purpose of the American Bankers Association to aid in marshaling public opinion in support of both national and state supervisory authorities in their efforts to strengthen and protect the banking structure."

The Economic Policy Commission summarizes its findings in part as follows:

"The facts show a distinct causal relationship between the over-chartering of banks and the abnormal bank failure conditions that prevailed from 1920 to the bank holiday in 1933. It is desirable that studies be made on the basis of experience to develop standards governing the number of banks or the volume of bank capital which can be successfully operated.

"Such a study would embrace the question whether banking facilities can best be supplied to the rural districts by small unit banks or by branches from banks of substantial capital in larger centers. Existing sound banks, which are serving their communities well should be protected from any return of the over-banked local conditions caused in the past by lax chartering policies.

Banking Officials Queried

"An inquiry among state bank commissioners shows a preponderant opinion against increasing materially the number of banks, coupled with the fact that present laws give them sufficient discretion to prevent a repetition of the grave errors of the past.

"Under prevailing abnormal conditions, with the Federal Government extensively exercising loaning powers in competition with the banks, and with industry itself so largely supplied with funds as to render it to a great degree independent of normal bank borrowing, the banking structure even with its present reduced numbers, finds it difficult to support its existing capital investment and operating personnel.

"These are new factors, intensifying the need for highly prudent and restrictive chartering policies. We urge the retirement of the Federal Government from the banking business as rapidly as the return of normal business conditions warrant."

Conference on Banking

NEW YORK. — An eastern states conference on banking service will be held by the American Bankers Association in Philadelphia January 23 and 24 as a part of the organization's nationwide program on banking development, it has been announced.

Robert V. Fleming, president of the association, will preside over the meetings. It is stated that this conference will be the first of several to be held in various parts of the country presenting a program the details of which are now in the course of preparation.

The general topic of the conference will embrace the managerial, legislative and operative problems confronted by all classes of banks. An outstanding phase of the meetings will be the development of plans for promoting a general better public understanding in regard to bank functions and policies.

TO TAKE MYSTERY OUT OF BANKING

By ROBERT V. FLEMING,
President American Bankers Association

R. V. FLEMING

The American Bankers Association has cooperated wherever it could properly do so in every measure for national recovery. It has offered constructive recommendations for such changes in banking laws as we recognized were necessary, and we now have a better law under which to operate. The Banking Act of 1935 affords us opportunities for broader service and, at the same time, retains the fundamentals which we believe are so vital to our national welfare and which have played a large part in bringing our country, in a comparatively short space of time, to the position of the greatest industrial nation on the earth.

The Public and Banking

It is necessary that the public have a thorough understanding of the functions of banks, what they can do and what they cannot do, for it must be recognized that to many people the business of banking is still somewhat of a mystery.

We should frankly explain these functions to the public, acquaint them with the laws under which we operate and emphasize the vital part which banks play in the economic life of the Nation. Therefore, in order that there may be the fullest cooperation and understanding between the banks and the people of the country, it will also be one of our objectives to take the mystery out of banking wherever it exists in the public mind.

Banking Conferences

A series of Regional Conferences on Banking Service will be held in strategic sections of the country, embracing all types of banking. The new banking laws and the regulations issued thereunder will be carefully analysed so that our bankers will have a thorough understanding of the broadened services now made possible.

The question of public relations and how we can best serve the people of our communities will be another topic of discussion. Clinics or forums on specific questions of interest to bankers and the problems confronting them in their particular localities will also be included in these conferences.

PUBLIC ATTITUDE HELPS THE BANKS

Annual Bankers Convention Says People Have Had Confidence Restored—Recommends Changed Government Policy

The restoration of public confidence in banking has put it in the position where it can function fully and vigorously in playing its full economic part in the progress of recovery, said the American Bankers Association in its annual convention resolutions.

"The passage of a generally constructive banking law in the Banking Act of 1935 has stabilized the banking situation and enabled bankers to devote undivided attention to the normal administration of their institutions in promoting the business and public welfare of their communities," the resolutions said.

"We feel that it is a particularly important feature of this law that it aims to create through the revision of the Federal Reserve Board a Supreme Court of Finance which, with the nonpolitical appointment of exceptionally competent men, should constitute one of the greatest forward steps in building a sound banking and credit system for this country."

The Government in Banking

Another resolution said:

"We particularly emphasize the desirability of the retirement of government from those fields of extending credits of various types which can be adequately served by privately owned institutions. We recognize that the exigencies of the now passing depression made necessary a large participation by government for a time in the task of meeting the public's emergency financial needs.

"Those conditions have been largely remedied and the obligation now rests upon the banks and other financial agencies to demonstrate to the people of this country that they are fully able and willing to meet all demands upon them for sound credit cooperation. It is our duty as bankers to facilitate in every effective way the retirement of government agencies from credit activities by promoting public understanding of the proper function of privately owned banking."

ACCURATE RECORDS

The keeping of accurate records constitutes an essential part of any successful business management, whether manufacturing, merchandising or farming. It is quite generally conceded that any good business concern keeps adequate records, and this procedure is equally important in the business of farming, declares the Bulletin of the American Bankers Association Agricultural Commission.

What Does America Ask of Congress?

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

With the new year comes a new session of Congress. What does the average American ask of it?

Basically his demands are modest—and few. All are in conformity with the rights and powers granted him under the Constitution.

He wants those rights respected and preserved.

He wants his collective interests, as a worker, an earner and a taxpayer, considered above and ahead of the demands of organized minorities operating as political pressure groups.

He wants his national Legislators to exhibit those qualities of responsibility and self-reliance expected of the chosen representatives of a free people. He has seen enough of rubber-stamp Congresses, eager and willing to enact hasty measures at the behest of appointed bureau chiefs, in whose selection the voters have no choice and over whose actions they exercise no control.

He wants Congress to know and respect the Federal Constitution—to refrain from legislation which violates our Fundamental Law and its Bill of Rights.

He wants Congress to remember that public debts created by reckless expenditures and waste must be paid out of taxes—clipped from the worker's earnings or the earnings of his children and grandchildren. He wants it to stop mortgaging our future.

He wants members of Congress, whatever their party affiliations, to think of the Nation as a whole, rather than in terms of political groups and factions.

In brief, he wants courage, reason and economy in government—and he asks Congress to assure these things. It is a fair request. If the members of Congress will heed it, they can do much to restore that public confidence upon which depends not only our national recovery, but the future security of America.

Persons who have Christmas seals in their possession are asked to make their return in cash or seals in the envelope provided for that purpose. Concord township will have assisted in a splendid way when you comply with this request of the local chairman.

Will Goldsmith, of Concord, is minus a portion of his little finger on the right hand. He was working on his car Saturday morning, when his finger was cut off between the first and second joint by the fan blades. He was hurried to Hicksville by Ford Jackson and the finger dressed.

Mrs. J. W. Love, Roan, Ind., sister of Mrs. A. W. Trostel, died on Tuesday evening of last week and was buried Thursday. She had been ill for some time with dropsy and enlarged heart. Mrs. Trostel remained for a week. Her sister and brother both died within three months, leaving her as the only living child.

The Conservation Club will hold its regular meeting, Thursday evening, Jan. 2, for purpose of making definite plans for the annual pest hunt, and at the same time lay plans for the annual membership drive. The dues will be 25 cents for the year and all persons wishing to enter the pest hunt will be required to deposit 25 cents. Join the club and assist in conserving the wild life of the community.

A family group of the Draggoos was entertained at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Johnson at a Christmas dinner. The tables being decorated with miniature Christmas trees and candles. At the noon hour all did ample justice to the many good things that go with a Christmas dinner. An exchange of gifts and short program was given. All had a good time regardless of the stormy day.

Kenneth Enzor, of near Butler, has regained consciousness at the Dr. Bonnell Souder hospital in Auburn and it is now believed that he will recover. Enzor was taken to the hospital early Thursday morning with a fractured skull received in an automobile accident in which George Hatfield and Romain Campbell, Butler young men, were instantly killed when a Ford car being driven by Enzor crashed into a trailer loaded with eight tons of steel attached to a truck two miles east of Butler on road 6.

"Do you wish the world were happy?
Then remember day by day
Just to scatter seeds of kindness
As you pass along the way,
For the pleasure of the many
May be oft times traced to one,
As the hand that plants the acorn
Shelters armies from the sun."

A happy New Year

FARM BUREAU ELECTS OFFICERS FOR TWO YEARS

Farm Bureau officers were elected Tuesday night to serve for two years as follows:

Chairman, Fred Hart.
Vice Chairman, L. W. Yeiser.
Sec.-Treas., Ed Storer.

Lawrence Arrants of the farm seed department gave an interesting analysis of this department.

Rev. J. N. Scholes gave an exposition of the scripture verse "The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof," in his usual masterly manner.

Mrs. Grace Dilley was present and gave a report of the convention held in Chicago.

The entertainment was made up of young people, and while the crowd was small, all enjoyed it.

ABUSED, WIFE SAYS IN HER COMPLAINT

Declaring that her husband explained his absences from home for several days at a time by sayinb he was at the home of another woman, Ida E. Keller, of Concord township, has filed a divorce complaint in the DeKalb circuit court against Roy Keller.

The plaintiff also alleges that her husband struck and abused her and on one occasion hit her with a glass cup, causing a wound that required the services of a doctor.

Mrs. Keller demands the custody of a son, Earl, 10, and $2,000 alimony. She says her husband owns $5,000 worth of real estate and some personal property. They were married May 20, 1911, and separated Dec. 31, 1935. Edgar W. Atkinson is the plaintiff's attorney.

Herman L. Brown, of Auburn, and Clyde Hart, of Spencer township have been reappointed jury commissioners by Judge Endicott for the year 1936. Mr. Brown is a democrat and Mr. Hart a republican and both have served on the commission for many years.

COMPLETE YOUNG REPUBLICAN ORGANIZATION

A meeting of the Young Republican's Club of DeKalb County will be held at the court house in Auburn at 8 P. M. on Friday, January 10th, for the purpose of completing a permanent organization of the club and to complete arrangements for a membership campaign.

At a previous meeting of the club Mr. Oliver Opdyke of Garrett was named temporary president of the club and the following temporary vice chairmen were named for the following townships:

Auburn and Union Townships, David Sellew, Auburn.
Waterloo and Grant Township, John Sherburne, Waterloo.
Butler and Wilmington Township, Leland Diehr, Butler.
Garrett and Keyser Township, Oliver Opdyke, Garrett.
Ashley and Smithfield Township, Norbert Johnson.
Stafford Township, Rodney Scoville.
Troy Township, Charles Sharp.

At the meeting on January 10 permanent county officer will be elected and the organization of each township completed by the election of a permanent Vice chairman and vice chairwoman for each township.

Membership in the club will be restricted to voters between the ages of 21 and 35 and the club proposes to take an active part in the coming campaign and will open the campaign with a large meeting in February or March.

All young voters of DeKalb County are invited to attend the meeting of January 10th and assist in the organization of this club.

Notice to Dog Owners!

A reward will be paid for any and all dogs killed on the premises of the following:

Merritt C. Sechler.
Ray Reasoner.
Henry Shroyer.

J. S. Kain, nearly 83 years of age, is in a serious condition at the home of his son, County Surveyor Calvin S. Kain, of 716 East Seventh St., Auburn. His condition was such Monday night that the children were called, but Tuesday he rallied and appeared to be somewhat improved. He is suffering from gall bladder trouble.

NEW TOWN OFFICERS INSTALLED MONDAY

The new St. Joe town board met Monday evening at the town hall, the first meeting night of the new year, and were sworn in and began their official duties as guardians of the public welfare of St. Joe and its citizens.

The officers elected last November now constitute the official town family and are as follows:

Trustee, Ward 1, D. B. Ridgway.
Trustee, Ward 2, John Wineland
Trustee, Ward 3, Willard Hurni.
Clerk-Treasurer, Frank Akin.

The old board met and heard the report of the treasurer, D. W. Yeiser. The report was accepted and signed by the members and turned over to the new board, after Clerk Ridgway, swore in Clerk Frank Akin and he then in turn gave the oath of office to the remainder of the board members.

The first thing was the selecting of a board chairman and Derwood Ridgway was given that honor.

Bills allowed by the new board totaled $406.92, included coal, supplies, lights for hall and streets for six months and services of the marshal.

The Auburn state bank was voted as the depository for funds.

H. C. Springer was chosen as attorney, and DuWayne Kinsey, health officer for the year 1936.

The selection of town marshal was next in order. Willard Hurni nominated Chas. Cochran and John Wineland nominated Morris Curie. Later Cochran refused to allow a vote by withdrawing his name and Morris Curie was appointed and later sworn into office.

Don Keller appeared before the board with a drainage grievance at his garage property, and the board heard him.

Dr. Price, chairman of the retiring board, extended best wishes to the new board and stated that he hoped they could maintain the good name of the board this year as they had the past, by saying that not a single complaint had been made concerning their administration of affairs.

FLORANCE SMITH DIES OF HEART ATTACK

Florance Buchanan Smith, a well known retired farmer living two miles south of Garrett, died at the age of 73 years at his farm home Monday morning at 8:40 o'clock as a result of heart trouble. He had been in poor health for two years.

Mr. Smith was born in DeKalb county on Oct. 28, 1862, and with the exception of five years at Richmond, Va., he lived in this county all his life, residing on the same farm south of Garrett for the last twenty-two years. He was interested in politics and was a candidate for state representative of the democratic ticket.

For a period of fifteen years he resided at Spencerville and was engaged in the blacksmithing business.

Although in poor health for 2 years, Mr. Smih's death was unexpected. He had been up and around all the while and intended going to Garrett Saturday, but stayed at home because he did not feel so well.

On Christmas Day in 1887 Mr. Smith and Miss Mary Edith Oberholtzer were united in marriage and she preceded her husband in death. Three children were born to them, Isaiah of Richmond, Va., Carlisle, of Garrett, and Walter at home. A sister, Mattie Hart, of Spencerville, also survives, as well as two grandchildren.

The body was taken to Iler funeral home where it remained until time for burial. The funeral services were held at the funeral home Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, conducted by J. N. Scholes of St. Joe.

Mrs. George Milliman has been confined to her bed for the past four weeks with hardening of the arteries. She has had many guests and gifts the past month and all are very much appreciatel by her.

The republican state convention will be held at Cadle tabernacle in Indianapolis June 3, the state committee decided late Friday. Selection of 27 delegates to the national convention at Cleveland June 9, drafting of a platform and nomination of a state ticket will be principal business of the convention.

Post Office Receipts Gain

Postmaster Storer reports substantial gains in office receipts for year ending December 31, 1935. Postal receipts for 1935 amounted to $1,526.20 compared to $1,389.05 for 1934. Number of money orders issued in 1935, 3,484. Totaling $32,529.54 against 2,954 orders totaling $26,770.04 for 1934.

Hogs took a real jump Monday afternoon.

A dole to relieve poverty has about the same curative value as "dope" to relieve pain.

ENTERTAIN EMPLOYES

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Goldsmith entertained the employes of the Goldsmith Store with a dinner on New Year's Eve. Attractive holiday appointments were used throughout the rooms. The table centerpiece was a large three-layer cake profusely decorated in keeping with the day. The menu consisted of first course, fruit cocktail; second course, fish and oysters with lemon rings, french fried potatoes, lettuce salad and olives; third course, jello molds with nuts and whipped cream, cake and coffee.

The evening was spent in watching for the New Year and playing cards.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pugsley, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hull and son, Calvin, Lucille Curie, Mark Williams, Curtice Northrup, Ruth Curie and June and Jean Goldsmith.

If Congress can balance its budget it has got us skinned.

Plenty of WATER... pumped ELECTRICALLY

WITH an Electric Pump, the most remote farm has city water service with water for stock and for the house. There it is, right where you want it, when you want it, and plenty of it. Just turn a faucet or press a switch!

No backaches from pumping and carrying water to the house and to the stock. Higher milk and egg production from cows and poultry supplied with ample water. Greater profits from irrigated fields. Fire protection . . . alone worth many times the slight expense of installation. Both your farm and your family will be benefited by an adequate water system.

COUNTY EMPLOYES NAMED FOR YEAR

A reorganization of the board of county commissioners for the year 1936 resulted Monday in the election of Wm. Brecbill of Smithfield township, as president, Cleve H. Grube of Stafford township, as vice president and Arthur Grube of Keyser township, as secretary.

Cleve H. Grube was president during 1935.

The board then proceeded to reappoint all its employes for the new year. The list follows:

Attorney, Edgar W. Atkinson.

Road Supervisor, Calvin C. Kain.

Deputy county surveyor, Kenneth Smith.

County physician, Dr. M. O. Klingler.

Court house custodian, Wm. Stonebraker.

Court house matron, Mrs. Ella Johnson.

Court house janitors, Wm. Goe and Harpster Walter.

Fireman at county power plant, Orville Summers.

The Carl Akin auto went into the ditch Saturday night at the Carmer school house. He was headed west and going around the corner, went into the ditch on the south side. He was compelled to call for assistance from Auburn.

SHAFER—KNIGHT

The marriage of Evalyn Knight, daughter of John Knight, of north of St. Joe, and Weldon J. Shafer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shafer, (deceased) of Hicksville, took place New Year's morning at the Parsonage in St. Joe, Rev. H. K. Schondelmayer, pastor of the Christian Church reading the ceremony, in the presence of members of the families and several intimate friends.

Attendants were Miss Dorothy Lehman, Mishawaka, Indiana and Clyde Shafer, Hicksville, Ohio.

Afterward a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's father to about twenty-five guests.

The couple left immediately on a wedding trip and returned on Sunday, January 4th. They will live with the bride's father.

The bride has been employed by the Auburn Auto Co.

Those from out of this "neck of the woods" in attendance were: Mrs. Fred E. Rench, Mishawaka, Ind., Miss Vera Johnson, South Bend, Ind., Miss Dorothy Lehman, Mishawaka, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Zeigler, Elkhart, Ind., Mrs. Mary Lowry and Clyde Shafer, and Mrs. Ida Hadsell all of Hicksville, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hamman and baby of Waterloo.

YOUNG COUPLE WED IN ILLINOIS

(Princeville, Ill., Telephone)
January 2, 1936

At 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, December 30, a nuptial service was read uniting in marriage Miss Jean Reagan of Chicago, and Robert Burley, of Princeville. The ceremony was simple but impressive and took place at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Burley, on South Walnut St. The Rev. J. C. Craine, pastor of the Princeville M. E. Church, officiated.

The bride was becomingly attired in acquarian blue with a corsage of talisman roses.

After the ceremony the bridal couple left for Chicago, where the groom will continue his studies at the University of Illinois medical school.

Mrs. Burley is a graduate nurse and is at present holding a responsible position at Contagious hospital in Chicago.

The groom is a graduate of Princeville high school and one of Princeton's most prominent young men. He is at present in his junior year at the University of Illinois medical college in Chicago.

SPORTING NEWS

The St. Joe Valley Pickles defeated the Roanoke Bears in a hard fought Basket Ball game on the local floor Saturday night by a score of 29-38, this was the Pickles two out of three in their series with Roanoke.

The boys of the grades in school put on a real game for the opener and they certainly played ball. The will have more opportunities in the future.

The Pickles will play their next home game on Saturday evening, January 25. This will undoubtely be the best event of the season, more about it later.

AAA WORK STOPPED IN DEKALB COUNTY

As a result of the U. S. supreme court's decision against the Agricultural Adjustment Administration Monday, all activities under the law ceased in DeKalb county Tuesday.

Acting upon instructions received directly from J. H. Skinner, director of the extension department of Purdue University, the wheat control board and the corn-hog control board in this county stopped operations. The offices in the court house were closed and the corn-hog sign-up meetings scheduled for this week were cancelled.

Ralph Bartles of Jackson township, headed the corn-hog committee and Arthur Loutzenhiser of Franklin township, was chairman of the wheat control board.

County Agent T. E. Myers, by direction from Dean Skinner, took possession of all records of the control boards pending further instructions.

SCHOOL NOTES

LaOtto H. S. Here Saturday Night

The first and second boys basketball teams from LaOtto High School will play our teams in the local gymnasium on Saturday evening of this week. The Farmer, Ohio H. S. teams come to St. Joe on Saturday evening, January 18.

You should attend the Senior play on Friday evening of this week. The three act comedy "Safety First" will be presented by a cast of ten from the Class of 1936.

Marguerite Sechler has entered the Leo High School since the removal of her people to Allen County.

New subjects offered in high school this semester are Economics, Bible Study, and Journalism. The new subjects are offered to Seniors and Juniors. The class in journalism will mimeograph a number of school papers during the second semester as a class project.

We had a large number of visitors last week. Several alumni and pupils from Zanesville, Butler, Hicksville and other near by schools were included within the number.

Pupils of the upper six grades who did not attend school on New Year's Day were Ruth Curie, Evelyn Dermott, Merle Epler, Vivian Richmond, Beulah Storer, Ronald Borthwick, Kenneth Richmond, Ersa Reidenbach, and Karma J. Wilcox.

We had vocal music on Monday of this week to make up for one of the days missed last week due to weather conditions which did not permit Mr. Harshman to come for his classes.

Third and Fourth

Rosemary Yeiser, Leola Sechler and Helen Wiers have been absent with colds.

Those who made honorable grades in the semester examinatione were April Bowser, Leora Wilmot, June Strong, Gloria Zonker, Leola Sechler, and Virginia Campbell in the Third Grade and Mary Louise Woodcox, Ned Keller, Patricia Carpenter, James Kees, and Allen Haller in the Fourth.

We are going to be weighed and measured in our Health Class this week.

"Best Spellers" this week are April Bowser, June Strong, Leora Wilmot, Patricia Carpenter, Allen Haller, Jean Hurni, Ned Keller, Betty Rudolph, and Mary Louise Woodcox.

VOL. LI. (51 Years.) (In The St. Joe Valley) ST. JOE, DeKALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY, JANUARY 16, 1936 NUMBER 8

J. S. KAIN PASSES AWAY AT AGE 81

J. S. Kain, a well known farmer of Newville township, died Saturday morning at 4:45 o'clock at the home of his son, Calvin C. Kain, at 716 East Seventh St., Auburn. In failing health for the last two years, Mr. Kain was taken to his son's home several weeks ago after his condition became serious and on last Monday night he was near death. He rallied somewhat, but his age and hardening of the arteries had advanced to such a stage that he was beyond human help.

The son of Samuel and Louisa Kain, the deceased was born in Morrow county, Ohio, on March 21, 1854 and his age was 81 years, 9 months and 21 days. The family moved to New Haven, Ind., where Mr. Kain spent his early boyhood. He was united in marriage on March 12, 1881 with Mary Jane Zedaker, at Cecil, Ohio. She died on June 19, 1925.

The family moved to Smithfield township in 1885 and to Newville township in 1895 where Mr. Kain resided until a few weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Kain were the parents of eleven children, two of whom, Virgil and Lethe are deceased. Those surviving are Calvin C. of Auburn, DeKalb county surveyor, Mrs. Gladys Treesh, principal of the Riley school in Auburn, whose residence is in Garrett, Mrs. Stella Young, of Washington, D. C., Everett Kain and Mrs. Grace Robertson, of Hicksville, Ohio, Forrest and Russell Kain, of Fort Wayne, Mrs. Blenn Moore, residing on the parental farm near St. Joe and Dwight Kain, of Garrett. One sister, Mrs. Ida Frisby, resides at Memphis, Tenn. There are fifteen grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Mr. Kain was a member of the U. B. Church at Newville.

The funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon from the Newville U. B. Church with Rev. P. A. Hubbartt officiating and burial made in Riverside cemetery, Newville.

ANOTHER PIONEER ANSWERS DEATH SUMMONS

WOODCOX

Martha A. Woodcox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Callender, departed this life at the home of her son, C. C. Woodcox, St. Joe, Indiana, January 12, 1936. Age, 88 years, 5 months and 24 days.

She was born near Hicksville, Ohio, July 18, 1847, and was united in marriage to G. W. Woodcox at the age of 23 years. To this union was born eight sons and two daughters, all of whom survive except one son.

At an early age she accepted Christ as her Savior, and united with the United Brethren Church.

To her many relatives and friends she was known not only for her love of neighbors and friends but for her devoted service to her family. During the last years of her life she was a constant sufferer as a result of an accident, but through it all she bore her affliction cheerfully and continued her attention to those she loved.

She leaves, not to mourn her passing, a host of friends, neighbors and relatives, who rejoice in the remembrance of a life so unselfishly spent in the love of others.

The funeral was held from the Kinsey Funeral Home Wednesday afternoon, at 1:30, conducted by H. K. Schondelmayer, burial in Riverside cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS

To the many friends and neighbors who offered their assistance and extended to us their acts and words of love, we wish to express our sincere and heartfelt gratitude.

The Woodcox Family.

AUTOS MORE DANGEROUS THAN PLANES

Sixty deaths occurred in the United States Army through automobile accidents in 1934, according to a report of the Surgeon General. Fifty-six airplane accidents and fifty-two suicides were the next most frequent causes of death. The total of 544 deaths among Army personnel gave a rate of four per thousand for the year, about one-fourth as high as the death rate of the United States. This may be accounted for by the fact that the Army is a picked group whose personnel does not include the very young or the very old.

Why We Need a National Umpire

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

As happened after the crash of the Blue Eagle, the recent decision invalidating A. A. A. has aroused various proposals for a change in our American form of government.

A typical suggestion is that we withdraw from the Supreme Court some or all of its authority to hold elected officials to the course mapped out for them in the Federal Constitution, and thereby extend to Congress the power to steer our ship of state among whatever shoals or channels may strike its fancy.

There is nothing either new or impossible about such proposals. They can be translated into reality by the mere adoption of any one of several amendments now pending in Washington. Let the American people agree to relinquish to Congress certain rights granted them by the Constitution and preserved by the Supreme Court—and the thing is accomplished.

That's what advocates of those amendments are asking us to do.

But, simple as this idea can be made to sound, it remains a serious and dangerous proposal. It strikes at the very root of accepted American principles in government. Before we consider any such course let's pause to remind ourselves of several facts of our past and current history. Let's recall, for example:

That alone, among the greater nations of earth, our country has retained its form of government unchanged during the past century.

That much of the permanence and success of its government has been attributed to the system of checks and balances between executive, judicial and legislative branches, and between the states and Washington. It is based on the principle that the right of the people and the states to govern themselves shall not be usurped by central authority.

That under our form of government America has enjoyed a larger share of happiness and prosperity than any other nation.

That none of the nations which in recent years have shifted to the newer forms now popular in Europe have achieved anything that can be envied by the American people.

And finally:

That whatever passing benefits various odd experiments may offer a favored few, they do not hold the solution of our problems. Despite the alluring phrases of economic crooners, America still subscribes to the essential truth and wisdom expressed by George Washington when he said:

"Nothing but harmony, honesty, industry and frugality are necessary to make us a great and happy people."

YOUNG WIFE IS ASKING DIVORCE

Her husband required her to provide food and clothing on a dollar a week, Marthanelle Fisher, of Spencerville, alleges in a complaint for a divorce filed Tuesday in the DeKalb circuit court against Lynn Fisher.

The plaintiff states that her husband would not furnish a separate home for her and bought her only one pair of shoes during their married life, which extended from Feb. 6, 1935, to Sept. 1. He cursed, nagged and abused her, she says; seized her wrist and twisted her face; told her to get a divorce; and finally deserted her.

Chas. H. Halter, of Ft. Wayne, is the plaintiff's attorney.

SCHOOL NOTES

Win Double Victory

The local school scored a double victory over LaOtto High School in the games played on last Saturday evening. The second team annexed its seventh victory in eight starts by holding the LaOtto reserves without a field goal. The final score was St. Joe 48 and LaOtto 6. Sechler, Woodcox, Richmond, Goodwin, Wiers, Kees, and Borthwick played in this game.

LaOtto's first team presented more opposition. At the end of the first quarter the score was 18-13; at the half it was LaOtto 22, St. Joe 21. Not until the last quarter did the local boys hit the stride which carried them on to a 34 to 32 victory. Our starting lineup was Wyatt at center, Monroe and Storer at forward positions, Curie and Thornton at guards. Goodwin and Sechler also played in this game. Lloyd Miller, of Auburn, was the referee for these games.

Farmer Teams on Saturday Night

Farmer High School will furnish the opposition for the locals in games scheduled for Saturday evening of this week. Come out and see that second team try for its eighth straight victory. Your presence will encourage the first team which has won five of the eight games played thus far. On Friday evening, January 24, Fremont teams play here.

Senior Class Play Well Attended

The senior class wish to thank the public for the fine support given them on last Friday evening. With the low admission price of 10, 15, and 20 cents the receipts past the fifty dollar mark. The audience enjoyed every minute of the play. The Wade sisters work between acts consisting of aesthetic dancing and tumbling was especially well done.

Chatterbox Special

The first edition of Chatterbox Special, the school paper sponsored by the class in journalism, will make its bow to the public on Friday of this week. See Gerald Gee, Frank Ricmond, and Elizabeth Weikel about subscriptions. Six issues of this paper will be ten cents.

Third and Fourth

We drew winter scenes in our art class last Thursday. We put a fox in the picture.

We are completing a study of the South Atlantic States in our Fourth Grade Geography Class.

Recent visitors in our room were Mrs. Josephine Kees, Mrs. Chorpenning, little Miss Kathryn Likes, and Jack Kees.

"Best Spellers" this week were Jean Hurni, James Kees, Donald Freeburn, Mary Louise Woodcox, April Bowser, Rosemary Yeiser, Leora Wilmot, June Strong, Bill Mansfield, Gloria Zonker, and Calvin Hull.

POSTOFFICE ENTERED TUESDAY NIGHT

The postoffice was broken into Tuesday night by smashing in the large window on the north. The safe was tampered with by using sledge hammer, but it is believed they were unable to get into it. Some Indian head pennies were taken that were the property of Mrs. Storer. It is not known as yet whether any of the elvelopes and card stock was disturbed. It has been many months since there has been any kind of local disturbance of this kind.

The department inspector was called from Ft. Wayne and an inventory made revealing no loss of valuable suppiles. The safe, where the stamps were kept, was finally opened revealing no loss.

FORD PRODUCTION RECORD

World production of Ford cars and trucks in 1935 totalled 1,335,865 units, it was announced at the home offices of the Ford Motor Company. This compares with world porduction of 855,037 units in 1934, a gain of more than 56 per cent, it was said.

Production of Ford units in the United States and Canada in 1935 totalled 1,272,885 units, a gain of 557,447 or more than 77 per cent over the 715,438 units produced in 1934.

The announcement recalled the prediction made by Henry Ford more than a year ago that Ford would produce "better than a million" units in 1935.

Variety Spices Federal Projects

They Include Dance Classes, Duck Ponds, Fire Plugs and Race Tracks.

WASHINGTON. — The four billion, eight hundred and eighty million dollars that is being spent on President Roosevelt's program of made work covers a multitude and wide variety of projects. They range from teaching tap dancing, art classes, theatrical productions to the digging of a canal across Florida, the construction of duck ponds in North Dakota and some other states. The following paragraphs cover briefly a very few of the many thousands of similar projects this vast amount of public money is paying for:

An allotment of $14,702 to build a lily pond at Placerville, Calif.

A community poultry house at Lisbon, N. J., to cost $1,205.

For community gardens in Texas $2,226,500.

Money for Athletics.

For Duluth, Minn., federal government funds of $117,429 were allotted to build an athletic field, including a tennis court, ball field, field house and grand stands.

A $330,000 project for building 15,000 sanitary toilets in rural districts in twenty-one Colorado counties.

An allotment of $1,349 to paint the fire hydrants of Wilmington, Del.

An allotment of $4,265 to improve a race track at Dayton, Ohio.

At Harrisburg, Pa., $2,712 to count the trees on city streets.

Some $290,000 was set aside in New York to make maps of Geographic Distribution of Ancient Greek Dialects, an Isothermic Map of Mediterranean Region, a Profile of the Excavations at Kish, Early Bronze Age Intercourse, a Genealogy of the Julian-Claudian Line, and the Roman Coinage of the Alexandrian Mint.

Make Real Estate Survey.

Project 270, which employed 350 men at a cost of $318,000, was a real estate survey of New York city. Project 38, which simultaneously employed 1,200 men at a cost of nearly $2,000,000, was also a real estate survey of New York city.

Relief by recreation is costing more than $3,000,000,000 per year. One phase of this activity was eurythmic dancing.

An allotment of $530,784 for decoration of 1,900 federal buildings by unemployed artists.

An allotment of $3,450,000 to employ 3,500 men and women to take a house to house canvass to obtain records of the prevalence of chronic diseases and illnesses of long duration.

An allotment of $1,086,941 to make a check of retail liquor stores.

An allotment of $1,577,894 for an income tax investigation.

Alphabet Complex Again.

The President approved $1,804,048 to prepare an alphabetical list by geographical units and families of all individuals returned at the 1900 census.

For a survey of retail trade, $293,000.

For a census of business enterprise in 1935, $7,784,000.

A farm housing survey in 300 counties to include information as to physical condition of dwellings, water supply, lighting, etc., and to employ 4,992 men is costing $1,080,570.

Eight hundred dollars was set aside to employ three men to make a study of Russian rainfall.

To find out what prices farmers pay for commodities they buy, $620,472.

To correlate information on exports and imports during the past 25 years, $4,200.

To survey real property, the extent of its use, vacancy and overcrowding, $2,167,804.

To remove hindrances to the free passage of salmon up stream to spawning beds, $35,000.

To enable Indians to repair their own houses, $1,283,000.

Midwest Crops Face New Southern Threat

Washington, D. C.—Federal census bureau reports from the South disclose new competition rising to face crop producers of the Middle West.

The census reveals that Alabama reduced her cotton acreage from 3,566,498 in 1930 to 2,130,062 in 1935, a drop of 1,436,436 acres. Chief reason was the AAA curtailment program.

During the same period corn acreage in the South jumped from 5,266,704 acres in the 1930 census to 7,278,261 acres in 1935, a gain of 2,051,557 acres.

Since the AAA reduced cotton acreage in Georgia, that state has produced 57,431 additional head of hogs. While hog production has been cut down 20 per cent in the corn belt, cotton belt farmers are permitted to raise more corn and hogs.

Debt Tops 30 Billions

Washington. — The United States faced the new year with the largest gross debt in its history, greater by approximately $4,000,000,000 than the war debt at its peak.

The debt stood at $30,557,000,000 December 31, as compared with $28,700,000,000 only six months before. The highest peak reached by the wartime debt was $26,594,000,000.

THE DEBT IN HISTORY

The first national debt of the United States was incurred at its very beginning, as a result of the Revolutionary war; the figure in 1791 was $75,463,000. In 1866 the Civil war carried it to a high of $2,756,000,000. It was only $1,190,000,000 in 1916, but the World war lifted it to a peak of $26,594,000,000 four years later. By 1921 it had been reduced to $16,026,000,000.

During the current fiscal year the national debt passed all former heights and on December 31, 1935, stood at an all-time record high: $30,557,000,000.

Taxpayers Foot City Homes Cost

Part of Funds for Building Houses Is Outright Gift to Tenants.

WASHINGTON. — The government is proceeding with its plans to build hundreds of homes and many apartment houses which it is going to rent to persons who have small incomes and cannot afford to pay high rental rates for their places to live. These properties are being built out of taxpayers' money whether it comes from farms or cities.

Part of the money used is actually a gift from Uncle Sam because no repayment of it ever is contemplated. About half of the cost of each dwelling place, therefore, is paid for by the government. The remainder constitutes a loan from the treasury and the government takes a mortgage for that amount.

Secret of Low Rentals.

By that method, apartments and houses can be rented at low rates because the government will be seeking interest and installment repayments only on half of the total cost. Tenants will be able to get living quarters for perhaps $7 or $8 a room per month.

But the properties have to be managed and they have to be managed according to government (New Deal) specifications. So Secretary Ickes and Prof. Rexford Guy Tugwell are running a school to train managers for the new homes and apartment houses that are built or are building.

Explaining Tugwell's Interest.

Through Professor Tugwell's rural resettlement administration, help is being given to those persons living on wornout or rundown farms by transferring these families and all of their household goods and whatever else they possess to sections where land is more productive. The resettlement people also are taking some families out of industrial communities where they have no work and placing them on farms so they can make a living.

There are about seventy students in this new school, all of whom earn while they learn because they are on government salaries. If they learn all about government bureaus and government methods in four months, and if they can be shown how to collect rents, keep order in the apartment houses and communities and if they can learn how to maintain their buildings in good repair, they will be graduated. Then they will be ready for jobs as managers of the apartment houses or community building projects at larger salaries.

Polish Little Pigs Go to American Markets

Hollywood, Calif.—Walt Disney's three little pigs may yet be dancing the polka instead of their sprightly American jig, if the Polish influence on the American pork market, revealed by the Departmuent of Commerce, continues to increase.

With an estimated 13,000,000 little pigs unborn in America this year, because of the AAA program, imports of ham, bacon and shoulders from Poland and the Free City of Danzig increased 968 per cent for the first nine months of 1935 over the same period in 1934. The pork import from this source alone during the first three quarters of 1935 was greater than the total pork import from all foreign countries combined during 1934.

Market reports reaching the Chicago stock yards said that, while our government pays farmers not to raise pigs, Polish farmers are planning to increase hog production rapidly.

800,079 Civilian Employees

Washington, D. C.—The civil service commission report issued on January 4 shows a continued increase in the number of civilian employees of the government. On December 1 there was a total of 800,079 of these civilian employees on the payrolls, exclusive of the legislative, judicial or military branches of the government. The increase during the month of November was 8,782. The number of employees includes both those who are under civil service and those who are not.

Still 11,000,000 Unemployed

In the spring and summer of 1933 there were approximately 11,000,000 unemployed in the United States. Since that time congress, under the direction of President Roosevelt, appropriated eight billions of dollars for the purpose of creating a demand for products and so reduce unemployment. The last of the eight billion will have been spent before July 1 of this year, but at the close of 1935 there were 11,000,000 still unemployed.

Tugwell's Middle Name Is Haste

In Less Than Five Months He Organized Staff of 12,089.

WASHINGTON. — To Prof. Rexford Guy Tugwell goes the palm for speed in organizing a new governmental unit.

It is common knowledge that government bureaus and agencies can spring up like jack-in-the-box. No private business organization ever has been put together with the speed—and waste—that characterizes creation of a government agency once its birthright is established by congress or by executive order of the President.

Tugwell's 12,089 Employees.

Professor Tugwell, who is paid $10,000 a year as under-secretary of agriculture, is the rural resettlement administrator. When he was relieved of Agricultural department duties by President Roosevelt and told to carry out the resettlement plan, he developed an organization in a manner that left other officials gasping. Starting with only himself and his secretary, he built a staff embracing 12,089 in slightly less than five months, all on the government pay roll.

As resettlement administrator, it is Professor Tugwell's job to transfer farm families from rundown land to other parts of the country where they can make a living. Destitute and unemployed families in cities who are willing to become farmers also will be moved by Professor Tugwell. He will build farm homes, barns and outbuildings and equip them.

Distribution of Funds.

President Roosevelt gave Professor Tugwell $240,000,000 to use in this way, the conviction being that a vast amount of employment would be created in the building and equipping of these new farms.

To date, according to the latest figures made public by the President, the resettlement administration has been able to give work to its own staff of 12,089 and 5,012 unemployed who are working directly on the relief project. So, Professor Tugwell has a staff for management that is more than twice the number of unemployed who have been given jobs. His staff draws a total of $1,750,000 a month in salaries while the relief workers on the resettlement projects are being paid a total of $300,000 a month.

Potato Act to Cost More than Dry Laws

Washington, D. C.—Operation of the New Deal's potato control act will be more costly than the enforcement of prohibition, a letter written by Rexford Guy Tugwell as acting secretary of agriculture and the reports of the bureau of industrial control, United States Treasury department, reveal.

"It appears that the first year's operation of the Potato Act will entail a cost of not less than $12,000,000," says Mr. Tugwell's letter, addressed to the house committee on agriculture. "This minimum estimate for effective operation covers merely the expenses of the Agricultural Adjustment administration during the first year of the act. The cost of printing and distributing stamps, as well as the enforcement and other activities of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, have not been included in the $12,000,000."

Twelve million dollars, according to the bureau of industrial control, is more than the cost of enforcing prohibition in any year before 1930. Enforcement costs increased each year during prohibition.

More Pupils—Fewer Teachers

There are 1,200,000 more pupils now than in 1930 and 11,000 fewer teachers. School budgets are $475,000,000 less now than in 1930. Nearly 3,000,000 pupils are improperly housed. Eight per cent of our school buildings were built before 1860 and thirty-four per cent between 1870 and 1890.

INCOME TAX REGULATIONS CHANGED BY RULING

Changes in Gross Income Tax regulations requiring Indiana residents to report for taxation certain types of income received from sources outside the state will result in a fairer basis of taxation and not double taxation, according to a statement issued by Clarence A. Jackson, director of the State Gross Income Tax division.

Mr. Jackson said the statement was issued becaue of editorials appearing in a few newspapers which left the impression that double taxation would result from a new regulation issued last week. It requires the reporting of out-of-state income which has been deferred under a previous temporary ruling, with the exception that income from businesses actually carried on in other states and income from sale or rental of real estate in other states is held to be non-taxable.

Tax on the deferred income, including receipts from May 1, 1933, to December 31, 1935, is due by January 30, which also is the last day of the regular annual tax-paying period.

"The Gross Income Tax division until now," the statement said, "has permitted Indiana residents to defer reporting income received from sources entirely outside the state, not because the gross income tax law itself exempted this income or because payment of gross income tax or it would result in unfair taxation, but because there were legal questions involved.

"When the Indiana Supreme court, in the case of J. Harry Miles vs. State, upheld the constitutionality of the gross income tax law and in so doing defined it as a privilege tax based on the privilege of residence in Indiana, this question of legalty, in the minds of the tax division's legal staff, was dispelled. Consequently, the temporary regulation No. 191 which allowed deferment of this type of income was revoked and a new regulation, No. 193, adopted.

"Under the new regulation, the intention of the Gross Income Tax division is to bring in for taxation the income received by Indiana residents from other states which can not be taxed in these other states. In other words it seeks to place income received from other states on a par with income received from Indiana sources, as far as the gross income tax is concerned.

"Income received by the Indiana residents from actual operation of businesses in other states is taxable in the other tate. This type of income is exempt from gross income tax under the new regulation. Real estate held by Indiana residents in other states of course is taxed at its location, and under the new regulation neither income from rental or sale of out-of-state real estate is taxed.

"However, when a person resides in Indiana and is employed in another state his income is not taxed in the other state. Since this person receives the same governmental benefits which accrue to the Indiana resident who receives his income from within the state, such as education of his children, police and fire protection and so forth, we believe it is fair to ask him to pay on the same basis.

"The same reasoning holds true when in the new regulation it is required that gross income tax be paid on income from stocks, bonds, notes, etc., of out-of-state corporations or persons if the letaxable in the other state. This diana. It is also true of the other types of income from out-of-state which are brought in for taxation under the regulation.

"The regulation is intended to place all income, regardless of whether received from within or without Indiana, on an equal basis. This is not unfair taxation. If the types of income mentioned as taxable in the ruling were permitted to go tax free, then the accusation of "unfair" would be justified. The whole intent of the Gross Income Tax law was to spread the tax base and thereby reduce property tax. This is being done.

"Perhaps it also should be pointed out that the new regulation does not affect the ruling which has permitted deferring the reporting of income received from sales in interstate commerce. The interstate commerce question is still before the Indiana Supreme Court."

Mrs. Mark Stuck, of Garrett, submitted to an appendix operation, Thursday morning at Sacred Heart hospital in Garrett. Her mother, Mrs. Eva Shull, went to Garrett Thursday afternoon to be near her daughter.

R. H. C.

Mrs. John Crothers very pleasantly entertained the members of the R. H. Club at her home Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 7. Roll call responses were Bible verses and answered by 15 members present. Following the regular business meeting the president then appointed her committees to serve for the next six months. Contests were conducted by Mrs. Clyde Hart. A dainty lunch was served at small tables consisting of toasted cheese sandwiches, cone fruit salad, sliced dill pickles, grapes, cake and coffee, nuts and after-dinner mints in pink baskets as favors. The hostess was assisted by Pluma Hamilton. Club adjourned to meet in two weeks with Mrs. Mildred Curie.

ORGANIZATION TO ARRANGE FOR FAIR

A tentative organization to carry on the DeKalb county free fall fair was formed at a meeting Thursday night at the Auburn Chamber of Commerce, the name of one resident from each of the 15 townships in the county being presented as a member of the executive committee. The president of the Auburn, Garrett and Butler Chambers of Commerce and of the Waterloo Lions club, together with a man from each of the other towns in the county were also named members of the committee.

Those selected from the townships were: Clarence Hinkle, Troy; Homer Casebere, Stafford; Bert Ensor, Newville; Clyde Hart, Spencer; John Leighty, Concord; A. J. Moore, Wilmington; Arthur Loutzenheiser, Franklin; Marion Clark, Smithfield; Clyde Husselman, Grant; M. E. Leighty, Union; Albert Yoder, Jackson; Walter Thrush, Butler; Arthur Grube, Keyser; Forrest Harding, Richland and Orla Deetz, Fairfield. For St. Joe, Fred B. Leighty was named; Corunna, Frank Bard and Spencerville, Clyde Rectenwall. A representative from Ashley will be named later.

A meeting of the committee was called for the night of January 23 at 8 o'clock at the Auburn Chamber of Commerce to complete the organization. Judge Dan M. Link was present at the first meeting to advise the men as to the legal phases of the proposed set-up.

Some time ago at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce it was decided by a vote to continue the fair and to have three men from the Chamber of Commerce and three from the DeKalb County Farm Bureau as a committee to work out plans for this year's fair. This committee consists of A. D. Foust, H. E. Hart and Lloyd Hoodelmier of Auburn. Homer Casebere of Stafford township, Orla Deetz of Fairfield township and Albert Yoder of Jackson.

INTERNATIONAL AGENCY ESTABLISHED HERE

Already our new I. H. C. agency has begun to do business. Saturday, the first delivery was made of a Marmall tractor and plows to W. W. Zonker.

New machinery is beginning to arrive and before many weeks a complete line of repair parts will be on hand to meet the requirements of the farmers.

In order to further acquaint the public with this line of machines, an all day and night demonstration will be held in the near future, featuring talking pictures.

Last week the local management attended the dealers convenion at Fort Waynt, and plans were laid there for an extensive sales drive in the spring, all of which will be of interest to those contemplating the purchase of farm machinery. The agents in this convention produced orders sufficient for four train loads of implements or 130 cars to be distributed in Northern Indiana.

The local agency is hopeful of a good year's business, and we also hope they will come through with their full quota.

Watch The News for further announcements.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER CELEBRATE BIRTHDAYS

Thursday, January 16th, being the birthday anniversaries of Mrs. John Geisinger, and daughter, Mrs. E. J. Brown, a group of relatives, with well filled baskets, came to the home at 503 South Peter Street, and enjoyed the happy celebration.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Koch, of St. Joe; Mrs. Dr. Morr and Justin Morr, of Albion; Mrs. Claude Mason, of Wawasee; John Geisinger, E. J. Brown and Dorothy Brown, of Garrett.

Mrs. Geisinger was eighty-two years old. Nice gifts were presented to the hostesses.

Bank Officers Chosen

Lyston C. Harding has been elected president of the Knisely National bank of Butler. Henry C. Springer was named vice president, and Otis S. Fisher, cashier. Directors elected are Mr. Harding, Ora T. Knisely, Mr. Springer, Mr. Fisher, Armand M. Sicard, Jesse O. Oberlin and Harold Coll.

Bruce Gerdes will move to Huntington soon and J. R. Goldsmith will move from the Roy Bowser home to the home vacated by Mr. Gerdes.

One Dollar Income: Two Dollar Outgo!

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

With Congress well launched into its present session, the public is watching eagerly for evidence that pledges to reduce extravagance in government are to be fulfilled.

Thus far the evidence is scant. There have been the usual number of "private bills" to increase individual pensions and the like. There has been talk of huge appropriations for various projects obscure both in scope and in purpose. It begins to look as if enough plans to spend the taxpayers' money will be offered this season to run the total high into the billions—as has been the fashion at Washington during recent years.

Naturally all these efforts on the part of legislators to spend the people's dollars cannot hope to be enacted into law. But the persistence with which such attempts recur indicates something worthy of consideration by all of us who pay taxes, whether direct or "hidden."

It is, that while office-holders like to picture themselves as the people's business agents in government, actually many of them seem to play quite the opposite role. Probably that explains why the Federal public debt has reached an all-time high; why the government is spending almost two dollars today for every dollar it takes in.

What the office-holder should remember is that the ability of any business agent is measured not by the number and the magnitude of the bills he runs up for his employers to pay, but by the efficiency and economy with which he administers the affairs of those he represents. Helping to run up a public debt that would take thousands of years to pay at the rate of $5,000 a day, doesn't quite fit the picture. Yet that, statisticians say, is what reckless spending in government has done to the United States and its people.

Big appropriation bills may help put a legislator's name on the front page—but they don't remedy conditions if they also help put a lot of other men's names among the bankruptcy notices.

AUBURN P. T. A. SPONSORS EDUCATION FILMS

"Little America," the daring and colorful film that depicts all the excitement and hardships of Admiral Richard E. Byrd's second Antarctic expedition is an authentic, breath-taking, visual record of that memorial trip to the South pole.

This picture, which is being sponsored by the Auburn Junior High School P. T. A., will be shown at the Court Theater in Auburn on Friday, January 24, starting at 3:15 and being shown continuously with the last show at 9:00.

Admission in the afternoon is 10 and 25 cents and in the evening is 10, 25, and 30 cents.

Butler Police Officer Dies

Clyde Oberlin, night police officer at Butler, passed away at his home Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock of complications. Mr. Oberlin would have been 68 years old this coming February.

CHICKEN PIE SUPPER

The Lutheran Ladies Aid will serve a Chicken Pie Supper in the basement of the church Sat. night Jan. 25 at 5 o'clock. Menu: Chicken pie, gravy, browned potatoes, scalloped corn, baked apples, cabbage salad, bread, butter, jelly, pickles, coffee, pie. Price 25c.

New Cars In St. Joe

Mrs. Priscilla Simanton and Merritt Sechler became new Chevrolet car owners last week. Willard Hurni, with a new Ford Sedan and DuWayne Kinsey, a new Terraplane, make up the list of new 1936 purchasers. Verne Monroe and Hollis Dilley are each driving used cars purchased of late. Looks like prosperity is here, and we are glad for the new car owners will have much real pleasure and comfort.

Bert Jackson celebrated Tuesday, his 13th year as manager of the local coal and lumber yard, and he is still going strong, with a steady increase in his business. Bert is a very congenial sort of fellow and is liked by the public, and he always does the square thing by his trade. Here's hoping you may stay on the job for 18 more years, Bert.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

The Evangelistic meeting at the Newville Church of Christ closed last Sunday evening. The attendance and the interest in the meeting were exceedingly good.

A "Short Sermon" for the Children each evening attracted many of the youngsters and they were mighty good boosters thru the entire meeting.

The entire program was carried on by local forces and it was very forcibly demonstrated that a successful spiritual meeting may be conducted without the importation of "high-powered" talent.

The meeting of the St. Joe Church will be held later this season due to the cold weather and we are looking forward to a very profitable and interesting spiritual experience.

The regular services will be held at the St. Joe Church next Sunday, with preaching both morning and evening.

All our friends are invited to these services.

H. K. Schondelmayer,
Minister.

For Governor

Boone county citizens mapped plans to present Elza O. Rogers, Lebanon attorney and a former republican state chairman, as a candidate for the nomination of governor.

FRED HILL TO BE LEGION SPEAKER

Post 283 American Legion will hold installation of officers on January 28th at the K. of P. hall in St. Joe. District Commander Fred Hill will be the speaker of the evening. The degree team of Post 47, of Fort Wayne, will be present to initiate candidates into the Post. The membership of the Posts at Garrett, Auburn, Waterloo and Butler, have been invited to attend this meeting.

The Garrett Clipper arrived at our desk this week, as a 50th anniversary edition, 16 pages in all, and is very informative of Garrett, giving space to its business, social, educational, city and religious life. The issue is a real credit to its publisher, C. B. Hamilton, and will be treasured by its citizens.

SCHOOL NOTES

Fremont Here Friday

The last home game until February 15 will be played on Friday night of this week with first and second teams from Fremont. Our second team has now won eight straight games and hopes to make it nine out of ten on Friday night. The first team has won its last five games played and have a record of six victories and three defeats. Attend the games Friday evening and help the boys add another victory. Due to an automobile accident Mr. Waltke, of Woodburn, will not be able to officiate at Friday night's games and the services of Mr. Paschen, principal of the Spencerville Schools, have been engaged.

Farmer Loses Two

On last Saturday evening teams from Farmer, Ohio furnished the opposition for the local school teams. Farmer gave the second team one of its stiffest battles of the year. At the end of the second half the score was a tie, 25. In the overtime period St. Joe scored two baskets and Farmer made no points.

The local regulars had little difficulty in their game which ended with a score of St. Joe 61, Farmer 16. Thornton scored 16 points, Storer and Curie each had 13, Wyatt 10, while Monroe, Woodcox and Goodwin divided the remainder. Miller of Auburn was the official.

RUPTURI
SHIELD EXPERT HER

E. J. Meinhardi, well known Expert of Chicago, will personally be at the Anthony Hotel, Fort Wayn, Ind., on Thursday only, Jan. 30th, from 1:00 P. M. to 5:00 P. M. and 7:00 P. M. to 9:00 P. M.

Ask the Hotel Clerk for the numbers of Mr. Meinhardi's rooms. Only men are invited.

The Meihardi Rupture Shield retains the rupture on the average case regardless of size or location —no matter how much you exercise, lift, or strain. The Meinhardi Rupture Shield is skillfully molded to each individual as a Dentist makes false teeth. (No leg straps and no cumbersome arrangements.)

It is waterproof, sanitary, practically indestructible, and may be worn while bathing or sleeping (continuously day and night) until no longer desired.

CAUTION—Beware of imitators who copy this notice. Remember the name MEINHARDI. He has been coming here regularly for fifteen years. Do not neglect to see him on the above date. No charge for demonstration. This visit is for white people only.

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. LI. (51 Years.) (In The St. Joe Valley) ST. JOE, DeKALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY, JANUARY 30, 1936 NUMBER 5

TWELVE DEATHS RESULT OF TRAIN CRASH

In the worst family traffic tragedy in Indiana's history, ten persons were killed and two more critically injured Friday noon when the fast Chicago-Detroit Wabash passenger train roared down upon their automobile at Grabill town crossing, ten miles south of St. Joe.

Marion McBride, 43, a PWA worker of near Spencerville, who lived in Allen county, was killed outright with his wife, Susan, 41; seven of their children and an infant born after the mother's body was hurled from the car.

Every member of the McBride family was in the overloaded auto as it ran across State St. crossing directly into the path of the flier, which smashed it against a mail crane and threw wreckage and mangled bodies several hundred feet.

Besides the parents and the new born infant, the children killed were three sons, Marion Jr., 12; Arthur, 8, and Robert, 3; two daughters, Mary, 10, and Virginia 6, and twins, Richard and Ramona, 17 months old.

The two children in the hospital were Clara, 14, and Phyllis, 4. Clara suffered a fractured skull and fractures of both legs, and Phyllis fractures of both legs. They were so weakened by loss of blood that they died on Saturday.

The crossing is in the center of town, and is unprotected by warning lights. On the station platform a few yards away stood George King, station agent, who stated:

"McBride, at the wheel of his car, halted fifty feet back from the tracks, with a clear view of the right-of-way. Why he did so I do not know, but he started his car forward despite the fact that the train was already bearing down upon the crossing, and reached the tracks simultaneously with the locomotive."

The family was returning from Fort Wayne after attending the funeral of the husband of Mrs. William Connor, sister-in-law of Mrs. McBride. They stopped at a filling station 200 feet from the tracks, where McBride bought gasoline and candy for the children.

Glenn Roth, attendant at the station, said that windows of the car were frosted and might have obstructed McBride's vision, and added the car seemed to stall on the tracks after making a steep climb upgrade.

Condutor Brady, who was so affected by the tragedy, died at his Detroit home on Sunday, bringing the fatalities up to 13.

The funeral services for the McBride family were held Tuesday afternoon from the Fort Wayne Gospel Temple.

The jury commissioners, Herman L. Brown, of Auburn, and Clyde Hart, of Spencer township, who again assumed their duties Monday by reason of their appointment by Judge Endicott for the year 1936, began making preparations after the drawing for other drawings to follow during the year.

The commissioners withdrew from the jury box the names of persons who have died in the past year or have otherwise become ineligible. From the tax duplicates they will select new names, making a total of about 300 placed in the box.

The law provides that any persons who have served on the jury during the last year are exempt from serving during the next year. Persons sixty years of age or older also are exempt. To be eligible, a person must be a resident voter of the county and must be a freeholder or a householder. A married woman living with her husband is not a householder under the law, but if she owns real estate she is eligible for jury service. According to the law, bystanders may be drafted into jury service if they are eligible.

The names are drawn from the jury box by the clerk of the court. He hands them to the jury commissioner of opposite political faith, who in turn hands them to the other jury commissioner, who makes the record. The law provides that the drawing be witnessed by the sheriff.

FARMERS' MUTUAL OFFICERS CHOSEN

Frank Shook, of Grant township, a former county auditor, was re-elected president of the DeKalb County Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Co. at the annual meeting held at the court house Saturday afternoon.

Frank E. Lyon, present county auditor, was re-elected vice president. Perry Foote, of Richland township, treasurer, and Lester Boger, of Union township, secretary. Ira Williams, of Union township, was elected actuary to take the place of Chas. H. Bangs, of Richland township, who has served in the office for thirty years.

Two directors were chosen, the other members of the board being hold-overs. Geo. Harmes, of Kendallville, formerly of Fairfield township, was re-elected and Albert Yoder, of Jackson township, succeeds Ira Williams.

B. & O. TRAIN HITS SLED LOAD OF WOOD

Having the presence of mind, LeRoy Rudolph saved his team and possibly himself from being killed by B. & O. freight train about 3:30 Tuesday afternoon, when he pulled the doubletree pin and drove off the tracks, when stalled with a sled load of wood.

The horses were smooth shod and the track crossing being free from ice, made it impossible for the team to pull across the steel rails. Seeing that he was unable to get across, he drove the horses out of the way, when the engine hit the load and scattered wood and sled along the track for 200 feet.

Before starting across the track, Roy stopped and walked to the track to see if a train was in sight. Just as he neared the track a train from the west hit the block and the flashers began operation. Thinking he could make it, as the train was just coming around the curve, he proceeded to cross.

The wood was being hauled for Wid Williams.

Walter Keesler was an eye witness from the elevator.

LEGION POST INSTALL AND INITIATE TUESDAY.

Fred H. Hill, 4th district commander of the American Legion, Lagrange, Indiana, had charge of the installation ceremonies for the officers of the new Post here on Tuesday night, and known as the Walter Whitehurst Post No. 288.

Degree team from Post No. 47, Fort Wayne, Ind., put on the work initiating 6 new members as follows: Zay Sailer, Mervin Place, Arthur Knop, Lehr Wilder, Clayton Chorpenning and Frank Williams.

Members from Butler, Auburn, Garrett and Hicksville posts were visitors. The present membership of the new Post is 26 with an assigned quota of 30 by the state. It is hoped that the men of this territory who are eligible for membership will enroll and thus be able to assist in the local organization. The district now has an enrollment of 1,466 members.

A fine luncheon was served following the ceremonies. A number of local guests were present.

The St. Joe Valley Boys furnished good, peppy music.

Wants A Representative

Carrying out a mandate of the recent convention of the Indiana County and Township Officials Association, Inc., officials of the organization have sent a letter to Governor Paul V. McNutt insisting he carry out an act of the 1935 General Assembly providing for appointment of two township trustees to the Governor's Commission on Unemployment Relief. Under the present set-up the trustees are only figure heads and they believe they are better acquainted with this problem in their localities than any other person, and by so doing there may be a better understanding of the relief problems and efficient cooperation between the township and state.

COLD WAVE AND BLIZZARD FOR WEEK

A week of zero weather has just passed, causing the schools to be closed most of this time, starting in last Wednesday with a blizzard, roads became impassable and many children were compelled to remain in town over night, the homes being opened. By late Thursday most of them were able to get home, and not until Tuesday of this week was school resumed.

On Wednesday night, trucks and cars were stalled in snow drifts and many froze their feet, fingers, ears and cheeks in efforts to extricate themselves. The worst drifts on Road 1 were in front of the B. E. Widney home and on the Ora Baker hill. The Widney home was opened to truck men who were held up, and they served hot coffee and sandwiches. State trucks and snow plows were stalled, and it took a day before traffic could be released.

The coal yards were busy and their bins were emptied completely and on Saturday nothing remained, but Monday forenoon a car, that had been on the road for ten days, arrived, and then everyone felt better.

Today, a change is noted in the thermometer and everyone welcomes it.

HOME BUREAU

The Concord Township Home Bureau met at the gymnasium for the January meeting. The meeting was called to order by the president, Gertrude Borthwick. Opening songs were led by Laura Washler. Money was voted out to pay the expenses of the project leader, Helen Ulm, to attend the meeting at Lafayette. Twenty-five members responded to roll call with "Friendship" quotations.

The officers for the coming year were then installed. Nevada Wyatt gave a short greeting to the officers. A quilt pageant in charge of Arline Koch was given by seven members of the club. Dessie Huni and Myrtle Pugsley conducted a quilt contest. Doris Yeiser and Clara Sible tying for first place. The members were then taken to the Domestic Science room for refreshments served by the committe in charge. The February meeting will be held with Mabel Wiekel. Reporter.

BASKET BALL

The St. Joe Valley Pickles resumed playing after a couple of weeks lay-off and defeated the Hicksville Merchants at Hicksville by a score of 31-35. The game was close played all the way, eight of St. Joe players seeing action. Schulthiess at center for the Pickles showed that he was still playing good ball as he had done in the past. The Pickles have a lot of basket ball ahead of them, mostly away from home. They will play in the tournament at Zanesville and Markle during the next two weeks.

Woodburn will play here Friday night in a fast game with the Pickles and you will want to see this.

The average girl of twenty has a two-to-one chance of marrying before she is thirty. But after age thirty a woman has only a fifty-fifty chance of ever marrying.

And, now, the Bible is being printed in another language; bringing the total to 972.

At the present rate, there are about three human births in the world for every two deaths.

This is fifty years for the Statue of Liberty, on Bedole's Island at the entrance of New York Harbor. This statue was a gift from France in 1886.

Hunters in the mid-west report that heavy snow and sub-zero temperatures for several mid-winter months may have caused the death of most of the quail and pheasants.

Don't let the dentist fill another tooth for you until he applies a little of the medicine recently discovered by Dr. Leroy L. Hartman, of Columbia University. It really makes the filling of a "live" tooth absolutely painless and doesn't cost the dentist more than two cents per tooth. All good dentists will have this new medicine. There are no "after" effects from it.

FOUR ESSENTIALS OF PROGRESS

A national policy to encourage employment and investment of savings in productive enterprise must recognize four points:

1. A constant fight to keep down taxes.
2. A constant fight to keep down legislation.
3. A constant fight against radicalism.
4. A constant fight against government in business.

The fight on the above four issues must be waged in the interest of the people all the year around, and must be made outside of party lines.

PRIMING THE PROSPERITY PUMP

By this time everybody knows that we are putting more into the Prosperity Pump than we are taking out of it. The figures showing how many more millions of dollars the state of Indiana has put in than it has taken out have been published often, and it is probable that this particular neighborhood is doing this to a greater extent than the state as a whole.

The story the down south negro told his white friend about his new job describes the situation exactly. The white friend had helped him over hard spots many times and when he got the job he was so proud of it he hurried to tell him how lucky he was.

"Say boss man Ise got me a new job so I wont have to ask you all for no more help any time again."

"That's fine, what are you doing, and who are you working for?"

"Wukin fur Mr. Bill Jones, catchin drift wood outen the river."

"So, what does he pay you for it?"

"He gins me half I gits."

"That's fine, have you made any money yet?"

"No sir, not till I gits it chopped up and sells it."

"Dont' Bill sell it?"

"No sir, soon as I gits it chipped up Mr. Jones hes goin to tell me where I kin borry a horse and fix so I kin deliver hit, den I gits half the money what I gits."

Why laugh at the poor simp, aren't we all of us?

First of the 400

From more than 400 Texas girls, Miss Carrolyn Durham, whose home is in Dallas, was chosen acting chief of the Rangerettes, official hostesses of the Texas Centennial Exposition which opens June 6. She will assist in choosing and training the 25 other girls of the Southwest who will wear the cowgirl hostess costumes from June until December.

Increased Air Service

Dallas, Texas.—Passenger service of American Airlines into Dallas during the Texas Centennial Exposition will be augmented in anticipation of increased traffic, officials of this company announce. Orders for 15 bi-motored Douglas planes, each capable of carrying 32 passengers, for delivery by March 1, next year, have been placed. These ships will be used on the New York-Los Angeles run via Dallas, it is announced.

TO FOIL BANK CROOKS

NEW YORK.—The American Bankers Association Protective Committee has developed a plan of bank inspection to bring out exposure hazards or weak spots in respect to attacks by criminals based on its long-established, nation-wide experience in investigating bank burglaries, holdups and sneak thefts.

The inspection covers eighty leading questions and seventeen recommendations which are instructive in the prevention of such crimes. These relate to such subjects as the use of alarms and other protective equipment, also the condition of windows, doors, skylights and other entrances which have facilitated the early morning entry of bandits who kidnap bank employees from their homes during the night, or break into the bank premises and bind and gag the employees.

BANKERS HELP

"Save the Land and You Save the Man" is the essence of a suggested agricultural program recommended by the Arkansas Bankers Agricultural Committee. "Beware of impoverished soil. It leads to impoverished homes," says a statement sent to the banks to be distributed to their farmer customers. "To help nature save the land, build up the soil, by:

a. Stopping soil erosion.
b. Planting legumes.
c. Raising livestock.
d. Developing pastures.

"Look ahead with confidence—know what you are doing, therefore:

1. Draw up a farm inventory.
2. Keep a record, daily or weekly.
3. Budget expense, and keep within it."

Conservation Club members are asked to attend the Feb. 6 meeting at town hall. Election of officers and some unfinished business needs your attention. Be there by 7 o'clock.

Sunday dinner guests in the Ralph Sechler home were Wm. Staman and wife, M. C. Blue and wife, and Merritt Sechler. Mrs. Jennie Sechler, of Auburn, was an afternoon caller.

J. R. Goldsmith received word Monday of the death of his nephew, Robert Goldsmith, 25, of New Smurna, Florida, caused by falling down stairs on Sunday. Particulars will follow he was advised.

Plans are all completed for a trip to California, starting next week, as reported by Merritt Sechler. He will be accompanied by Lucille Curie and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Staman. They will go the southern route and will be gone some over a month.

Political affairs are getting quite complicated. It makes us think of the old Irishman who said "My family is too politicious, father is a Republican, mother a Democrat, the baby's wet, the cow's dry, and the dig is a socialist, sits around and howls day after day.

The only bid submitted to County Surveyor Calvin C. Kain Monday for the repair of the Martin Wagner drain, located in Jackson and Concord townships, was from Jay Martin, of Waterloo. A part of the work will be furnished by the CCC camp at Fort Wayne. The estimate was $738.60.

Albert Haverstock, wife and baby, of near Butler, took Sunday dinner with Mrs. Lillie Bishop and daughter, Frances. In the afternoon Mrs. Bishop and daugther accompanied Arthur Johnson and wife to the home of Carl Johnson and family for a short visit. Carl is reported recovering from an attack of influenza.

Henry Benner, Wabash section foreman is back on the work, after a few days off with a severe pain in his left side. He was salting switches last week when the pain came on and it took him a half hour to get to the tower from the depot. His men were working there and he could not summon their aid by motion.

Mrs. Ray Reasoner visited Van Wert, Ohio relatives from Sunday afternoon until Tuesday, while Ray attended a meeting of the State Horticultural Society at Columbus, accompanied by Dean Clippinger, who has an apple orchard south of Van Wert, and Mr. Pettijohn, salesman for Sherwin-Williams Co., spray material department. Frank Dietz, of Edgerton, Ohio, was to accompany the party also.

SCHOOL NOTES

Basketball Wednesday Evening

Due to the extreme cold weather last Friday's games with Fremont High School were postponed until Wednesday evening of this week. Our first team will play at Ashley on Friday evening of this week.

Mr. Leslie Wilbern, of Fairmount, Indiana, has been employed as the commercial teacher succeeding Mr. Gerdes who removed to Huntington on last Friday. Mr. Wilbern is a graduate of DePauw University and has done additional work at Ball State College. He comes to us with seven years of successful teaching experience.

County superintendent Stallman and the state school inspector, Mr. Thomas Mahan, were caught in the snow drifts on last Wednesday afternoon as they were coming from Auburn to St. Joe. They were finally assisted by the local school bus drivers as they made their afternoon home trips. Mr. Stallman froze his ears and both were thoroughly chilled before reaching the school buildings. After thawing out an inspection of our school plant was made. Inspector Mahan commended highly the improvements which have been made during the past year and asked us to continue the good work.

Local teachers attended the county teachers institute held in Auburn last Saturday. High school teachers are working in groups preparing county courses of study in Social Sciences, English, Mathematics, Commerce, and Home Economics. It is expected that these will be completed by February 22 when the final county institute of the school year will be held.

The journalism class announces that the next issue of the Chatterbox Special will appear next week. The days school has been closed on account of cold weather is responsible for the delay.

Hard Things To Do

Boys like to do hard things—things that make them feel big and important. But some boys only think they like to do hard things, and squirm when they have an opportunity to do them. Now, here is a list of hard things for a boy to do: To apologise, to begin over, to be unselfish, to take advice, to admit error, to face a sneer, to be charitable, to keep on trying, to be considerate, to avoid mistakes, to be modest, to profit by mistakes, to think before acting, to forgive and forget, to keep out of the rut, to make the best of little, to recognize the silver lining. It always pays.

DEKALB TO GET FLASHER SIGNALS

Bids on the major materials required for the installation of flashing light warning signals at fifty intersections of state highways and railroad tracks, will be opened by the State Highway Commission on Tuesday, Feb. 4, James D. Adams, chairman, announced today. Total cost of the materials and the installation at the fifty intersections is estimated at $120,000 or an average of $2,400 per crossing.

Highway-railroad intersections to be protected by the installation of the flashing light signals include some in DeKalb county.

A second group of state highway-railroad intersections where flashing light signals are to be installed, is now awaiting approval of the railroad companies. Approximately one hundred crossings are included in this group, making a total of about 150 intersections where additional protection will be afforded the motorists.

SOME LOCAL BRIEFS

St. Joe citizens should continue their efforts to ward off any fires during this cold spell.

FAIR ASSOCIATION TO BE CORPORATION

Steps toward the incorporation of the DeKalb county fair were taken at a meeting of incorporators held at the Auburn Chamber of Commerce rooms Thursday night.

C. E. McClintock, president of the Auburn Chamber of Commerce, was selected to preside and to act as chairman until the permanent officers are chosen. It was decided to name the association the DeKalb County Fair Association, Inc. Mr. McClintock was designated as resident agent and membership dues were fixed at 50 cents.

A decision was reached that the incorporators act as the board of directors, one-third of them being chosen for one year, one-third for two years and one-third for three years. The terms were fixed by lot and Clyde Hart and Clyde Husselman were appointed to draw the names. The result follows:

One year term, Orla Deetz, Fred B. Leighty, the president of the Chamber of Commerce of Butler, Clyde G. Rectenwall, M. E. Leighty, Forrest Harding, Arthur Grube and Walter Thrush.

Two year term, Albert Yoder, Burl Enzor, Clyde Husselman, Clyde Deetz, Vern Sparks, Arthur Lautzenheiser, A. J. Moore and John R. Leighty.

Three year term, Frank Bard, Clyde Hart, Homer Casebere, Clarence Hinkle, A. D. Foust, president of the Garrett Chamber of Commerce, H. C. Willis, and the president of the Auburn Chamber of Commerce.

H. C. Willis, Albert Yoder, M. E. Leighty and A. J. Moore were named to act with the chairman in drafting by-laws. The committee met Monday afternoon.

A committee of three, consisting of H. C. Willis, M. E. Leighty and Walter Thrush, was appointed to nominate officers and members of an executive committee.

Judge Dan M. Link met with the incorporators, advising them as to the proper legal steps in forming the new organization.

MEETINGS POSTPONED BECAUSE OF WEATHER

This below zero temperature and ice covered roads has put a crimp in everything scheduled for the next few days.

SCHOOL NOTES

Three Games Won

On last Wednesday evening teams from Fremont came to St. Joe to play the games postponed from the previous Friday evening. Our second team easily defeated the Fremont Reserves by a score of 28 to 11. In the first team game Fremont threw a scare into our camp by running up eight points before our boys could find the basket. Playing without the services of Robert Wyatt our team could not control the tip from center. At the end of the first half the score was a tie. In the last quarter St. Joe gained a slight lead which was gradually cut down by Fremont. When time was called the final score was St. Joe 30, Fremont 29.

Win At Ashley

Ashley High School entertained basketball teams from both St. Joe and Salem Center on last Friday evening. Ashley's second team was defeated by the Salem seconds. Ashley then divided their main squad into "A" and "B" teams. Ashley's "A" team defeated Salem's first team by the lop sided score of 59 to 6. The Ashley "B" team found the St. Joe first team a tougher proposition. When the second half ended the score was a tie at 27. In the over time period St. Joe scored three points to Ashley's two and the game ended St. Joe 30, Ashley 29.

Hamilton Here on February 15

This Saturday evening our teams go to Pleasant Lake for games. On Friday evening of next week we play at Spencerville. The following night (Saturday) Hamilton High School plays return games here.

Chatterbox Special This Week

The second issue of the Chatterbox Special will appear on Friday of this week. Place your order with some member of the senior class if you want the latest in school news. Better do this before Friday.

Grade Cards Issued

The first grading period of the present semester ended on last Friday. Report cards were given out this wek. We hope that parents will carefully inspect a number of these cards and then insist on improvement in conduct and study habits of pupils from their homes. This is particularly true of certain eighth grade pupils who will fail unless they give more serious attention to school work.

The assembly program given by the "Purple Masque" (H. S. Dramatic Club) on last Thuraday assisted by the Girls Glee Club and Boys Quartette was well received. Mrs. Simanton, Mr. Harshman and pupils providing this fine program are to be congratulated.

Mr. L. W. Wilbern (commercial teacher) attended the high school operetta given at Angola on last Tuesday evening.

MORTUARY

MANN

Ada Elizabeth Speaker, daughter of David and Susan Speaker, was born in Belmore, Putnam County, Ohio, January 11, 1864, and departed this life on February 1, 1936, age 72 years, and 21 days. On August 20, 1883 she was united in marriage to Jesse Mann. Seven children, six daughters and a son were born of this union. Two daugters, Bertha and Maggie preceded her in death. She leaves to mourn her leaving Mrs. Della Hart, Mrs. Emma Inlow, Mrs. Anna Hursey; all of St. Joe; Harry Mann, of Los Angeles, California; Mrs. Gertrude Frost, of Centerville, Indiana, and Leroy Mann, of Spencerville; a nephew, whom she mothered as her own from infancy.

She become a member of the Presbyterian Church in her early youth, where she took an active part.

They spent most of their married life iv Putnam, Paulding, and Adams Counties, Ohio. When death separated them 16 years ago she came to Indiana, where she made her home with her daughter, Della, and family, lending her helping hand at times when the rest of her family needed her.

Mother, though quiet in manner, was Mother and Grandmother to all, doing all she could to help and care for all. How we will miss her.

Mother's at rest;
  Her daily tasks are o'er
And resting with the Angels
  Her home forevermore.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Walter Coburn, of Corunna. The burial will be made at Peebles, Ohio, the latter part of the week, the delay being caused by the extreme icy condition of the roads.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all the neighbors and friends who have been so kind in help and sympathy to us in this our bereavement.

Her Children and Grandchildren.

ORDERS POSTPONEMENT

Announcement has been made by Oliver Opdycke, of Garrett, President of the Young Republicans Clubs of DeKalb County, that the meeting and dance to be sponsored by the club and originally announced for February 12th in the nature of a Lincoln Day Program, has been postponed to a date in the month of March, to be announced later.

The postponement of this meeting has been occasioned by reason of the fact that the meeting conflicted with the Republican 4th District Lincoln Day Celebration to be held at Ligonier on February 12th. This meeting is sponsored by the 4th District Republican Organization and will be in charge of the Noble County Republican Organization. The Hon. Oscar Carlstrom, former attorney general of Illinois and a candidate for Governor of Illinois in the Republican Primary will be the principal speaker of the evening and it is anticipated that a large crowd will be present from all over the district and the public generally are invited to attend the meeting.

The organization of the Young Republicans Club of DeKalb County is now well under way and membership cards are now in the hands of all township vice chairwoman and it is expected that the membership campaign will be completed by February 10th, after which time final arrangements will be completed for the March meeting of the club and plans completed for the clubs participation in the coming election.

F. O. B. Detroit. Standard accessory group, including bumpers and spare tire, extra. All body types have Safety Glass throughout at no additional cost.

THE 1936 Ford V-8 is the safest Ford car ever built. This is another result of the Ford Motor Company's purpose to build every part of the automobile in keeping with the quality of the V-8 engine.

For years the V-type engine has been a distinguishing characteristic of the most expensive cars. Making it available at low cost was a logical development of the basic Ford idea.

With Ford, one achievement calls for another. So attention was centered on making everything about the car measure up to the standard of V-8 engine quality. This tells you why the 1936 Ford V-8 is such a safe car to drive—why it surrounds passengers with the utmost protection known to modern engineering.

Behind Every Feature of the 1936 Ford Is the Standard of V·8 Engine Quality

No federal official has a tougher job than Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau.

The Secretary of the Treasury is purely an executive official. He is entirely without legislative power. Yet, when Congress passes a bill requiring public expenditures for which no known funds are available, the Secretary must find the money. He may think the bill is dangerous or unwise—but, in spite of that, his duties force him to do everything in his power to pave the fiscal way.

A short time ago, the President delivered a budget message which showed an estimated deficit of $1,100,000,000—less than in other recent years. However, the President was frank to admit that the budget was incomplete—such vital matters as relief expenditures were yet to be detailed, and were not included. Best guessers say that, while relief spending will be less this year than last, Congress will appropriate $2,000,000,000 for that purpose before it is finished. In addition, maturing government obligations call for an additional $5,800,000,000. The bonus, not considered in the President's budget message, will cost at least $2,000,000,000.

As a result, the deficit will be in the neighborhood of $11,000,000,000—every cent of which must be raised in the next year and a half. That is Mr. Morgenthau's job. The Secretary of the Treasury must determine what type of bonds to issue, and what interest rate to pay. He must accurately estimate conditions in the bond market. A successful Secretary is one who raises money most easily at the lowest interet cost—an unsuccessful Secretary is one who fails in either of these two particulars.

So far, the New Deal has had things all its own way in financing. Issues have been oversubscribed within a few hours of their appearance. The cost of carrying the debt is lower now than it was a few years ago, because it had been found possible to cut interest rates much below previous levels due to investors' fear of risking money in commercial enterprises.

Whether it will find conditions the same in the future is the question. A short time ago, Secretary Morgenthau was called before the Senate Finance Committee, which wished to ask him whether he thought the Treasury could stand the drain of bonus payments. He avoided answering this question directly, though he was obviously doubtful of the bonus' financial wisdom. And he was, according to all observers, somewhat worried about future financing. He pointed to the confused outlook and said, "So many things have happened that affect the Treasury that I certainly am not smart enough, and I haven't seen anybody that is smart enough, to say what is the future of the government bond market."

When asked what would happen if the Treasury attempted to float $11,000,000,000 worth of bonds and failed, the Secretary replied: "The minute I cannot raise the money required to finance the government, that minute you will have complete chaos."

Mr. Morgenthau certainly did not intimate—nor has any other responsible authority— that the United States credit is in danger. However, there seems to be a saturation point beyond which government bonds, no matter how securely backed, cannot be floated on favorable terms. As conditions improve, oddly enough, it becomes increasingly difficult for the government to obtain cheap money—better business tempts investors to purchase industrial securities which either pay higher interest rates, in the case of bonds, or offer the chance of great appreciation of principal and earnings, in the case of common stocks. Some observers think that the present Congress, listening to words such as Mr. Morgenthau spoke, will go slow in spending. And there is also the possibility, and perhaps necessity, that Congress will be forced to raise money not through bonds but through new or still higher taxes. Action of Congress on the bonus gives no indication of that body's future attitude toward spending—common belief is that if the solons realized that payment of the bonus would have actually shaken the Treasury, many of them would have voted for it anyway, motivated by the political considerations that arise inevitably in an election year.

Mr. Morgenthau's testimony, coming from the principal fiscal officer of the Administration, indicates that men at the top are thinking seriously about the public debt.

Alfred E. Smith's long-waited American Liberty League speech was exactly what was anticipated—a ringing attack on the New Deal, which Mr. Smith declared had violated almost every provision of the platform on which it swept into office with unprecedented ease.

High point of the talk was Mr. Smith's declaration that unless the Administration changed policy, disciples of Jefferson, Jackson and Cleveland may have to "talk a walk."

Interesting point is, Will there be a coalition of conservative Democrats of the John W. Davis, Albert Ritchie, Alfred Smith type, to actively fight the Administration?

DEKALB COUNTY VETERANS TO GET $410,059 PAYMENT

The survivors of the more than six hundred men who went into the World War from DeKalb county will receive baby bonds to the value of $410,059.98 in payment of the soldiers' adjusted compensation, commonly known as soldiers' bonus. Deducted from the above amount will be the sums which have heretofore been advanced on the claims. The amounts to be received by the individual soldiers will range from $500 to $1,540, according to the advancement already made.

Applications for the three per cent baby bonds, payable on demand, by which the compensation is to be met, will be made with the service officers of recognized soldier organizations. In this community it will be the American Legion. Application forms have reached here, and the local posts arranged for their service officer, Fred B. Leighty and the Post Master to fill out the application blanks, which will be forwarded to the office where the former certificate was executed.

Face value of all certificates held by Indiana war veterans total $50,730,624.28. The average amount due veterans is estimated at $515. This will be distributed in other counties of this region as follows: Allen, $2,415,538.53; Steuben, $220,240.02; LaGrange, $226,832.58; Noble, $359,792.00; Whitley, $262,240.20; Elkhart, $1,133,751.38; Kosciusko, $452,479.97.

Imported Bacon Cops City Sales

AAA Was Fairy Godmother to the Farmers—of Other Countries.

CHICAGO.—Retail meat markets here are advertising bacon imported from Poland for 33 cents a pound, while American bacon must bring a price from 50 to 55 cents a pound, because of the pork shortage caused by the killing of 5,000,000 pigs under the execution sentence of the defunct Agricultural Adjustment Act.

Rapidly increasing sales of pork products imported from Poland and the Free State of Danzig, spurred by the fact that America still likes bacon or ham with its morning eggs but can no longer afford home products of far superior quality, have caused an unprecedented rise in American imports of these products.

Imports Multiply Rapidly.

During the first ten months of 1935 ham and bacon imports from all countries leaped up 389 per cent over the same period for the preceding year. Imports from Poland were more than nine times what they were in 1934.

Nor was pork the only farm product so affected. During the same span of ten months meat imports as a whole increased by 44,000,000 pounds, or 87 per cent. Beef and veal imports were up 5,618 per cent.

Foreign Grain Prospers.

Imports of wheat more than doubled in that period, while corn imports increased 2,898 per cent.

That Mr. and Mrs. America were not long in "wising up" to the fact that it was not the meat packers, as they had supposed, who were paying the processing tax, is shown by the fact that the American consumption of pork products fell from 6,267,560,000 pounds in 1933 to 4,649,413,000 pounds in 1935—a drop of more than 25 per cent. In reality, the processing tax was in part passed on to the consumer and partly paid by the producer; pork which sold at 15 cents a pound shortly after the tax was levied cost 30 cents a pound eight months later.

53 Taxes Double Cost of Bread to Consumer

Chicago, Ill.—Bread, the staff of life, the commonest food of man, which has brought about revolutions when it was denied, has in the last two or three years borne all the burden of 53 taxes, all of them reflected in the price to the consumer, it was computed here.

Bakers believe that half or more of the cost of bread to the consumer may consist of taxes passed along to him, but so many and so complicated are the taxes that even they cannot compute the accurate amount.

Following is a list of the taxes:

Paid by the farmer: Real estate tax, sales tax on machinery, personal property tax on machinery and truck, auto truck state license tax, state income tax, federal income tax.

By the grain elevator: Capital stock tax, real estate tax, occupation tax, federal income tax, state income tax, state franchise tax.

The flour miller: Real estate tax, personal property tax, processing tax, capital stock tax, state franchise tax.

The railroad: Real estate tax by city, real estate tax by school district, real estate tax by county, real estate tax by state, personal property tax, personal property tax by school district, personal property tax by county, personal property tax by state, state income tax, federal income tax, state franchise tax.

The flour trucker: Real estate tax, personal property tax, state income tax, federal income tax, motor license tax, occupation license tax, franchise tax.

Bread wrapper manufacturer: Real estate tax, personal property tax, state income tax, federal income tax, motor license tax, occupation license tax, franchise tax.

The baker: Real estate tax, electricity tax, gas tax, sales tax, state income tax, federal income tax, personal property tax, gasoline tax, occupation tax, franchise tax, motor license tax.

A few of these taxes were wiped out when the AAA was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, and a reduction in the price of bread was effected almost immediately in many sections of the country.

Government Will Spend 6 Billion

Washington, D. C.—The total "regular" expenditures of the United States government, plus the relief and recovery expenditures, will be $6,418,000,000 for the 1937 fiscal year. The budget indicates that the regular expenditures will be $4,210,000,000. Recovery and relief expenditures will be $2,208,000,000. To this may be added additional expenses not counted on by the President. Former Director of the Budget Lewis W. Douglas points out that in 1928, when the nation was at the height of the prosperity period, the total of government expenditures for all purposes was $3,581,000,000.

1,000 Checks a Minute

Washington, D. C.—The champion check-writer of all the offices of the world has been found—the United States Treasury department. It draws more than 1,000 checks a minute—fully 60,000 an hour. Checks for wages, salaries, relief, pensions, etc., go to more than 9,000,000 persons. That is a number equal to about 40 per cent of all the citizens who voted for Roosevelt in 1932.

POULTRY SCHOOL ATTENDED BY 148 PEOPLE

The DeKalb County Poultry School held January 30 in the Court House Assembly Room at Auburn was attended by 148 people, as announced today by T. E. Myers, County Agent.

Wm. Kohlmeyer, Extension Poultryman, of Purdue University, gave two interesting talks during the session, discussing the 1936 Poultry Outlook and causes of low egg production. Deputy Sheriff Glen Minnick instructed Poultrymen in the procedure to follow in case of chicken thieves. Advising everyone to count their livestock each morning, so that in case of theft, it would be reported soon after, and not two or three days later. Russell Fretz, of the Waterloo Hatchery discussed the importance of the proper brooding of chicks. Mrs. Rosemary Farmer of Garrett told of her experiences in raising chickens. Lester Boger was chairman of the morning session and the chairman of the afternoon session was Clyde Husselman. L. J. Wright, Hudson, Indiana, won the attendance prize in the forenoon and Bruce Provines and E. Beatty won the two attendance prizes in the afternoon.

In the egg show, Mrs. F. W. Knott, of Auburn, won first in open class brown eggs and Robert Heitz, of LaOtto, won first in open class white eggs. Ray Heffley won first in 4-H Club brown eggs and first in High School Class white eggs. Max Heffley won first in 4-H Club white eggs. There were thirteen samples of eggs on exhibit. The attendance and show prizes were donated by R. A. Gerig of the Auburn Hatchery, Russell Fretz of the Waterloo Hatchery and Stella Goldsmith of the Farm Bureau Hatchery.

It was decided to hold an egg show in connection with the 1937 Poultry School.

Home Rule—An American Tradition

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN

National Chairman Sentinels of the Republic

Dominant among American concepts in government stands the principle of Home Rule.

It is perhaps the oldest of our traditions. It is a healthy outgrowth of that insistence on self-government which found expression in the Revolutionary War. Regarded by the founders and developers of America as essential to their liberty, it has persisted through a century and a half of national history.

That explains why a growing number of citizens watch with grave misgiving many of the innovations in government being urged on the American people today. Among these they see:

Efforts to force on citizens, with all the authority of enacted law, the dictates of appointed Bureau chiefs.

Efforts to curb the powers of the Supreme Court whenever it upholds the rights reserved by our Constitution to the people and the states.

Efforts to centre in Washington powers and authority which, since the beginning of our nation, have belonged to the states and smaller communities.

These attempts are already under way. Others will undoubtedly follow. But, in whatever alluring forms they may be presented, all mean fundamentally the same thing—limiting the people's power in government, by taking from their local communities the right to run their own affairs.

In other words, the weakening of Home Rule.

The real significance of such proposals lies, therefore, not in what they promise, but in what they threaten to take away from the people in the way of rights and privileges and power. As a wise President once said:

"No method of procedure has ever been devised by which liberty could be divorced from local self-government."

Treasury Fears 35½ Billion Debt

New Deal May Drive Sum to Million Times That of Century Ago.

WASHINGTON.—The national debt will have multiplied almost one million times in the last century, with well over half the staggering total accounted for by the "pump-priming" and emergency spending of Franklin D. Roosevelt's administration, if the prediction of Henry Morgenthau, secretary of the treasury, comes true.

During the same 100 years the country's population has mutiplied only 10 times.

Secretary Morgenthau, in a "confidential" report to the senate finance committee, said that New Deal spending would create a public debt of $35,500,000,000 during the coming fiscal year. At the time of his report, congress had already appropriated $18,354,000,000 for New Deal relief and recovery measures, and President Roosevelt had indicated his intention to ask for another $2,000,000,000 for relief at this session, according to Mr. Morgenthau.

Real Size of Debt.

Some idea of the real size of the debt may be gained by comparison.

The debt 100 years ago—in 1836—was $37,515. A debt of $35,500,000,000 would be, in round figures, the multiplication of the debt of a century ago almost 10,000 times for each of the 100 intervening years; more than 23 times for every day of those 100 years, and, roughly, once for every hour, day and night, of those 100 years.

A debt of $35,500,000,000 is automatically translated into a responsibility, on the average, of almost $1,200 for every family in the nation, over and above state, county and city taxes. It is a prior lien on everything the citizen owns or earns. Yet it is next to impossible for him to obtain an itemized accounting of his individual share of the debt, because some of it is added to the price of virtually every article he buys—a suit of clothes, a loaf of bread, gasoline, theater tickets, electricity, etc.

4½ Billion in Liabilities.

Nor would a national debt of $35,500,000,000 be a complete statement of what the federal government owed. During the last half dozen years, the government has embarked upon some extraordinary financial ventures, with the result that serious contingent liabilities have been taken on by the Treasury department. The liabilities are a claim on the taxpayer of nearly $4,500,000,000 over and above the national debt. It is possible that another $2,000,000,000 might be added as a moral obligation of the treasury in underwriting activities of the federal land banks, home loan banks' discount functions, FDIC, FSLIC and FHA.

The New Deal original plan, as outlined in President Roosevelt's budget message in 1934, was "to have a definitely balanced budget for the third year of recovery (the present fiscal year) and from that time to seek a continuing reduction of the national debt." Yet his budget for the 1937 fiscal year indicates a deficit of at least $1,098,000,000, PLUS the amount needed for relief, and perhaps PLUS farm benefit payments, now that the processing taxes have been held illegal.

The entire New Deal financial program admittedly depends upon recovery for success. Federal receipts must pass expenditures, forming a surplus which will go toward paying off the national debt. IF spending continues and IF federal receipts do not swing sharply up, only two courses lie ahead: More and higher taxes, or inflation.

The deficit on January 17 was $2,017,731,841, or $157,850,078 more than on January 17, 1935. The President has estimated the national debt at $31,000,000,000 by July 31.

WHERE THE MONEY GOES

Prof. Rexford Guy Tugwell, No. 1 Brain Truster of the New Deal, plans to do some gadding next year. His budgetary allowance for traveling expenses of the resettlement administration is $1,641,368, fifteen times as much as last year.

* * *

"There is $500,000,000 in the President's budget," Secretary Morgenthau told the senate finance committee in referring to the estimated deficit for the forthcoming fiscal year. "Let us use the figure $2,000,000,000 for relief and let us use $2,000,000,000 for the soldiers' bonus. So you get another $4,500,000,000 we might have to raise during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1937. With the money coming due and the money we might have to raise there is a total of a little over $11,000,000,000."

* * *

The War of 1812 occurred 124 years ago. The veterans' bureau is still paying $2,040 a year in pensions on it.

* * *

Weather note: Button up your overcoat, but not your pocketbook. The appropriation for the weather bureau is being increased half a million dollars to $3,900,000.

But the Workers Get Paid!

Chicago, Ill.—Residents along Perry avenue in this city were wondering how to explain the act of WPA workers in ripping up a portion of the street—because it isn't paid for yet. It was laid in the spring of 1931 and, according to residents, is still good.

It is suggested that farmers arrange to feed the quails and that town people feed birds.

Read the public sale notices in this issue of The News. Three farmers are selling at auction.

Two new autos were purchase here last week. Lester Baker, new Oldsmobile Sedan and Mayo Kinsey, a Terraplane Tudor.

TO RECEIVE C. M. T. C. APPLICATIONS MARCH 1

Procurement of candidates for next summer's Citizenship Military Camps will officially start March 1. However, applications may be submitted at anytime.

The War Department does not expect to train as many in 1936 as in some of the previous summers. The DeKalb County quota this year is eight young men. The state of Indiana's quota is 712. The quota for the Fifth Corps Area consisting of Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, and Kentucky is 3500.

C. M. T. Camps will be held next summer at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, as follows: July camp—July 2 to 31, at which time the following will be trained, Basics, Infantry, Field Artillery, Signal Corps; August Camp—August 3 to September 1, at which time Basics and Infantry will be trained.

The July camp will be composed of all candidates from Ohio and West Virginia and all the Field Artillery and Signal Corps candidates from the other two states in the corps.

The August camp will take care of all Basic and Infantry candidates from Indiana and Kentucky.

Corps Area Headquarters has already sent application forms to those young men who were in camp last year. These are on the priority list and are given preference in entrance.

All applicants accepted for camp must be vaccinated against smallpox and typhoid fever before enrollment. Applicants who have attended camp within the past 3 years are not required to take treatments.

Candidates must be at least 17 years old.

The following attended camp last summer from DeKalb county: Hubert Hines, Homer Frownfelter, Sam Barr, of Auburn, Ralph Childers and Myron Teegarden, of Garrett, and Winford Nessel, of Corunna.

Prospective candidates must take a physical examination under a local doctor at the time they make application to camp. The following physicians perform this service to the boys free of charge and are on the War Department's list: Drs. D. M. Hines, A. V. Hines, L. N. Geisinger, C. S. Stewart, of Auburn, J. A. Clevenger, D. M. Reynolds, W. K. Templeton, of Garrett, F. D. Fanning, of Butler, and E. A. Ish, of Waterloo.

Application blanks are in the hands of the county chairman, Capt. E. F. Fribley, of Auburn.

FREE MOTION PICTURES

The Indiana and Michigan Electric Company have leased the Butler Theatre in Butler, for one afternoon and evening, Feb. 18, Tuesday, and will offer an entertaining and instructive program absolutely free.

Four highly diverting full length films, two with sound, short talks and other features will make up a delightful two hours' show. The pictures are titled "Just Around the Corner," "Three Women," "Running Water," and "Yoke of the Past."

As a guarantee of the splendid quality of these films, a mention of the principal players is all that is necessary. "Just Around the Corner" was enacted by Dick Powell, radio and screen favorite, Joan Blondell and Bette Davis, dashing blond screen stars, Warren Williams, Preston Foster and Ruth Donnelly, two of the finest types of leading men in Hollywood and the funniest comedienne now before the cameras.

In "Three Women" such well known players as Johnny Mack Brown, Hedda Hopper, Sheila Mannors, William Collier, Sr., and Roy D'Arcy will be there. These are amusing and entertaining domestic comedies, secured by the General Electric Company at great expense, each with a likable story and just a hint of practical suggestions.

"Running Water" and "Yoke of the Past" are rural films of particular interest to the farmer who wishes to improve his working conditions and to learn of the progress that has been made in farm equipment. Mr. T. E. Myers of DeKalb County will be present to give a brief but informative talk.

No free tickets will be issued at the theatre, but adults who call at the I. & M. offices will be given a liberal supply for themselves and family. This is an instructive campaign sponsored by the Indiana and Michigan Electric Company and embraces many of the county seats in their operating territory.

Appointed Administrator

County Surveyor Calvin C. Kain has been appointed in the DeKalb circuit court as administrator of the estate of his father, the late J. S. Kain, who died in Auburn Jan. 11, leaving $400 in personal property and $4,000 in real estate. The heirs include nine children. Those besides C. C. Kain are Stella Young of Washington, D. C., Everette M. Kain and Grace G. Robertson of Hicksville, O., Forrest M. and Russell W. Kain of Fort Wayne, Gladys Treesh and Dwight R. Kain of Garrett and Blenn E. Moore of St. Joe. The heirs also include a grandson, Paul Kain of Kalamazoo, Mich. The administrator filed $1,000 bond, with his sister, Mrs. Treesh, and his brother, Forrest, as sureties.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP HAS BEEN ORGANIZED

Eleven girls met at the home of Jean Goldsmith Friday to organize a Girl Scout Troop. The following were elected officers:

Captain, Mrs. Goldsmith.
Scribe, Marcia Wade.
Treasurer, Leila Hurni.
The Patrol Captains are:
Wise Owl Patrol, Christine Zonker.
Eagle Patrol, Jean Goldsmith.
Cardinal Patrol, June Goldsmith.

Any girl between the ages of 10 and 18 are eligible to be members and all are welcome.

The program is designed to offer girls valid experiences, and endeavors to build a firm foundation of skills and hobbies through which the girls may find joy and achievement and an outlet for their energies.

List of members: Helen Wade. Thelma Martin, Beverly Wade, Leila Hurni, Marilyn Zonker, June Goldsmith, Marcia Wade, Troas Epler, Christine Zonker, Candace Loftus and Jean Goldsmith.

The youngsters will have a bake sale Saturday at the Goldsmith Store in order to raise money for their credentials.

J. F. WALKER DIES IN SOUTH BEND

Joseph Franklin Walker, aged 81 of 1806 South Leer Street, South Bend, died at 6 o'clock Saturday evening in the residence of his granddaughter, Mrs. James C. Huff, with whom he made his home.

He had been ill four days with a stroke of paralysis. Born in Bryan, Ohio, January 24, 1855, he moved to South Bend 34 years ago from Elkhart, Ind. He was married in St. Joe, Ind., in 1880 to Miss Ida L. Quance, who survives him. He leaves two sons, Guy E. and Charles P. Walker, of South Bend; eleven grandchildren; eight great grandchildren, and a brother, W. E. Walker, of Hicksville, O.

He was a member of the Modern Woodmen of America. The funeral took place from the L. H. Orvis chapel at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Rev. George Holston, pastor of Calvert Street Evangelical Church, officiated. Because of the severity of the weather the body was placed in the mosleum at Elkhart, Ind., until such time as it will be possible for burial.

Mrs. Grace Finzer, of Hickville, Mrs. Vina Quance and three sons, William, Fred and Wayne, and Mrs. Fred B. Leighty attended the funeral.—South Bend Tribune.

Mr. Walker made his annual trip to visit St. Joe and Hicksville and spent several weeks with relatives. He was engaged in the harness making business at Spencerville and later at St. Joe, and is well remembered by practically all of the older residents of this section of DeKalb county.

WHAT IS NEWS?—NEWSPAPER EDITOR ANSWERS

What is news?

Frank B. Cox, publisher of the Douglas Weekly Gazette, answers the question in this week's issue. News is when you have:

Died, moved, eloped, been ill, sold out, sold hogs, been shot, been born, had a baby, been drunk, been gyped, had a fight, broken a leg, had a party, caught cold, been robbed, had company, been married, bought a car, been visiting, divorced, been arrested, stolen anything, gone crazy, lost your hair, had a birthday, had an anniversary, been bitten by a snake, had an accident, cut a tooth, or had an operation—

Yes, that's news.

We Find What We Look For in This Old World of Ours

I have always been looking for the noblest qualities in human beings, and I have always found them. There are great souls all along the highway of life, and there are great qualities even in the people who seem common and weak to us ordinarily.

The Man Who Knows

Whether the Remedy You are taking for Headaches, Neuralgia or Rheumatism Pains is SAFE is Your Doctor. Ask Him

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches; or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it — in comparison with Genuine Bayer Aspirin.

We say this because, before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin, most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of Bayer Aspirin largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken Bayer Aspirin year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: Genuine Bayer Aspirin is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains . . . and safe for the average person to take regularly.

You can get real Bayer Aspirin at any drug store — simply by never asking for it by the name "aspirin" alone, but always saying BAYER ASPIRIN when you buy.

VEGETABLE CORRECTIVE DID TRICK

They were getting on each other's nerves. Intestinal sluggishness was really the cause—made them tired, with frequent headaches, bilious spells. But that is all changed now. For they discovered, like millions of others, that nature provided the correct laxatives in plants and vegetables. Tonight try Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets). How much better you feel—invigorated, refreshed. Important—you do not have to increase the dose. They contain no phenol or mineral derivatives. Only 25c—all druggists.

Floyd Gibbons ADVENTURERS' CLUB Hello, Everybody!

"Bucking Bronchos on Broadway"

By FLOYD GIBBONS
Famous Headline Hunter.

SOFARELLI is the name, boys and girls, and Pat is the first name. There's a combination for you, Patrick Sofarelli. Whenever you get that combination of good old Irish and Italian names adventure is the middle one. Pat's middle name is Adventure.

Incidentally, have you ever noticed how the Irish get mixed up with all the races of the world? South America is full of Senor Murphys and Senor O'Learys, and they are all good old Spanish-American families that have lived there hundreds of years. When I was in Spain I was astonished to find a lot of freckle-faced, red-headed senors, too, that had the map of Ireland on their faces.

The reason for the "turkey" blood in southern Spain is this: During the Napoleonic campaign in Spain, Wellington sent an army of Irish conscripts into that country. These romantic Irish boys took one look at the sloe-eyed Spanish senoritas, and the senoritas took one longing look at the blue-eyed giants, and the result was the Irish deserted by thousands and settled down to raise red-heads in old Spain. And they certainly did a good job of it.

Getting back to Pat Sofarelli. Pat's Italian forebears had their share of adventure, too. Why, by golly, those old Romans didn't think a thing of traveling a few thousand miles for a week-end of high adventure and conquest. The difference between the two races was that the Romans always fought their own wars, and how!

This Adventure Starts With an Ice Wagon.

One bright summer's day when Pat and his boy friends were bored with the prosaic life of New York, an ice wagon drew up in front of them and offered possibilities for adventure.

"I dare you to ride the ice man's horse," one of them said to Pat. Well, Pat doesn't take dares, so he just climbed up on that wagon and crawled out on the shafts. The horse was a big brute, but he didn't seem to mind. He just stood there and waited. The ice man was out of sight, so Pat swung a leg over his trusty mount and plopped into the saddle—I mean the bareback.

Well, sir, Pat says he had no sooner taken his uncertain seat than that meek ice wagon horse turned into a wild bucking bronco. Wham! He put his ears back and his back up and started to kick like a colt. Pat got a death grip on the harness and held on. Up in the air he went at every buck, to come down on the hard backbone of the horse with a jolt that shook every bone in his body.

City Street Is No Place to Run a Rodeo.

The other kids loved it. "Ride 'em cowboy," they yelled, but Pat didn't like it at all. Riding a bucking bronc may be all right out on the western prairies, where you land in nice soft turf when he throws you, but on an asphalt street it's plain murder.

Pat Swung a Leg Over His Trusty Mount.

And that horse, Pat says, knew his tricks. He swung his big head around and, baring a huge set of yellow tusks, tried to bit Pat's leg. Pat kicked his head away as well as he could, and that hurt the horse's feelings, so he just grabbed the bit—instead of Pat's leg—and started to run away. Pat never thought a horse could pull an ice wagon so fast.

Down the street they went at a mile-a-minute clip, with the ice wagon swaying perilously behind and Pat hanging on for dear life. Automobiles just missed them as the frantic horse ran from one side of the street to another.

Children's Laughter Turns to Grave Fear.

The other kids weren't laughing now as they chased after the runaway. They were scared to death. They could see that Pat was going to be thrown sooner or later—he was just hanging on by the skin of his teeth. Around corners they'd go without giving a signal. Up on two wheels would go the lumbering ice wagon and Pat's body would swing out as though it were going to fall right under the crushing wheels.

Pat says he tried to think of everything he had seen the cowboys do in the rodeo pictures, but nothing seemed to work. Once he decided to throw himself off and trust to luck, but his feet got tangled in the reins and he got a terrific jolting for his pains.

While he was trying to loosen that foot the horse suddenly decided to go across country. Without any consideration for the rights of pedestrians he jumped up on the curb and across the sidewalk into a vacant lot. The ice wagon bounded and plunged from side to side but kept upright. From the shaking he got, Pat says, the ice in that wagon must have been cracked ice by that time.

Pat Returns to Bosom of Mother Earth.

At last he got his foot free, but just as he did, Mr. Horse decided that he had had about enough of this horse play and he proceeded to give one of those extra hard bucks that end up with four hoofs hitting the ground at the same time. As a matter of fact, five things hit the ground at the same time—the fifth was Pat.

Pat sailed through the air like a human cannon-ball. He closed his eyes and waited for the shock. At least there was one consolation, he thought, he was landing on soft ground instead of on the hard pavement.

Wham! He turned over in the air and landed on that same sore portion of his anatomy that had been taking all the beating! And that wasn't all! The horse was what the cowboys call a "killer!" And a killer goes after you when you're down! Pat saw the ponderous hoofs raised above his head. He couldn't move he was so terrified. The horse had stopped—this saved him from being run over by the wagon—but that horse was actually trying to trample him.

Heels of Death Miss Pat by Inches.

Up came the front hoofs as the furious horse reared and down they came within an inch of Pat's head. A miss! Up they went over Pat's head for another try and down they came again for another miss. Pat couldn't believe it until they pulled him away and he saw what had saved his life.

A wagon wheel had got caught on a stump and this held the horse just far enough away to keep him from reaching his victim!

Well, sir, it was all over then but the bawling out Pat got from the iceman—which isn't much after you've nearly been killed.

Constructive Suggestions or Complaints: Which Get Results?

There are two ways of accomplishing things which one has to get done. One is to complain that things are not as they should be. The other is to make constructive suggestions and request that they be followed out. The first method is apt to annoy the person conferred with. The second appeals to his sense of justice, and, if the suggestion is a good one and within reason, it is generally heeded. Assuming that, in both cases the thing gets done, in the first instance, annoyance prevails, while in the second, good will is fostered. You will remember the old adage that you can catch more flies with molasses, than vinegar. In other words you can get more accomplished by keeping good tempered and sweet, than by getting annoyed and sour tempered.

Getting Things Accomplished.

It is well to remember these methods for family use, and for civic purposes. It does not mean that one can get things done merely by being good natured. There must be a plus to it. There must be continual effort in the right direction, until the point is won. And when there has been no hard feeling created, and the matter is seen to, there is likely to be a feeling of satisfaction on the side of both parties, each being pleased that a good thing has resulted.

It was by the recommended method that a woman succeeded in getting a bench put on a waiting station platform. She appealed to the correct authorities, telling of the genuine need for such a bench, as tired persons found it almost more than they could endure to stand from ten to twenty minutes, more or less, according to the connection of one car with another at this junction. At first, came a note stating that her request had been noted, and formally thanking her for letting them know of her wish; nothing more, and nothing was done.

It was only after repeated appeals, and continued assertions that the company would be treating their patrons with consideration by putting the bench at the place suggested, that finally she succeeded. And now, not only are her own trips to the city made less tiresome, but hundreds of other persons daily find the seat a blessing.

Another instance comes to mind. Repeated accidents of major and minor severity occurred at a certain city corner, by autos colliding. A woman requested the city to install STOP BEFORE CROSSING signs by the curb at each corner of the cross street. Since her request was heeded, fewer catastrophes have occurred, and there need be none, if only motorists would heed them. She did not complain, but she made a good suggestion in a good way, and won her point to the comfort of all but the reckless.

A Grave Mistake for a Mother to Make

GIVING CHILD UNKNOWN REMEDIES WITHOUT ASKING DOCTOR FIRST

GIVING your child a medicine or remedy you don't know all about — without asking your family doctor first — is a bad risk for any mother to take.

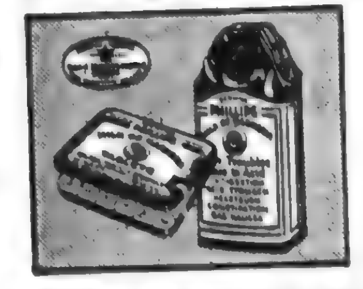
Doctors and child authorities say health, and sometimes life itself, depends on this.

So — when you're offered a "bargain" in a remedy for your child; ask your doctor before you buy it. Do this for your child's sake and your own peace of mind.

Ask him particularly about the frequently used "milk of magnesia" — about Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. He will tell you that for over 60 years physicians have endorsed it as SAFE for your child. The kind of remedy you want your child to have.

Remember this when you buy, and say "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" to your druggist. Comes now, also, in tablets that taste of peppermint, that children like to take.

Safety for You and Yours



NOW, ALSO IN TABLET FORM

You can assist others by refusing to accept a substitute for the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Do this in the interest of yourself and your children — and in the interest of the public in general.

OF COURSE, you know that children should never drink coffee. But do you realise that the caffein in coffee disagrees with many grown-ups, too?

If you are bothered by headaches or indigestion, or find it difficult to sleep soundly . . . caffein may be to blame.

Isn't it worth while to try Postum for 30 days? Postum contains no caffein. It is simply whole wheat and bran, roasted and slightly sweetened. It is easy to make, and costs less than one-half cent a cup. It's a delicious drink, too . . . and may prove a real help. A product of General Foods.

IT WORKED FOR ME

Women should take only liquid laxatives

MORE people could feel fine, be fit and regular, if they would only follow the rule of doctors and hospitals in relieving constipation.

Never take any laxative that is harsh in action. Or one, the dose of which can't be exactly measured. Doctors know the danger if this rule is violated. They use liquid laxatives, and keep reducing the dose until the bowels need no help at all.

Reduced dosage is the secret of aiding Nature in restoring regularity. You must use a little less laxative each time, and that's why it should be a liquid like Syrup Pepsin.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if it doesn't give you absolute relief, if it isn't a joy and comfort in the way it overcomes biliousness due to constipation, your money back.

In the crucial months before baby arrives it is vitally important that the body be rid of waste matter. Your intestines must function—regularly, completely without griping.

Why Physicians Recommend Milnesia Wafers

These mint-flavored, candy-like wafers are pure milk of magnesia in solid form—much pleasanter to take than liquid. Each wafer is approximately equal to a full adult dose of liquid milk of magnesia. Chewed thoroughly, then swallowed, they correct acidity in the mouth and throughout the digestive system, and insure regular, complete elimination without pain or effort.

Milnesia Wafers come in bottles of 20 and 48, at 35c and 60c respectively, and in convenient tins for your handbag containing 12 at 20c. Each wafer is approximately one adult dose of milk of magnesia. All good drug stores sell and recommend them.

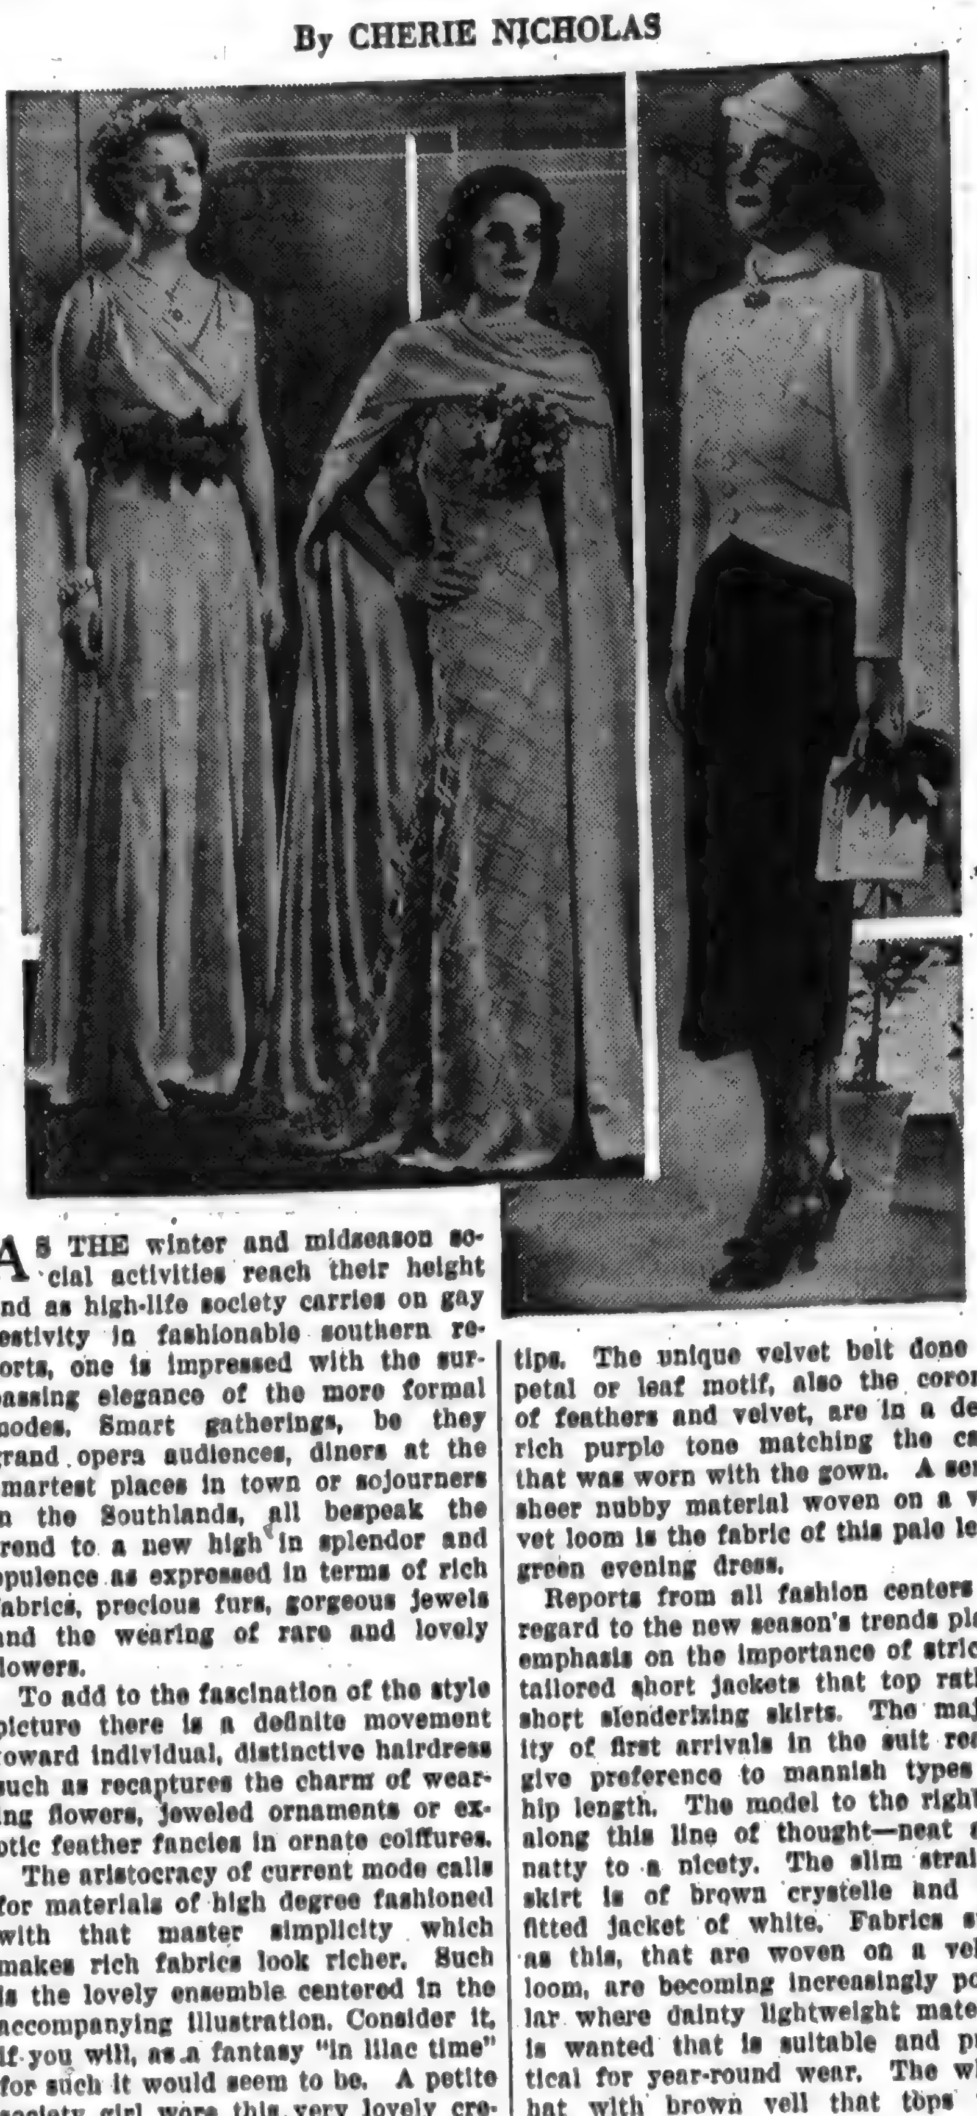
The Original Milk of Magnesia Wafers

Flowers, Jewels and Rich Fabrics

By CHERIE NICHOLAS



AS THE winter and midseason social activities reach their height and as high-life society carries on gay festivity in fashionable southern resorts, one is impressed with the surpassing elegance of the more formal modes. Smart gatherings, be they grand opera audiences, diners at the smartest places in town or sojourners in the Southlands, all bespeak the trend to a new high in splendor and opulence as expressed in terms of rich fabrics, precious furs, gorgeous jewels and the wearing of rare and lovely flowers.

To add to the fascination of the style picture there is a definite movement toward individual, distinctive hairdress such as recaptures the charm of wearing flowers, jeweled ornaments or exotic feather fancies in ornate coiffures.

The aristocracy of current mode calls for materials of high degree fashioned with that master simplicity which makes rich fabrics look richer. Such is the lovely ensemble centered in the accompanying illustration. Consider it, if you will, as a fantasy "in lilac time" for such it would seem to be. A petite society girl wore this very lovely creation at a velvet fashion revue presented during a ball at a leading "way down south" hotel recently. The dress is lilac velzanza, which is sheer and cool to wear. The long voluminous cape with big scarf collar draped over the shoulders is of lilac crush-resistant velevt. Note the glittering jeweled bracelet and the corsage which declares a revival of that lovely custom of wearing flowers.

The lady to the left, in the picture, tells you via her very charming costume that to interpret fashion correctly, one must wear a glamorous necklace with bracelet to match, furthermore the coiffure must be enhanced with an ornate bandeau, which, in this instance, is of velvet and wee ostrich tips. The unique velvet belt done in petal or leaf motif, also the coronet of feathers and velvet, are in a deep rich purple tone matching the cape that was worn with the gown. A semi-sheer nubby material woven on a velvet loom is the fabric of this pale leaf-green evening dress.

Reports from all fashion centers in regard to the new season's trends place emphasis on the importance of strictly tailored short jackets that top rather short slenderizing skirts. The majority of first arrivals in the suit realm give preference to mannish types of hip length. The model to the right is along this line of thought—neat and natty to a nicety. The slim straight skirt is of brown crystelle and the fitted jacket of white. Fabrics such as this, that are woven on a velvet loom, are becoming increasingly popular where dainty lightweight material is wanted that is suitable and practical for year-round wear. The white hat with brown veil that tops this stunning outfit is tres chic. Most of the hats coming from Paris feature decorative veils. Brown kid gloves, brown kid shoes, and a white leather bag complete this up-to-the-moment costume.

Some of the most striking and most beautiful ensembles for formal nights are white in every detail. A likable formula for full dress is the all-white gown of velvet which is as sheer as chiffon, or it may be of white crepe, satin or taffeta, to which add a snowy ermine wrap, long white gloves, two strands of pearls, diamond bracelets or a single wide one, a diamond hair clip and three pure white orchids pinned to a narrow shoulder strap.

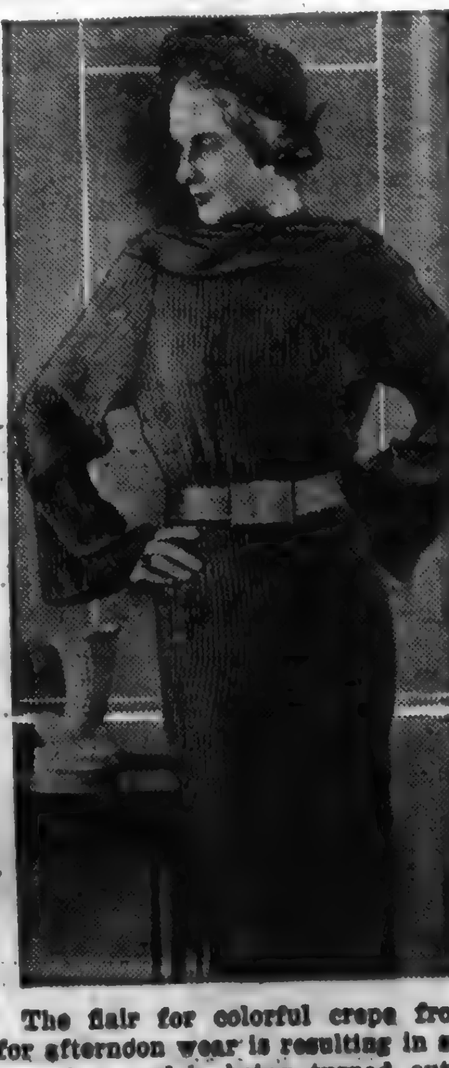
PLEATED CREPE

By CHERIE NICHOLAS



The flair for colorful crepe frocks for afternoon wear is resulting in such stunning models being turned out as this picture depicts. This very attractive luncheon or afternoon tea frock is of crepe in a wistful violet shade. The girdle is of silvered kid and violet suede. The felt hat is in matching violet shade. Pleating, tucking, and stitching, also braiding, will be lavished on fashionable apparel this season.

Many Pleats

It takes a slim figure to wear them, but there is great charm to skirts entirely pleated. Dinner and more formal evening ogwns with this skirt feature give the wearer a lovely, buoyant air.

Glad Hands

Nothing is gayer than gold and silver tissue evening gloves seen these days. They are long and very, very elegant.

REAL FLOWERS IN HAIR, IS NEW FAD

Headdresses, as the newest of the formal accessories, embrace a wide variety. Such a wealth of real flowers, worn not only in the hair in arresting ways, such as the half cap of six gardenias which covered one side of a young girl's coiffure, but also on the shoulders and corsage of women of all ages—has not been seen around these parts in years. Orchids and gardenias are the favorites, but one sees also real daisies, cornflowers, carnations used in effective fashions.

The little Juliet cap is perhaps the most popular jeweled headdress these nights; these are in rhinestones or pearls, and very rarely in coral sometimes with turquoise. Schiaparelli's chenille snood is another variation of this fashion, but most young girls seem to prefer the sparkle of jewels among their curls.

Hobble Skirt Is Returning According to Paris Report

Patou again outdoes himself in his new silhouette treatments and expert dressmaking.

The hobble skirt is returning. Bands of fabric hang free from shoulder to hem. Others have tight front skirts, with wide circular back gores, laid in flat pleats, the width held in place. Some evening models are slit back and front.

Silk taffeta is used to interpret gowns with back fullness, in gathers sweeping backward from the waist. One is in black silk taffeta, with scarlet velvet ribbon encrusted around the waistline. Others are in flowered silk taffeta.

Many black tailored cocktail frocks in ankle length are shown in silk satin or silk crepe.

Orchids to You

Here's a captivating fashion that's credited to the debutantes. Orchids in the hair! When London's Mayfair began to wear these white feathers rather high in front on a ribbon band, Miss America improved on the idea by wearing three orchids on a velvet or satin head band to match the flowers. And the real flowers are far more lovely than the original feathers were.

Who Are You?

The Romance of Your Name

By
RUBY HASKINS ELLIS

A Ross?

THIS is the name of a very old Scottish clan that furnished most of the people of this name in America. The name itself is derived from the Gaelic word "Ros" meaning an isthmus or promontory. It was first applied as a name to a shire in Scotland.

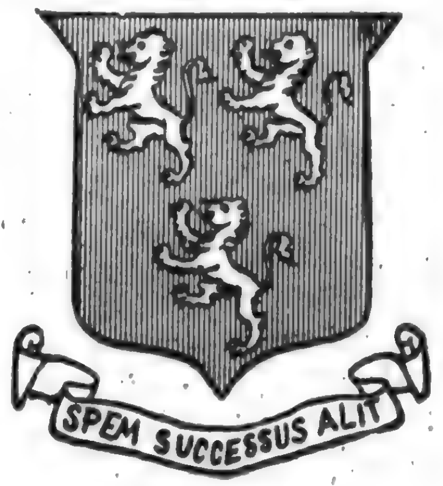
The plaid or "tartan" of the Ross clan is very attractive. It is dark blue, red and green, arranged in broad and narrow stripes, producing an effect that is very vivid and pleasing.

The ancient home of this family in Scotland was in the district of Belnagowan, and the founder was William Ross, a great patriot and friend of Robert the Bruce.

William's son, Earl Hugh, was killed fighting for the king at Halidon Hall.

In 1745 the fighting force of the Ross clan was estimated at 500 men.

It is suposed that the first Ross to come to America was Thomas Rosse, who was of the Jamestown colony. He settled on the River James, in Virginia. After the massacre of 1622 he was reported dead, leaving a wife and two children.



Ross

Descendants of this family are to be found in North Carolina and other Southern states.

Another early settler was Rev. George Ross, who came from Scotland and settled in Delaware in 1703. His son, George, was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

Another settler was John Ross, who went from Scotland to Ireland in 1689. He came to America in 1706 and purchased land in Chester county, Pennsylvania. This property was known as "Ross Common." George Ross, a descendant of this branch, was Governor of Pennsylvania.

The Rosses were noted for their unswerving loyalty to their convictions and for their bravery in defending those principles which made them a clan to be reckoned with. They were of the Presbyterian faith.

Among the many members of the family who have distinguished themselves by outstanding achievements there is Betsy Ross, who was intrusted with the making of the first American flag. She, however, was not a Ross by birth, being the wife of John Ross, who was the nephew of George Ross, the "signer."

In the census of 1790 there were 67 Ross families in South Carolina alone, numerous families in New Jersey, Maryland and other Southern states.

Isaac Ross was a captain in the Revolution.

The coat of arms above shown is used by Rosses who trace to Rev. George Ross, mentioned in this sketch. He was a direct descendant of the Belgowan branch of England.

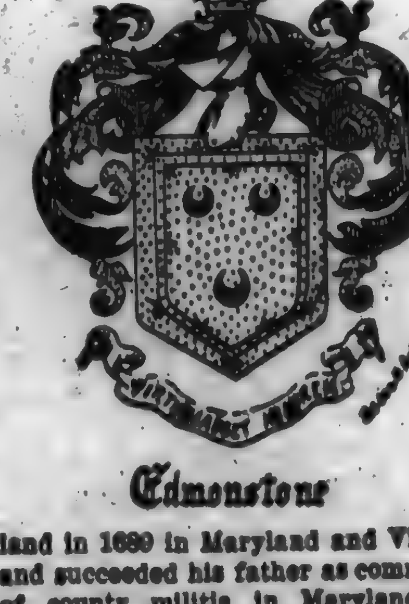
An Edmonstone?

THIS family originated in northern France, with Count de Edmont, a duke of Flanders, whose son William, in 1063, went to Scotland as a special attache to Queen Margaret, wife of King Malcolm.

The king bestowed upon him the land of Edmiston and Umet for faithful service.

Archibald Edmonstone was the first of the family in America. He patented land in 1689 in Maryland and Virginia, and succeeded his father as commander of county militia in Maryland. He married Jane Beall, daughter of the well-known Ninian Beall.



Edmonstone

Through intermarriages the Edmonstones became connected with many prominent families, among them the Ormes, who claim descent from the royal house of Stuart.

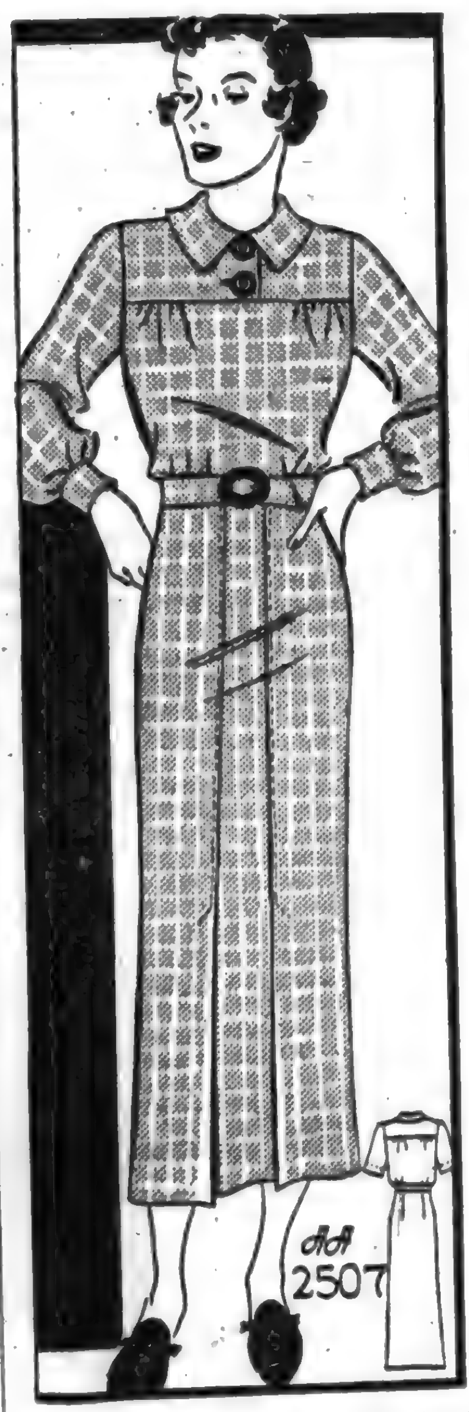
SHIRTMAKER FROCK IS INDISPENSABLE

PATTERN 2507

A budget-wardrobe is a limited wardrobe, one in which each separate item must play more than one role. The shirtmaker is a very good example of this type of frock, for it's just as smart for country as town, and can go any place during daylight hours and feel well dressed. It's right for classroom and office, too, so includes both school and business girls among its wearers. So simple the veriest beginner could make it. Wool or wool-appearing cotton are excellent fabric ideas.



Pattern 2507 is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 2½ yards 54 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

SEND FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

Address orders to the Sewing Circle Pattern Dept., 243 W. Seventeenth St., New York City.

Where the Taxes Come From

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

"Taxes are paid in the sweat of every man who labors."

Congress, as this is written, is beginning to remember that profound truth—and to realize that the public remembers it, too.

Therein lies a headache—not only for Congress but for all other officers of government, whether national, state or local, who have spent the people's money at such amazing speed during recent years.

The trouble is that in proportion to public expenditures, there are fewer earnings for the tax-collectors to levy on than there were, let's say, a decade ago.

Recently - published figures have brought this fact dramatically to the taxpayer's attention. They show, for example, that whereas in 1929, taxes took one-eighth of the national income (which means the earnings of all the people), by 1932, they took one-sixth, and by 1935 more than one-fifth.

Or put it another way! In 1929, the average American labored one day out of every eight to pay the costs of national, state and local government; in 1932 he labored one day out of every six for the same purpose, and in 1935, one day (and a few hours over) out of every five.

Yet even that didn't meet the whole cost. If government last year had paid all its bills in cash, nearly one-third of all the money earned by the American people would have been required to balance the account. Instead, government borrowed, which means that the bill must be paid out of future earnings of the workers or their children—still in the sweat of the man who labors.

Today the politicians are searching feverishly for a method of producing taxes without the inevitable sweat. They find it a difficult job. Perhaps they are approaching it at the wrong end. If they want to make things easier for the people, who ultimately pay the bills, why not turn their thoughts to the problem of spending fewer billions, rather than to the question of how to collect more?

BASKET BALL

The St. Joe Valley Pickles took part in a four team blind tournament at Zanesville, Saturday, losing the first game to Markle, by a score of 34-31, and winning the second game from Roanoke by the score of 61-20. Shaffer for the locals was high scorer of the tournament with 21 points.

On February 22nd a similar tournament will be held on the local floor bringing together the four best teams within fifty miles, namely Hicksville, Markle, Zanesville and St. Joe.

Two games will be played in the afternoon and two at night. The price of admission will be within the reach of all. Other added attractions are to be staged and also supper is to be served to the public at a reasonable price by one of the high school classes.

Remember the date, February 22 and plan to be in St. Joe at that time and see some real high class Basket Ball.

WITH OUR CLUB LADIES

CULTURE CLUB HAS GUEST NIGHT

The yearly meeting of the Culture Club, known as gentlemen's night, was held this year at the home of Mr. and Mrs. DuWayne Kinsey on Widney Avenue. The banquet feature of the evening, which in former years came last on the program, was held at the 6:30 period, making possible a more enjoyable evening. The menu committee composed of Mrs. Anne Sechler, Mrs. Neva Hursh, Mrs. Anna Bachtel, Mrs. Ethel Martin, and Mrs. Hulda Reasoner, were responsible for a two course supper of meat loaf, scalloped potatoes, scalloped corn, salad, pickles, hot rolls, fruit salad with cake, coffee as a beverage. The tables were beautifully decorated with vases of carnations, the club flower. Each cover was marked by place cards bearing the names of the partners for the refreshments and the rooms were tastefully decorated in keeping with the Valentine season.

The entertainment committee, Mrs. Dale Hart, Mrs. Ethel Wineland, Mrs. Clara Foltz, Mrs. Margarette Wisler and Mrs. Gladys Shull, then arranged the home for the pleasure of the evening. Mrs. Cora Price gave the welcome address, tracing the substantial growth of the club in the 28 years of its existence and showing the benefits that must be the inevitable results of the pursuits of education. She closed by giving a poem, admonishing the husbands to make note of the worthiness of the wife in the home and the depravities of man that are removed by the helpful hand of the tender help mate.

Mr. DuWayne Kinsey responded by twenty minute three point discussion on education, culture, and the joy of association, that are the fruits of study. He dwelt on the necessity of real brotherhood and sisterhood in avenues of friendship, punctuated by interwoven witticisms. A reading was given by Mrs. Margarette Wisler, personifying a Dago at a ball game. Earl Smith conducted an auction of parcels composed of vegetables, flowers and wearing apparel of all description, which cause a pandemonium effect seen at the wheat pits at the board of trade. Spoof and Valentine games featured the remainder of the evening's entertainment. Eleven thirty found the guests expressing their appreciation for the great hospitality shown by the Kinseys in the good old saying, "And a good time was had by all." A vase of carnations was sent to Mrs. Eva Sheffer as a token to the oldest charter member of the club.

J. RAYMOND SCHUTZ

Sociology professor at Manchester College, North Manchester, announced his candidacy for the republican nomination for governor at a republican Lincoln club rally at Wabash, Ind., Wednesday night. Professor Schutz, widely known as a lecturer and student of political science, was the G. O. P. candidate for congressman from the fifth district in 1932 and was defeated by Glenn Griswold, Peru, in the democratic landslide. David Hogg, Fort Wayne attorney and former congressman, delivered the principal address at the banquet.

Junior Class Chicken Supper, February 22, Hot Lunch Room, 4:30—6:30. 25 cents. Everybody Invited. 8t1.

Two cars of soft coal arrived in St. Joe Sunday and it relieved the acute fuel situation. Deliveries were made all day.

ST. JOE NEWS WINS THIRD IN STATE CONTEST

Feb. 14, 1936

Fred B. Leighty, Editor
The St. Joe News
St. Joe. Indiana

Dear Sir:

The enclosed "Certificate of Award" is presented in recognition of the St. Joe News having been selected as one of the prize-winners in the State Park Contest sponsored by the Department of Conservation among the Indiana newspapers which used the series of state park mats during the past summer.

The award won by the St. Joe News is: One meal for each of two persons at any Indiana state park inn.

When your representatives go to any of the state park inns, the enclosed card is to be presented first at the gate house where it will admit two persons to the park, and second, at the inn where it is to be signed by the bearer and turned over to the clerk.

We hope your visit to the park of your choice will be a pleasant one and that you will have every opportunity to enjoy its many attractions.

Yours very truly,
Myron L. Rees,
Director State Parks and Lands and Waters.

Falls On Ice Monday

Mrs. Mattie Hart, of south of Coburntown, is confined to her bed as result of a fall Monday, when going out to the road to trade with the huckster. The family is not real sure whether Mrs. Hart slipped on the ice or whether she suffered a heart attack, which she has been subject to. In the fall she was dazed, at least not knowing what had happened. As we go to press she is reported better.

Dies Of Stroke

J. M. Dermott, one of the pioneers of Coburn's Corners settlement, died at the home of his son, Olen, one mile east and one mile south of the Corners, Wednesday morning, following a stroke of paralysis. As we go to press no funeral arrangements had been made.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cook on Monday, February 17. Name Dale Walter. Weight 6 pounds.

COL. FRANK KNOX

Prominently mentioned as Republican Presidential possibility, who has just completed a speaking tourn of the Middlewest, the East and New England, during which he vigorously attacked government extravagances and declared for a balanced budget, stabilized currency and lowered taxes.

Imports of Farm Products Soar

Crop Curtailments Open Up Vast American Market to Foreigners.

Washington, D. C. — Farm products to a total value considerably in excess of one billion dollars at current market prices were imported by the United States from foreign countries during 1935, a Department of Commerce summary has revealed.

With the AAA curtailments having had time to intensify their effect, imports of specific items all down the line multiplied freely last year over imports of the same items in 1932, during the preceding administration, it was apparent by comparison with summaries of the same nature issued three years ago.

The United States imported 43,233,000 bushels of corn in 1935, as compared with 7,885,855 bushels in 1932; 38,871,000 bushels of wheat as compared with 10,026,000; 10,100,000 bushels of oats as compared with 58,786; 9,642,000 bushels of rye against none at all in 1932, and 4,838,000 bushels of barley against none in 1932.

Foreign Farmers Profit.

The way farmers of other countries further profited at the expense of American farmers is shown in the following table of some of the imports. Here only the first 11 months of 1935 are included, but imports are shown for the full year 1932:

PRODUCT	1932	1935
Hay, tons	13,353	67,046

Little Relief in Sight.

Little relief from the flood of imports is seen in the face of the tendency to reduce tariff duties exhibited by President Roosevelt in the Canadian and other treaties and pacts, by virtue of his having been given the right to increase or reduce tariff duties as much as 50 per cent by an act of congress passed July 12, 1934.

Total imports of all commodities, according to the Department of Commerce, increased 24 per cent in 1935 to $2,047,797,000. The favorable balance of trade of the United States was reduced 50 per cent.

CLARK SCHOLES MOVES TO ST. JOE

Clark Scholes and wife returned Monday from a week's visit in southern Indiana, and they had their household goods trucked thru Monday from Osgood and are now occupying the Mrs. D. C. McCann home, which they recently purchased. Mrs. McCann now lives in the west part of the Grant Baltz duplex.

BASKET BALL

St. Joe Valley Pickles triumph in Sectional Tournament held at Markle.

By defeating the International Harvester Team by the score of 47-25 the Pickles came thru as the best team of the 24 playing in the tournament.

In their first game on Wednesday night they defeated the Brown's Cleaners of Fort Wayne, 32-29 and on Friday night they defeated the Palace Cafe team of Huntington 27-25. On the final day of play on Saturday they showed their real ability by winning from the strong Zanesville Hoosiers in the semi-final round and then swamping the International team in a last-half whirlwind finish.

In winning, the team gets to go to the State Tournament at Indianapolis to be held in March, all expenses being paid by the State Association.

Two of the St. Joe players were named to the all-tournament team and one was chosen as a representative to the Federal Basket Ball Conclave at Kansas City.

Do not forget that we are having a grand session of Basket Ball on the local floor Saturday afternoon and evening, February 22.

Are Shoveling Snow

W. P. A. workers are now working clearing the county roads of snow drifts, being transferred from their regular work some days ago. Some 300 men are working on the roads and it will take several days before the roads are all passable.

PENSION GRANTED TWO OF DEKALB'S BLIND

The first beneficiaries in DeKalb county of the law passed by the legislature a year ago providing pensions for the blind are George Camp of Rural Route 1, Butler and Clarence Leroy Kelley, of Auburn. Their applications were first approved by the state board of industrial board for the blind and the findings of the board were affirmed in the DeKalb circuit court. Mr. Camp is to be paid $15 a month and Mr. Kelley $20 a month.

Clyde Hart and family called on his mother, Mrs. Alice Hart, who is at the home of her son, A. E. Hart, at Hicksville, Ohio, Sunday afternoon.

Fred Hart, who has been serving on the Federal jury, was in hopes his job would last until the cold weather was over, but he was dismissed last week.

Some of our young people are enjoying this good old fashioned winter weather, but if they just had some bob sled rides the older folks enjoyed, (oh boy.)

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hart took dinner Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Hart, and called on Mr. Ernest Jenkins in the afternoon. Mr. Jenkins is in poor health.

John Crothers our mail carrier, thinks he would like a change in administration, as the present one is trying to freeze people to help out on relief, especially the carrier.

Mrs. Elwood Hart says her husband spends more time in his brooder house than with her. People like to stay in the warmest place these days, and he knows his cards when it comes to baby chicks.

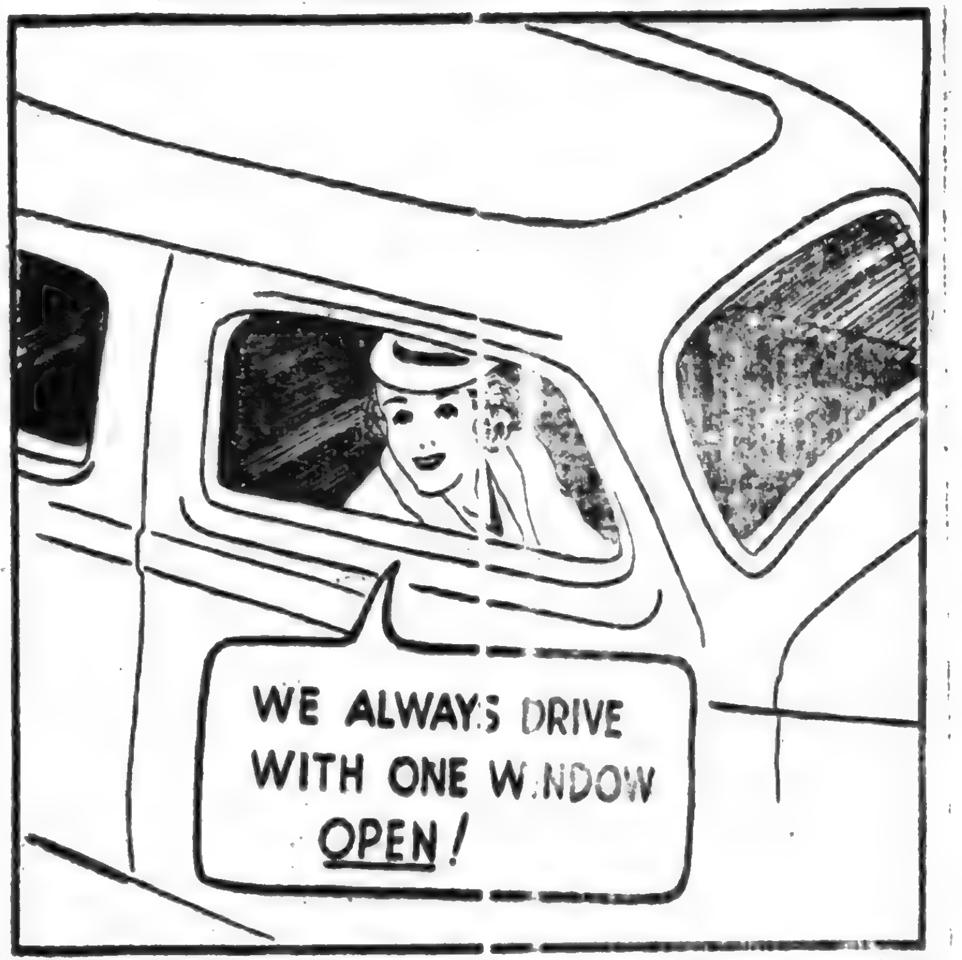
Nation Fights Car Accidents With Scientific Test for Poison



WE ALWAYS DRIVE WITH ONE WINDOW OPEN!

Every year the deadly traffic toll reaches new figures for highway deaths. This is the seventh of a series of articles to combat a new common enemy, carbon monoxide gas, more deadly and insidious than any "poison gas" employed in warfare.

By L. T. WHITE
Highway Safety Expert

WHILE science and engineering have been improving your automobile with refinement in design, better brakes, safer tires, more powerful motors, research has been successful in scoring another victory against the most insidious enemy of all motorists—carbon monoxide!

Few drivers realize that drowsiness, car sickness and headache are often the direct result of improper motor adjustment that is allowing toxic gases to seep directly into the car. Many thousands of accidents, often attributed to "driving off the road," can be traced directly to the deadly effects of carbon monoxide.

A new instrument known as the Power Prover is the latest contribution of science towards improving the efficiency of motors and checking the ravages of carbon monoxide. The Power Prover quickly analyzes the exhaust gas of your car and indicates the adjustments which are necessary.

The efficiency of this new vital device is shown by the fact that more than 250,000 motorists used it last year, and that more than ,000 truck-fleet operators test their trucks with it at regular intervals.

The importance of eliminating this danger becomes alarming mathematically when one realizes that at least 1,000,000 automobiles are being operated today by drivers who are being exposed to sufficient quantities of carbon monoxide to make them physically unfit to exercise proper judgment in case of emergency. Affected by such gases, the mental reaction of the driver may be delayed only one-half a second, but if he is traveling at 50 miles an hour, his car will cover 37 feet before he will begin to apply his brakes.

No greater public hazard exists today than an automobile discharging gases that cripple the man behind the wheel.

The Way of Inflation

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

If a merchant, or a farmer, or the average householder persistently spends more than he earns, he goes broke. He pays for his folly in the wreck of his business, his property, and, perhaps, his career.

With governments it can be different. From time to time various nations have indulged in continued reckless expenditures, yet escaped immediate collapse. How? By resort to the desperate remedy of inflation—whether of currency or of credit.

The difference is that the individual bears the brunt of the blow himself, while governments pass it on to their citizens.

History has demonstrated this on many occasions. Perhaps the best remembered example of recent years is that of Germany, where post-war inflation brought hardship and hunger to millions of workers. Records do not show that the clever politicians who brought it all about, or the very rich, went hungry. That was reserved for the average run of citizens, who saw prices rise so swiftly that neither earnings nor savings could keep pace with them.

For a while the situation grew so serious that workmen found it necessary to demand pay for their services at the end of each day's labor. They knew that if they waited, prices might mount so rapidly that even a week's pay couldn't buy one bowl of soup.

Germany's experience was not an isolated one. It has been duplicated to a lesser degree in many countries and in many periods of history. It is because of the evidence such experiments offer, that an increasing number of thoughtful Americans oppose the course of reckless government expenditure that causes inflation.

The concern of such citizens is not for the very rich and the very shrewd—who know just when to buy and sell, or how to rig or play the stock market. It is rather for the average family that depends on a weekly or monthly wage for income, and a savings account or life insurance policy for security. Those are the people who shoulder the burden and suffer the hurts of inflation.

And those are the people who can stop its course.

They face a great responsibility. Under our Constitution the conduct of national affairs rests ultimately in their hands. If they insist on reasonable economy, the men who represent them in government must obey the mandate. If they remain indifferent, they encourage either the burden of increased taxes, or the still heavier toll of inflation with all its golden opportunities for the speculator, and its grim penalties for the worker.

"EXTRA GIRL"

When Texas Centennial Exposition officials began to select the Rangerettes, hostesses for the Exposition, they planned to have one who was born in each of the 48 states. Then along came Mabel Rooks, shown above, and she passed the strict requirements. Officials found later she had been born in the District of Columbia, so they increased the corps to 50, giving themselves a little leeway in the matter of states.

Della Maginnis, of Auburn, principal of the Harrison school is in a critical condition suffering from double pneumonia. She is at the Souder hospital.

School has been dismissed until a decided moderation in the temperature. During the past four weeks only six days of school were held and of course, this is of no value to the students.

Among the recent transfers of property in this locality are Clara McCann to Clark F. and Kathleen Scholes, lots 11, 13, 14, 8, 9, 12, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, W. add., $1. Cora and Ray Bouse et al to Oscar N. and Maud Harris 80 acres sec. 8 and 6 acres sec. 17, $1.

L. W. Yeiser was called to Avilla last week to help adjust a loss by fire at the home formerly owned by his sister. An oil stove was lighted in the kitchen and the lady was absent for some time, upon returning home nearly everything was destroyed in two or three rooms and the fire had gone out. The loss was estimated at $300.

Mrs. John Reidenbach, 72, mother of Roy Reidenbach, of this place, died Thursday at the home of her son, George Reidenbach, and wife, at Mishawaka, following a two weeks illness, while she had not been well for the past year. The funeral was held Sunday from the Bonham funeral home at Albion, with burial in the Orange cemetery. Mr. Reidenbach and daughters, Ersa and Frances attended the funeral.

Washington's Birthday

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman Sentinels of the Republic

"The character, the counsels and example of our Washington . . . will guide us through the doubts and difficulties that beset us; they will guide our children and our children's children in the paths of prosperity and peace."

That tribute to the enduring influence of George Washington was expressed by one of our earlier statesmen during a period as critical to America as our own. It remains a true estimate today.

What counsels can we recall as, throughout the nation, we honor his memory?

The Father of His Country was more eloquent in deeds than in phrases. He lived his own precept: "Actions, not words, are the true criterion." But history has, nevertheless, recorded numerous expressions of his wisdom and foresight. Many of them hold a peculiar significance in a period marked by assaults on the very Constitution in which he incorporated his hopes for the future of our Nation.

Here are some of George Washington's comments on the great Charter of Liberties so intimately identified with his life and his spirit:

"That precious depository of American happiness, the Constitution of the United States."

"The Constitution which at any time exists till changed by an explicit and authentic act of the whole people is sacredly obligatory to all."

"If in the opinion of the people the distribution or modification of the Constitutional powers be in any particular wrong, let it be corrected by an amendment in the way which the Constitution designates. But let there be no change by usurpation; for though this in one instance may be the instrument of good, it is the customary weapon by which free governments are destroyed."

"Experience is the surest standard by which to test the existing Constitution of a country."

To which might be added one more. In the light of that odd adherence to a new and alien philosophy which actuates so many recent attacks on the Constitution, it seems timely to recall Washington's oft-quoted war-time order:

"Put none but Americans on guard tonight."

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Four girls have joined our Girl Scout troop since last week. They are Frances Reidenbach, Dorothy Stewart, Ruth and Myra Keesler, making fifteen in our group.

We are happy to announce that the Ladies Literary Club has offered to sponsor our troop and we gladly accept the offer.

Correction

In our list of members last week, the name of Helen Wade was included. This should have read Helen Godwin. We apologize.

Our Bake Sale was quite successful and we have nearly enough money for our Credential fee. Special thanks are extended to Mrs. Frank Curie and Mrs. J. P. Buckingham for baked goods.

SCHEDULES FOR DEKALB FARM PLANNING MEETINGS

Bad weather conditions and drifted roads have prevented farmers from attending the township Agricultural Planning meetings. It is expected that conditions are now such that these meetings can be held successfully and the schedule is as follows:

Wednesday evening, Feb. 19, Fairfield Township at Fairfield Center.

Thursday evening, Feb. 20, Smithfield at St. Michael's Church.

Friday evening, Feb. 21, Jackson, Union and Grant at Court House assembly room.

Monday evening, Feb. 24, Franklin and Troy at Jerusalem Church.

Tuesday evening, Feb. 25, Concord, Spencer and Newville at St. Joe High School Gym.

The county committee urges every farmer to make a special effort to attend at least one meeting.

NEWVILLE

DuWayne Kinsey was here Friday from St. Joe.

C. C. Andrews is the guest of his sister in Fort Wayne.

Clarence Goings was home from Fort Wayne over Sunday, where he is employed.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Wyatt, of Fort Wayne, visited relatives here and at St. Joe, Sunday.

Mrs. Bevington, who has been here the past ten days, has returned to her home in Butler.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith spent Sunday in Hicksville with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collins.

Afternoon callers in the C. A. Washler home Sunday, were C. H. Washler and son, Delbert, John Washler and Mr. and Mrs. Lew Washler and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Tarney and family, from Fort Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Millard Smith, of New Haven, and Manford Smith and family, from Hicksville, attended the funeral of Charles H. Smith Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Schram will move to the W. K. Miller farm this spring, Mr. and Mrs. Osmun living 1½ miles east of here will move to the Catherine Nicholls farm, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Goings will move into the tenant house on the Cleve Washler farm.

Funeral services for Charles H. Smith, who died Feb. 13, aged 78, were held at the U. B. Church, Feb. 16, by Rev. P. A. Hubbartt. He is survived by two brothers, John Smith, of Sparta, Mich., and Harry Smith, of this place. Also one sister, Mrs. Minnie Tarney, of Fort Wayne.

Over 11 Million Still Unemployed

New Deal, After Spending 18 Billion, Faces Even Bigger Expenditures.

Washington, D. C.—With the Roosevelt administration already having spent more than 18 billions of dollars in its attempt to bribe the bluebird of prosperity into returning, the national debt facing a possible record high of 35 or 40 billions, and promises of budget-balancing farther than ever from fulfillment, 11,401,000 workers, according to William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, are still out of work.

It is estimated that the federal expenditures for the next fiscal year will be at least $9,750,000,000, by far the largest of all time. This will further extend a series of deficits in the federal budget. The deficit for the current fiscal year, which ends June 30, is estimated at $3,230,000,000, despite the fact that President Roosevelt in his first budget message said that we should plan for a balanced budget in the "third year of recovery," which is the present fiscal year. Now it is likely that the deficit for the fourth "year of recovery" (the 1937 fiscal year) will be $4,000,000,000 or more. The deficits for 1935 and 1934 were $3,575,000,000 and $3,999,000,000, respectively.

Is Conservative Estimate.

This estimate for the 1937 deficit even takes into account the possibility that new taxes will be added to the already heavy tax burden to increase federal receipts. It assumes that the President will find some way of cutting about 25 per cent from the $2,000,000,000 which Secretary Morgenthau indicated would be necessary for relief. It assumes that only $1,500,000,000 of the bonus "baby bonds" will be cashed, instead of $2,000,000,000.

If no new taxes are added, if $500,000,000 is spent for the new farm plan, $2,000,000,000 for the bonus and $2,000,000,000 for relief, the deficit for the fiscal year 1937 would exceed $5,500,000,000. Expenditures would soar to something like $10,750,000,000.

A national debt of 35¼ billions of dollars, which Secretary Morgenthau has said is entirely possible within the next fiscal year, would mean a debt of approximately $280 for every man, woman and child in the United States. This debt is a prior lien on everything the citizen owns or earns. It is reflected in taxes on virtually everything he buys—a suit of clothes, a dress for his wife, a loaf of bread (bread, for instance, bears the burden today of no less than 53 different taxes), theater tickets, light, gas, shoes, gasoline and countless other common articles.

Debt Now 30½ Billions.

The total federal debt at the end of January was $30,516,452,985, an increase of more than $7,000,000,000 over the same date a year before. The combined debt of federal, state and local governments was about $50,500,000,000, and $10,500,000,000 in taxes were collected during 1935.

"The rising costs of government are now one-third of the national income," said Harper Sibley, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce. "If all the income of individuals reported for federal tax purposes were to be appropriated to public uses, it would defray the cost of government—federal, state and local—for just thirty-three weeks."

One reason for the continued depression may be seen in the fact that taxes now eat up 20.6 per cent of the national income, as compared with only 12 per cent in 1929, when that income was vastly higher.

U. S. Farmer Is Losing Market to Polish Hams

Chicago.—Half a million pounds of hams from Poland are being distributed in the United States monthly, according to a double-page advertisement for Polish hams published in the National Provisioner here, indicating the manner in which imported foodstuffs have become common since the AAA began experimenting in rural economics.

The "copy" in the advertisement capitalizes on the novelty of such a situation as compared with the past:

"'What! Polish hams sold on a big scale in America? Incredible!' you may say. Yet the facts will vitally interest you. First, because of the profits our present distributors are enjoying. Second, because of the profits you, too, may enjoy from sales in your territory. And, third, because you want to know why there is such a large and increasing consumer demand for this imported product.

"From present distributor orders we anticipate a tremendous increase in sales over 1935."

The Debt in Gold

Washington, D. C.—A national debt of $36,500,000,000, which is becoming accepted as likely by the end of the next fiscal year, is just about one and two-thirds times the value of all the gold in the entire world. It is a debt of approximately $1,120 per family, and is a prior lien on everything that family owns or earns.

Interest on Debt Soars

Washington, D. C.—When the treasury-post office supply bill was submitted to the house of representatives, it was revealed that $805,000,000 was needed for interest on the national debt, $63,000,000 more than for the current year.

INSTITUTE SELECTS 1937 OFFICERS

The new officers for the 1937 farmers institute, selected at the meeting at Spencerville are: John Washler, chairman; Guy Platter, vice chairman, and Maurice Kline, secretary and treasurer. The weather being bad depleted the crowds, but of course this will be understood at Purdue. Tri-township has the reputation of having record institute membership and attendance in this section of Indiana.

VOL. LI. (51 Years.) (In The St. Joe Valley) ST. JOE, DeKALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1936 NUMBER 9

DANIEL SHILLING DIES IN HOSPITAL

Daniel Shilling passed away at the Dr. J. A. Sanders hospital at Auburn, Monday morning at 11 o'clock. Mr. Shilling lived alone a mile and a half west of Concord and was burned at his home last Wednesday when a blanket, covering him while sleeping near the stove, caught fire. Both arms were seared at the elbows and burns were suffered on his right hip and slightly on his face.

Neighbors did not find him until Thursday morning. He was then taken to the Auburn hospital. His condition was critical from the first as both his feet were frozen and he had contracted pneumonia due to exposure. He was 87 years old and had been a farmer all his life. Mrs. Shilling died about 55 years ago.

Surviving are the one son, Samuel Shilling, of west of Concord, one granddaughter, Mrs. Bonnie Mitchner, Auburn, and four great grandchildren; two brothers, Josephus, of St. Joe, and William, a patient at the state hospital at Richmond, Ind., and a sister, Mrs. Vienna Doll, of Spencerville.

The funeral was held from the Roscoe Walter funeral home at Spencerville Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Joseph Ferguson conducting the services and burial was made in the White City cemetery at Spencerville.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED BY MINISTERS

The following resolution was adopted by the Ministerial Association in session this week at Butler:

"Recognizing the value and established place of the County Fair as an institution in DeKalb County, and, at the same time, noting the possible evil influences that may come from it unless its amusements are safeguarded, we, the DeKalb County Ministerial Association, offer our cooperation to the officers of the County Street Fair, to make it of more value, and we strongly urge that such morally objeectionable features as gambling, unclean shows and Sunday work in preparing and removing paraphanalia of the Fair be avoided."

M. C. Write, President.
Price Roberts, Secretary.

Make it your business to read the classified ad column each week.

MRS, WEBB FOUND NOT GUILTY

"We, the jury, find the defendant not guilty."

Such was the substance of a verdict returned in the DeKalb circuit court at 3:50 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Edna Webb, charged with first degree murder in the death of her husband, Earl Webb, of Troy Township, was at once given her liberty. She had been an inmate of the county jail ever since her indictment two months ago.

The case continued for four days in the DeKalb circuit court.

MAX DRESSEL NAMED AS ENUMERATOR

Joseph M. Schwartz, of Fort Wayne, supervisor of the census of business, announced Friday that three enumerators for DeKalb county have been appointed to present the census forms to business houses and help them fill out the necessary information.

Franklin Van Scoik has been named for Auburn; Max P. Dressel for St. Joe and vicinity, and Arthur Steinmetz for Garrett.

Mr. Schwartz stressed the fact that information given enumerators will be held in strict confidence. All enumerators and other persons connected with the census work are under a drastic census oath not to disclose or discuss any information submitted for census purposes. He stated that under the census law it is a criminal offense to violate this confidence; that no access to individual reports is permitted, not even to other governmental state or local agencies, and no information will be disclosed which would reveal any of the facts or figures in the returns. The census is the oldest bureau of the government, established nearly 150 years ago, and never has it been convicted of a violation of confidence.

WITH OUR CLUB LADIES

The Ladies Literary Club of St. Joe held a regular meeting last Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Dilley northeast of town. This evening, which was to have been guest night, was quite delightfully spent studying Indiana, work missed due to the bad weather.

Everyone agreed that it would have been a shame to miss the treats afforded by this meeting.

Mrs. Belle Woodcox presided at an interesting lesson and discussion on our native state, with special emphasis on unusual departments and playgrounds. Mrs. Katie Storer conducted a question box on Indiana that proved most worthwhile, after setting everyone to thinking. This was followed by a review by Mrs. Fred Leighty, critic.

Roll was answered by something interesting about the Hoosier state, and Mrs. Frank Curie presided for a short business session. Mr. Glen Cole served as secretary pro tem, in the absence of Miss Violet May.

Mrs. Fred Leighty gave an interesting talk on Indiana songs, spiced with vocal numbers, musical readings, and group singing that were greatly enjoyed. "Little Orphant Annie," James Whitcomb Riley's famous poem, set to music by Frederic Krull, was read by Miss Janalyce Rouls with Mrs. Leighty at the organ. "The River Old St. Joe" was a musical reading given by Mrs. Glen Cole, Miss Rouls at the organ.

"Forgotten" written by Mrs. Flora Wulshner was sung by Mrs. Fred Leighty, accompanied by Mrs. Florence Goldsmith. Mesdames Edith Cole and Lora Leighty sang a duet of Hoosier origin, "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen," accompanied by Mrs. Curie.

The Bolton-Krull edition of "Indiana," the official song of Indiana Federation of women's clubs was sung by the club.

The members were interested to know that many popular airs were written by Indiana composers. They gathered around the organ to sing some, such as "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," and "On the Banks of the Wabash" the state song by Paul Dresser. The members were still singing when the hostess served dainty refreshments, and thus ended a happy evening with each member greatly impressed with her own state.

CANDIDATES APPEAR IN DEKALB COUNTY

The primary election campaign, in DeKalb county is now under way with petitions for signatures being circulated on behalf of at least five candidates.

These candidates are all seeking renomination. The list follows:

James I. Farley, of Auburn, for congress on the democratic ticket.

Geo. E. Mountz, of Garret, for prosecuting attorney on the republican ticket.

Carl Walter, of Auburn, for county clerk on the democratic ticket.

Herbert N. Grimm, of Waterloo, for sheriff on the democratic ticket.

Claude P. Fitch, of Butler township, for county treasurer on the democratic ticket.

Others expected to have petitions in circulation for renomination soon include Harry M. Shull, of Union township, for state representative on the republican ticket; Dr. B. O. Shook, of Spencerville, for coroner on the democratic ticket; Calvin C. Kain, of Auburn, for surveyor on the democratic ticket; and Wm. H. Brecbill of Smithfield township, for county commissioner north on the democratic ticket.

The petitions are being prepared for filing in compliance with a new law that provides that a declaration of candidacy must be accompanied by a petition bearing names of one-half of one per cent of the total party voters in the last general election. This means that in DeKalb county a candidate for county office or the general assembly must secure not less than thirty names on his petition. The number applies to candidates of both parties. In most cases it is anticipated that candidates will have a much larger number of names than necessary.

Evidence of Good Faith

Anyone might become a candidate in previous years simply by signing and filing the required declaration. The new law, enacted to prevent the filing of declarations regarded as not in good faith, provides that the voter must declare his intention of supporting the candidate whose petition he signs and may not sign more than one petition for the same office. If a voter signs more than one petition for the same office, the first petition filed is to be deemed authentic.

Candidates for state officials are required to file signatures amounting to one-half of one per cent of the total vote cast by all parties.

A ruling has been issued by the state board of election commissioners that candidates for precinct committeemen will not be required to file petitions.

Candidates for delegates to the state party conventions will be required to get ten names on their petitions, as heretofore.

County Clerk Walter has petition and declaration of candidacy blanks available for candidates. The first day for filing before the primary is March 6 and the last day is April 4. The primary date is May 5. Withdrawals must be filed at least thirty days before the primary or the name of the candidate will appear on the ballot.

Mrs. W. T. Moran, of Garrett, was a Friday guest of her daughter, Mrs. DuWayne Kinsey, and husband.

Wid Williams and family will move soon to the Abel property on Widney Avenue, or as soon as weather permits. Walter Zonker now owns the property to be vacated by the Williams'.

Call 45 and give us that item about your guests.

The first appearance of the Robin was reported Wednesday by Dr. C. R. Price, and about 10 minutes later Mrs. Sam Keesler called and made a like report. Their advent came with sleet and rain.

Streame are on a rampage. With the fast melting of the snow and ice, the water all made a mad rush for the low lands. But little of it penetrated the earth because of the deep frost. Today we are having a steady rain, which will cause the flood waters to pile up fast.

Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Maxwell and family, who have been residents of Auburn for the past few years, moved Friday on the farm with Mr. Maxwell's mother, Mrs. Wiliam Maxwell, east of St. Joe. Mr. Maxwell was formerly county treasurer, serving for two terms.

Mr. and Mrs. Gray Woodcox, of Garrett and Mr. and Mrs. Marion Peckhart, of Auburn, were Sunday dinner guests in the C. A. Woodcox home. The dinner was in honor of the birthdays of Mrs. Peckhart and Mary Louise Woodcox. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kennedy, of Garrett, were afternoon callers.

BASKET BALL

The St. Joe Valley Pickles again displayed their Basket Ball ability by winning the Invitational Tournament held at St. Joe on Saturday afternoon and evening, Feb. 22.

Four good teams took part in this tournament, two games being played in the afternoon and two in the evening. In the afternoon games the Hicksville Merchants defeated the Zanesville Hoosiers in a fast game, and the Pickles defeated the Roanoke Badgers. In the evening games the Zanesville Hoosiers defeated Roanoke in a fast, close game and the Pickles defeated Hicksville by a good margin.

The High School Band furnished music at seven o'clock and their playing was appreciated by all and it showed that their leader, Mr. Woodcox, is getting results.

A large crowd witnessed these games and from all reports everyone got their money's worth. It is the intention of the management and those interested to give the best possible and to build up interest in independent basket ball, so that the boys have something to think about after they have finished their high school playing.

The Pickles will play some games yet in order to keep in shape for the State Tournament to be held at Indianapolis the latter part of March.

ATTENTION HOG RAISERS

You have been looking for an easier method of expelling worms from Hogs, one that is not so expensive and without Starving. Now we have it. It is called "ACORN HOG WORMER". This wormer is used in feed or swill and acts easily, gently, and does not in any way injure the hog or decrease its food consumption.

ACORN HOG WORMER does the work thoroughly, is much easier to give, and is preferred by thousands of hog raisers.

Add one tablespoonful of Acorn Hog Wormer for each 125 pounds of body weight in feed or swill, repeating on the second day. It is advisable to use Acorn Hog Wormer periodically to prevent recurrence. The cost of worming by this method is very small. Fifty cents will worm about 1,000 pounds and $1.00 will worm about 2,500 pounds.

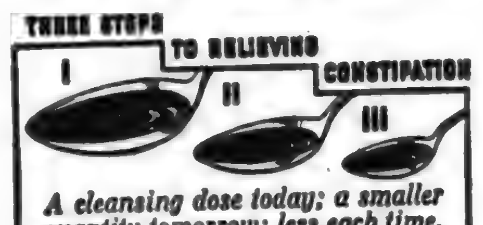
Let Princes Rule the World, While We Mend Ourselves

If you were one of the people who forgot to register, or if you are worried because you don't know about the Debts and the Polish Corridor this extract from the Golden Book Magazine will ease your mind: In short, it is left only to princes to mend the world, whose commands find general obedience, and examples imitation. For all other men, they must take it as they find it; and good men enter into commerce with it, rather upon cautions of not being spoiled themselves, than upon hopes of mending the world . . The bent of my thoughts shall be rather to mend myself than the world, which I reckon upon leaving much what I found it.—Sir William Temple.

NO UPSETS

The proper treatment for a bilious child



A cleansing dose today; a smaller quantity tomorrow; less each time, until bowels need no help at all.

ANY mother knows the reason when her child stops playing, eats little, is hard to manage. Constipation. But what a pity so few know the sensible way to set things right!

The ordinary laxatives, of even ordinary strength, must be carefully regulated as to dosage.

A liquid laxative is the answer, mothers. The answer to all your worries over constipation. A liquid can be measured. The dose can be exactly suited to any age or need. Just reduce the dose each time, until the bowels are moving of their own accord and need no help.

This treatment will succeed with any child and with any adult.

The doctors use liquid laxatives. Hospitals use the liquid form. If it is best for their use, it is best for home use. The liquid laxative most families use is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Any druggist has it.

DON'T SLEEP ON LEFT SIDE, AFFECTS HEART

Gas Pressure May Cause Discomfort. Right Side Best

If you toss in bed and can't sleep on right side, try Adlerika. Just ONE dose relieves stomach GAS pressing on heart so you sleep soundly all night.

Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels and brings out foul matter you would never believe was in your system. This old matter may have poisoned you for months and caused GAS, sour stomach, headache or nervousness.

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adlerika greatly reduces bacteria and colon bacilli."

Mrs. Jas. Filler: "Gas on my stomach was so bad I could not eat or sleep. Even my heart hurt. The first dose of Adlerika brought me relief. Now I eat as I wish, sleep fine and never felt better."

Give your stomach and bowels a REAL cleansing with Adlerika and see how good you feel. Just ONE dose relieves GAS and chronic constipation. Sold by all druggists and drug departments.

Hello, Everybody!

"The Human Target"

By FLOYD GIBBONS

Famous Headline Hunter.

TODAY'S story, boys and girls, is from Norman Daly. But first I want to tell you about an exciting little adventure of my old friend Jed Kiley. Jed lived for many years in France. One night when he and a friend of his were slumming in a tough French cafe in the Apache quarter of Paris, they began to notice they were getting dirty looks from the motley group of thieves and pickpockets who crowded every table.

An "Apache" is a French gangster. The name, as you know, comes from a tribe of American Indians noted for their cruelty. The French Apache is not a gunman, however, like his American counterpart but he is adept in the use of a long bladed knife which he carries hidden in the folds of his baggy clothes. He can throw this heavy knife with uncanny skill and pierce a victim's heart at 20 feet. He is also noted for his intense hatred of all foreigners.

Jed knew all this and as the Apaches had been drinking heavily, he saw that he and his friend were in real danger. Their table was far in the rear of the smoke filled room and if they walked out they might feel a knife in their ribs at any moment. And no one would know who had thrown it.

One table of roughs in particular were concentrating their hate on the Americans. There were five of them and they amused themselves and the others by heaping insults on the "American Pigs." Jed pretended not to understand French and began doing a little heavy thinking. He knew the Apache character and the pride they took in their skill with knives and hit on an idea.

Jed Gave the Boys a Target, Anyway.

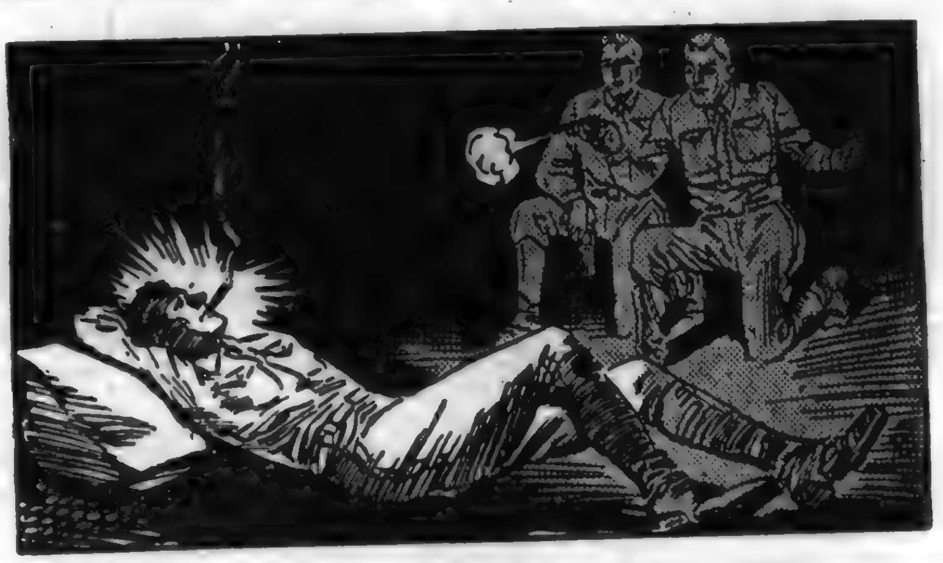
Jed walked over to a door in the back of the cafe and taking out a one hundred franc bill, he pinned it to the door. Then, as 50 sullen eyes followed his every move, he announced in broken French that the bill would go to the man who pierced it first with a thrown knife.

Zowie! An avalanche of knives hit that wooden door with a splitting crash. Jed thinks many of them must have pierced the bill but he's not sure. He didn't wait to see. He and his friend went out the front door and up the street like a bat out of Hades!

And with Jed still running, let's leave Paris and go down to Nicaragua with Norman Daly and see what happened to him.

Pistol Shot Breaks Norman's Pleasant Reverie.

Norman spent five years as a member of the Chicago police force but, he says, it remained for the marines to give him his greatest thrill. He was a marine in Nicaragua in the summer of 1912 and one hot night as he lay stretched on his back, puffing away on a glowing cigar, a sudden pistol shot disturbed his reverie. The shot was accompanied by an angry buzzing sound, as though a bee had quickly passed. But Norman knew it wasn't a bee—it was a bullet!



But Norman Knew It Wasn't a Bee—It Was a Bullet.

He started to straighten up when a voice growled at him to lie down and stay down and keep smoking. Another shot and a warning buzz made him obey. He recognized the voice as belonging to a rough Texan member of the outfit who was always quarreling with an equally tough pal of his about who was the best shot.

Norman also knew these two had been drinking. He quaked in his boots but he didn't dare move. He knew what it was all about now.

His cigar was their target!

This Was No Vaudeville Act—This Was Real!

Bang! Another shot! Then another and another! The bullets buzzed by so close that Norman says he could smell them. But still his cigar remained in his mouth. He pursed his lips to get that lighted end as far out as possible and hoped the boys would shoot high. Two more bullets came fast and furious and Norman winced at each blast. He started counting them to keep his nerves from breaking.

When 12 had passed and that fatal 13 was coming up, Norman nearly swallowed cigar and all. Bang! Thirteen came and passed. It was a lucky shot for Norman—he still wasn't hit—but neither was the cigar! The next shot just passed under Norman's nose and then a shower of friendly sparks sprayed his pale face.

The cigar had burst—like a Roman candle—on the fifteenth shot!

Whew! Norman sat up and wiped the beads of perspiration off his furrowed brow. He felt like screaming with relief but he couldn't get his breath. He looked around. An anxious group of comrades stood around him, watching with bated breath. He swallowed his heart and then, true to the traditions of the Marine corps under fire, he grinned.

"Nice shooting, boys," he said.

"Mississippi Bubble" Was Disastrous Speculation

The "Mississippi Bubble" was a scheme devised by John Law, a famous Scotch financier who lived from 1671 to 1729. Under the patronage of the duke of Orleans, regent of France, he organized a project intended originally to liquidate the national debt of that country by developing, under an exclusive grant, the resources of the province of Louisiana and the commerce of the Mississippi, then claimed by the French.

The scheme was launched in 1716 with the establishment of a bank. In 1717 the West Indian company was organised with a capital of 200,000 shares of 500 livres each. The company was at first successful, and in 1719 obtained exclusive control of the trade to the East Indies, China and the South Seas, and all the possessions of the French East India company. The holders of West India shares seemed likely all to profit tremendously.

An additional issue of 5,000 shares was created, and so wild was the speculative craze that more than 300,000 persons applied for them. In consequence all of the shares rose to twenty times their original value, and at the height of the excitement in 1719 were nominally worth more than eighty times the amount of all the currency in France.

The company could not hope to make a satisfactory profit for those who had paid the preposterous prices which speculative demand had put upon the shares. Before a year was out the "bubble" burst and the shares sank to a tenth of their face value.

The whole enterprise was thus discredited, and the company was wound up, while Law was obliged to flee; he died in poverty in Venice.

So great were the losses, which were in France rather than England, that the collapse of the Mississippi scheme nearly precipitated a revolution. It is usually regardded as the most disastrous speculation of modern times.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Keswick Movement

The Keswick movement originated in England in 1874 when Canon Harford-Battersly experienced a deep spiritual awakening and, returning to his parish church at Keswick, London, called the Keswick convention in 1875. The movement was organized for the promotion of practical holiness.

Building the Washington Monument

THE Washington monument was long a subject of discussion in and out of congress after the death of the Father of His Country in 1799 until its capstone was set in place December 6, 1884, a total of 85 years, says a National Geographic society bulletin.

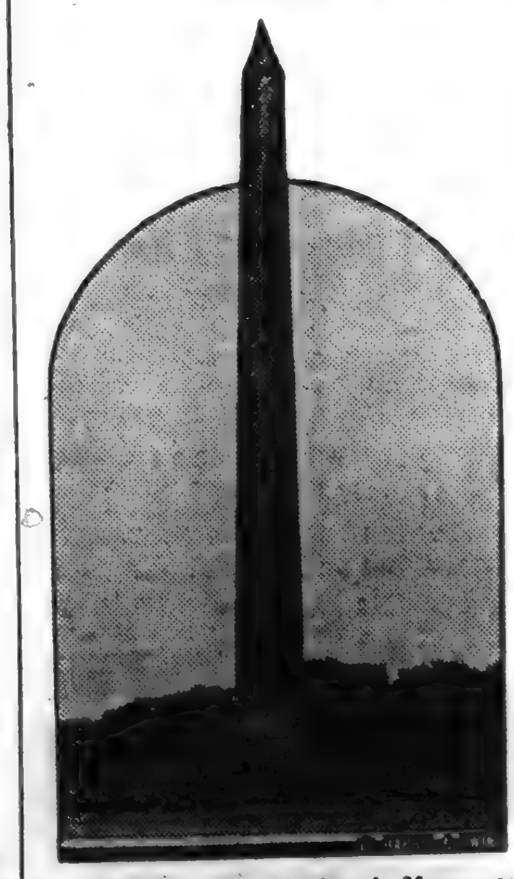
On December 23, 1799, John Marshall, famous fellow-Virginian of George Washington, introduced a resolution in the United States house of representatives providing that "a marble monument be erected by the United States in the city of Washington and that the family of General Washington be requested to permit his body to be deposited under it." Martha Washington acceded to the provisions of the resolution, but nothing was done.

In 1816 and 1819 the memorial was discussed in the halls of congress and again in 1824 and 1825. And again nothing was done to carry out the provisions of the resolution.

Displeased with the failure of congress to erect a memorial, influential citizens of Washington organized in 1833 to promote the project. That body became the Washington National Monument society, with Chief Justice John Marshall as its president. The society, which financed construction of the shaft until it rose 154 feet, invited American artists to submit designs for a $1,000,000 edifice. Robert Mills won the competition, but his design was not accepted. It called for a circular colonnaded building from the center of which would rise a 500-foot obelisk.

In 1848 congress passed a resolution authorizing the Washington National Monument society to erect a monument and authorized the President of the United States and officials of the society to choose a suitable site. L'Enfant, in his plan of Washington, had provided for an equestrian statue of Washington, but the spot then was a marsh. Thus the present site, only a few hundred feet away, was chosen.

On Independence day, 1848, amid colorful ceremonies, the cornerstone, filled with historical documents, was laid. Slowly for six years the obelisk rose skyward. Then dissension in the society and lack of funds caused construction to cease.



The Washington National Monument in the Capital City.

President Grant, in 1876, signed a bill which provided that the government take over and complete the erection of the shaft. Engineers discovered, after careful examination, that the foundations were not sufficient for so lofty an obelisk, the world's tallest, so they began what was called at that time "one of the outstanding engineering feats of the world"—rebuilding the monument's foundatons without damage to the structure. Then, stone by stone, the shaft rose until the pyramidal capstone was placed on December 6, 1884.

The memorial was opened to the public October 9, 1888. Lining its inner walls were placed stones presented by states, cities, fraternities, fire companies, lodges and other organizations from all parts of the country. Stones from many foreign nations also have places in its walls.

The monument cost slightly more than $1,000,000. It is 555 feet 5⅛ inches high and stands on a base 55 feet square. The lower walls are of granite faced on the outside with marble. They are 15 feet thick up to about 500 feet; the upper walls, of marble only, are 18 inches thick. It is estimated that about 23,000 stones were used in the shaft's construction.

There are eight windows at the 504-foot level from which thousands of visitors annually view the Capital city and nearby Virginia and Maryland.

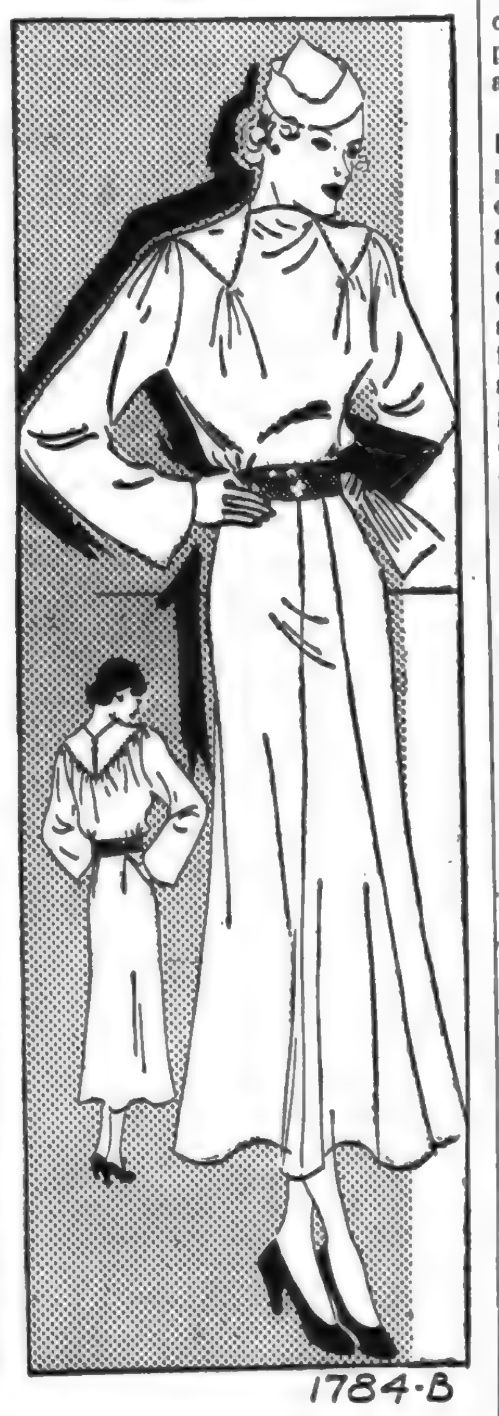
Something Brand New in Necklines

PATTERN NO. 1784-B



An unusually clever and interesting yoke treatment, front and back, distinguishes this altogether lovely daytime frock. With the neck opening at the back, the V-shaped yoke extends over the shoulder and combines with a soft high neckline to give a new and flattering collar effect, equally fetching front and back. Full set-in sleeves drop gracefully to the wrist and the waist portion gathers to the yoke in the rear to provide essential fullness. A flaring panel, as fashion dictates, features an otherwise simple skirt which is dart-fitted at the back and a novelty belt adds a finishing touch.

Fashioned of soft silk, printed or plain, in amber or green or the always fashionable black, this striking all-occasion frock will add zest to your winter wardrobe and see you through the coming spring. It will wear well under a wrap and appear doubly attractive when the wrap or coat is removed.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1784-B is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Corresponding bust measurements 30, 32, 34, 36 and 38. Size 16 (34) requires 4 yards of 39-inch material. Every Barbara Bell Pattern includes an illustrated instruction guide which is easy to understand.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1784-B can be procured for fifteen cents. The Barbara Bell Pattern Book featuring winter designs is ready. Send fifteen cents today for your copy.

And So the First Hunger Strike Was a Decided Flop

Without the least cynical intent, we would point out to you the story of one of the first hunger-strikers, published in the Golden Book Magazine.

"The Widow of Ephesus," relates Petronius, was a lady of so high repute for chastity that women came from neighboring lands to see and admire. When her husband died, she followed him to his tomb, determined to stay with him until she, too, should die of hunger. But it happened that a handsome young soldier was stationed nearby to guard three robbers who had been crucified, in order to prevent anyone removing their bodies and giving them burial. He discovered the widow, and believing it a great pity that anyone so beautiful should be allowed to perish, finally persuaded her to share his food. The soldier was neither ill-looking nor wanting in address, and says Petronius, "you all know what temptations assail poor human nature after a hearty meal." We leave you to finish the story for yourself.

Women More Vicious Than Men, Says J. Edgar Hoover

Take it from no less an authority than J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, the female of the species is more deadly than the male. That is, women are more to be feared than men. Especially does this hold true where criminals are concerned. Women criminals, he asserts, excel in the will to kill. Statistics kept by the bureau of investigation reveal that the percentage of women charged with crimes of violence is greater than similar offenses charged to men. Although only 6.9 per cent of the persons arrested in the United States in October were women, these women showed a greater tendency toward murder than all the males arrested.—Pathfinder Magazine.

No Need to Suffer "Morning Sickness"

"Morning sickness"—is caused by an acid condition. To avoid it, acid must be offset by alkalis—such as magnesia.

Why Physicians Recommend Milnesia Wafers

These mint-flavored, candy-like wafers are pure milk of magnesia in solid form—the most pleasant way to take it. Each wafer is approximately equal to a full adult dose of liquid milk of magnesia. Chewed thoroughly, then swallowed, they correct acidity in the mouth and throughout the digestive system and insure quick, complete elimination of the waste matters that cause gas, headaches, bloated feelings and a dozen other discomforts.

Milnesia Wafers come in bottles of 20 and 48, at 35c and 60c respectively, and in convenient tins for your handbag containing 12 at 20c. Each wafer is approximately one adult dose of milk of magnesia. All good drug stores sell and recommend them.

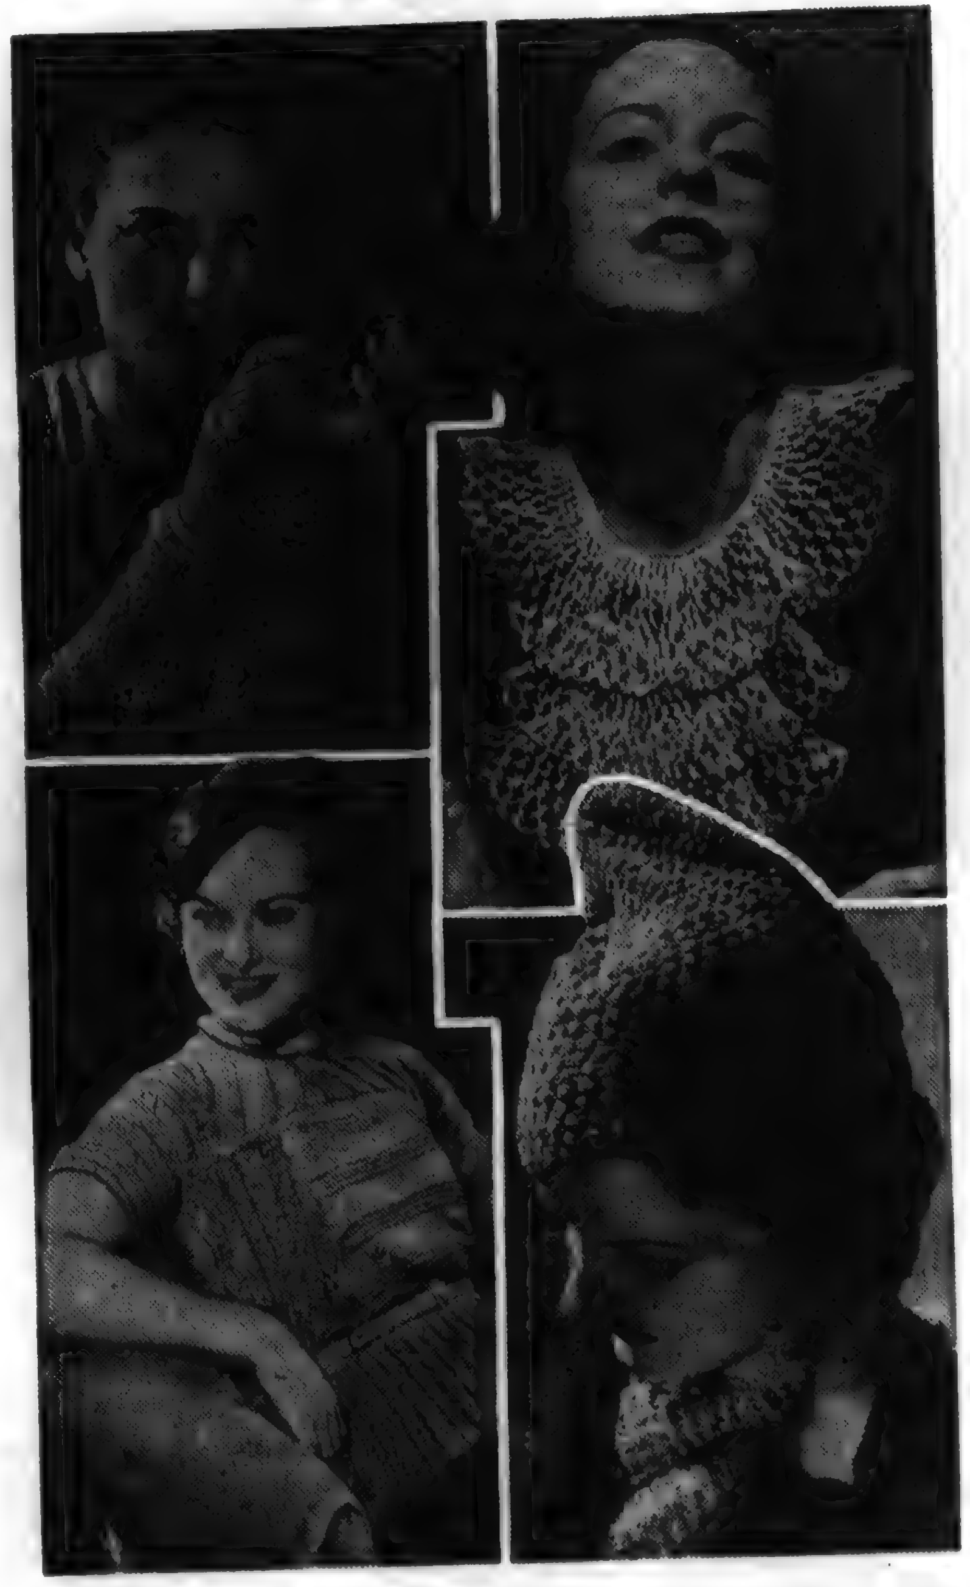
New Ideas From Knit-Crochet Realm

By CHERIE NICHOLAS



WHEN is the psychological moment to "tend to your knitting"? Right now, between seasons. The peaceful aftermath of a maddening, whirling, swirling, dizzying, hectic holiday rush, the blissful, mid-season lull betwixt the lingering farewell of winter and the none-too-hurried advent of spring—'tis "opportunity knocking at the door" of eager knitters and crocheters.

Yes, indeed, it's full time to begin to purl one, knit one, chain-stitch here and chain-stitch there, if you would be having in readiness a collection of pretty wearables to enhance the forthcoming spring and summer wardrobe. If you are needing fresh ideas to whet your enthusiasm, the illustration offers several of the very newest in the realm of things knitted and crocheted.

A sunning blouse! We agree with you. What with its high rolled collar which chucks under the chin with unmistakable chic, its unique yoke, its novel bib front, and its crochet-cord-edged short sleeves the ever-coveted "something different" is achieved with emphasis. It is knitted of a very likable knitting-and-crochet cotton which comes in heavenly colors. Yes (reading the query on the tip of your tongue) the answer is in the affirmative, it washes to perfection.

Just what you'll be wanting—a frilled jabot to go gracefully cascading down the front of your dark daytime dresses. The one pictured is easy to make, easy to wear and a gladsome sight to appreciative eyes. It should be slightly starched to give it its flare.

Hat and gloves? To be sure, and aren't they nifty? A mere matter of a few leisure half hours, a ball or so of knit-crochet cotton in the color you like best, nimble fingers and a will to dare, and these charming accessories will be your reward.

The little close-fitting hat speaks eloquently in terms of the now-so-voguish popcorn stitch. The tall peak is along lines of smartest fashion since the newest millinery gesture trends to extreme height. The beauty of the knit-crochet cotton which is used for its making is, that being strong and firm it assures a hat that will stay in shape, will not be hot and scratchy and, best of all, it will come from a tubbing looking as good as new. It is an extremely young and engaging creation.

The lacy gloves crocheted of mercerized cotton succeed in "running the gauntlet" halfway and more up to the elbow. Which means you have to keep on keeping on crocheting for quite some time in order to arrive at just the right point.

A highly interesting bit of news in regard to things crocheted comes from Paris. We refer to the fanciful little tri-cornered shawl-scarf, which being of peasant inspiration is as quaint and colorful as can be. These are proving wonderfully popular and picturesque as worn at resorts this winter. With every shawl-scarf there's a hat, either a straw capeline crowned with matching crochet or else a small beret or turban.

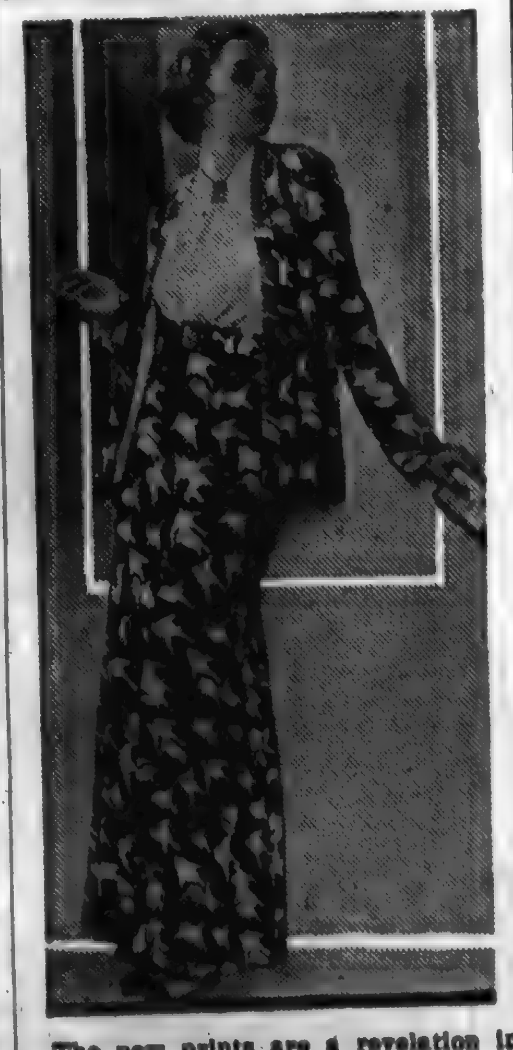
CHIC BIRD PRINT

By CHERIE NICHOLAS



The new prints are a revelation in the way of original and most out-of-the-ordinary patternings. Imagine bars of music notes printed all over your first spring silk, or a design using postage stamp motif and there are any number of ideas that could be cited just as unique. There are the flying-bird prints as they are called, for example, such as pictured here. In the print illustrated, white love birds with bright colored heads fly across a navy blue background to form a striking design for a dinner suit of woolly textured silk. The bodice is of white silk matching the lining of the jacket.

SANDALS WITH SILK GOWNS FOR TRAVEL

Silk dresses in white, in pastels, or in gay prints are tops for luncheons, cocktails or for wear at special stop-offs on cruises—a fashion that definitely calls for sandals. Whether in white linen, white patent leather (a very smart and different note), or in white suede, the sandal shown in the photo has a place in every traveler's wardrobe. It is extremely graceful on the foot, fits beautifully and should be regarded as a "must" in cruise shoes.

For snooty shindigs, where the gala dress of black or white chiffon is correct, and for the more formal cruise occasions, a smart shoe store has created the "corsage" kid sandals in delicately flowered design.

Slender Effect Achieved by Stem-Like Silhouette

A stemlike silhouette making mannequins look slim as a reed, mark the new fashions launched by Roger Worth, new president of the famous old dressmaking house of that name and great-grandson of its founder.

Both day frocks and coats are built on slender lines, their only variation being occasional big sleeves which balance the straight narrow skirt.

Black, violet, wine red and navy afternoon frocks of satin, crepe or faconne silk are generally designed with high necklines and finished with a variety of gold touches. Gold embroidery or gold tipped tassels marks belts, which are sometimes slightly lowered, while necklines are draped into gold metal loops or accented by a cluster of gold coins swinging from silk cords.

Elegant Blouse

The tea-time blouse may be made of a variety of lovely fabrics—brocade, metal cloth, chiffon or lustrous silk. It is usually designed tunic-style and may be worn with a velvet skirt or with a plain cloth suit skirt.

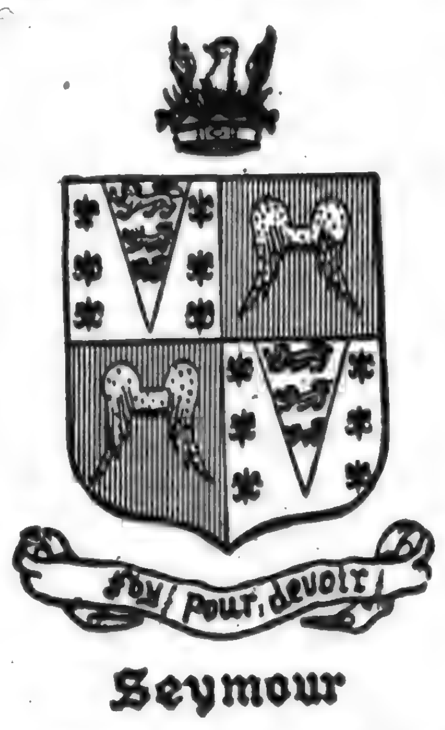
The Romance of Your Name

By
RUBY HASKINS ELLIS

A Seymour?

THIS name was originally taken from a Norman knight, who lived in the Thirteenth century. Sir William St. Maur and the House of Seymour in America descends through the grandson of this ancestor, Roger de St. Maur, who was lord of Penlow and Woundy, in England.

John Seymour of Wolf Hall in Wiltshire, sheriff of the county in the reign of Henry VII, married the daughter of Sir Henry Darell of Littlecote, County Wiltshire. It was their eldest son who was knighted by King Henry on the field of battle for gallant conduct as one of the commanders of the king's forces against the Cornish rebels at Blackheath. Later on, for his unusual prowess at the famous "Battle of the Spurs," he was made a Knight Banneret by King Henry VIII. He attended the king at the "Field of the Cloth of Gold," where the meeting of Henry and Francis I took place, an incident so famous in English history. He also attended the king at Canterbury, when Emperor Charles V was received in England.



Seymour

John Seymour married Margaret Wentworth, daughter of Sir Henry Wentworth, who claimed descent from a great man medieval dynasties of Europe. Their son, Edward, became a powerful noble and Lord Protector of England. His rise to fame was meteoric; knighted in 1523, created Viscount Beauchamp; governor and captain of the Isle of Jersey; chancellor and chamberlain of North Wales; in 1537 created earl of Hertford and later, Knight of the Garter; in 1543 he was made Lord Great Chamberlain of England for life.

His great-grandson, Richard Seymour, came to America, settled in Hartford, Conn., where he immediately became active in the affairs of the colonies. He was a founder of Norfolk, Conn.

Most of the Seymours in this country can trace to this Richard and thus back to the English family.

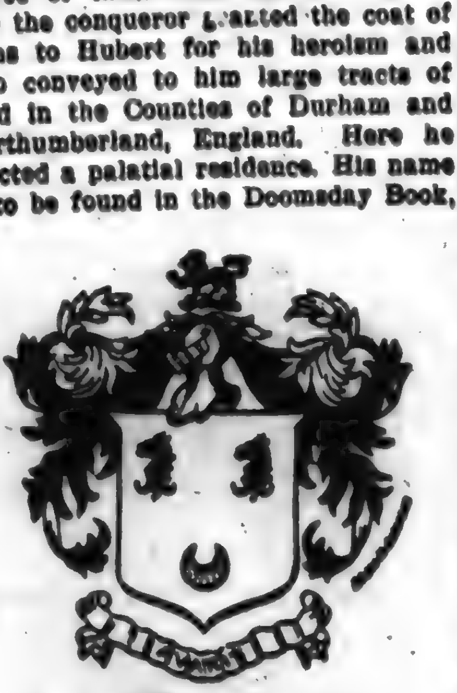
A Worrall?

THE earliest ancestor of the Worrall family was Sir Hubert de Warel, lord of Arles in Provence, and several of his sons were with William the Conqueror at the Battle of Hastings. Three of them were killed in battle and the conqueror granted the coat of arms to Hubert for his heroism and also conveyed to him large tracts of land in the Counties of Durham and Northumberland, England. Here he erected a palatial residence. His name is to be found in the Doomsday Book, that immortal English document which contains the names of all the early feudal titleholders.



Worrall

Ralph de Warel, youngest son of Hubert, succeeded to the estate and founded the Monastery of Blackburn.

Sir William de Warel was active in the Crusades to the Holy Land with Richard the Lion-Hearted. His only son, Rudiger, had estates in France. He was interred in the Monastery of Arles.

After the time of Sir William de Warel the name was changed to "Wirrell," then "Worrell," and finally "Worrall," which is in general use today.

The first settler in America of the family of Worrall was John, who came with the party of William Penn and made their homes in Pennsylvania. Descendants of John went to Maryland, Delaware and Virginia, but many of them still reside on land granted them by William Penn.

Cypress Tree in Mexico Held Oldest Living Thing

Dr. Hermann von Schrenck of St. Louis, a consulting timber engineer, believes that the famous cypress tree near Oaxaca City, Mexico, is the oldest living thing in the world. The doctor, who has made two visits here to study the tree, said he thinks it is at least four thousand years old.

The tree is 140 feet high and its circumference 40 inches from the ground is 117 feet.—Washington Post.

Germinating a Record 32½ Pound Seed in Honolulu

What is believed to be the world's largest seed, weighing 32½ pounds, is germinating in a barrel in Honolulu. When the tree matures it will be a Seychelles palm.

This palm, a native of the Seychelles islands, in the Indian ocean, produces what are commonly called double coconuts, although the tree is an entirely different sort from those which bear true coconuts, says the Pan-Pacific Press Bureau. The seeds require a year to germinate and as much as ten years elapses between fertilization of the flower and ripening of the seed.

Don't Guess But Know

Whether the "Pain" Remedy You Use is SAFE?

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headaches is SAFE to use regularly is your family doctor. Ask him particularly about Genuine BAYER ASPIRIN.

He will tell you that before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin most "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as bad for the stomach and, often, for the heart. Which is food for thought if you seek quick, safe relief.

Scientists rate Bayer Aspirin among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and the pains of rheumatism, neuritis and neuralgia. And the experience of millions of users has proved it safe for the average person to use regularly. In your own interest remember this.

You can get Genuine Bayer Aspirin at any drug store — simply by asking for it by its full name, BAYER ASPIRIN. Make it a point to do this — and see that you get what you want.

HISTORY
MARTHA WASHINGTON WAS A GOOD COOK.
MY MOTHER SAYS ANYONE CAN BE A GOOD COOK NOW WITH AN ELECTRIC RANGE

PERFECT RESULTS ASSURED WHEN YOU COOK ELECTRICALLY

In Martha Washington's day, cooking was done with crude equipment . . . romantic as heirlooms, but impractical compared with our modern electric range. It operates upon entirely different principles and contains features that cannot be duplicated.

The Electric Range is the truly modern cooking method that applies pure electric heat directly to the cooking operation. In this one respect it is as different from all devices that use flaming fuel as is the present day airplane from the first balloon in America, whose ascension was witnessed by George Washington in Philadelphia.

Supplement, St. Joe News
Thursday, February 27, 1936

Mrs. Malinda Shilling and Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Rothgeb, of near New Haven, were supper guests Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shilling.

Wayne Trostel is in Chicago, being called back to work for the B. & O. as switchman, after being off duty for six years. His family will still reside on the Powers farm east of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Erickson, of Chicago, were her Saturday evening, guests in the Emmett Epler home. The men were completing their contract for the leasing of the Erickson farm in Steuben County to Mr. Epler.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Worden and daughters, Garnett and Miss Florence, spent Sunday evening with Dale Trostel, who is convalescing from his recent appendix operation. Mr. and Mrs. Trostel served ice cream and cake, as Sunday was Dale's birthday.

The Ladies Aid of the M. P. Church spent a very pleasant day last Thursday with Mrs. Lillie Bishop and daughter, Frances. Mrs. Bishop will move this week to the Rehoboth neighbohood. A carry-in lunch was enjoyed at the noon hour. Mrs. Wayne Haverstock and son, of near Butler, were also guests.

Approximately 500 low dams have been constructed in Indiana to date, for the purpose of checking soil erosion, conserving water, providing farmers with more watering places for stock, aiding in flood prevention and increasing recreational facilities by making streams available for fishing. By the fall of 1936 it is expected that 5,000 such dams will have been built by the Works Progress Administration in the state. These dams constitute an important link in a long range plan of conservation of the state's water resources, which includes the planting of trees to provide nature with facilities for evaporation; the terracing of hillsides to provide facilities for seepage, and other approved scientific conservation measures. The Indiana Department of Conservation is cooperating with the WPA in carrying out the program.

There were 82 deaths in DeKalb county in December, the monthly bulletin of the Indiana Division of Public Health, issued at Indianapolis Saturday, shows. Of the number, 11 were 65 years or more of age and 3 were under the age of one year. Two of the deaths were from pneumonia, one from tuberculosis, one from influenza, two accidental, two cancer and one homicidal. During the same period there were 20 births.

SPENCERVILLE

Walter Silberg, of Butler, transacted business at this place last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stimman visited Mrs. Zetta Wertman Sunday afternoon.

The C. C. Club will be entertained Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Kathryn Dean.

Mrs. Janice Bowser and sons, Jimmy and Jerry, were guests last week of Lloyd Wade's at Defiance. Gale Bowser spent Sunday in the same home.

MORTUARY

Mary Elizabeth Thomas was born on November 30, 1875 and departed this life on Friday evening, February 21, 1936, at the age of 60 years, 2 months and 21 days.

June 21, 1896, she was united in marriage to George Milliman and to this union were given two sons, Merritt T. Milliman and Lysle J. Milliman, both of Fort Wayne.

At the age of 18 she was obedient to her Lord and united with the Church of Christ in Fremont, Michigan. About 2 years ago she transferred her membership to the Church of Christ in St. Joe, Ind.

Her life was useful and unselfish, devoted to the ones she loved.

The funeral was held from the St. Joe Church of Christ Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. H. K. Schondelmayer, local pastor, and burial was in charge of DuWayne Kinsey, with interment at the Alton cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Jennings Horn spent Sunday at the August Klenke home near Zanesville.

VOL. LI. (51 Years.) (In The St. Joe Valley) ST. JOE, DeKALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY, MARCH 5, 1936 NUMBER 10

OVERFLOWING STREAMS MAY EFFECT FISHING

High waters at this season of the year, forcing many streams out of their banks, may have a serious effect on fishing. As the flood waters recede, thousands of game fish may be left stranded unless prompt action is taken.

Conservation clubs and sportsmen's organizations throughout the state will again cooperate with the Department of Conservaion in seeing that whenever possible the stranded game fish are returned to the streams. Game wardens will assist farmers and landowners and the clubs in saving the fish. This is especially important at this time as the fish lost now reduce the breeding stock in the streams.

Activities of the wardens, conservation clubs and individuals were credited with the saving of many thousand game fish during periods of high water last year. The effectiveness of this work was reflected in the improved fishing during the past season.

TWO STATE UNIVERSITY SCHOLARSHIPS AVAILABLE

Two DeKalb county students will be appointed next June as winners of county scholarships to Indiana University for the coming school year, Dean David A. Rothrock has announced. The scholarships will provide free contingent fees for the year.

Under the new state law, it will be possible for a present scholarship holder who is making an exceptional record in the University to receive appointment for more than one year. It is considered probable that about one-third of the 194 county scholars enrolled in the University at present will be re-appointed for next year.

DeKalb county scholarship winners for this year were John W. Kaellner, of St. Joe and Elizabeth Anne Van Fleit, of Garrett.

NEW MAP OF STATE HIGHWAY SYSTEM IS BEING DISTRIBUTED

A new map of Indiana's state highway system—designed for the information and guidance of the motorist—is being distributed by the State Highway Commission, James D. Adams, chairman, announced today. This is the first of two maps to be issued by the highway commission in 1936, the second to be issued in late summer when a number of construction projects will have been completed.

Printed in the same attractive and distinctive colors as the 1935 map, several new features have been added. One is the showing of highway sections now under construction, such as Road 52 northwest of Indianapolis, Road 67 between McCordsville and Anderson, and others. The new map also shows additions to the highway system during the year.

U. S. highways crossing Indiana are shown in red, the state highways in black, and the chief county highways in gray. Rivers and the large lakes are shown in blue with the same color used to locate the state parks, farests, game preserves, fish hacheries and memorials. Blue is also used to locate colleges, universities, and major points of interest. Airports are shown by a white star in a red square.

Accompanying the map is a legend showing the scale of miles, showing the method of distinguishing between various types of surface and determining the population of cities and towns. Mileage between cities and highway intersections is shown on the map. In addition to showing all state highways in Indiana, the map shows these routes continued into adjoining states, a feature of considerable value to motorists.

On the reverse side of the 1936 map, are pictured routes of the state highways through a number of the larger cities, including; Indianapolis, South Bend, Fort Wayne, Evansville, the Calumet region, the New Albany, Jeffersonville and Louisville area, Anderson, Huntington, Richmond, Michigan City, Lafayette, Marion, Bloomington, Vincennes. Terre Haute, Wabash, Crawfordsville, and Logansport.

Other information on the reverse side of the map includes a chart showing distances from Indianapolis to other cities of the United States, an index of Indiana cities and towns, list of points of interest and motoring regulations.

Your copy is now available at St. Joe News office.

LOCAL DEALER FEATURES DEMONSTRATION

All that is needed now to make the big I. H. C. Farm Machinery Demonstration a real success, on Friday, this week at the St. Joe Garage, is THE WEATHER.

Joe Martin has been busily engaged for the past week getting the place in shape and tomorrow morning, (Friday) the Big Show will start off in full swing.

Every farmer in this territory should be here with his family. Special moving pictures will be shown, talks will be given by company officials, and farm machinery wil be running to show their operation on the farm.

Plenty of seats and a hot lunch for all visitors will be furnished free.

FROM ABOUT ST. JOE

For 1936, Fort Wayne traffic accidents total 67, with 79 injured but no fatalities.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Chorpenning were visitors at the Chas. Keener home in Hicksville, Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Chorpenning were also there. Mr. Thomas Chorpenning has been quite ill for the past few months at his home in Chicago.

The burial of Mrs. Ada Mann, who died February first at the Jay Hart home, was made at Peebles, Ohio, Saturday, February 29. Those in the funeral party were Mrs. Della Hart and two sons, Henry and Jessie, Mrs. Elmer Inlow, Mrs. Curtis Hursey, and Roy Mann.

Walter Thiel, who has been trucking for St. Joe Flour Mill for the past year and a half, bought a new International 10 ton truck to do the mill trucking. The truck has been painted and plainly lettered so you will know where it is from. The truck will haul 125 barrels of flour at a time.

Your home town paper becomes the butt of many community jokes; but at the same time it is one of the most essential organs in the development of community spirit and life. Critical readers may remark with scorn that the paper "isn't worth reading"; but generally they make this statement only after they have gone through it from cover to cover. They may not like the editor or the manner in which he writes. At the same time, they want his paper because it deals with that which interests them most—"people."

Make it your business to read the classified ad column each week.

John Hull, of south of Concord, is quite poorly, after a stroke for the second time.

The United States has 426 war vessels, counting all types of both old and new ships.

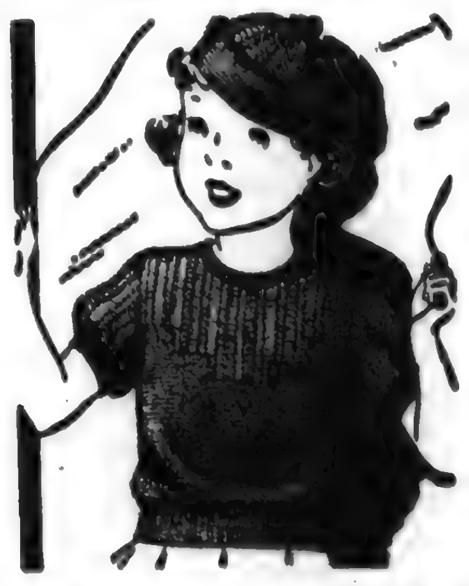
Jiffy Knit Sweater With Matching Hat

PATTERN No. 5512



Any four-to-eight-year-old will be warm as toast in this sweater and cap set. The sweater's a "jiffy" knit—just plain knitting combined with yoke and sleeves of easy lacy stitch, and finished almost before you know it. The cap done in a straight strip, gathered at the top, also includes these two stitches, adding a pert pompon for good measure. Choose a colorful yarn, and there'll be no "insisting" she wear it!

In pattern 5512 you will find complete instructions for making the set shown in sizes 4, 6 and 8 (all given in one pattern); an illustration of it and of the stitches needed; material requirements.

Send 15 cents in stamps or coins (coins preferred) to The Sewing Circle, Household Arts Dept., 259 W. Fourteenth St., New York, N. Y.

Blood Donors Unsought in Russia; Life Fluid Canned

In Russia, hospitals are dispensing with the need of summoning a voluntary blood donor when cases of urgent blood transfusion arise. Instead, the patient is given a dose of this vital effusion out of a tin! Supplies of blood of all grades are stocked in glass containers, kept under refrigeration. Ruthless analysis ensures the purity of each can, so there is no danger, as in the case of direct man-to-man transfusions, of noxious germs being transferred in the process.

Doctors in outlying districts requiring a transfusion have now only to communicate the specific qualities of their patient's blood to a hospital, and a tin of the same caliber is dispatched immediately. In winter, some consignments have been landed over snow-bound areas by parachute.—Tit Bits.

Ask Your Doctor and Find Out

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well - Being to Unknown Preparations

THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headaches is SAFE to use regularly is your family doctor. Ask him particularly about Genuine BAYER ASPIRIN.

He will tell you that before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin most "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as bad for the stomach and, often, for the heart. Which is food for thought if you seek quick, safe relief.

Scientists rate Bayer Aspirin among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and the pains of rheumatism, neuritis and neuralgia. And the experience of millions of users has proved it safe for the average person to use regularly. In your own interest remember this.

You can get Genuine Bayer Aspirin at any drug store — simply by asking for it by its full name, BAYER ASPIRIN. Make it a point to do this — and see that you get what you want.

The Romance of Your Name

By RUBY HASKINS ELLIS

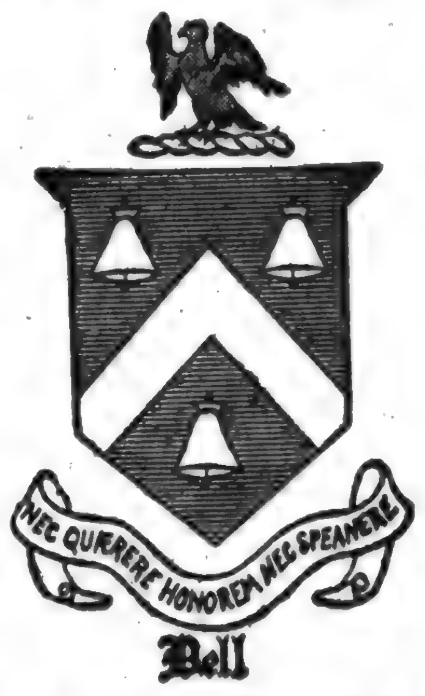
A Bell?

THE origin of the name Bell dates back to the days of Druidism in ancient Briton, long before the Christian era in that country. The Druids were priests of the tribes of Cymri which were about forty in number spread over the greater part of England and Scotland. The Cymri were worshipers of oak trees, hills, rivers, sun and mistletoe.

Upon the coming of the Romans into Great Britain they found that the Druids had great influence over the people so they set about to destroy the objects of worship. The Druids then called a meeting and decided to form a clan for their mutual protection and called themselves Bell in honor of one of their gods.

In later times the clan became divided. The Scottish people of this name retained their organization as a clan but the English branch became more interested in literary and scientific pursuits. They spelled their name Beal or Beale, but the relationship between the families was still acknowledged. This is seen by the same devices used on the coats of arms of both houses.

When King James of England in 1605 offered lands in northern Ireland to peoples of England and Scotland, many immigrants by the name of Bell accepted. Then came the great tidal wave of immigration to America and by 1725 more than 500 settlers by the name of Bell had come to America either direct from England and Scotland or by the way of Ireland.



NEC QUÆRERE HONOREM NEC SPERNERE

Bell

In Virginia there were many early arrivals of this name and a number of Bell families located in Maryland. Most of the Maryland families spelled the name Beale or Beall.

There were immigrants also by this name who settled in Massachusetts. John Beale settled in Hingham, Mass., coming from Norfolk, England, in 1638. In Pennsylvania, William Beale from Wiltshire, England, was a settler in Chester county.

Virginia, North Carolina, Maryland, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts furnished a substantial army of Bells and Bealls in the war for America's independence, and bearers of this name have answered the call to service in every crisis in the nation's history.

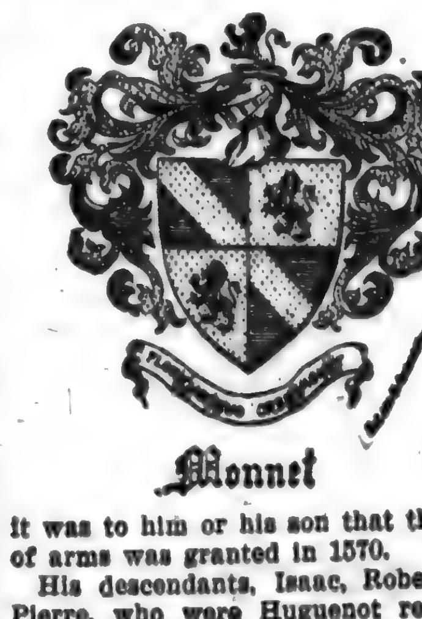
A Monnet?

THIS family took its name from a town in France near the River Ain.

In the latter Sixteenth century Pierre Monnet was massacred in Paris on St. Bartholomew's day for his adherence to the king of Navarre. Pierre was the ancestor of the Protestant Monnets of the Huguenot province, and it was to him or his son that the coat of arms was granted in 1570.



Monnet

His descendants, Isaac, Robert and Pierre, who were Huguenot refugees, left France and went to London, where in 1688 they were naturalized and became British subjects. They later came to America. Isaac settled in Calvert county, Maryland, about 1700 and married Elizabeth Williams. Robert made his home in Cecil county, Maryland, and married Margaret Darrell.

Pierre joined the Huguenot colony on Staten island, where he lived and died.

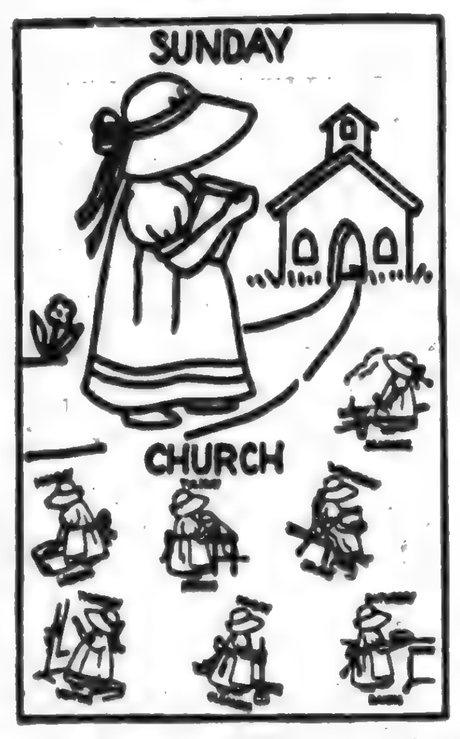
Rulers Played Tricks

Rulers of large countries have played incredible tricks on their people. In the Eighteenth century Emperor Ch'ing Lung of China convinced his credulous countrymen that he ruled the world, by publishing and widely circulating a book which showed in both text and illustrations that "the world's 42 countries and 231 tribes" acknowledged him as their emperor.—Collier's Weekly.

A QUILT OF EIGHT SUNBONNET BABIES

PACKAGE No. 575.



By GRANDMOTHER CLARK

This little quilt answers the question, "What shall I make for the baby." Eight cute Sunbonnet Babies. One for each day in the week and a holiday. This quilt requires the pictured eight 9-inch blocks and seven plain blocks. Embroider the stamped blocks in simple outline stitch using any color thread desired. The plain blocks and border may be white but dainty pastel shades will be very effective. One and one-half yards of 36-inch material is required for the plain blocks and 6-inch border allowing one-fourth inch for seams. Finished quilt measures 37 by 54 inches when using a 6-inch border.

Package No. 575 contains these eight 9-inch quilt blocks stamped on good quality white quilting material, also quilting design in actual size for quilting the plain blocks and border. Instructions are also included. Sent postpaid for 25 cents.

Devil Dislikes Blue

In Mexico there's a superstition that painting the windows of a house blue will keep the devil away. Many home owners in the United States are adopting the custom—if not the superstition—and are selecting blue as a trim color for the exterior of their homes.

Hello, Everybody!

"How Wars Are Born"

By FLOYD GIBBONS
Famous Headline Hunter.

HERE'S a lad who says he saw me in Shanghai—and boy, would I have a tough time trying to prove an alibi on that statement. As a matter of fact, any alibi I might try to dig up would be shot to pieces before I started, because this lad sends in a picture he took of Colonel Freddie Barker and me, standing at one of the rifle emplacements in the International Settlement, during the late Sino-Japanese argument at Shanghai.

The man who took that picture is Frank B. Eckhardt. And along with the picture he sends the story of an incident that happened over there, in which he participated—an incident that might easily have started another war—a war between Japan and the good old U. S. A.

This incident happened to Frank and a bunch of his buddies while he was doing duty with the First Battalion, United States Marines, stationed on Sinza road, Shanghai. It was in January, 1932, just about a week after the trouble had broken out between the Japs and the Chinese, and the whole place was in a turmoil.

The officers of the battalion had a Chinese tailor by the name of Fong Kee, and one day Kee came to battalion headquarters and asked for a guard to take him to his shop on Boone road, Hong Kew district, to get the officers' uniforms. He couldn't go and get them alone, because the shop was inside the Japanese lines, and an unprotected Chinese in that territory wouldn't stand a chance of getting out with any merchandise.

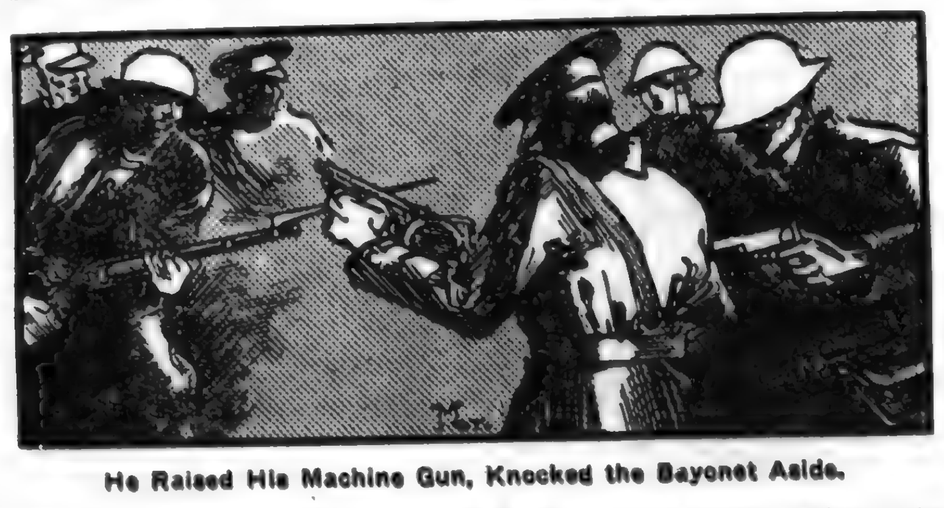
Guard Is Armed for Any Emergency.

A guard was made up which consisted of a battalion major and headquarters company commander, two other privates and Frank. They rode in a truck and were armed with pistols and Thompson sub-machine guns.

They got to the tailor shop all right, and the officers and Fong Kee went inside while Frank and one other private stood guard at the entrance. And no sooner had the officers gone in than a Japanese patrol, consisting of 20 men and an officer, came marching down the street. They stopped at the sight of two American marines in the tailor shop doorway, turned and leveled their rifles in a menacing manner.

They stood that way, poised on their toes, for a moment, then suddenly one of the Japanese soldiers lowered his bayonet and sprang toward them.

The Jap pointed the bayonet at Frank's buddy—the other marine private on guard with him at the doorway. He raised his machine gun, knocked the bayonet aside, pulled back the extractor of his gun and yelled at him to stop—that he meant business.



He Raised His Machine Gun, Knocked the Bayonet Aside.

Even a Jap Was Afraid of a Tommy Gun.

The Jap took a step backward at the sight of that deadly machine-gun pointed at him. The marine officers came running out of the tailor shop and the officer of the Japanese patrol stepped forward to see what the trouble was.

During the heated conversation that ensued, the Jap officer demanded Fong Kee as his prisoner and expressed his intention of seizing the uniforms that had been placed in the truck. The marine officers finally convinced him, however, that the goods were American property and that they were not aiding the Chinese in any way, and the truck was then allowed to proceed.

When the truck was loaded it started back toward battalion headquarters. They were approaching the Woochang road crossing when another Japanese patrol halted them. They surrounded the truck, ordered the marines to get out, and again came the demand for the truck's contents and for Fong Kee, the tailor.

Major Lets Japs Know He'll Fight.

The second patrol was even more threatening in its attitude than the first. The American major ordered his men to cock their pieces—told the Japanese that if they approached the truck, or even touched it, he would give the word to fire.

The Jap officer's face turned black with anger. There followed a few moments of tense silence while he stood deliberating. Then he said that the marines could proceed with the truck if they left the goods behind and turned Fong Kee over to them.

Again the major had to go through that long-winded explanation that the goods were the property of American officers and that he was not seeking to aid the Chinese in any way. After considerable argument, then, the Jap officer accepted the explanation. The truck started for headquarters once more and this time it managed to get back to Sinza road without meeting any more Japanese patrols out looking for an argument.

Frank says you can't get any idea of how scared he was. Those Japs, he says, looked as though they were spoiling for trouble. And although they got out of it each time with nothing more dangerous than a little heated discussion, he never knew when those Japs were going to take it into their heads to open fire.

"If you ask me," he goes on, "I'd say I was looking into the eyes of death twice inside of half an hour. And that's plenty for one day."

Graham Bread Named for Lecturer on Temperance

Graham bread received its name from Sylvester Graham (1794-1851), an American lecturer on temperance and food reform. He was born at Suffield, Conn. After studying at Amherst for a time he entered the Presbyterian ministry in 1826. He maintained that a vegetable diet was incompatible with a desire for stimulants, and as part of his temperance and food reform campaign he not only advocated total abstinence from meat but also recommended the eating of bread made of unsifted or unbolted wheat flour; that is, flour in which all the wheat kernel except the husk is used. In "A Defense of the Graham System of Living," published in 1835, Graham wrote:

"Of wheat bread, there are three varieties; in the first, all the bran is separated; in the second, only the coarse, and, in the third, none at all. The bread made of flour from which all the bran has been separated is that most commonly used, but bread made of flour from which none of the bran has been separated is the most wholesome."

Graham is often referred to as the "inventor" or "introducer" of Graham bread. He was neither, for whole-wheat bread was the first wheat bread made. Graham's name became associated with its because he included the article in his dietary regimen, which at one time had many thousands of adherents throughout the United States. The system was called Graham and its adherents Grahamites.—Indianapolis News.

Denominations in the Colonies

The principal denominations in the colonies were the Church of England, the Lutheran, Congregational or Nonconformist, and later the Baptist, and Methodist, as well as the Roman Catholic. The Bibles principally in use were the King James version of the English Bible, the Lutheran translation of the German Bible, and the Douai translation of the Catholic or French Bible.

Two Kinds of Fox Terriers

There are two kinds of fox terriers, namely, the smooth-haired and the wire-haired. The smooth-haired terrier has the same courageous and lovable qualities as his brother and up to recent years has been the most popular. The two types weigh somewhere between 12 and 20 pounds and are considered one of the most popular breeds in the dog kingdom.

A Tip to Golfers

THE favorite food of the Kansas species of the famous philly-loo bird is lost golf balls. So when a golfer drives a ball down the middle of the fairway and then isn't able to find it, he knows at once that a philly-loo bird has swooped down and gobbled it up. Since this strange bird is invisible, of course, the golf ball becomes invisible also.

But W. M. Huff of the Chaflin (Kan.) Clarion has developed a plan for outwitting the philly-loo. He tells about it as follows:

"My method is to use specially-prepared balls as bait. You take some red and white striped stick candy and dissolve it in hot water, making striped paint. Paint the golf balls with this striped paint and when the philly-loo bird swallows the ball the paint will still be visible so you can locate the bird.

"The best way to kill it is to cut out a section from the heart of a tornado, where the air pressure is greatly reduced by the whirling motion. Armed with this section of rarified atmosphere you get as close as possible to the bird and throw the rare atmosphere all over him. Then the bird just flies to pieces and the ball drops at your feet. Simple, isn't it?"

Right Good Butter

VERMONT is noted for its maple sirup but it ought to be noted also for its dairy products—that is, if Uncle Joe Stokes' cow had ever become well-known outside of the little town in the Green mountains where he lived. She was a mighty fine cow, but Uncle Joe had a lot of trouble with her one time or another. Always wandering off somewhere, she was—just chock-full of curiosity.

One day when the door of Uncle Joe's ice house was open she strolled into it, and when the wind blew the door shut she was trapped. He didn't find her for three days, and when he did he had to put on fur mittens to milk her. Then, blamed if she didn't give nothing but ice cream!

Uncle Joe's family was getting tired of nothing but ice cream for dessert, when finally the cow seemed to thaw out a bit. But the next day she wandered over to a marble quarry. When the men blasted out a big slab of the stone the explosion shook her up so that for the next week she didn't give anything but butter.

But fine butter it was—cool and firm and hard. Then a hot spell came and Uncle Joe was afraid the butter might spoil. So he took it down to a shady nook and put it on a big stone. Up, up, up went the thermometer that day and Uncle Joe began to worry about his butter. Finally he went down to look at it.

"Well, sir," says Uncle Joe, "I found that that stone had melted and run away. But the butter was all right."

Taming a Tornado

THE Old Cattleman perched himself on the top rail and squinted through the dust at the little bay pitching and squealing around in the middle of the corral.

"Reminds me of the time Pecos Bill met that tornado up on the Kansas line," he remarked. "She sure was a twister, all right. But Bill eared her down and climbed on. Off she went, down across Texas, sun-fishin', back-flippin', doin' everything a bad hoss ever thought of doin'.

"But Bill just set up there, thumbin' that tornado in the withers, slappin' her across the head with his sombrero or fannin' hisself with it. Up ahead he seed a forest that stretched away fer miles and miles. But after him and his tornado bronc had passed it was nothin' but a barren prairie—the Staked Plains, they calls it today.

"He rode her through three states but over in Californy she got him. When the tornado saw she couldn't toss him, she just rained out from under him. Yep, that's how the Grand Canyon came to be washed out in that part of Arizony.

"Bill he come down ker-plunk in the southern part of the Golden state and when he lit he made a big hole three hundred feet below sea-level. I reckon you know it as Death Valley . . . what, you don't believe it? Jest go down there, then, and take a look. You'll see the print of his hip pockets in the solid rock . . . what more proof do you want, anyway?"

Pepper Used as Spice

Pepper is one of the oldest spices known. Hippocrates used it as a medicine. Pepper differs from most other spices in this, that its pungency resides not in the volatile parts or essential oil, but in a substance of a more fixed kind, which does not rise in the heat of boiling water. The peppercorn which, when ground, is the familiar black or white pepper, grows on a creeping vine, usually at its best in the moist heat of a low-lying tropical forest. When pepper is cultivated on a large scale it is a common practice to plant trees to support the creeper and provide shade. When the berries are changing from green to red they are collected, and dried in the sun until they become black and shriveled. Ground in this condition, they produce black pepper. If white is required the black skins are removed.

Throw Me a Cable, Captain, and I'll Give You a Tow!

A man in search of a quiet holiday set out in a small sailing boat, his only equipment consisting of provisions and a wireless set. He sailed serenely for several days, until at last he sighted one of those liners which resemble small towns rather than ships, says the London Observer. The appearance of the little boat created excitement on board the liner, which slowed down.

The captain was wondering whether it was a matter of going to the rescue when the holiday maker moved to his transmitter and tapped out the message: "Is there anything I can do for you?"

Why Physicians Recommend Milnesia Wafers

These mint-flavored, candy-like wafers are pure milk of magnesia in solid form—much pleasanter to take than liquid. Each wafer is approximately equal to a full adult dose of liquid milk of magnesia. Chewed thoroughly, then swallowed, they correct acidity in the mouth and throughout the digestive system, and insure regular, complete elimination without pain or effort. Milnesia Wafers come in bottles of 20 and 48, at 35c and 60c respectively, and in convenient tins for your handbag containing 12 at 20c. Each wafer is approximately one adult dose of milk of magnesia. All good drug stores sell and recommend them.

Ground Grip
The tire that makes its own road

FARMERS everywhere are enthusiastic in their praises of the Firestone Ground Grip Tire — they say it's the greatest traction tire ever built, and so economical. How was it possible for Firestone to build such a remarkable tire? Firestone patented construction features are the answer. Gum-Dipping, a process that soaks every cotton fiber in every cord with pure liquid rubber, prevents internal friction and heat and gives the cord body greater strength to withstand the stresses and strains of heavy pulling at low air pressures.

The patented feature of two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread locks the massive super traction tread securely to the body of the tire. This patented Ground Grip tread is made wider, heavier and deeper, with scientific spacing between the bars so that the tire is self-cleaning, yet rides smoothly on improved roads. These patented construction features are used only in Firestone Tires. This is why you get greatest traction, longest life and outstanding performance in Ground Grip Tires. They are the best investment a farmer can make.

Equip your car, truck, tractor and farm implements with new Firestone Ground Grip Tires and save yourself time, money and hard work. See this remarkable tire at your nearby Firestone Auto Supply and Service Store, at your Tire Dealer, or at your Implement Dealer. Remember, when buying farm equipment specify Firestone Ground Grip Tires for greatest efficiency and economy.

Ford led all other cars in 1935

THE TREND IS TOWARD THE V·8

NEWS of something good has a way of getting around. That is particularly true of an automobile. One motorist tells another. First thing you know, one car is way out in front.

That's what has happened to the Ford V-8. People bought it — saw the advantages of driving a V-8 — told their friends. Production in the United States and Canada started going up and up and reached a total of 1,272,885 for 1935. This was a gain of 77% in a year—it put Ford sales more than 190,000 above any other make.

It takes an unusually good car to make a record like that. It is convincing proof of performance and satisfaction and good service — further evidence that the trend is definitely toward the V-8.

Modern motoring requires at least eight cylinders. And why not have them? The 1936 Ford gives you V-8 cylinder power, smoothness and ease of handling. On top of this it gives you the economy of operation for which Ford cars have always been famous.

We invite you to drive the new Ford V-8. You can buy any new Ford V-8 car for $25 a month, with the usual low down-payment, on new UCC ½% per month Finance Plans. See the nearest dealer for a demonstration.

NOTES ON POLITICS
(By Elmer W. Sherwood)

Special Session

The big bad wolf of the McNutt administration is the inevitable special session. It seems that the powers in the state house have the jitters on the subject, because of the possibility that it may wreck the Hoosier Democratic party on the rocks of factionalism. The leaders are said to feel now that the easiest way out is to set the date following the primary and state and national conventions so that if there is ever a chance for the majority members to get together, it will be after all candidates are out of the wav. Hence July is the best guess of political observers today.

Senator VanNuys has cast his lot with Kirk McKinney; Senator Minton is with Pleas Greenlee, and the Governor seems to have no place to go except for Lieutenant-Governor Townsend, who, by the way, may be wrecked by the special session whenever it is held. Al Feeney put the greatest dent in the Townsend candidacy when he told the world that the Lieutenant-Governor and his Milk Board were milking the farmers instead of the cows.

BASKET BALL

The St. Joe Pickles were badly frosted at Bluffton last Friday night, losing a poorly played game by the score of 28-51.

Whether the poor playing was due to the presence of the Editor as a rooter or the absence of Ora Baker from the stands has not been figured out yet.

Hear Kagawa Lecture.

Mrs. Hollis Dilley and son, John, Rev. C. J. Ferster and Mrs. F. B. Leighty, attended the World Work Conference held at North Manchester Saturday afternoon and evening, at which time the main attraction was the famous lecturer Kagawa, the Japanese. One of his stories is now being run in two of the Sunday School papers in St. Joe schools, "A Grain of Wheat." Read it.

Attend Fremont Funeral.

Edgar Lysher, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Nan Lysher, his sister, Mrs. Geo. Kees, and aunt, Mrs. Lee Jackson, motored to Fremont, Ohio, Saturday to attend the funeral of their cousin and nephew, Lloyd Belden. The burial took place in the family burying ground near Norwalk, a distance of forty miles from Fremont. Others who attended the funeral from this way were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Brandon, of Auburn and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Timmerman, of west of Spencerville.

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. LI. (51 Years.) (In The St. Joe Valley) ST. JOE, DeKALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY, MARCH 12, 1936 NUMBER 11

SPENCERVILLE WIFE GIVEN DIVORCE

Complaining of her husband's cruelty and non-support, Marthanelle Fisher, of Spencerville, secured a divorce from Lynn Fisher in the DeKalb circuit court Monday. The couple married Feb. 16, 1935, and separated Sept. 1.

The plaintiff testified that her husband cursed her, twisted her arm on one occasion, slapped her, told her to get a divorce and finally abandoned her. She doesn't know where he is now. The court restored her former name, Marthanelle Hosler.

Charles H. Halter, of Ft. Wayne, is her attorney, while Geo. E. Mountz, prosecuting attorney, appeared for the state.

ANOTHER DIVIDEND TO BANK DEPOSITORS

Authority to pay an additional 10 per cent dividend to creditors of the St. Joe Valley bank has been secured in the DeKalb circuit court by Paul Heichelback, special representative of the department of banking institutions of Indiana.

The total of the payment, which is to be made March 21, is $6,215.22. Of this, $3,263 was obtained from liquidation of assets of the bank and $2,952.22 from stockholders' liability.

About 250 depositors of the bank will benefit from the distribution. Dividends aggregating 70 per cent have previously been paid. Mr. Heichelbeck still has assets of the bank, but the time of payment of another dividend or its amount are uncertain.

TWENTY THOUSAND QUAIL LIBERATED IN OUR OWN INDIANA FIELDS

Twenty tousand quail are being liberated in Indiana this spring to increase the native stock and assure Hoosier sportsmen plenty of field sport next fall, Virgil M. Simmons, commissioner of the Department of Conservation, stated today. The liberation of quail is being carried out by the Division of Fish and Game with the cooperation of local conservation clubs in each county.

The liberation of quail is being carried on this spring on a bigger scale than at any time in the past, representing an increase of nearly forty per cent of the number of birds available for stocking purposes. By making the distribution of quail at this time, conservation officials anticipate a large natural increase in the quail population during the summer months with a consequent increase in game during the hunting season.

Quail hunting is becoming one of the major field sports for thousands of Hoosiers and every attempt is being made by the Division of Fish and Game to adequately stock all areas where food and cover conditions are favorable. During the past hunting season, reports from many sections of the state indicated more quail than had been seen for many years.

Due to the extensive emergency feeding program carried on during the winter months, most of the quail came through the sub-zero weather in good condition. Scattered reports were received of quail being found frozen as a result of starvation but the losses were less serious than had been anticipated.

HERBERT HOOVER

Former President Herbert Hoover has accepted an invitation to deliver an address on Saturday evening, April 4, at the Mispath Shrine Temple Auditorium, it was announced today by Ralph F. Gates, of Columbia City, chairman of the fourth district Republican Central committee, under whose auspices the former chief executive of the United States will come here.

Admission to the big republican meeting which will be of national interest will be by ticket only.

A playlet entitled, "Polite Priscilla and Gertie the Goop," by the Third and Fourth Grades.

Vocal Solo, "On Account of I Love You," Frances Reidenbach.

Remarks by patrons and school officials.

Music by the High School.

Election of officers.

BASKET BALL

The St. Joe Valley Pickles will play the Hicksville Merchants on the local floor on Friday night, March 13. The Cucumbers will play the Hicksville Peppers in a preliminary. The Hicksville teams are coming to make a last effort to take the Pickles in camp.

Asia contains half of the population of the entire world.

"I'm glad the sky is painted blue;
And the earth is painted green;
And such a lot of nice fresh air
Is sandwiched in between."

Meese Property Sold

The sale by Frank R. Bowman, commissioner in the partition suit of himself as administrator of the Isaac Meese estate against Frank Meese et al, of part of lot 7 in Leighty's first addition to St. Joe to Clara E. McCann for $300 was approved in the DeKalb circuit court Monday. The property was appraised in that sum by H. G. Hursh and D. W. Yeiser.

WITH OUR CLUB LADIES

The ladies of the St. Joe Literary Club were royally entertained by husbands and friends last Wednesday night at the Auburn Country Club. The committee for the evening was composed of the Messrs William Staman, John Leighty, Fred Leighty, Frank Curie, Ern Johnson and Merritt Sechler.

A delicious three-course meal was served at seven o'clock in true banquet style at a long, ell-shaped table. Partners were chosen, and each lady entered the candle lighted dining-room on the arm of some gentleman who was not her husband. The table was quite charmingly appointed with attractive centerpieces and silver candlabra. The flowers, sent by Mr. and Mrs. John Leighty, were straw flowers, evergreen, cat tails, French pussy willows, and fern, in low, becoming arrangements down the table.

After the dinner Mr. Fred Leighty in the capacity of toastmaster called attention to the bond of mutual feeling among the members and friends present, citing their similar tastes and ideals. Then very cleverly he surprised several of the group by asking them for impromptu speeches. Nimble wits flew to contribute jests and puns that kept the company laughing heartily. Toasts were made to both sexes earnestly and jocularly.

Among the highlights of the talks were those given by Mr. and Mrs. William Staman and Mr. Merritt Sechler, who have recently returned from a trip to California. They related many interesting experiences and told of meeting DeKalb County acquaintances enroute.

The group presently adjourned to the parlors of the Club house to visit. Group games were conducted by Mrs. Holis Dilley, and everyone enjoyed music with Mrs. Clyde Baumgartner at the piano. The guests lingered late and made their exits reluctantly. The hosts were proud of their sucessful party and the women were equally as proud of their husbands for having staged it. Thus ended the 1936 gentleman's evening for the Ladies' Literary Club.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. John Hull, Mr. and Mrs. Frank May, Miss Violet May, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leighty, Mr. and Mrs. John Leighty, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Cole, Miss Janalyce Rouls, Mrs. Inez Hadsell, Mr. Merritt Sechler, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Buckingham, Mr. and Mrs. John Woodcox, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Goldsmith, Mrs. Delora Curie, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curie, Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Dilley, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Baker, Mr. and Mrs. William Staman, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Haller, Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Shull, all of St. Joe, and Dr. and Mrs. Clyde Baumgartner, Dr. and Mrs. B. O. Shook, of Spencerville.

NOTICE TO VOTERS

The attention of all voters is called to the fact that a voter who has moved from the precinct in which he or she voted in the General Election of November 6th, 1934, is ineligible to vote in the Primary Election of 1936, until he or she shall file an application to transfer his or her voters registration to the precinct in which he or she now lives.

Applications to transfer such registrations can be made at the following places in DeKalb County:

County Clerk's Office, Auburn, Indiana.

City Clerk's Office, Garrett, Indiana.

Justice of the Peace Office, Waterloo, Indiana.

Charles Campbell, Butler Indiana.

St. Joe News Office, St. Joe, Indiana.

Board of Election Commissioners of DeKalb County, Indiana.

DANCE AND DINNER OPEN CAMPAIGN

Mr. Oliver Opdycke, president of the DeKalb County Young Republicans Club, and Mrs. Helen Gordon, secretary of the Club, have announced that a dinner and dance for the republicans of DeKalb County will be sponsored by the Club, to be held on Wednesday, March 18th. A dinner will be held at 6:30 P. M. at the K. of P. Hall in Auburn to be followed by a dance at the Auburn Country Club. Mr. Ralph Gates, of Columbia City, Republican District Chairman and Mrs. Grace Double, of Fort Wayne, Republican District Chairwoman, will be present at the dinner and the principal speaker of the evening will be Dr. Raymond Schutz, of North Manchester College.

This meeting will constitute the opening of the republican campaign in DeKalb County and tickets for the dinner will be available from any of the officers of the Young Republicans Club of DeKalb County, the committee in charge of the meeting, and from Henry C. Springer, County Chairman and Mrs. Ida Penry, County Vice Chairwoman.

LEGION CELEBRATION

The American Legion will celebrate its seventeenth birthday anniversary on the seventeenth of March.

Post 283 will hold its birthday party at the hall with entertainment for all ex-service men and their families.

A radio will be installed to receive the history of the Legion, which will be dramatized and broadcast over the National Blue Network. The time of broadcasting will be from 10:30 P. M. to 11:30 P. M. (C. S. T.)

Only two addresses will be given on this program, a five minute talk by Mrs. Melville Mucklestone, national president of the Auxiliary, and a brief address by National Commander Murphy at the close of the dramatization.

TO SELL FARM

Geo. B. Hart, administrator of the Jas. W. Hart estate, has been authorized in the DeKalb circuit court to sell 54.07 acres of land in Newville township. The farm was appraised at $2,700 by Claude D. Laub and O. E. Ginther and Mr. Hart filed $3,000 additional surety bond.

Pinedale, Wyoming, is 104 miles from the nearest railroad.

ATTENTION
Potato Growers

We have some excellent Katahdin Seed Potatoes for sale and we have already made sale to some of the largest growers in Indiana. This is a new seed being introduced into Indiana, which has already given great results for the past three years. These potatoes grow smooth, no cracks, are bright in color, and are great yielders and we refer you to your County Agent or Purdue for recommendation of this variety.

We have only a limited amount left and if you are interested in buying or not, you are invited to come and inspect them at our Auburn storage situated just east of the Pennsylvania depot.

Learn One Thing Well; Dare to Be What You Are

Give up trying to know everything, to embrace all. Learn to limit yourself, to content yourself with some definite thing, and some definite work; dare to be what you are, and to learn to resign with good grace all that you are not, and to believe in your own individuality.—Amiel.

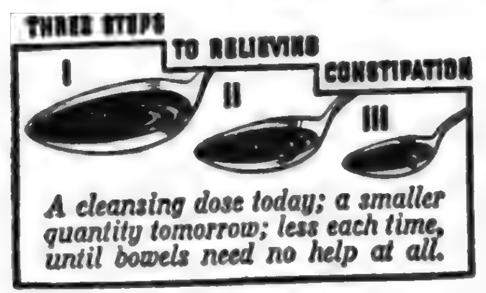
DOCTORS KNOW

Mothers read this:



THREE STEPS TO RELIEVING CONSTIPATION
I
II
III

A cleansing dose today; a smaller quantity tomorrow; less each time, until bowels need no help at all.

Why do people come home from a hospital with bowels working like a well-regulated watch?

The answer is simple, and it's the answer to all your bowel worries if you will only realize it: many doctors and hospitals use liquid laxatives.

If you knew what a doctor knows, you would use only the liquid form. A liquid can always be taken in gradually reduced doses. Reduced dosage is the secret of any real relief from constipation.

Ask a doctor about this. Ask your druggist how very popular liquid laxatives have become. They give the right kind of help, and right amount of help. The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara — both natural laxatives that can form no habit, even in children. So, try Syrup Pepsin. You just take regulated doses till Nature restores regularity.

No Need to Suffer "Morning Sickness"

"Morning sickness"—is caused by an acid condition. To avoid it, acid must be offset by alkalis—such as magnesia.

Why Physicians Recommend Milnesia Wafers

These mint-flavored, candy-like wafers are pure milk of magnesia in solid form—the most pleasant way to take it. Each wafer is approximately equal to a full adult dose of liquid milk of magnesia. Chewed thoroughly, then swallowed, they correct acidity in the mouth and throughout the digestive system and insure quick, complete elimination of the waste matters that cause gas, headaches, bloated feelings and a dozen other discomforts.

Milnesia Wafers come in bottles of 20 and 48, at 35c and 60c respectively, and in convenient tins for your handbag containing 12 at 20c. Each wafer is approximately one adult dose of milk of magnesia. All good drug stores sell and recommend them.

Start using these delicious, effective anti-acid, gently laxative wafers today

Professional samples sent free to registered physicians or dentists if request is made on professional letterhead. Select Products, Inc., 4402 23rd St., Long Island City, N. Y.

Floyd Gibbons ADVENTURERS' CLUB Hello, Everybody!

"On Jacob's Ladder

By FLOYD GIBBONS
Famous Headline Hunter.

WELL, sir, here's one of those automobile stories I've been looking for. By golly, I knew they were there waiting for me. Why, doggone it, there must be a million good auto adventures in hiding. The field isn't even scratched yet.

Half our adventuring today is done in automobiles, and I'll bet most every one of you has a good gas-buggy yarn in mind that you just haven't gotten around to sending me yet.

This automobile yarn is a lulu, too. It comes from George H. Smith, and the trouble George got into, well, gosh hang it, it's almost enough to make a man sell his car and put the dough into life insurance.

Of course, George Smith can't very well sell that bus of his. In the first place he doesn't own it, and in the second he makes his living driving the doggone thing.

George has been a truck driver since 1921 and he must be a pretty good one, too, for he drove that old petrol wagon for 12 years without getting into any really serious trouble.

Here Begins the Story of George's Woes.

One day, back in 1933 though, George did get into trouble. But I'm not the man to tell you about that. Let George do it!

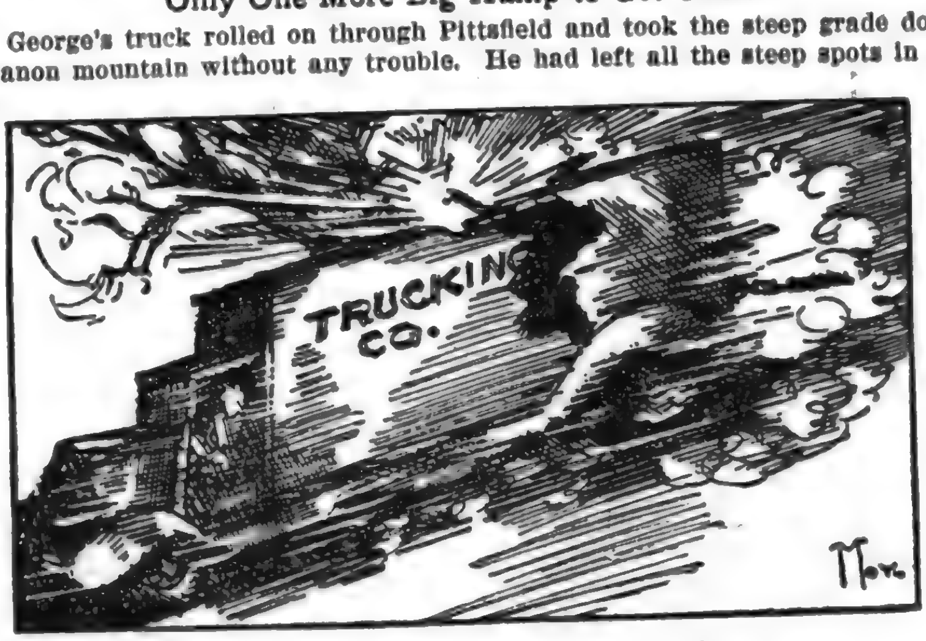
"I was driving a big freight van," says George, "from Boston to Albany. I was getting along fine until just before I got to Pittsfield. Then, coming down a steep hill called Jacob's Ladder, the car seemed to get away from me.

"I had to grab the hand brake to prevent a smash, and what a racket that brake made. I got her to the bottom of the hill all right, though, and there I found I'd broken the brake shoe on the drive shaft.

"That left me nothing but the foot brakes. Maybe I should have stopped right there and had it fixed. If I'd had any idea of what was going to happen, I darned sure would have. But lots of drivers got along with a hand brake so I stepped on the gas and took a chance."

Only One More Big Hump to Get Over.

George's truck rolled on through Pittsfield and took the steep grade down Lebanon mountain without any trouble. He had left all the steep spots in his route behind him now—all except one, and he was coming to that—a small mountain that drops down into the town of Nassau, New York.



TRUCKING CO.

SMASH! The Side of the Van Hit a Tree.

George rolled over the top of that mountain and had just started down the other side when suddenly his foot brake slipped and the van leaped forward.

George grabbed for the shift lever—tried to throw her back into first. It was no use. He tried the brake again, but this time the foot brake didn't work at all. And all the time the truck was gathering speed as it raced down the steep incline toward the bottom.

It's Not the Hill—It's What's Below!

It was only four miles to the bottom of that hill, but, as George says, a lot can happen on a four-mile hill, especially when there's a town at the bottom.

The truck, by this time, was going faster than any truck was ever built to go—swaying from side to side and all but leaping from the road.

George made a right turn and negotiated a left—prayed that he wouldn't meet any traffic. Now houses began to flash by, warning him that the town at the bottom of the hill was not far away.

"All I had," says George, "was a horn and a prayer. I dropped down a grade steeper than the rest, with a sharp curve at the bottom. And at the speed I was making I knew I'd never make that turn."

Crash of Truck Saves Driver's Life.

Well, he didn't—exactly. The van hit the curve and started to dip. George clutched the wheel and held his breath as both his left wheels raised off the ground. He braced himself for a fall and then—SMASH—the side of the van hit a tree, tearing half the body from the wheels.

But that crash had saved George's life. The force of the impact knocked the big truck back on all four wheels again and it caromed off down the last steep grade toward the town.

Ahead of him red traffic lights turned green as he roared through the village of Nassau, his horn screeching a frantic warning.

George steered the big van to the side of the road—rubbed his tires against the curb in a vain effort to slow it down. Then he hit a short up-grade and came to a stop on the outskirts of the village.

"My knees," George says, "were like rags and I had to sit down a while. I looked back down the street and there was freight scattered along the curbing as far as I could see. I looked under the truck and found that the pinion gear was gone out of the rear end.

"A town officer drove up and I was arrested. Reckless driving was the charge, but when the kindly old judge heard my story he let me off with a $10 fine."

St. Bernard Dogs Swiss Heroes as Life-Savers

So universal is the fame of the St. Bernard dogs that it goes without saying that they rank first among the aristocracy of Switzerland's canine world. Their home, as their name suggests, is the Great St. Bernard Hospice, founded over 1,000 years ago by Bernard de Menthon, a saintly priest, and inhabited up to this day by brethren of the Order of St. Augustine, states a writer in the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Winter lasts from eight to nine months in that isolated mountain region and the snow is sometimes piled up as high as 12 to 15 feet. Blizzards are sudden and descend with such fury that many travelers would surely perish were it not for the vigilance and devotion of the monks and their marvelously trained dogs.

Historic records show that the Hospice was without any dogs up to 1670 A. D. From then on the brethren kept a few watch dogs, but it is not clearly established of what breed they were. These animals soon took delight in accompanying their masters on their many errands of mercy and were quickly appreciated for their unerring sense of location.

The race which has for the last 250 years been described as St. Bernards has, according to a noted naturalist, been gradually developed by the monks through careful breeding and training in life-saving work.

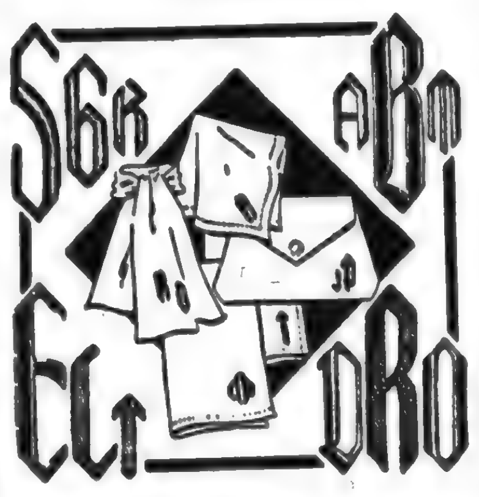
The short-haired variety is the original kind. In 1830 some of the brethren decided to cross their dogs with Newfoundlands, in order to raise animals which would be protected against the inclement climate with longer hair. However, this crossing did not affect the physical characteristics of the St. Bernards, and only the hair became longer.

General Morgan's View

A Union soldier who had been captured by Gen. John Morgan during the latter's raid through southern Ohio in the Civil war raised his arms to break his musket across a rock. To prevent this, one of Morgan's men instantly drew a revolver to shoot the prisoner, but Morgan forbade this with the statement: "Never harm a man who has surrendered. In breaking his musket, he is doing just as I would were I in his place."

Monograms Make Your Linens Doubly Precious

PATTERN 1126



Variety's the Spice of Life—and monograms, too, for the smartest ones today combine letters in varying sizes. That's why we included four different alphabets—a large, a medium and two small ones—so that you may "scramble" your own. They work up easily and quickly, using a combination of satin, seed and buttonhole stitches with a bit of cutwork. Anyone with "Hope Chest" linens will find these alphabets invaluable. They fit beautifully into a diamond or triangular shape.

Pattern 1126 comes to you with a transfer pattern of an alphabet 3 inches high; one 2 inches high; and two alphabets 1¼ inches high; information for placing initials and monograms; illustrations of all stitches needed.

Boy Is Over Eight Feet Tall and Still Growing

Physicians say that Robert Wadlow of Alton, Ill., is still growing at the age of seventeen. That would not be unusual except for the fact that he is 8 feet 4 inches tall and weighs 390 pounds now. Wadlow is regarded as the nation's tallest man and the second tallest in history. A famous Irish giant of the Nineteenth century is said to have exceeded him.

Wadlow recently graduated from Alton high school. He wore a size 8⅛ cap and a 92-inch gown which was 50 inches around the chest and had 55-inch sleeves. His shoes are size 39. The youth expects to enter Shurtleff college next fall to study law and wants to finish at Washington university in St. Louis.

Barrels Hid Noted Papers; Queen's Tears Damp Stains

When Grant Duff visited the Register house at Edinburgh in 1862 he was shown a number of valuable and important state documents, including the list made by Mary Queen of Scots of her jewels, and was told that this, with many other valuable papers, had been taken to London in the time of Cromwell "and not sent back to Edinburgh till recent times. These valuable papers were packed in hogsheads and suffered much from the damp."

Joseph Robertson, the greatest of Scottish antiquaries of the period, had a good story about Mary's list of jewels which was one of the documents that suffered from the damp. He declared that Miss Strickland mistook the damp stains for the queen's tears and wrote a pathetic little passage accordingly.—Manchester Guardian.

Harpooned Hippo Ambushes Boat; Stiff Battle Ensues

Angered because it had been harpooned a few days before, a hippopotamus lay in ambush and suddenly attacked a ferry boat operating on the Mpaologoma swamp, a well-known Uganda waterway, near Nairobi. Charge after charge was made by the infuriated beast, which nearly boarded the vessel, the water being shallow so that it could obtain a foothold. Six natives, armed with spears, fought the invader until the arrival of a European, who shot it, amid songs and cheers from the deck of another vessel speeding to the rescue.

Find Out

From Your Doctor if the "Pain" Remedy You Take Is Safe.

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches; or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it — in comparison with Genuine Bayer Aspirin.

We say this because, before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin, most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of Bayer Aspirin largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken Bayer Aspirin year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: Genuine Bayer Aspirin is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains . . . and safe for the average person to take regularly.

You can get real Bayer Aspirin at any drug store — simply by never asking for it by the name "aspirin" alone, but always saying BAYER ASPIRIN when you buy.

CONSTIPATED 30 YEARS

"For thirty years I had chronic constipation. Sometimes I did not go for four or five days. I also had awful gas bloating, headaches and pain in the back. Adlerika helped right away. Now I eat sausage, bananas, pie, anything I want and never felt better. I sleep soundly all night and enjoy life." —Mrs. Mabel Schott.

If you are suffering from constipation, sleeplessness, sour stomach, and gas bloating, there is quick relief for you in Adlerika. Many report action in 30 minutes after taking just one dose. Adlerika gives complete action, cleansing your bowel tract where ordinary laxatives do not even reach.

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adlerika checks the growth of intestinal bacteria and colon bacilli."

Give your stomach and bowels a real cleansing with Adlerika and see how good you feel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and chronic constipation. Sold by all druggists and drug departments.

Beating the Drouth

IT WAS the drouth year of 1934. Day after day the sun blazed down from a cloudless sky. Scorching winds blew across the western plains. Wells went dry and rivers became mere trickles.

Down in Oklahoma, Al Gotlieb, owner of the J-R ranch, looked at his herd of 499 prime steers. They were growing thinner every day because they would not eat the brown, dry grass. Unless he could fatten them he was ruined.

One day a peddler stopped at the ranch house. "Better buy a pair of these green goggles to protect your eyes from the glare of the sun," he said. The ranchman took one look through them, then exclaimed "How soon can you get me 498 more pairs?"

A week later the 498 pairs arrived. The ranchman fitted them on his steers. They saw broad fields of rich, green grass and began to graze eagerly. But when it came time to drink from the river they refused. Animal instinct told them that green water is often poisonous. There was only one thing to do and the ranchman did it.

A telegram brought 499 more pairs of goggles—only this time the lenses in them were blue.

Of course, it was a lot of trouble to change the goggles—first green, then blue, then green, then blue, etc.—on 499 steers every day. But that fall the J-R steers topped the Kansas City market because they were in such prime condition.

Grand Fishin' in Grand Canyon

THROUGH the Grand Canyon in Arizona flows the Colorado river. Since "Colorado" is Spanish for "red" its water should be that color, but mostly it's a turbid, yellow stream. Ask Jim Hankins, ex-prospector, ex-cowboy and now a tourist guide, if there are and fish in the stream and he will say:

"Sure, there's fish there, but I 'low I'm about the only man in Arizony who knows how to ketch them fish. They're right peculiar, same as everything else down in this country. One funny thing about 'em is that they always swim backwards.

"Why? So's to keep the mud from gettin' in their eyes. An' it's jest because o' that fact thet I kin ketch 'em. Them fish is all plumb crazy over eatin' tobacco. So when I am to go fishin' I take me a club and a ten-cent plug o' eatin' tobacco.

"Then I go down to the bottom of the canyon and I pick me out a nice shoal place where I can see the fish as they come swimmin' upstream, tail first. Then I take my pocket-knife and I cut the plug up in little bits. I wade out in the stream a little ways and spread the bait on the top of the water.

"Well, sir, them fish grab it and go down to the bottom and start chewin'. Purty soon they get a hankerin' to spit. Not even a fish can spit under water, so when they come up to the top to spit I jest haul off with my club and hit 'em over the heads. And thet's all there is to it."

How to Catch a Whiffenpoof

VISITORS to Florida are familiar with the whiffenpoof which is found in nearly all the lakes in that state. They can recognize it easily because it looks like a grampus, only it has pink feathers. Not all of them know how to catch one but Jack Worthington of the Lake Wales Highlander says this is the proper way:

The whiffenpoof is very fond of peanuts, so to catch one it is necessary to provide yourself with a bag of peanuts first, then a piece of rope, a pail of mortar, a rowboat and a short piece of 2 by 4. Wait until a good windy day is kicking up the waves on the lake and then go out after the whiffenpoof.

Row out into the lake and wait until a big wave comes along. Lasso it with the piece of rope, pull it alongside and tie it firmly to the boat. Then prop the wave up with the 2 by 4 and tie the bag of peanuts to the 2 by 4. Place the pail of mortar on top of the wave and then sit down and wait patiently.

In a little while the whiffenpoof will smell the peanuts and will rush up for them. As he grabs the sack he will pull the 2 by 4 out from under the wave. The wave falls and spills the pail of mortar all over him. Then he dies of "mortarification" and you have your whiffenpoof.

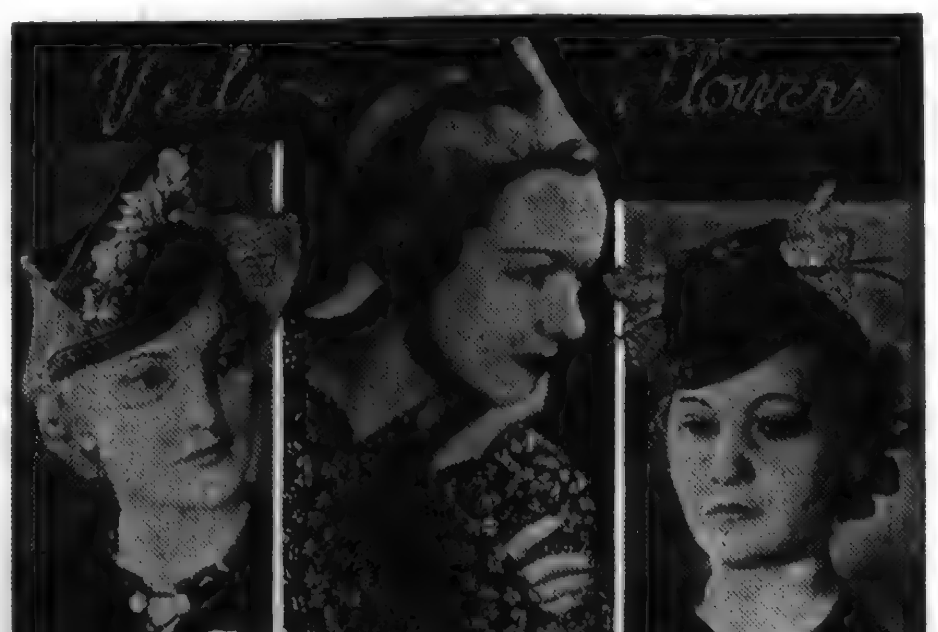
"China" Name for Porcelain

"China" is the name commonly given all porcelain, whether made of hard or soft paste, so-called because it was a type of pottery brought into Europe from the Far East, entirely different from that made on the Continent. Porcelain probably received its name from the porcelain shell because of its smooth and translucent whiteness. It was made in China for many centuries, and successful attempts to imitate it in Europe, it is said, date from about 1470. The natural or hard-paste porcelain is made from Kaolin and feldspar, the latter imparting its translucency. It is covered with a glaze and is so flintlike that it cannot be scratched. It has a clear ring when struck and is cold to the touch. Soft paste porcelain is the result of European efforts to imitate the hard paste porcelain of China. It is of softer and duller fracture.

Spring Hat Bright Spot on Horizon

By CHERIE NICHOLAS



BUY yourself a new spring hat and turn the dirge of winter into a joyous spring song. Bright spots on the horizon are the fashion "firsts" now showing in millinery previews. Which is not figuratively speaking but literally true, for the new hats are going in for color in a big way.

It is to smile at the wee size of many of them. Not much larger than your hand, are early arrivals from Paris. Go hat hunting and prove it for yourself. The less the hat the more the chic, so designers are telling us. How to anchor these diminutive yet eye-filling bits of millinery on the head at just the most fetching lilt and tilt, aye, that's the trick. Ask your milliner. It takes experience to acquire the knack, we admit.

But cheer up. Come veils, to the rescue! They tone up a hat no matter how diminutive and make it look "fit." Veils in countless number adorn the new hats. It is a frolicsome mood they are in, flying every which way, sometimes pretending they are veils when they are really trimming. They make pretty headgear look prettier to the point of fascination.

Flowers, too! Which is important news. To be sure there have been rumors and rumors of flowers but this time milliners declare they are a sure thing. It is not only that "flowers is flowers" on the new hats, but really and truly news about them is their novel positioning — perky bouquets dropped atop crowns or slanted athwart forehead lines at dashing incline or posing on bandeaux or standing at attention at the front, thus the new flower treatments repeat and repeat.

While we started out telling of the tininess of some of the new hats, please do not conclude that every new spring model has been reduced to postage stamp size. On the contrary some of the smartest numbers on the style program have brims. Shallow-crowned sailors are all the go, especially the Breton types which are shown in felt or stitched silk, and the latest swagger note is the Breton made of gay patent leather. Then, too, the hat with a visor made of silk, quilted or stitched, is very popular. Young girls are charmed with the idea of the new "Rose of the Ranch" hat with its wide round rolled-up brim and that which captures fancy most of all, its chin strap of fancy cord. Also in this class is the new Argentina type which likewise boasts a chin strap. As to the new swagger soft mannish felts, their vogue is assured.

We are following up our statement about hats of Lilliputian size by including two such in the accompanying illustration. To the right in group is a Paris model which goes to verify this new trend. It is a toque of dotted grosgrain, trimmed at the back with a feather and a veil which is not a veil. However, this bow of open mesh conveys an important message of veiling tied in bows and we might add matching bows at the throat are cited in fashion reports. To the left is another wee toque as fashion decrees for spring. A flange of geraniums and the inevitable little veil do the trimming act.

The off-the-face hat above proclaims the existing flair for gay color. It is a bright Chinese red straw. Band and bow are of black belting ribbon. The print gown is black and white.

A very smart shallow navy straw Breton concludes the group. The bouquet atop the crown and the inset about the headline are made of multicolored leather.

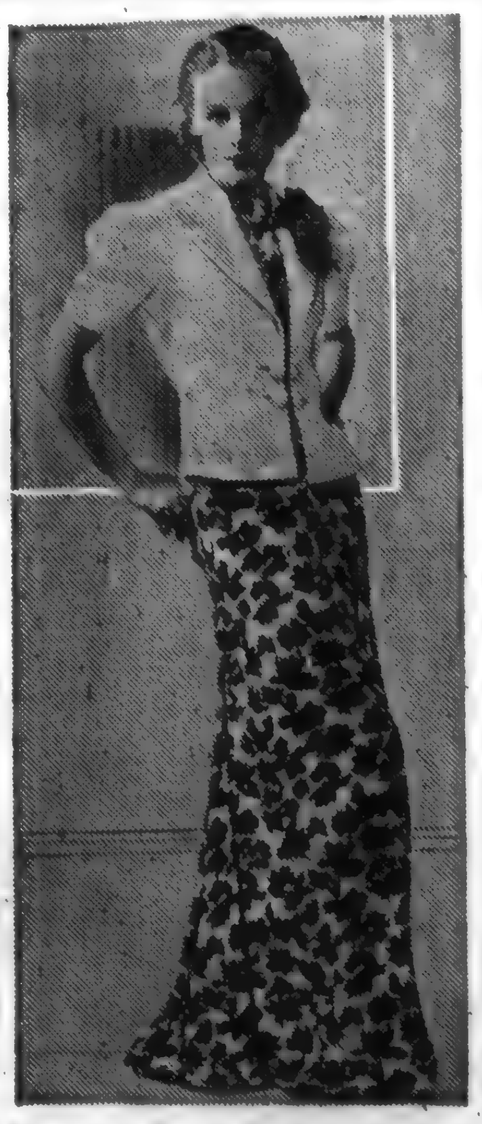
DINNER JACKET

By CHERIE NICHOLAS



Wear a dinner jacket wth your slimskirted formal print frock if you would look up-to-the-instant good style. White cotton pique is considered ever so smart for the dinner jacket. Indeed, these white washable jackets are proving quite the fad of the immediate moment. A white cotton pique dinner jacket, flared at the hips, adds a tailored note to a printed silk crepe frock as here shown. The dress has splashy flowers of red and blue on white with a decolletage cut high in front and low in back.

New Hats Exhibit Varied Sources of Inspiration

The new hats exhibit very definite but also varied sources of inspiration. A collection of one designer will show the influence of several different periods and contrasting styles. Talbot, for instance, while seeking ideas for her new berets in supple shirred rayon velvet from the portraits of Dante, has adopted for her new fur toques the Russian and Asiatic styles with a pointed and sometimes folded crown.

CHINESE MODE SEEN IN PARIS FASHIONS

China put an oriental sign on the new spring mode shown in 1936 fashion displays.

Chinese lacquer red appeared in trimmings, Chinese motifs marked belt buckles and Chinese figures were stamped on prints.

Many black afternoon frocks were designed along simple, highnecked lines, suggestive of oriental suavity. Some black dinner frocks were topped by knee-length coats of flower printed black cire silk, whose cut showed Chinese inspiration.

A slender silhouette, high neckline and accented shoulderline, marked by big topped sleeves gathered into the armhole, distinguish the Paris profile shown so far.

Waists are normal and busts are definitely outlined.

Smartest Black Costumes Touched With Vivid Colors

Bright touches either as trimming or in the way of accessories are dramatizing the season's smartest black costumes. Perhaps it will be embroidery done in vivid colored yarns or a row of striking red buttons or insets of red patent leather. As to accessories the most striking item is the new gloves which are being shown in high colors including red, green, dubonnet and the natural chamois shade is especially sponsored by smart Parisiennes.

Hearts of Fur Are Now Worn on Sleeves of Stylists

A sentimental wave has overtaken fashion in Paris. Women now literally wear their hearts on their sleeves—made of fur. Hats and gowns are perfumed. You can spray the padding with your own scent or with different scents on various occasions.

For evenings, too, you can increase your femininity by wearing little frilled tulle caps, which serve as a chignon.

Taffeta for Evening

Lots of taffeta is being shown for evening just now. There are pencil-slim taffeta frocks, and there are billowy models. Slim, black taffeta with self-ruchings of clipped material is a favorite. Usually this is done with a very deep decolletage, both in front and back. White taffeta with glittering touches is liked, and for southern wear there are taffeta frocks in pale pink and blue.

Faith an Essential to Life, Business, Marriage, Friendship

Without Which Our Very Foundations Are Shaken.

Unless we have faith the ground shifts beneath our feet. We are as uncertain as if we stood, or built, upon quicksands. We are sunk. Unless we change to firmer foundation, life is a losing proposition. It is rid of security, of happiness, of confidence, of any welcoming future. So cling to faith even in the most adverse circumstances. It is a necessary support, and a heartening help to mind and spirit.

Faith is not confined to religious experiences, although it is a fundamental of the spirit. Whatever the religion, whatever the church, faith is a necessary foundation; so true is this, that the word faith is frequently used in its stead. We often hear it said, "Of what faith is he?" meaning what church is he affiliated with. Yet the word is one of far broader meaning without losing any of its power or force. It is not segregated, but universal.

In Business.

Business is built on faith. Faith in the supply, and faith in the delivery of orders. Business trust is founded on faith in the persons trusted, or in the companies with whom dealings are carried on. Without faith business would be shattered. It is the part of good business to build up faith in it, and to be alert to know in whom to put faith.

Marriage rests on faith of husband and wife. Without it wedded life is but a travesty. Destruction of the home is imminent. Happiness flees. It is necessary for each person to be sufficiently adaptable to the other's likes and dislikes to learn to adjust to them if happiness is assured, but back of this there must exist an abiding faith.

In Friendship.

Friendships are founded on faith. Acquaintances do not become friends without each person believes in the affection of the other, in the dependable reliance of the other. Friendships cease to exist when faith is gone.

Without faith in one's children, they are cramped in development. Without faith in one's own ability of accomplishment, success fades into failure. But in all aspects faith is not a phantom, a mirage, it is a firm foundation. The faith of a child in her mother, and a mother in her child is beautiful to see.

Mr. and Mrs. George Brown and daughter, Dorothy, of Danville, Ill., were Sunday guests in the Delora Curie home.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Crick, were week end guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Crick at Fort Wayne.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Woodcox had as their guests from Saturday until Monday, their son, Vance, and family, from Detroit, Mich.

In order to make up lost time during the cold wave, the local school will be in session for two weeks longer at the close of the regular term.

The release of 2 hens and 4 rooster ring neck pheasants was made here last Friday through the local Conservation Club. A shipment of 100 was received in the county.

During the last five years, the number of farm tenants in Indiana has increased by nearly 9000. Of the total of 200,235 farms now in the state, tenants account for 63,509 or 31.6 per cent.

Mrs. Elmer Volkert, of Quincy, Mich., spent Saturday night and Sunday with her daughter, Mrs. Merle Guilford, and husband. On Sunday, Mrs. Vokert's two sons also came and spent the day in the Guilford home, all returning to Quincy in the evening.

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. LI. (51 Years.) (In The St. Joe Valley) ST. JOE, DeKALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY, MARCH 19, 1936 NUMBER 12

ST. JOE HIGH SCHOOL MAY BECOME UNIVERSITY GROUP STUDY CENTER

St. Joe High School is one of a group of high schools in which it is possible for a university study center to be established for students who have graduated from high school but who cannot afford to attend college. The plan offered is a cooperative educational project, announced here by the Indiana University Extension Division and the National Youth Administration. Prof. R. E. Cavanaugh, director of the I. U. extension division, and Winston Riley, Jr., of the state N. Y. A., worked out the plan.

In a letter to the superintendents and principals of Indiana schools, Prof. Cavanaugh has outlined the proposal as follows:

"The National Youth Administration has suggested the possibility of encouraging some of the capable young high school graduates to return to high school for postgraduate courses for which it mav be possible to secure University credit. Indiana University has a definite policy of allowing credit through University examinations for bona fide work done in high schools. Such students could be granted Federal aid to the amount of six dollars a month. This money could be used for the employment of unemployed teachers who could be secured independently of the requirement of relief.

"A program of this sort might be possible along two lines. students could do all of their work under the direction of classroom teachers qualified to teach university work; or in case of communities where there were few students and few teachers qualified for teaching such courses, or perhaps only in one or two lines of such teaching, it might be possible for the unemployed teachers to take charge of the supervision of study as it has been worked out by our Correspondence Study Bureau.

"Perhaps it would be possible in some communities for students to enroll in a full course of study in class work; in others there might be a combination of part work in classes and part in supervised correspondence work taught by I. U. faculty members, while in still others the entire program might be by correspondence. Students not eligible for NYA aid might also join the study group and pay a small fee for their courses."

LEGION POST 283 ENTERTAIN FAMILIES

Walter Whitehurst Post No 283 American Legion, entertained their families in honor of the seventeenth birthday of the Legion at an informal party Tuesday evening, March 17. Cards and party games were enjoyed by all, and pot luck lunch was served.

The Legion broadcast was received through the courtesy of the Kinsey Hardware installing a radio for the occasion.

ASKING APPOINTMENT OF JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

A petition is being circulated asking the county commissioners to appoint a Justice of the Peace for Concord Township, by W. L. Hurni. The petition also recommends the appointment of H. G. Hursh for said position.

It has been many years since a peace officer has functioned here, S. S. Widney being the last one.

BABY IS HERE

It's a girl, arrived Thursday, March 12, 1936, at 8:30 A. M., name, Beverly Joyce, weight 7 pounds, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Maxwell, 3332 Burton, Toledo, Ohio. Congratulations from The News and your many friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Curie, of Garrett, announce the arrival of a daughter, Barbara Jean, last Wednesday at 1:00 P. M. Congratulations.

Orange Draggoo, of Auburn, came last week to the Lester Baker home, and expects to help with the farm work.

DAVID HOGG SEEKS CONGRESSIONAL NOMINATION

Announces Stand on Many of the Important Subjects Now Confronting the People.

(Special to St. Joe News)

Fort Wayne, Indiana, March 18. David Hogg today announced his candidacy for Republican nomination for Congress in the 4th Indiana District. In his platform he declared for:

Work and thrift.

Strict enforcement of deportation and immigration laws.

No foreign entanglements. No war profits. Adequate national defense.

Just old age pension plan.

Just distribution of economic income.

Adequate relief on non-political basis.

Re-establishment of constitutional government, including local self-government.

No Clay Street Stadiums; no irrigation projects; no extravagant expenditures of tax-payers' money.

America for American ideals only.

Actual economy and Republican principals in Government.

During his prior service in Congress Mr. Hogg's record won for him the unqualified endorsement of all farm, labor and tax-payers' groups. He gave careful, capable and aggressive attention to every duty of his office. When he entered Congress he was one of ten Republican representatives from Indiana. The number diminished until in 1932 he was one of three Republican Hoosier Congressmen.

Except during his services in Congress he has practiced law with Judge George H. Leonard under the firm name of Hogg and Leonard. They have an extensive legal practice throughout Northern Indiana and represent numerous farm, labor and business groups.

MORTUARY

HULL

Mr. John Hull, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hull, was born in DeKalb County, Indiana, January 13, 1857, and passed away Tuesday morning, March 10, 1936, at the age of 79 years, 1 month and 26 days.

On April 12, 1885, he was married to Miss Jane Wasson, who preceded him in death on March 15, 1925, at the age of 66 years.

All his life he lived in Concord Township and is survived by two sons, Fred Hull, of Concord and Ralph Hull, of Willard, Ohio; one grandson; one sister, Mrs. Mary Shuff, of St. Joe, and one brother, Frank Hull, who lives in Michigan.

The funeral was held from the Kinsey funeral home Thursday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Wm. D. Koehnlein, with burial in White City cemetery, Spencerville.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our neighbors and friends for their many kind deeds and sympathy during the illness and death of our father.

The Children.

Walter Reinhart moved last week to the Jenkins farm, recently vacated by M. M. Mansfield.

The Bear Creek bridge has been closed to traffic this week due to abutment damages at the southeast corner, by the high water. The county road men are making a temporary repair which will be completed today allowing light car traffic only, until such time when the weather will permit a permanent repair.

Clifford Kimmell moved to the Curie farm this week from the Hindman farm in Jackson township. Roy Rudolph is moving today from the Curie farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Goldsmith and daughters were Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Goldsmith, north of Fort Wayne.

Eleven members of the local K. of P. lodge attended the district meeting at Waterloo, Monday evening. St. Joe will entertain next month.

Several car loads of cinders were put in the sink hole north of town with PWA labor last week. The high water did consideralbe damage to the grade.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Palmer, of Seaman, Ohio, Mr. George Price and Mrs. Howard Palmer, of Mark Center, spent Thursday with Mrs. Inez Hadsell.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Brown and children, of Elkhart and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Dix and family, of Harlan, spent Sunday with their parents here, Mr. and Mrs. John Hart.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morr were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morr, of Auburn, Mr. Raymond Crick, of Anderson, and Ellsworth Morr, of Fort Wayne.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haller, of South Bend were from Saturday until Tuesday guests of their son, Allen Haller, and family. Calvin Hull accompanied them to St. Joe and is here with his father, while his mother, Mrs. Parlia Hull is taking two weeks special training, when she will return to South Bend and resume her teaching duties.

K. Hayden and family, of Hicksville, were callers in St. Joe Wednesday evening. The Haydens lived on the Tom White farm a few years then moved south of Fort Wayne. They recently moved to Hicksville where Mr. Hayden has opened a welding shop, and he has an ad in this issue telling what he can do. His equipment is portable and goes to the job when customer is not able to bring it in.

HERBERT HOOVER

Former President Herbert Hoover has accepted an invitation to deliver an address on Saturday evening, April 4, at the Ft. Wayne Gospel Temple Auditorium, it was announced today by Ralph F. Gates, of Columbia City, chairman of the fourth district Republican Central committee, under whose auspices the former chief executive of the United States will come here.

Admission to the big republican meeting which will be of national interest will be by ticket only.

O. K. Shull is driving a new Chevrolet Town Sedan.

J. R. Goldsmith and wife, accompanied by Lucille Curie, assistant store manager, made a trip to Chicago Monday, buying goods for their store.

One effective way to help farmers would be to put a stop to the importation of farm products from outside countries. It is the height of foolishness to cut down on the amounts of grain to be grown on American farms and then buy up the shortage thus created from foreign countries.

Chevrolet Motor Company today reported sales of cars and trucks in the United States in February totalling 70,087. Sales for the year to March 1 total 145,789, a new record for the first two months of a year, the best previous record of 133,999 having been established in 1929. Sales for the same period last year were 87,677.

Machine Transforms Cloth Into Metal in Few Minutes

A machine which in a few minutes will change your hat from soft, supple felt to metal, the density of an army trench helmet, has been installed in the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago. The machine, which will metalize almost anything, was originally intended to apply layers of copper, steel, aluminum, lead and other metals to worn-out shafts and bearings. It may now begin a new fad in metalized articles of clothing.

The device, which in itself looks large and complicated, is rather simple in operation. It consists of a tiny air turbine which spins around 20,000 times a minute and with the aid of compressed air, acetylene and oxygen it will change a pure metal wire into small incandescent particles. These particles are fired from a "gun" and bombarded against the object to be coated. The metal can be transferred to wood, cement, cloth and other materials speedily and permanently.

Hello, Everybody!

"Maniac's Trap"

By FLOYD GIBBONS

Famous Headline Hunter.

HERE'S one from a fellow reporter—and by golly, after reading his yarn I am almost convinced that maybe there is a thrill or two in the newspaper business after all.

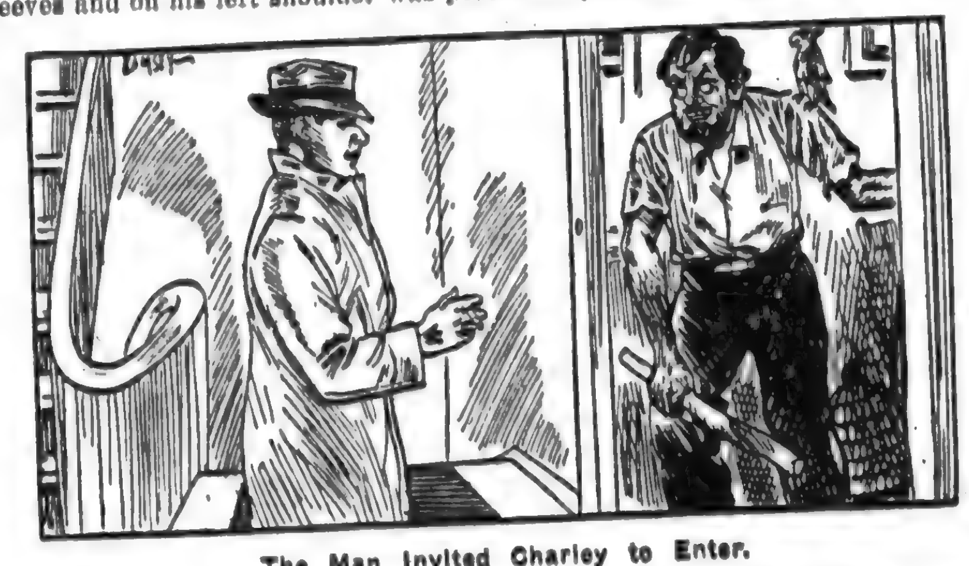
Charles K. Ulrich of Long Island City is the lad, and it happened on Sunday, January 26, 1913, while Charley was working as a reporter for the New York Herald. He was sent by his city editor to interview a man who had called up on the telephone and promised the paper the biggest "beat" since the Spanish-American war. Well, Charley doesn't know about its being the biggest beat, but it certainly landed him in the biggest mess of trouble since that war the fellow mentioned.

The address they had given Charley was in the sixth story of an apartment building in One Hundred and Twenty-second street. On the way up, he noticed that the negro elevator boy turned three shades whiter when he told him whom he had come to see. The boy said: "I hopes you has a good time with that bird." But Charley attached no particular significance to his cryptic remark.

As he approached the door, Charley heard angry shouts and oaths within, accompanied by the screeching of a parrot. During a lull in the shouting he heard sounds such as a man might make by beating a bird-cage with an iron rod. The sounds mystified Charley, but they didn't alarm him. If they had, he might have saved himself a lot of trouble.

Reporter Invited to Enter Room.

Charley rang the bell. A tall, stout man opened it. He was in his shirt sleeves and on his left shoulder was perched a parrot. He had a heavy stick in his right hand. His face was swollen, and froth flecked his pale lips. Charley thought he was drunk, but he explained his errand.



The Man Invited Charley to Enter.

The man invited Charley to enter and, grasping his arm in a vise-like grip, pulled him into the hall. He thrust him into a small parlor, locked the door and put the key in his pocket. Then, for the first time, Charley began to be afraid. This man was a lunatic—a big, strong, athletically built lunatic. And except for a small pocket knife, Charley was unarmed.

The man thrust the parrot into its cage and fell to beating the cage with a stick. The parrot shrieked at each blow. "You'll force me to kill you yet, Emma Goldman," the man shouted, and spat viciously at the bird.

There was no doubt in Charley's mind now. The man was a raving lunatic. He got up to go, but the man turned on him snarling: "Sit down, d——n you. I'll attend to you as soon as I've finished with Emma Goldman." Then he fell to beating the parrot's cage again, and Charley sat down. He had just remembered that the key to the room was in the lunatic's pocket.

Maniac Threatens Him With Death.

When the man had finished beating the cage he turned again to Charley. "I'm an electrical expert," he said suddenly. "I'm going to charge you with electricity to the gills."

Charley looked around wildly for some means of escape. There was none. "And what if I refuse to be charged with electricity?" he asked. The big man smiled coldly. Facing him menacingly he whispered: "Refuse and you die." You have your choice. The operation may kill you, but surely you won't mind sacrificing your life for science, will you?"

A queer story of De Maupassant's flashed into Charley's mind—the story of a man who outwitted a homicidal maniac by humoring him. No, he said, he'd be glad to sacrifice his life for science. And then he feigned sudden illness and leaned against a door. "I'm sick," he said. "You don't want a sick man for this operation, do you?"

"Certainly not," the man growled. "A perfectly sound man is needed."

"Then," said Charley, "I think I'd better take a walk around the block and get some air. I'll be back in a few minutes and we can go on with the operation."

Wild Man Falls for Story.

"I think you're right," the man assented heartily. "But it's understood you must come back in five minutes. Do you agree?"

Charley nodded. The big man unlocked the door and followed him through the hall. "Remember," he shouted as Charley passed out of the door, "you're to be back in five minutes." He slammed the door, and Charley went down the stairway, three steps at a time.

Outside, he found a policeman and told him his story. Six husky cops were sent to the house with orders to arrest the madman. He fought them fiercely for ten minutes before he was subdued and placed in an observation ward at Bellevue hospital.

"Later," says Charley, "they removed him to Matteawan hospital for the Insane, at Beacon, N. Y., and placed him in a strait-jacket. He died there some months afterward. In the room in which he proposed to conduct experiments on me they found a revolver and two large knives, sharp as razors. That he aimed to carve me into bits, once he had me under his control, was as certain as two and two make four. Thanks to De Maupassant's story, I escaped that fate."

Color Blindness Traced to Variety of Causes

Color blindness, also called achromatopsy and daltonism, is the inability to distinguish certain colors or shades of color. Total color blindness, in which there is no perception of colors as such, but only of gradations of light and shade, is rare. The most common form, states a writer in the Indianapolis News, is that in which some bright colors, different in different cases, are confused with each other, though other colors are correctly perceived. Color blindness may be congenital (i. e., present from birth) or acquired. It is said frequently to be transmitted from grandfather to grandson, and is more common in males than in females, in the proportion of over three to one.

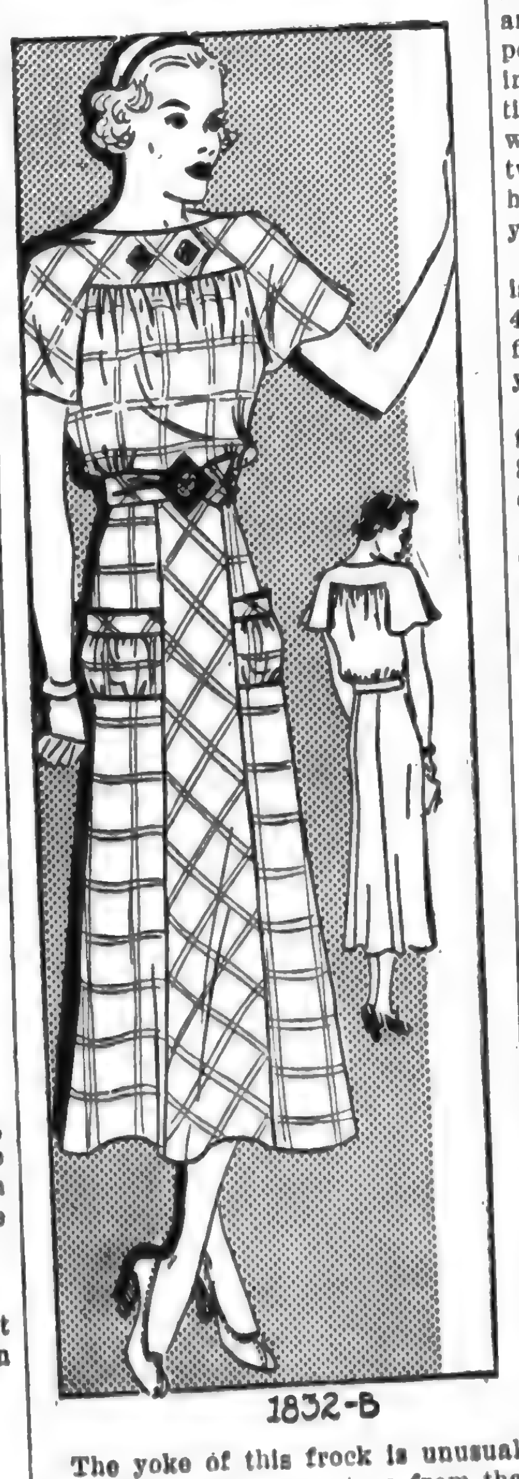
Acquired color blindness may be caused by a diseased brain or by a diseased or wounded optic nerve; but it appears to be unconnected with defects of sight and with retinal diseases generally. It is sometimes temporary, but even in such cases is usually recurrent in increasing acute forms. The average eye distinguishes six spectral colors; an acute sense of color distinguishes seven.

Color blindness, affecting one eye or both, has no known remedy. It must, however, be distinguished from mere ignorance of color names. A case of color blindness was mentioned in 1684, and others were noted in 1777 and 1779; but the most famous early instance—from which the defect was known as daltonism—was that of the English chemist, John Dalton, who in 1794, described his own case. Investigations during the Nineteenth century established the importance of color blindness, especially in the mercantile marine and railway service; and tests were devised for applicants for such positions.

People Who Are Old

Some people at eighty are actually younger, physically, than others at sixty or even forty. People who are really old are those whose bodies are no longer so strong or active as they were, people who with their years have become worn, infirm, disabled or sick. For people in middle life or later, who are merely not so active as they were, the answer may be different.

Alluring Daytime Frock With Distinctive Yoke



1832-B

The yoke of this frock is unusual and a distinctive departure from the obvious round or squared-off affair, because it extends out over the shoulders and forms flaring little caps—caps which conceal two inverted pleats and which are transformed into lovely loose raglan sleeves. The blouse gathers at the yoke and waist in front and back, rendering fullness and a soft drapey appearance. The twin panels in the skirt give you height, and the skirt an added swirl. Two huge gathered pockets in unison with the blouse are interesting features and very practical. Make a self-fabric belt trimmed with a diamond shaped buckle and two harmonizing buttons, and notice how smart and up to the minute your frock will be.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1832-B is available in sizes 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44, and can be procured for fifteen cents. Size 36 requires 4⅞ yards of 35-inch material.

Why Physicians Recommend Milnesia Wafers

These mint-flavored, candy-like wafers are pure milk of magnesia in solid form—much pleasanter to take than liquid. Each wafer is approximately equal to a full adult dose of liquid milk of magnesia. Chewed thoroughly, then swallowed, they correct acidity in the mouth and throughout the digestive system, and insure regular, complete elimination without pain or effort. Milnesia Wafers come in bottles of 20 and 48, at 35c and 60c respectively, and in convenient tins for your handbag containing 12 at 20c. Each wafer is approximately one adult dose of milk of magnesia. All good drug stores sell and recommend them.

Firestone TIRES
RUN up to 28° COOLER
THIS IS WHY THEY GIVE YOU More Dependable Service AND SAVE YOU MONEY

Every truck operator knows that internal friction causes heat and heat is the greatest destroyer of tire life. The only way to counteract friction and heat is by Gum-Dipping, the Firestone patented process which soaks the cords in liquid rubber, saturating and coating each tiny cotton fiber and strand within the cord, counteracting friction and heat at their very source. As a result of this patented process, Firestone Tires run up to 28° cooler than tires built without Gum-Dipped Cords.

This is why Firestone Tires are used by thousands and thousands of truck operators from coast to coast, including the largest transportation fleets. These operators choose tires strictly on performance... they know that Firestone Tires give them more dependable service at lowest cost per mile. National Guard Named So to Honor Marquis de Lafayette

When the Marquis de Lafayette made his memorable visit to the United States in 1824 he was the retired commander of the National Guards of Paris. A New York city military organization, now known as the Seventh regiment—in the World war it was the One Hundred and Seventh regiment—sought to honor Lafayette by taking the name, National Guards, and eventually the militia of the various states came to be designated as the National Guard.

The Seventh regiment's distinctive uniform of gray coat, white trousers and shako also dates from Lafayette's visit, when it was improvised by a sergeant who could not find his blue tunic and wore instead his gray business jacket, which chanced to be tight-fitting and brass-buttoned and made a hit with his superior officers.

The Man Who Knows

Whether the Remedy You are taking for Headaches, Neuralgia or Rheumatism Pains is SAFE is Your Doctor. Ask Him

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches; or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it—in comparison with Genuine Bayer Aspirin.

We say this because, before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin, most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of Bayer Aspirin largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken Bayer Aspirin year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: Genuine Bayer Aspirin is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains . . . and safe for the average person to take regularly.

You can get real Bayer Aspirin at any drug store—simply by never asking for it by the name "aspirin" alone, but always saying BAYER ASPIRIN when you buy.

TALL TALES

As Told to:

FRANK E. HAGAN and
ELMO SCOTT WATSON

The Goat That Sang Tenor

WHEN William McClenahan, newspaper correspondent of Port Deposit, Md., first heard about it, he didn't believe it. A farmer, so the neighborhood gossips said, had a goat that sang in a beautiful tenor voice. How did it happen?

Well, it seems that some member of the farmer's family had been careless and left a phonograph record of "Mother o' Mine" by John McCormack out in the yard. At least, that's the way Mr. McClenahan's story, which appeared in the Baltimore Sun, accounted for it.

The farmer and his singing goat became famous. People came to see it and paid for the privilege of hearing it sing. Then bad luck overtook the farmer. The goat stopped singing as suddenly as it had begun. So the farmer bought an expensive record by a famous grand opera star—"O Sole Mio," it was—and fed that to the goat.

The result was fatal. The goat began to sing but suddenly dropped dead. An autopsy revealed the fact that its throat was cloged up with what the veterinarian called "some foreign substance." They were Italian words and phrases. The goat was 100 per cent American, so of course, he choked to death on 'em.

His Unlucky Day

"YES, sir, I believe in that superstition about Friday, the 13th, bein' an unlucky day," said the Oldest Ranger in Yellowstone park. "I recollect one of 'em in particular.

"I was out on patrol and discovered I didn't have a bite of food in my grub bag and only one shell left in my trusty ol' gun. Well, I sneaked through the woods till I saw a brace of quail sittin' on a bush so I maneuvered aroun' so as to be sure of gettin' both of 'em with one shot.

"I let fly an', by golly, when I went to pick up them two birds I found that I'd killed six more that was sittin' on the other side of the bush. Just then I heard a big commotion out in a little lake nearby. There was a big buck deer that had been skeered by my shot and had run out and got hisself mired down.

"I run out to help him but before I could get to him he drowned. As I was carryin' him to shore, I sank down in the mud an' water up over the tops of my boots. So I took 'em off to pour out the water and derned if there didn't flop out of 'em a dozen of the finest trout you ever did see.

"Well, I strung the quail an' the deer an' the trout on a pole so I could carry 'em easier. But my struggles to get the load up on my shoulders was jest too much of a strain on my suspender buttons. Derned if one didn't fly off with such force that it killed a rabbit 100 yards away.

"When that happened, I jest decided it wasn't no use to try to do any more huntin'. Seemed like it was my unlucky day, it bein' Friday, the 13th."

"Man Overboard!"

MEN who go down to the sea in ships frequently see or hear about some unusual occurrences. J. W. Putman of Anaheim, Calif., who once served in the United States navy, is no exception to that rule.

One hot, sticky day as the battleships and cruisers were steaming along off the coast of China a typhoon suddenly swooped down upon them. Despite the howling wind and raging waters, the vessels managed to keep their alignment.

In the midst of the storm a lieutenant decided that he wanted a cup of coffee. So a mess boy started across the deck with a cup of coffee, a pitcher of cream and a bowl of sugar on a tray. Just as he was about to open the door to the officers' quarters, a 61-foot wave swept across the deck.

It picked up the mess boy, juggled him for a second on its crest, then carried him 808 yards astern and deposited him at the door of the officers' quarters of the next ship in line. Opening the door, he walked in, and said, "Here is the coffee you ordered, lieutenant. One lump, or two, and shall I pour in the cream?"

It had all happened so quickly that the mess boy didn't realize he was on another ship until the officer roared out: "I'm a captain, not a lieutenant! I didn't order any coffee, and what are you doing here?"

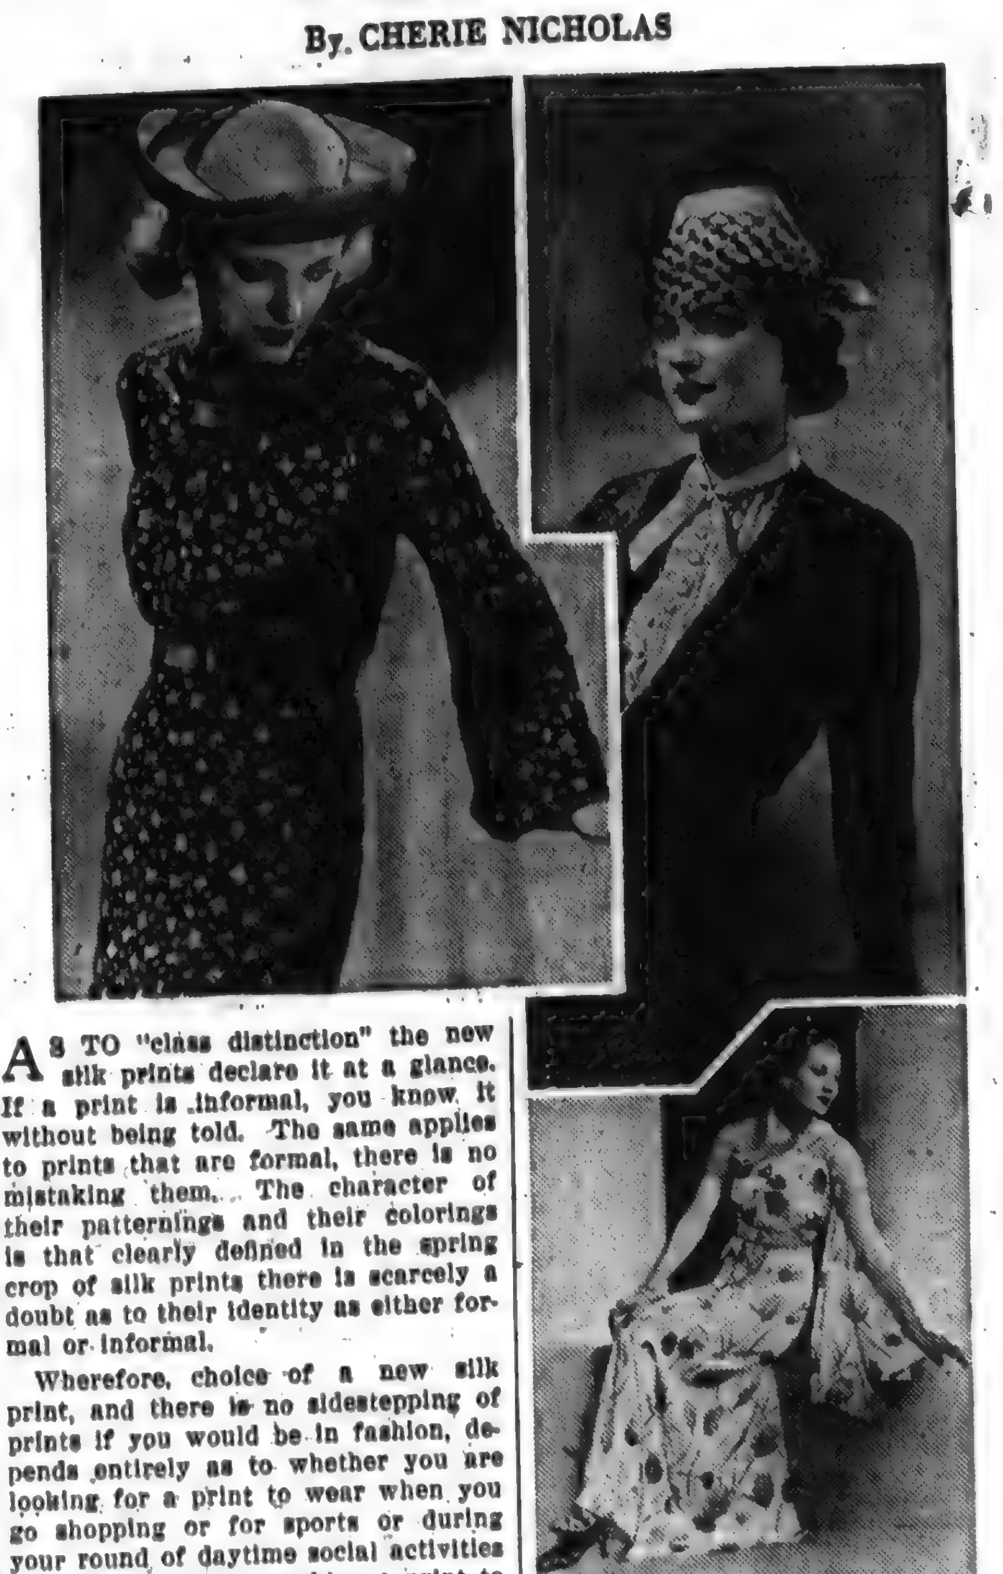
Indians Traced to Yellow Race

The original red man, the American Indian, came from pure yellow stock and did not carry any black strain from admixtures with natives of Oceania, reports Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, curator of anthropology of the Smithsonian institution, Washington. He brands as "fabulous" the theories that natives of the Oceanic islands left their imprint on the American continent. These islands were occupied by the Melanesian peoples only as recently as the first millennium before Christ, at which time the New world had been populated for several thousand years from Mongolian stock. Skulls have been found in the Americas which seem to indicate Melanesian origin, but these always prove to fall within the variations known to occur among the Indians, declares Doctor Hrdlicka.

Silk Prints Go Formal or Informal

By CHERIE NICHOLAS



AS TO "class distinction" the new silk prints declare it at a glance. If a print is informal, you know it without being told. The same applies to prints that are formal, there is no mistaking them. The character of their patternings and their colorings is that clearly defined in the spring crop of silk prints there is scarcely a doubt as to their identity as either formal or informal.

Wherefore, choice of a new silk print, and there is no sidestepping of prints if you would be in fashion, depends entirely as to whether you are looking for a print to wear when you go shopping or for sports or during your round of daytime social activities or whether you are seeking a print to tune in with glamorous nights and festive occasions. You can see by the picture that there is no chance of confusing the two.

As to prints for informal, daytime wear, they are going as far as they dare in the way of amusing as well as unique design. For instance, note the novel "around the clock" patterning of the print that fashions the dress to the left in the picture. It's great fun to decipher the Roman numerals printed in white. If you look closer you will discover more numbers, one's and two's and three's and so on, scattered over the background. A handsome black sheer pebbled silk crepe is this with its clock motif printed in red and in white. A red lacquered bar clasps at the throat, giving a soft fullness to the bodice. A matching clasp holds the black patent leather belt. The felt hat with its wide rolled brim points the way to stylish trends in the millinery realm.

Entertaining and smile-producing as are the new time-of-the-day clock prints, they are no more so than are the silks that are patterned with bars of music. You can actually read the notes and recognize some of the "airs." Then there are the new vegetable prints, yes "vegetable" prints. No need rubbing your eyes, they did not deceive you. Carrots and peas and so on, and they are as designful and pretty as florals. Fruits, too, you will be seeing in print.

A comely suit to start the spring season is shown to the right in the picture. This three-piece suit is tailored of black silk crepon printed in white comet design. It features a short jacket and a slender skirt that has a back pleated panel, thus giving emphasis to back fullness such as leading designers are advocating in their newer creations. It is worn with a white sheer silk blouse having a lace trim.

That formal evening prints should so strikingly contrast informal daytime prints adds greatly to the zest of the printed mode. Georgeous, exotic, beguiling, lovely beyond words are the prints that go about to dance parties and dinner affairs and other "after six" social events. The tendency is toward life-size florals for the most part widely spaced, although some of the most beautiful prints pattern the entire surface with a labyrinth of flowers that reflect a very ecstasy of colorings, sometimes in pastels but just as often in radiant natural flower colorings. The print used for the exquisite formal gown pictured, patterns shaded satin tulips in vivid colorings against the chalky surface of satin-backed white silk crepe.

HAND QUILTED

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

The latest thing in needlecraft going the rounds in the realm of costume designing is hand quilting. The stunning hip-length jacket pictured is of heavy black celanese satin. The smart hand-quilted design on the sleeves and bordering the front is raised by being stuffed with black wool, after the manner of Trapunto quilting. It was in the Renaissance period that Trapunto quilting came into existence. It is accomplished by drawing the design in double lines, and after quilting it, the space between these lines is stuffed with small shreds of wool. In the jacket pictured both the cut and the design of the hand-quilting carry out the militaristic motif. The fashion-wise miss will wear this jacket open with the tiny military collar turned up.

Crocheted Gloves

The newest version of hand-crocheted gloves—so smart, this winter—is in an interesting stitch that looks like weaving. The backs of the gloves are yellow and the palm brown, forerunners of the combination gloves featuring two colors forecast for spring. They were designed especially for southern wear, but there's no law against wearing them right now!

WELCOME REVIVAL OF HAND-QUILTING

Welcome news to women who delight in fine needlecraft is the revival of fine hand-quilting. The flair for this rare handicraft has become so pronounced and so general, exhibits of finest examples of this lovely needlework are being held in many of the larger cities.

The work shown surpasses anything ever before attempted in this country. Not only are quilted things for home decorative purposes displayed but the showings include exquisite examples of hand-quilted negligees, bed-jackets, evening cloaks and capes; also modish jackets that are stunning worn with cloth or crepe afternoon frocks or with blouse and skirt to complete the three-piece costume.

These are made of lustrous celanese satins, crepes and soft glowing taffetas. The color combinations are notable. They range from the soft pastels to the deep browns and navies and other smart suit colors. An evening cape of soft creamy velvet with an unusual design of snowflakes and icicles is outstanding.

Colors Return in Milady's Shoes With Varied Choice

Shoes as brilliant as the peacock's tail will deck the nation's feminine toes this Easter.

Early spring styles displayed by manufacturers feature pastel tints rivaling the rainbow.

"Bright colors—lavenders, yellows, greens, blues, pinks—will strike the dominant note this season," said one leading stylist, "and previously untried combinations will have a new vogue."

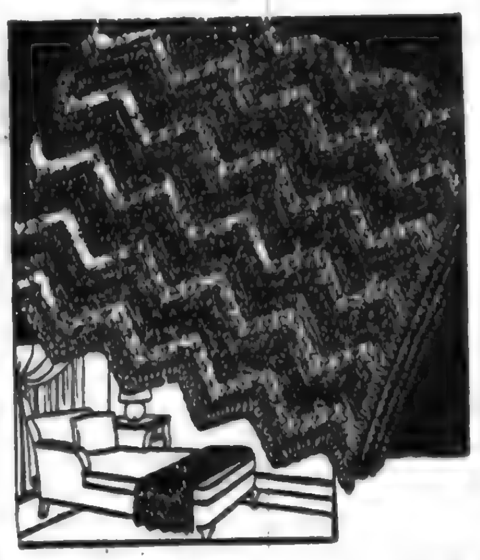
The choice will range from a red, white and blue trimmed model for the patriotic to one rivaling Biblical Joseph's coat of many colors in variety.

Blouses Feminize Suits

Soft blouses, frilly scarfs and other extremely feminine-looking accessories are important with the new strictly tailored suits. If you have chosen a severe suit of men's wear flannel or worsted, do dress it up with a ruffled blouse, chiffon scarf and gay boutonniere of loose, feathery flowers.

Crocheting an Afghan, Tomorrow's Heirloom

PATTERN 5254



What more conducive to "forty winks" than this fluffy, lacy afghan! Its crocheted warmth will ward off the most treacherous draughts, its color brighten and gladden any room it adorns. A very simple pattern to follow, too. The stripes look like tiny daisies strung together, and are in a crochet stitch which busy hands and needle soon learn to do by heart. Lovely in three shades of one color, it is also effective with each stripe a different color.

In pattern 5254 you will find directions for making the afghan; an illustration of it and of the stitches used; material requirements, and color suggestions.

FRANKLIN'S FATHER AND MOTHER DIED OF FIRST ILLNESS

Benjamin Franklin used to say of his parents, "I never knew either my father or mother to have any sickness but that of which they died, he at eighty-nine and she at eighty-five years of age." He had inherited an excellent physical foundation for the making of a great man.

In a printing shop in London, whither he went at the age of eighteen, he astonished his fellow workers by abstaining from beer and yet being able to carry a large form of type in each hand where the others carried but one in both hands. Franklin kept a score card of virtues to be practiced. The first of the rules of conduct reads: "Temperance.—Eat not to dullness; drink not to elevation."

Franklin's philosophic mind came to the conclusion that the quantity of each kind of exercise is to be judged not by the time spent or distance covered, "but by the degree of warmth it produces in the body."

Considering the customs of his day, he was a remarkable specimen of health, strength and endurance, concedes Dr. James F. Rogers in Hygeia.

Life and Death Clock to Impress People of Berlin

Every five minutes, the steel hammer of a great clock in Berlin tolls nine strokes, indicating that nine babies are born on an average during this period in Germany.

A big double-bulbed hour glass beside the bell turns over every five minutes to remind people that seven Germans have died while the nine babies were being born.

The clock has been built to suggest, in more emphatic fashion than the usual timepiece, the eternal change between life and death—and to impress upon Germans the dangers of a falling birthrate.—Pearson's Weekly.

Grow a garden of "GRADUATES" from a real seed breeding Institute

For 80 years, Ferry-Morse Seed Co., America's greatest scientific seed growing organization, through continuous yearly tests and with infinite care, has protected market and home gardeners against deterioration in seed quality.

Our foundation stock is developed at The Ferry-Morse Seed Breeding Institute Stations at Rochester, Mich., and Salinas, Cal. This purebred stock is then used for seed production on our own farms, or under our direct supervision. The seed crops from this stock are sold only after thorough tests have shown that they are of proper quality and germination.

Balance your Budget
with ELECTRIC REFRIGERATION

You may purchase an Electric Refrigerator on Easy Terms.

THRIFTY home-managers have found that electric refrigeration is an economy, not an expense. Their food dollars go farther. They buy perishables, for example, 2 for 25c instead of 15c each and know that they will be kept fresh and wholesome until used. They can take advantage of bargain specials and get a whole week's supply at far lower prices. They can keep leftovers for days and make them into appetizing dishes that even he would never suspect of being leftovers.

These new food economies are actually extra savings which can be depended on day after day. Let us show you in actual figures how you too can economize with electric refrigeration.

SAVE perishable fresh fruits and vegetables.
SAVE leftovers that can be made up into wholesome tasty dishes.
SAVE money through quantity buying of "specials."

Thousands of telephone users are unable to pay their switch dues and tolls and have had their telephone service "cut off." It is estimated that there are fewer telephones in use in the United States than there have been for thirty years.

A Washingtonian built a boat in his house and then found that the craft was so large he would have to take it down and reconstruct it out of doors. That is amusing, but when the rest of us look back at some of the things that we have done, who is going to let out the first laugh?

Twelve contracts for improvement work on the Indiana state highway system were awarded by the State Highway Commission during February, James D. Adams, chairman, announced today. The awards, totalling $413,396.37, were for work in Allen, Warrick, Daviess, Martin, Pulaski, Wayne Monroe, Tippecanoe, Jackson and Bartholomew counties. Since the first of the year the Highway Commission has awarded contracts for improvement work having a total cost of $3,300,393.21, all of which is a part of the 1936 construction program.

The Ashley-Hudson Lions Club is making plans for a big amateur contest night to be held at the Ashley Community building on Friday evening, March 27. The contest is open to any amateur who can sing, play musical instruments or do stunts. Applications from persons who wish to enter in the contest will be received from March 2 to March 13 inclusive. Contestants wishing to appear on the Amateur contest program should write or see the club president, Mr. Paul L. Snyder, Hudson, Ind. Cash prizes are being given to three winners.

The State Highway Commission today attempted to count the cost of keeping Indiana's highway system open for traffic during the greatest winter maintenance emergency in its seventeen-year history. It was simple enough to compile the statistics—to show that snow and ice removal on the nine-thousand mile highway system between Dec. 20 and Feb. 15 cost approximately $266,216.00; that 25,586 tons of sand and cinders with 794 tons of calcium chloride and salt were spread on slippery pavements; that maintenance workers labored for 286,616 hours, and that hundreds of grader blades and hundreds of sets of tire chains were worn out.

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. LI. (51 Years.) (In The St. Joe Valley) ST. JOE, DeKALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY, MARCH 26, 1936 NUMBER 13

WILL CELEBRATE WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

On the morning of March 29, 1874, in the vicinity of Zehendner's Corners, on the DeKalb-Allen County Line, there lived two young people by the names of Jas. McKinley and Jane Copp. By noon of the same day and thereafter they have been known as Mr. and Mrs. James McKinley. Sixty-two years of marriage bliss will be celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. McKinley on March 29, 1936, at the home of Mrs. Jane Wiatt, East 9th St., Auburn, Ind. They will hold "open house" and welcome "calls" from their neighbors and friends.

"Jim" and "Jane" as they are familiarly known in and about Spencerville, Ind., their home town, are enjoying the best of health, Jim at 84 years and Jane 82 years. Jim sends a challenge to anyone 20 years younger for a foot race or jig dance contest.

Jane recalls that March 29, 1874 (their wedding day) was a "warm day" with "the dust flying." Jim recalls that he borrowed a wagon box to fit their wagon gears and with the motive power of a team of horses, he drives to the home of his bride; they get in the wagon and return to his parents home and there in the presence of relatives and friends "Squire" Ike Farver ties the "knot" which has stayed tied for these 62 years.

This happy marriage has been blessed by the birth of four sons, Delta McKinley, living on one of the McKinley farms near Spencerville, William, of Hicksville, O. Frank and Beeks McKinley are deceased.

Mr. and Mrs. McKinley have been "Real Neighbors" in their home community. This is greatfully acknowledged by their many friends who wish them many more wedding anniversaries.

Health and happiness to you Jane and Jim.

H. L. JAMES DIES IN FORT WAYNE HOSPITAL

Funeral services for the late H. L. James, of 327 West Eleventh St., Auburn, were held at 10:30 Sunday morning at the Dilgard funeral home. Rev. Manfred C. Wright conducted the services and burial was made in Roselawn cemetery.

Mr. James, aged 81, died Thursday afternoon at 4:20, of complications in the Lutheran hospital at Fort Wayne after a week's illness. Death was caused by senility and cardic vascular renal disease.

Mr. James was born December 19, 1854, in Pennsylvania to Jonathan and Amelia James, deceased, and came to Indiana with his parents when a small child. His parents operated a hotel in Avilla for a number of years. He was married to Mattie Monroe in 1884, and she passed away two years ago. Since that time he has spent a part of his time living with a son, Walter James in Fort Wayne. Surviving besides the son are two nephews and a niece at Grand Rapids, Mich. Mr. James was a member of the Methodist Church.

CLASS PLAY FOR FRIDAY NIGHT

The Junior Class of the St. Joe High School is quite busy getting ready for the production of "The Mystery of the Third Gable," which is to be played this Friday night at eight o'clock in the local gymnasium.

The play, under the direction of Miss Eloise Bowman, is one of merit, and of a different type than has been presented in this community for some time, so the Juniors have every reason to expect a full house Friday night.

It is surmised that the audience will receive ticket value of thrills and chills in the weird parts of the play. On the other hand, there are mild parts well stocked with romance and good humor. The drama is based largely on plot and coincidence, and well interpreted by the local members of the cast. The players include Helen Tustison, Ersa Reidenbach, Roy Likes, Frank Monroe, Louise Sechler, Ronald Borthwick, DeVere Woodcox, Anna Richards, George Walter, and Beulah Storer.

Ticket sales are in charge of Dean Kees, who has announced officially that any pupil selling ten tickets will receive free admission.

As a special attraction the Juniors have a surprise number to present between acts, but this is not being announced until the evening of the entertainment. All people planning to attend are urged to come early in order to secure choice seats.

REVIVAL MEETING

At Spencerville, Ind., beginning March 23. Good Gospel preaching with special music, solos, duets, and a male quartette. Conducted by Rev. J. O. McKinley, Pastor of the Nazarene Church in Auburn, Ind., each evening at 7:30 o'clock.

DEKALB COUNTY WIFE GETS DECREE AND $1,000 ALIMONY

A brief hearing held in the DeKalb circuit court Friday resulted in the granting of a divorce to Ida E. M. Keller from Roy Keller, a well known Concord township farmer.

Mrs. Keller, by agreement of the parties, was also awarded $1,000 and she was given the custody of the small son, Earl, 10, with an order of $12 a month for the boy's maintenance. The defendant also was directed to pay his wife's counsel fees.

Payment of the alimony is to be made as follows: $500 Sept. 10, 1936, and $500 Jan. 1, 1937. The defendant was given the right to visit his son and to have the latter visit him.

Mrs. Keller complained that her husband struck her and she said they couldn't get along. They were married May 20, 1911, and separated last Dec. 31.

Edgar W. Atkinson is attorney for the plaintiff, while John C. Armstrong acted in that capacity for the defendant.

EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS AT CHURCH OF CHRIST

Revival meetings will begin at the St. Joe Church of Christ on next Monday evening, March 30.

Services will begin promptly at 7:30, Central Time, and will close promptly at 9:00. This will give everyone, including school children ample time to attend.

The music and children's work will be in charge of Walter Coburn, minister at Coburn's Corners and Corunna. He has been very successful in this type of work and will give us real service.

H. K. Schondelmayer, the local minister, will bring the messages each evening. He will use several chart sermons and will present the Gospel Message in a way that will interest all who attend.

A cordial invitation is extended to everyone in the community, including those of our Sister Churches.

SURPRISED FATHER ON HIS BIRTHDAY

George and Martha Hart certainly surprised their father Sunday, it being his 42nd mile stone, by inviting fifteen guests. Everything was arranged so nicely he never suspicioned until the noon hour, stepping in and greeted by happy voices singing, "Happy Birthday," and the large spread, he soon rallied and was able to put the candles out with one whiff. One Present.

COUNTY GET TOGETHER

The quarterly "Get Together" meeting of the Churches of Christ of DeKalb County will be held in the Newville Church of Christ next Sunday evening, March 29, at 7:00 Central Time. Special music and chalk illustrations are a part of the program. H. K. Schondelmayer, president of the DeKalb County Churches of Christ, will preach the sermon. Everyone is urged to attend this service.

PENNY SUPPER

Concord Church, Thursday eve, March 26, from 5:30 until served. Menu as follows: Creamed chicken, meat loaf, mashed potatoes, scalloped potatoes, noodles, baked beans, goulash, potato salad, fruit salad, pie, bread and butter, cake and ice cream, coffee. 12t1p.

NOTICE

The regular March meeting of the Home Bureau will be held at the home of Dessi Hurni, Friday, March 27th.

R. H. C.

Seventeen members of the Rural Housewife Club met Tuesday afternoon, March 17, with Mrs. Inez Hadsell. The meeting was called to order by the president, Eleanor Crothers and opened by repeating the Creed. Roll call response, Irish Jokes; reading of minutes by secretary, Mildred Curie; offering and fines collected, followed by business meeting. Berniece Wilder and Elizabeth Hart had charge of St. Patrick contests.

The hostess served a dainty lunch of ham sandwiches, lime vegetable salad, white cup cakes topped with a shamrock, coffee and mints. Club adjourned to meet with Gladys Hart in two weeks.

Celebrates Anniversary.

Delvin Armstrong, of Auburn, and Floyd Ridgway, accompanied by their families, surprised Mrs. Lulu Armstrong, Sunday, in honor of her birthday which occurred on Friday. Mrs. Ridgway's birthday was Saturday.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Fifteen girls have finished the first requirements and were invested as regular Girl Scouts at the last meeting with Tenderfoot rank. We are now privileged to register at the National Headquarters of Girl Scouts as "St. Joe Troop No. I."

We had a Treasure Hunt recently. By making use of the trail signs learned, 4 girls made a trail and hid the treasure the other scouts succeeded in following the trail and located the treasure, in a tree on the river bank, with a treat for every one.

We have two new members Patricia Maxwell and Estella Hart, who have joined since our last notes were published.

Frances Reidenbach, Beverly Wade and June Goldsmith, sold popcorn at the last Basket Ball game and raised the remainder of the money for our Credential fee of five dollars.

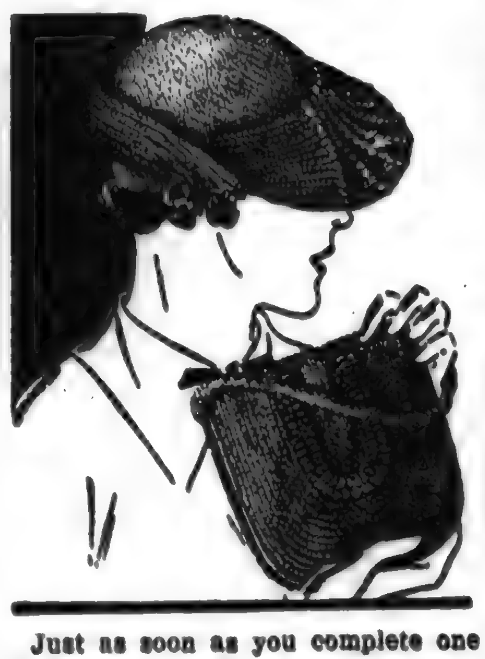
Make These Spring Accessories Colorful

PATTERN 1132



Just as soon as you complete one of this smart pair you can begin using it, for either is right for now, or Spring. Both are very easy to do, for the greater part is just plain crochet, with a simple shell stitch for contrast in hat brim, and on the purse. The rayon and wool mixture so popular now is an attractive yarn to use.

Pattern 1132 comes to you with directions for making the set; an illustration of it and of all stitches needed; material requirements.

DRIVER ANTS ARE SUPREME IN THE AFRICAN JUNGLE

If asked to name the creature that reigns supreme in the jungle, most people would instance the lion, the gorilla, or the elephant. But the great elephant with his huge strength, the gorilla with his massive muscles, the lion and all other jungle animals look upon the driver ant as their master, and get quickly out of the path of this dread enemy.

The driver ant is a black species found in the African jungle, and lives in large colonies. The chief duty allotted by Nature to the species is to act as scavengers, but they will not hesitate to attack any creature, however large, that attempts to stop their march through the forest. At certain times of the year, usually a few weeks before the rainy season, driver ants move in formation from one part of the jungle to another.

All move swiftly, determined to let no obstacle stop them. Orders from the leaders are sent down the line to those in rear. When a living creature attempts to check their progress, we discover their full power. They swarm over the animal in thousands, and all, at a given signal, inflict vicious bites. Thousands more swarm to the attack, and no matter how large or powerful the animal may be, it eventually succumbs to the driver ants.—Oliver G. Pike, F. Z. S., in Tit-Bits.

Alaskan Eskimo Is a Fast-Vanishing Race, Doctor Says

The average life span of Alaskan Eskimos is only 24 years, due chiefly to the prevalence of tuberculosis, says Dr. Victor E. Levine of the Creighton university school of medicine in Omaha, Neb. He has completed his third trip to the Arctic to make medical studies of the Eskimos.

Unless more physicians are provided in the Arctic to guard the health of Eskimos the race will become extinct in little more than a generation, Doctor Levine predicts.

GAS-MAKING STOVE COOKS MEAL FOR 2c

Amazing New Invention of W. C. Coleman Brings All the Modern Conveniences of City Gas to Homes Beyond the Gas Mains

Economically-minded housewives will share the enthusiasm of W. C. Coleman, inventive genius, for his new gas-making stove which cooks a meal for 2c or less.

W. C. COLEMAN

The new Coleman Range will do the family cooking at a cost below that of coal, wood or kerosene stoves, and do it quicker and better.

This remarkable new Coleman Safety Range lights instantly just like gas. Makes its own gas from ordinary lead-free gasoline. Its patented, fuel-saving Band-A-Blu Burners are easily regulated to exactly the heat desired for frying, boiling, baking or broiling.

Mr. Coleman uses Everdur Metal for the fuel tank, a big safety feature. Everdur metal will not rust or corrode.

In addition to providing every cooking advantage of the finest city gas range, Mr. Coleman's new Range adds beauty in the kitchen by distinctive styling and pleasing color effects in gleaming porcelain enamel finish.

Readers of this paper wishing full information about these wonderful Coleman Ranges will receive illustrated literature and a valuable Stove Check Chart by addressing a postcard to W. C. Coleman, Dept. WU-235, Wichita, Kansas—Adv.

Echoes as Alarm Clocks

MODERN Americans who have to invest in alarm clocks in order to be certain of waking up in time for work each morning may well envy the good fortune of Jim Bridger, famous frontiersman, who was able to draft Mother Nature into service for assurance of early rising.

Near Bridger's ranch in Wyoming were some obsidian cliffs. Frequently he heard the sharp crack of a rifle which puzzled him, because he knew there was no one within 147 miles of his home. Finally it dawned on him that these reports were the echoes of the rifle shots which he had fired the previous day when he was getting his daily supply of fresh meat. These obsidian cliffs had caught the report of his rifle, held it overnight and then sent it back to him each day to remind him that it was time to go out hunting again.

Next it occurred to Jim that he might just as well make use of the echoes in other ways. So every time he knew that he had to get up early the next morning, he would step outside the door, face the cliffs and shout: "Hey, Jim, it's time to get up!" And, sure enough, the next morning he would be awakened by the echo penetrating the walls of his cabin and shouting in his ear: "Hey, Jim, it's time to get up!"

Cooking Under Difficulties

TEDDY BLUE of the Three Deuce ranch in Montana remembers what an annoying time he had when he came up from Texas with a trail herd back in 1883. When the cook died, the boss found out that Teddy knew something about slinging grub together and made him take charge of the chuck wagon.

In it he found plenty of bacon, flour, beans, baking powder, sugar, coffee and everything else needed to feed the hungry crew of punchers. But the only trouble was that they were out on a treeless plain where there wasn't a stick of wood visible anywhere.

Then one of the punchers lit a cigarette and snapped the still-blazing match into a bunch of buffalo grass. It flamed up and right then Teddy had an idea. He ran and got the coffee pot, filled it up, threw some bacon in a skillet and started toward the place where the fire in the buffalo grass was spreading.

Holding the coffee pot and the skillet over the flame he followed the line of blazing grass and in a short time the bacon began to sizzle and the coffee began to steam a bit. After a while Teddy said to himself, "Well, I guess she's ready to serve now." But when he looked up he discovered that he had followed the flame until he was 11½ miles from camp. By the time he got back the bacon and the coffee were cold. The boys grumbled about having to eat cold chuck, so Teddy quit as cook right then and there.

The Patriotic Hen

JIM FITCH, a former resident of Manchester, N. H., remembers it just as well as if it had happened day after tomorrow. He was riding in the cab of a locomotive on the Boston and Maine railroad with his Uncle Ira, the engineer. North of Concord a gray and white speckled hen started across the track. Uncle Ira tooted his whistle and the hen started running up the track. A moment later she disappeared.

"Too bad," said Uncle Ira, "but she ought to have made up her mind about crossing the railroad sooner."

Jim was pretty sad about the fate of that hen. But imagine his surprise when they slowed down for the next stop, the brakeman went through the train calling out "Plymouth! Plymouth!" Off the cowcatcher jumped the hen and she went clucking away as much to to say "Of course, I know when it's time for me to get off!"

Suddenly she began cackling and made a dash up the street as though looking for something. As the train pulled out the last thing Jim saw was the hen stooping down and creeping into a small dog kennel in a back yard.

Three weeks later Jim went back to Plymouth to its Fourth of July celebration and he heard some more about her. That morning the patriotic hen, who traced her ancestry back to Plymouth Rock, hatched out three chickens. One was red, one was white and one was blue. But all three had bow legs because the kennel into which their mother had stopped to enter had been built for a dachshund.

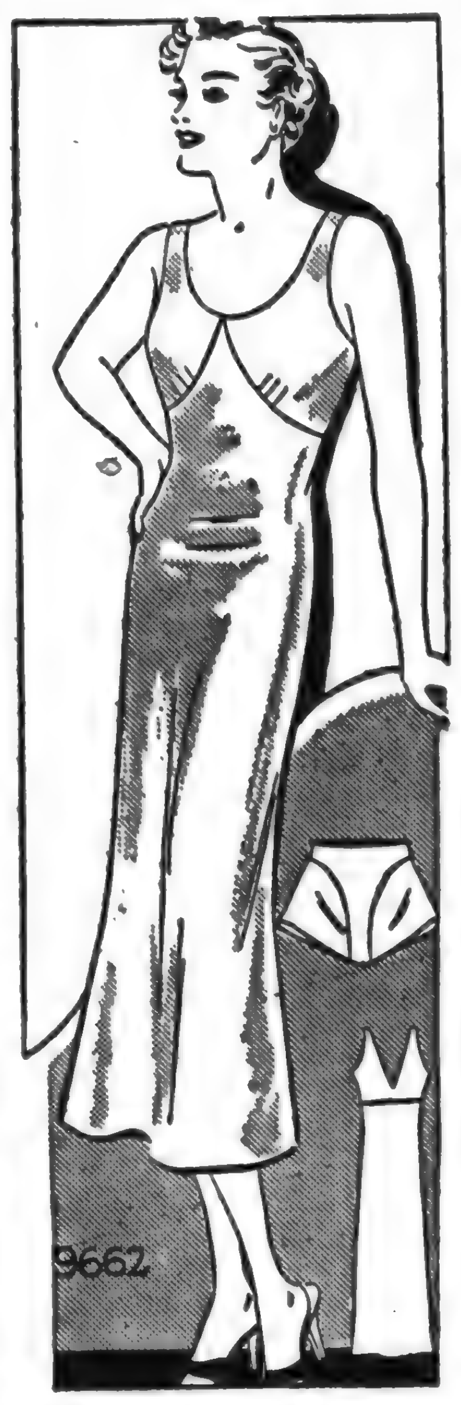
Athens Stands in Great Cup

Modern Athens stands in a great cup with mountains on three sides and the coastline on the fourth. It has grown out around Mt. Lykabettos, which rises sharply out of the cup, and the busy city makes a sharp contrast with its classic ruins, which look down serenely on it from the Acropolis. Athens is an outdoor city, where home is only the place to spend one's siesta or to sleep, and much of the buying and selling of its merchants is carried on in the streets. The Greeks are as fond of their siesta as the spaniards are, and at noon all shops close until 3 p. m., staying open later at night to make up for lost time. Dinner is not served until 9, and 2 a. m. is no later to an Athenian than midnight is to an American.

Slip and Pantie Set Made in Quick Time

PATTERN 9662



Sleek comfort's written between the very seams of this slip and pantie set that's dedicated to smooth fitting and easy making. They're within everyone's reach, and their low cost makes them an out-and-out economy. The slip does a nice job of molding the figure, with its fitted bodice and all-in-one straps that can't slip. The neckline's cut low enough in back to allow it to be worn with your lowest cut frocks. And could anything be smoother than waistband panties which lie flat? A non-shrinkable rayon or crepe is nice.

Some Cry Without Tears; Others Feverish, Not Sick

Many persons cannot cry because their tear ducts do not function; many have a constant fever without any apparent disorder to cause it; many develop a temporary condition in which their fingers do not bleed when cut, while others have a form of defective vision in which they see only part of an object—such as only half of a man as he walks before them.—Collier's.

TRUE GENTLENESS

True gentleness is founded on a sense of what we owe to Him who made us, and to the common nature which we all share. It arises from reflection on our own failings and wants, and from just views of the condition and the duty of man. It is native feeling heightened and improved by principle.—Blair.

Here's Very Fast Way to "Alkalize" Acid-Indigestion Away

Amazingly Fast Relief Now from "Acid Indigestion" Over-Indulgence, Nausea, and Upsets

IF you want really quick relief from an upset or painful stomach condition—arising from acidity following over-eating, smoking, mixtures of foods or stimulants — just try this:

Take—2 teaspoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in a full glass of water. OR — 2 Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets, the exact equivalent of the liquid form.

This acts almost immediately to alkalize the excess acid in the stomach. Neutralizes the acids that cause headaches, nausea, and indigestion pains. You feel results at once.

Try it. AND — if you are a frequent sufferer from "acid stomach," use Phillips' Milk of Magnesia 30 minutes after meals. You'll forget you have a stomach!

When you buy, see that any box or bottle you accept is clearly marked "Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia."

Don't Guess But Know

Whether the "Pain" Remedy You Use is SAFE?

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headaches is SAFE to use regularly is your family doctor. Ask him particularly about Genuine BAYER ASPIRIN.

He will tell you that before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin most "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as bad for the stomach and, often, for the heart. Which is food for thought if you seek quick, safe relief.

Scientists rate Bayer Aspirin among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and the pains of rheumatism, neuritis and neuralgia. And the experience of millions of users has proved it safe for the average person to use regularly. In your own interest remember this.

You can get Genuine Bayer Aspirin at any drug store — simply by asking for it by its full name, BAYER ASPIRIN. Make it a point to do this — and see that you get what you want.

Floyd Gibbons ADVENTURERS' CLUB Hello, Everybody!

"The House of a Friend"

By FLOYD GIBBONS
Famous Headline Hunter.

SOMETIMES it's your best friends that get you into the worst troubles. Take Cecile Saul of New York city as a typical instance. Cecile had a friend once—and not so very long ago, either—who got her into the worst jam of her entire life. It wasn't the friend's fault either. She probably thought she was doing Cecile a favor.

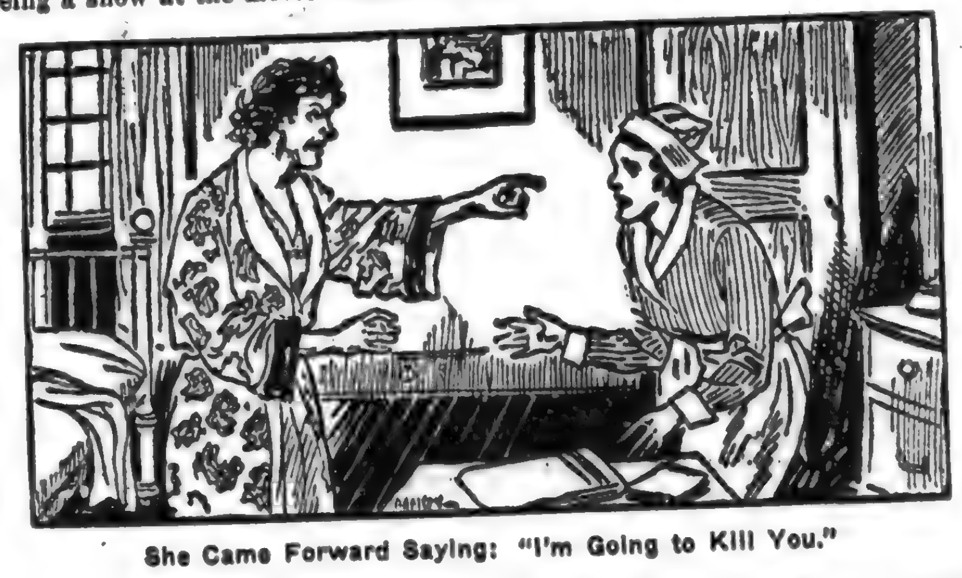
Cecile's friend had a sister. There's the nub of the whole situation. The sister had had a nervous breakdown and was confined to her bed. And when she needed the ministrations of a trained nurse, her sister—Cecile's friend—immediately thought of Cecile.

Cecile was—and is—a trained nurse. She was engaged to take care of the sick woman, and it wasn't a very pleasant job, either. "The woman wasn't a very congenial person," Cecile says, "but I was one of the few people who understood her. Hence, she had implicit confidence in me."

As a matter of fact, the sick gal was doggoned uncongenial. She was a large woman of about middle age, weighing 200 pounds, and powerfully built. She was sensitive about her illness, and that made her reticent and hard to talk to. Her sister—Cecile's girl friend—lived in the house with them, and that helped to cheer the place up—when she was around. But more often than not she went out in the evening, leaving Cecile and her patient alone.

Threatened by Crazed Woman.

It was on just such an evening—a coolish night in September, 1934—that Cecile's big adventure took place. Her girl friend was out for the evening, seeing a show at the movie around the corner. The sick woman was asleep, or so Cecile thought. Cecile herself was reading a book, when all of a sudden she looked up and saw her patient rise from the bed. She had a peculiar expression on her face, and she came toward Cecile saying: "You stole my husband and I'm going to kill you."



She Came Forward Saying: "I'm Going to Kill You."

"I started backing away," says Cecile, "petrified with fright because, in a flash, it had come to me that she had gone mad. When I backed into a wall I just stood there because I was too frightened to cry out or run."

The woman came on toward Cecile, 200 pounds heavy, and looking at least twice that as she towered over the nurse, thrusting clawing hands out to grasp her. Her eyes had gone glassy and foam oozed from the straight determined slit of her mouth.

Feels Lunatic's Hands on Throat.

"I tried to think fast," Cecile says; "at first I thought I could soothe her and get her back to bed. But that didn't work. Her mind had gone completely. So completely that she didn't understand anything I said. All she had in it was that fixed thought that I was her rival for her husband's affections, and that to kill me would be her revenge.

"She came nearer and nearer. Finally, her hands were on my throat. She was 60 pounds heavier than I, and about four inches taller. And she possessed the super-strength of a lunatic. The thought came into my mind that this was not a very pleasant way of dying. I could think then of a good many more agreeable ends than being choked to death by a mad woman. But just about the time I felt that I was going to have the pleasure of meeting with either St. Peter or the Devil, a miracle happened.

The miracle was just the opening of the door. It swung wide, and in came Cecile's girl friend—the sick woman's sister, who just a few minutes before had left for the movie. Luckily for Cecile, she had seen that movie before—had turned around and come back home.

Sister's Quick Act Saves Life.

The sister realized in an instant what had happened. Also, she was a woman with a lot of that stuff called "presence of mind." She understood the super-strength that insane people seem to acquire—knew how futile it would be to try to fight her off. There was no time to lose in calling for help, so she went immediately into action.

There was a large picture hanging on the wall right by the door. The girl picked that up, brought it down on the mad woman's head. The mad woman fell in a heap on the floor—unconscious.

That's all Cecile remembered for a while. Then she came to again, and a doctor was bending over her. They told her later that she too, had sort of lost her mind over the incident—had become hysterical and had to be quieted with a hypodermic.

Still Dreams of Awful Scene.

"It is quite a while since that happened," said Cecile, "and the woman is on the road to recovery. She was told only last week of the attempt to take my life, and she felt very sorry to think of all the grief she had caused me. But believe you me, it will be many years before I stop dreaming of an ugly, distorted, foaming mouth, glassy eyes, disheveled hair, and hard hands pinning me to the wall and choking me while an even harder voice cried: 'I'll kill you. I'll kill you. You stole my husband!'"

Well, personally, I like pleasanter dreams.

Mizpah, Anciently Name of Towns in Palestine

Mizpah is a Hebrew word meaning literally "the watchtower." It was anciently the name of several garrisoned towns or regions of Palestine. Use of the word as a parting salutation, states a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, is a reference to its employment in Genesis 31:49, where a place is called . . . "Mizpah, for he said, the Lord watch between me and thee, when we are absent one from another."

"Jacob gave it the name it bears," says the Standard Bible Dictionary, "in commemoration of the compact with Laban; but the sense in which the word 'mitspah' is used in this connection is slightly different from that in other places. Instead of an outlook-point, it indicates a place where God is invoked as a watcher. Accordingly it was a place invested with sacredness, and, on this ground perhaps, was resorted to in making covenants between clans. . .

"The location of the spot is fixed by the fact that Jacob on his way to Canaan crossed the Jabbok after the covenant with Laban. This would place Mizpah north of the river Jabbok. Suf, northwest of Jerash, is supposed to many to be the exact spot, but the identification is not quite certain."

However, there were five other places named Mizpah or Mizpeh.

Early "News" Sheets

The word "news" is commonly supposed to have reference to the adjective "new." But its origin is also traced to the custom in the early days of news sheets, of placing the initial letters of the four points of the compass to the head of the sheet. This custom, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, indicated that the sheet contained information procured from all the four quarters of the globe. Finally, according to this explanation, the reading of these letters from the top down to the right, gave birth to the word "news," from which the term newspaper has been derived. The Chinese lay claim to the distribution of block-printed newspapers long before the invention of printing. But the earliest news sheets circulated in Europe were manuscript papers.

Ziegfeld Was a Genius in Realistic Painting

The reason the Follies became the institution they were and gave birth to new developments in lighting, costuming and plastique lay in Ziegfeld's genius in using human beings as painters use the contents of color tubes. He possessed a peculiar instinct when it came to women. Some of his girls had a quality rarer than beauty—a uniqueness, some flag-waving characteristic you and I would never see.

I have often sat with him at auditions and wondered why he chose certain types. There might not be the faintest glimpse of charm—only a long, lean body and a commonplace face—but afterwards, when the girl was made up and costumed, you saw what a magnificent structure that long, lean body was for its bannerlike draperies, and how the blankness of that face had arranged itself into two eyes that looked like stars and a mouth adventurous and exciting.—Fannie Brice in Cosmopolitan Magazine.

GAS, GAS ALL THE TIME, CAN'T EAT OR SLEEP

"The gas on my stomach was so bad I could not eat or sleep. Even my heart hurt. A friend suggested Adlerika. The first dose I took brought me relief. Now I eat as I wish, sleep fine and never felt better."—Mrs. Jas. Filler.

Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels while ordinary laxatives act on the lower bowel only. Adlerika gives your system a thorough cleansing, bringing out old, poisonous matter that you would not believe was in your system and that has been causing gas pains, sour stomach, nervousness and headaches for months.

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adlerika greatly reduces bacteria and colon bacilli."

Give your stomach and bowels a REAL cleansing with Adlerika and see how good you feel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and chronic constipation. Sold by all druggists and drug departments.

Firestone PUTS THE FARM ON RUBBER

FIRESTONE GROUND GRIP TIRES

SPEED UP FARM WORK—MAKE IT EASIER—MORE PROFITABLE

HARVEY S. FIRESTONE pioneered and Firestone engineers developed a pneumatic tire which is the greatest contribution in recent years to more efficient and economical farming. Farmers using Ground Grip Tires on their tractors are saving more than 25% in time and fuel.

On all farm implements the Ground Grip Tire has proved of practical time-saving and money-saving value. Wagons, combines, mowers, sprayers, grain drills require up to 50% less draft to pull them. Hauling is speeded up. Plowing is done with more uniform depth. Vines and roots are not injured or cut, allowing closer planting and greater yield. Ground Grip Tires do not pack the soil and give greater protection to equipment.

It requires only a minimum investment to put all your equipment on Ground Grip Tires. With Firestone's new demountable rim and cut-down method of applying the rim to the original implement wheels, one set of tires will fit several implements. Tires can be changed quickly from one implement to another—you need only two or three sets for practically all your implements.

Firestone patented Gum-Dipped cords, with two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread, holding the patented super-traction tread to the cord body, made this great tire possible.

See the nearby Firestone Tire Dealer, Implement Dealer or Firestone Auto Supply and Service Store today—and in placing your order for new equipment, be sure to specify Firestone Ground Grip Tires on your new tractor or farm implement.

Listen to the Voice of Firestone featuring Richard Crooks or Nelson Eddy—with Margaret Speaks, Monday evenings over Nationwide N. B. C.—WEAF Network

Guarantee—This heavy, Super-Traction tread is guaranteed not to loosen from the tire body under any conditions, and all other parts of the tire are fully guaranteed to give satisfaction.

The government lately has received its first quarter of the current income tax, amounting to approximately 500 million dollars. Tennyson said that in the spring, fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love. That might pass sixty years ago. Nowadays, spring thoughts turn to the income tax, and it is no matter of fancy or light thinking.

In a list of important dates, there is not a single entry for 1836. The first notion that comes to mind is that those were the good old days. Maybe a hundred years from now, 1936 likewise will be honored with a blank, though it seems as though enough were happening to fill a book. It takes a lot to disturb the world for long. If there is any comfort in the thought, we are simply bearing our own particular burdens and are not likely to be hated for passing trouble along to posterity.

In 1889, two thousand lives were lost in a flood at Johnstown, Pa. The country stretching from western Pennsylvania to the Atlantic coast is undergoing disaster different from that of almost fifty years ago in degree rather than in kind. Flood control is difficult, because it must take into consideration the natural shape of the surface of the earth, as well as the uncertainty of the elements. Practically speaking, flood prevention baffles engineers, but they have accomplished much along other lines, and the day may come when nothing but old pictures can be relied upon to show swollen rivers bearing floating houses on to the sea.

Mr. Hitler expresses a desire to cooperate for peace and for a sincere understanding, and to forget the past. Some of his neighbors will not endorse all that he says, but most of them are right with him on forgetting the past, or at least one incident of it, namely the war debts due the United States. That is one point upon which there appears to be perfect harmony. Forgive and forget is the rule. Uncle Sam can forgive and the debtor nations can forget. Under such an arrangement, the slate would be wiped clean and prepared for chalking up a new war score. There is a ray of hope in the debt situation here and there abroad. Money is being impounded against a possible day of need. We have gained something at least if the idea that the United States is not likely to take a second mortgage has obtained currency. History records few examples of greater patience than that which this country exercised when it consented to remain quiet for almost twenty years, meeting its obligations by its own sacrifices while Europe forgot so much of the past as was convenient and profitable to forget.

Any young Democrat residing in DeKalb County who is between the ages of 16 and 40 is eligible for membership and is invited to attend.

Ten members were present at the regular meeting of the American Legion Post here Tuesday night, also Comrades Nickerson and Knepper, of Kendallville Post No. 86, inviting the local Post to the big District Meeting to be held at Kendallville next Tuesday night, March 31, commencing at 7:00 o'clock, followed by a banquet in the Elks Hall.

Local law enforcement representatives have been invited to join with other Indiana mayors, sheriffs, judges, and penal officials in a state conference on criminal law administration to be held Mar. 31 at Bloomington. The conference will be conducted under the auspices of the Indiana Institute of Criminial Law and Criminology which was founded about a year ago at Indiana University.

Problems of highway construction, maintenance and financing as they apply particularly to the counties of the Fourth Congressional District, will be discussed at a public meeting to be held in the assembly room at the Allen county court house at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, April 7. The meeting is being called the Highway Survey Commission created by the Indiana General Assembly in 1935.

The new Soil Conservation Program will be discussed at township meetings in DeKalb County. Every farmer is urged to attend one of these meetings and become acquainted with the requirements and rules. All meetings start at 7:30 P. M. The schedule of interest to our readers follows: Mar. 30, Jackson township, at Jackson Center Hall; April 1, Spencer township, at Farmers and Merchants Bank; April 2, Concord township, at St. Joe Town Hall; April 3, Newville township, at Newville Center.

Arden Close, 48, a Concord township farmer, was placed in the county jail Sunday by Sheriff Herbert N. Grimm for safe keeping and on Monday an application for an insanity inquest was filed in the DeKalb circuit court by his daughter, Dorothy. Miss Close said that signs of insanity in her father have been observed for ten years and that his condition has gradually become worse. A year ago he was thrown from a horse and the lower part of his body is now helpless. He walks with the aid of crutches. The application states that Mr. Close threatened to kill people with his crutches or pieces of furniture. He has displayed a furious temper.

HOMECOMING

Great preparations are being made in Spencerville, Indiana, for the Homecoming which will be held here on April 9th and 10th. Local people will be interested to know that many renowned personages will be here in attendance. Lowell Thomas will be here and Sir Cedric and Lady Featherbone from London, accompanied by Amelia Earhart Putnam, of New York, also the President and his wife will be in attendance.

These are only a few of the party which are to be taken by the local cast composed of 60 men for the play "Everybody's Here," to be presented for the benefit of Community Hall. This is a follow-up of the famous "Womanless Wedding" and has already proven in other towns where it has been staged, a greater mirth-provoker and beauty spectacle than the former play. Plan to see it! ! ! !

Armour's Big Crop Fertilizers supply more than a balanced ration of the major plant foods— Nitrogen, Phosphoric Acid and Potash — as shown on the bag. In addition, there is provided, in every Armour formula, a generous ration of minor and secondary plant foods.

All of these minor and secondary elements have recognized plant food value; many of them are just as essential to crops as Nitrogen, Phosphoric Acid and Potash.

Let Armour's Active Plant Foods work for you this season. We are ready to serve you.

.. McKINLEY ANNIVERSARY ..

Mrs. Jane Wyatt was hostess Sunday, March 29, to the 62nd wedding anniversary dinner of her brother and wife, James and Jane McKinley, aged 84 and 82 years, respectively. Mrs. Maxine Hunt, niece baked a cake which was beautifully decorated for the occasion.

Those who joined in the feast were Delta McKinley, of Spencerville, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Murphy and son, Pat, of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hunt, of Auburn, Ind. A number of friends and relatives called in the afternoon to congratulate the aged couple. They are unusually active.

Those calling were Mr. and Mrs. Milo McKinley and sons, Robert, Billy and Dale and Mrs. Etta Leas of Angola, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Royal Newton, of Hillsdale, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. J. Spang, Ft. Wayne, Ind., Walter Moffett and Mr. and Mrs. Ford Newton, Auburn, Ind. Music was furnished by Milo, Robert and Vern McKinley to suit the step of Uncle Jim and he responded with his tap dancing act. They went home late in the afternoon feeling happy and with thankful hearts that another day was well spent.

EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS

The meeting of the Church of Christ is in progress and will continue until the night of Easter Sunday, April 12th.

Do You Ever Wonder

Whether the "Pain" Remedy You Use is SAFE?

Ask Your Doctor and Find Out

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headaches is SAFE to use regularly is your family doctor. Ask him particularly about Genuine BAYER ASPIRIN.

He will tell you that before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin most "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as bad for the stomach and, often, for the heart. Which is food for thought if you seek quick, safe relief.

Scientists rate Bayer Aspirin among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and the pains of rheumatism, neuritis and neuralgia. And the experience of millions of users has proved it safe for the average person to use regularly. In your own interest remember this.

You can get Genuine Bayer Aspirin at any drug store — simply by asking for it by its full name, BAYER ASPIRIN. Make it a point to do this — and see that you get what you want.

Bayer Aspirin

He Won't Be BALD!

"Death Rides the Waves"

By FLOYD GIBBONS
Famous Headline Hunter.

DID you ever notice, boys and girls, that in all the stories you read about shipwrecks and storms at sea you never seem to hear anything about the fellows who get the worst of it? I mean the boys down below decks in the engine room.

Harry Helgesen of Brooklyn, N. Y., tells us about what the "black gang" is up against in a storm at sea. He ought to know, too. Harry is a licensed marine engineer in steam and Diesel.

Harry's big thrill came when he was assistant engineer on the auxiliary steam yacht Ulvira on a hard luck cruise in the Atlantic. The cruise started from Brooklyn for southern waters on February 8, 1934, but they never got very far south. The bad luck started the very first day, Harry says, when the ship grounded on Roamer's shoals in the channel. The crew of amateur and professional sailors finally got her afloat again and the ship came back to port and went into dry-dock for inspection. The hull was found O. K. but they had lost a couple of days.

When the Sea Kicks Up There Really Is a Mess.

The next start was made in a snow flurry and everything went fine until they got to the open sea. Once there the sails were run up and the engines cut off. Down in the engine room the "black gang" was getting things ship-shape. Now when an auxiliary yacht is under sail things are generally easy for the boys under decks, but just as they were about to bank the fires, Harry says, the chief mate came down and said they were in for "a bit of a blow."

And a "bit of a blow" was putting it mildly. Wham! a storm from the north slapped the Ulvira with a broadside that nearly turned her over. In a second all was busy as a beehive in the engine room. "Full steam ahead" came the order from the bridge, and Harry and his gang went into action.

Death Signs on the Ulvira's Cruise.

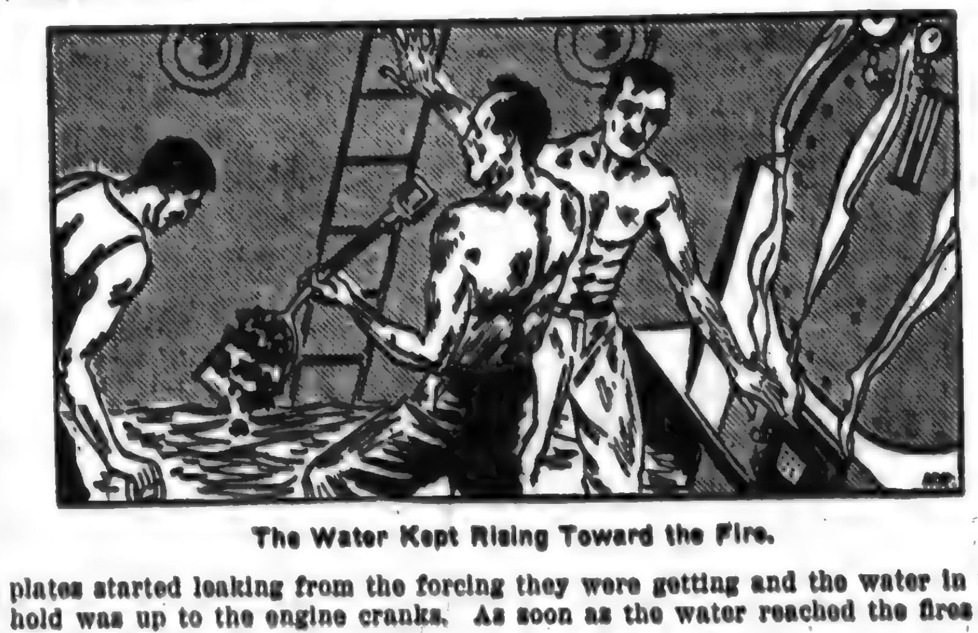
Harry ran up on deck to get the smoke stack hoisted. The stack had been let down when the sails were run up and they needed more draft. On deck all was confusion. A boom had snapped under the strain of the gale and the sail and boom were hanging over the side and into the water like a sea anchor. And that wasn't all.

Hubert Kuechenmeister, a young Northwestern university student and amateur sailor, had been swept overboard. The huge waves breaking over the rail made rescue impossible. Death had signed on the cruise of the Ulvira!

Harry got his stack up and hurried down the ladder to his station. What he had seen on deck wasn't very encouraging, but his job was below decks, and he went to it. Those engines had to get going or the boat and all on it would be lost.

The engine room by now was a mess. The boat was pitching heavily, Harry says, and the huge seas shipped at each pitch started coming down through the bunker plates, hatches and deck houses and filling the bilges with water.

"We started the pumps," Harry writes, "but the ashes stirred up by the water kept clogging the strainers and the water kept rising. The engines were going full blast but we didn't know how long that would keep up. The boiler plates started leaking from the forcing they were getting and the water in the hold was up to the engine cranks. As soon as the water reached the fires we were through."



The Water Kept Rising Toward the Fire.

And the water kept rising. It was swishing across the floor like it does in a ship's pool on a rough day. Anything that floated became a menace as it sailed back and forth at breakneck speed with the action of the ship. In all this dirty water full of ashes and debris, Harry and a fireman spent an hour "diving." Diving in an engine room means going under the water to free the strainer from the debris drawn in by the suction of the pumps.

How Would You Like to Dive Into Slimy Water?

Just imagine diving in that slimy water wondering if you are going to be swept up against the boilers and scalded to death!

Up on deck another fight was going on against the elements as the ship reeled under the shock of the gigantic waves, but our story is below decks and below decks we stay.

The four men in the black gang fought the advancing water for 24 long hours without relief. Once the captain came down and asked if they wanted more men, but the chief engineer knew that a greenhorn would only be in the way and asked for a bottle of rum instead.

The rum came down and Harry says it saved the lives of everybody on that ship. The rum gave the exhausted men new life and for the next two hours they worked like madmen. The high point of the water was only eight inches from the boilers. Another inch and it would be the boats, and the boats could never live in a sea like that.

But that extra inch never came. Instead, the four men watching the water in the ash pits suddenly let up a weak cheer. The water had stopped! The pumps were at last holding their own!

After Death's Vigil the Black Gang Got Hungry.

Well, sir, the gang realized then that they were hungry. Harry climbed perilously up the ladder to the deck to search for food. The galley was a watersoaked mixture of food-stuffs and kitchen utensils that slid back and forth across the floor with every movement of the ship. The ship's cook was gone seasick. And the galley fires were long since dead.

But that black gang had to eat so Harry fished up a side of bacon and finding some eggs unbroken in the ice box he managed to snare a frying pan and carried his prizes down the ladder again.

The U. S. Coast Guard to the Rescue!

Two men braced him then as he held the frying pan over a shovel full of live coals. Harry admits it was the best meal he ever tasted in his life. He admits, though, that he has had better service. They picked the food out of the pan with their hands and had coal dust for salt and pepper—but it tasted swell.

Then came the coast guard and towed the disabled yacht into Norfolk, Va., and the mid-winter, hard-luck cruise of the Ulvira was history.

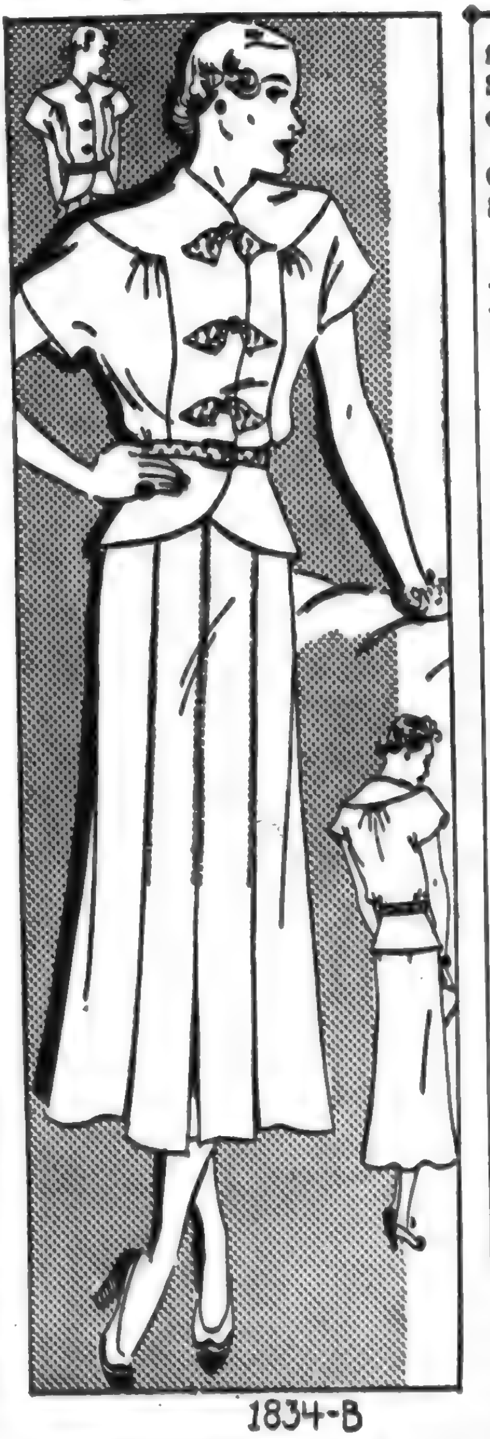
Heads Toward Locomotive

Passengers lie with their heads toward the locomotive in berths on trains. This position was originated in the earlier days to eliminate drafts and soot, notes a writer in the Kansas City Star. Many persons complain of illness if lying with their feet toward the front of the train. When patients are placed in ambulances, however, the head is toward the rear of the vehicle, which is said to be more restful.

Copenhagen, the City of Spires

There are so many spires and towers in Copenhagen, Denmark, that the capital of the Danes has been called the "City of Spires." The tallest spire surmounts the city hall. The Erloserkvike is also famous for this feature, which has a curious spiral design. Then there is the notable Round tower, originally intended as an observatory, which is ascended by a very wide spiral road, up which a horse and carriage can be easily driven.

Smart Jacket Dress Made Feminine By Use of Bows and Belt of Print



1834-B

Versatility is an engaging quality in this little two piece frock. Make it feminine with bows and a belt of bright print, or slightly mannish with round buttons and a narrow belt.

The hip length jacket with its cutaway effect and front panel are the dominating features of the dress. Notice how the gathers peep cunningly in back and front beneath the circular yoke. A simple skirt, but not too simple to be attractive. Individualism is attributed to the wide tailored pleats in the front.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1834-B is available for sizes: 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Corresponding bust measurements 30, 32, 34, 36 and 38. Size 16 (34) requires 4⅝ yards of 35-inch fabric plus ⅛ yard of contrasting material.

NOISE ABATEMENT OUR NEED, FOR WE HAVE NO EARFLAPS

Man either got a few steps ahead of nature, or wandered far from the path which nature intended him to follow, when he produced the noises that are characteristic of the pandemonium of modern civilization. Nature has not equipped our ears with hinged flaps that work automatically to shut out unwelcomed noises as she has equipped our eyes with lids that close instantly and iris diaphragms that adjust themselves to the light.

"Perhaps nature never realized that human beings would produce machines as vast and powerful as those we now have," says the Journal of the American Medical Association. "Sudden noises is certainly a disturbance affecting nerve integrity. Some individuals are much more susceptible to noise than others. Civilized man is more sensitive to noise than uncivilized man, and the child is less sensitive to it than the adult.

"The abatement of noise is another example of the social control necessary in a changing civilization. As man is becoming more and more closely crowded, as the machine is introduced into human life, as every one of the special senses of mankind is subjected to new stresses and strains, organized civilization must pay attention to these new factors for the benefit of mankind as a whole.

"The civilized world of a century or two centuries ago was dominated by young men because there were few old persons available to carry on the work of the world. Today the majority of people live to the age of sixty and the experienced brain has advantage over that of youth. Yet continued gains can be made only by protecting the brains and the senses of man against such hazards as are easily preventable and of little significance for human advancement. Of these, noise is certainly the one with which we may easily dispose."

World Moves On by Tiny Push of the Honest Man

The world moves along, not merely by the gigantic shoves of its hero workers, but by the aggregate tiny pushes of every honest worker whatever. All men may give some tiny push or other, and feel that they are doing something for mankind.—John Richard Green.

Uncle Sam Fast Becoming the Greatest Tree Planter

Tree planting in this country is looking up, according to the United States forest service. In 1935 the forest service's own planting on national forest lands was very close to a quarter million acres, more than that planted by all agencies—federal, state, and private—in 1934 when the total was 206,333 acres. Many of the other agencies planted substantially greater acreages in 1935 than the year before.

Uncle Sam, although relatively new at it, is becoming the world's leading tree planter. Up to last year his grand total of plantings by all agencies amounted to only 2,394,397 acres, equal to about half the area of Massachusetts. This year's plantings in the national forests alone will increase the total by more than 10 per cent. There are more than 162,000,000 acres in our national forests alone, and the estimated total forest acreage in this country is over 500,000,000 acres.

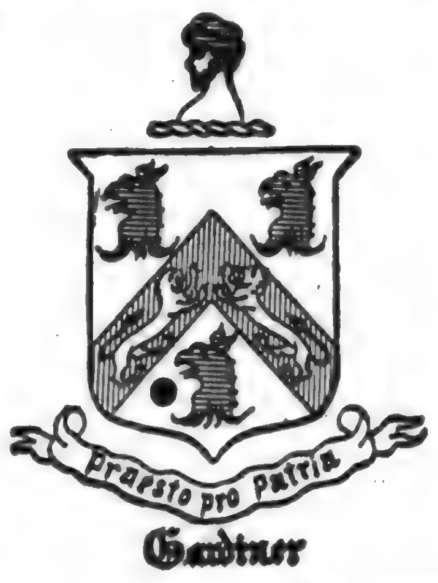
A Gardiner?

THE watchword of the Gardners and Gardiners, "Praesto pro patria" ("I stand for my country"), as their history will show, has been like a burning torch held high in every generation of this splendid family.

The principal family of Gardiners in this country derive their descent from Lion Gardiner, a native of Scotland, who served under General Fairfax as an engineer in the Low counties. He was sent to America in 1635 by the Lords Say, Sele and Brooke, to build a fort on their grant of land at the mouth of the Connecticut river. This he did and called the fort Saybrook, in honor of his patrons. His eldest son, David, born in Saybrook in 1636, was the first white child born in the Connecticut colony.



Gardiner

Lion Gardiner bought from the Indians an island in Long Island sound, called by the English Isle of Wight, paying for it a black dog, a gun and some Dutch blankets. Here he settled with his family and called it "Gardiners Island." This island remained in possession of the family for many generations.

The original Gardners and Gardiners seem to have used the same coat of arms and both spellings of the name, so it is believed that in the beginning they were the same family. Even in America, both houses use the same arms. The above reproduction represents the arms of Joseph Gardiner, of Rhode Island. He came to America by way of Holland in 1650 or 1651. His father was Sir Thomas Gardiner, who fought in the army of Charles I.

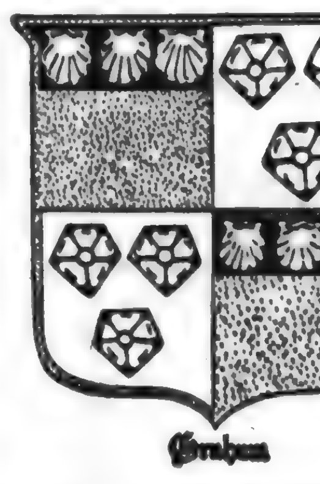
A Graham?

FEW indeed are the families who can boast of a name of greater antiquity or historical renown than the Grahams. The name is Scotch and is derived from one Greme, who was regent of Scotland during the minority of Eugene II, in the year 419. Greme took his name from the Anglo-Saxon "grim," meaning surly or sullen, not a very attractive attribute, but perhaps they interpreted it as one having a stern and courageous look.

The story is that the founder of the family of Greme, a great warrior, breached the wall which formed the Roman occupation of Scotland. In later times a chieftain of the Grahams was a loyal supporter of Sir William Wallace, who succeeded in freeing Scotland from the English yoke, and at the famous battle of Fodden Field the loyal head of the house of Graham fell by the side of his king.



Graham

This family has always been a powerful one in its native Scotland, owning many vast estates, lordships and dukedoms and earldoms. The earl of Montrose was allied with the Stuart cause and paid the penalty with his life on the scaffold in 1660. In Scotland "the great Montrose" is an imperishable memory of its history.

The plaid of the Grahams (all prominent Scottish families belonged to a clan and each clan had its characteristic plaid) is in blue, black and gray. Their war cry was "Killecranie," and their badge was laurel.

Among the earliest American settlers of this family was Benjamin Graham, who located in Hartford, Conn. James Graham was an attorney general, of Boston, Mass.

William Graham was the founder of the first classical school in the South, which is now known as Washington and Lee university, in Lexington, Va.

10,000,000 Abyssinians

Ethiopia, or Abyssinia, has a population of 10,000,000, consisting of Semitic Abyssinians, Somalis, Arabs, negroes and Indians. Very little land is cultivated, the idea of landed property scarcely being known. The rainfall, 30 to 40 inches, heaviest in midsummer, provides much of the water for the annual overflow of the Nile in Egypt.

Cottons and Linens Go Style-High

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

COMES spring! By the signs of the times in fashion's realm you know it. When the new cottons and linens announce their arrival and when to celebrate the event, merchants and style creators hold high carnival in the way of style-revealing previews, then be assured that spring is here no matter what the calendar and the calendar and the elements at large may have to say.

As a tonic that will revive jaded and winter-weary spirits like magic we know of none better than the new spring and summer fashions, created of refreshing, crisp and dainty wash fabrics—the new prints, sheer and otherwise, the gloriously colorful rough cottons that tailor so beautifully and the exotic printed linens that bespeak India, Tahiti, and picturesque Tyrolean peasantry.

In the advance showings there is a cotton or linen for every occasion, sportsy, tailored, formal or otherwise. Dresses, suits, ensembles for morning, for street, for afternoon wear, for dinner, dancing, active and spectator sports, all are included in the spring and summer parade of stylish cottons and linens. Children's fashions play a big part in the displays of spring and summer cottons and linens.

Front page news in regard to linens and cottons is they have gone that highbrow they have entered society in the form of lovely gowns as pretentiously styled as finest of silks and woolens. Then, too, as media for smart tailored suits, cottons that are as handsome-looking as woolens and linens (the new non-crush and non-wrinkle kind) are featuring big this season.

Outstanding among the new widely heralded fabrics are shantungs, hand-blocked linens, printed piques, lace that lends itself to tailoring, blistered sheers, and rough cottons and countless other attractive washable weaves. Plaids, stripes, checks, gorgeous floral patternings and interesting geometric motifs often of leaf influence, go to make up vast print collections.

Color is literally on the rampage with the primary hues strongly evident and pastels retaining their importance. Designers express enthusiasm for dark monotones with high-color contrasts. Brown, black, the darker greens and wine shades, are especially promoted as key colors. Two-piece suits with black skirts topped by bright colored or white jackets are expected to enjoy wide vogue during the coming months.

The attractive models pictured are positive proof that cottons and linens are going style high this season. This stunning suit of rough-surfaced plaid cotton and the frock of printed linen called forth much admiration from an enthusiastic audience who witnessed a most brilliant and dramatically staged style revue and cotton carnival held recently in Chicago in the famous Merchandise Mart where it is claimed more floor space is devoted to merchandise and fashion interests than any other building in the world.

A dark blouse is worn with the plaid suit. The charming linen frock in navy with red and white checkings is enlivened with heavy bright red braid frog fasteners on the blouse, thus sounding a voguish military note.

PADLOCK AND KEY

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Here is the frock of your day dreams, a fitting theme for a happy spring-song. It is of rose colored linen with dark stitched linen belt. Despite the fact that it's leap year the young lady in the picture is taking no chances with her affections and so she puts a decorative padlock above her heart (see it on the clever pocket) and another on the corresponding pocket on her skirt. Then she tucks the key in her belt, as she models this smart frock in a preview of spring and summer styles introduced during a cotton and linen carnival held recently in Chicago at the Merchandise Mart.

Printed Slip

A gay printed slip to wear under a dark dress is just feminine enough to delight any woman. The print shows bright flowers on a black ground.

SPRING MILLINERY OF MANY PERIODS

New French millinery for advance spring fashions shows the influence of various period styles, according to recent reports from the Paris office of the Du Pont Style News Service. Hats reflecting the Flemish art are seen at several of the houses, the style being interpreted in different ways by leading designers.
